Oakland Ford Dealer To Give Free Photo IDs

In celebration of October's Ford "Family Days," Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc., Oakland, will provide local families with free photo IDs of their children as part of Project KidCare, a national effort to provide parents with personal safety documents of their children in the event that a child is ever missing or abducted. The event will take place at Shaffer Ford, located along U.S. Rt. 219 North in Oakland, on Saturday, Oct. 25, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"This is one way we can give something back to our community," stated Rick Shaffer, president of Shaffer Ford Sales. "Our children's safety has to come first, and Project KidCare is one way to help give parents additional peace of mind. We hope all local families stop by on Oct. 25 to take advantage of this opportunity."

In addition to providing the free photo IDs to parents, free finger printing will also be available from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

There will be 112 Neighborhood Ford dealerships participating in the Project KidCare effort on Oct. 25. Shaffer Ford is one of the oldest dealerships in the western Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia, eastern Ohio, and western Maryland area, having been in business for 41 years.

DAVA AGAIN PRESENTS ALLEGIANCE PLEDGE BOOKLETS - The local chapter of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary has carried on its tradition of providing the local school system with a teaching aid for second graders. The group recently presented booklets for the youngsters that explain exactly what the Pledge of Allegiance means, phrase by phrase. This is a contribution made each year by the DAVA. Pictured left to right are Nancy Hahn, junior vice commander; Dr. Brenda McCartney, director of curriculum and instruction (pre-K through eighth), Sharon K. Everett, adjunct; Clara Gauer, post commander; Wilda Sanders, Americanism chairperson; and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools.

Oakland Man Guilty Of DOP To Own Home

In last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings, an Oakland man was convicted of a charge of malicious destruction of property. The property in question was the residence he shares with his mother.

Jeffrey Alan Koton, 19, pleaded guilty and received a 60-day suspended sentence and was placed on one year of supervised probation by Judge Ralph M. Burnett. Koton's charge stemmed from his September arrest by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after they responded to a call advising that Koton was destroying furniture inside the home. Koton had allegedly been drinking prior to the incident.

In other district court news, charges of marijuana possession and possession of drug paraphernalia faced by Daniel Wayne Tichinel, 21, Swanton, were placed onto the stet docket. This means that the case will remain inactive for the next 365 days, subject to recall at the court's discretion. If 365 days pass without cause for the case to be recalled for trial, the charges will be dismissed.

Tichinel's charges stem from his June arrest by sheriff's deputies who were checking the area of Walnut Bottom Road near Swanton for a report of a pedestrian carrying a rifle. Tichinel was questioned when he was observed walking on the roadside, and while he apparently did have a rifle on his person, deputies reportedly observed that he appeared to be under the influence of drugs. A subsequent search reportedly revealed that he was carrying marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia.

A motion to revise sentence was granted for Tommy James Catlett, 21, Winchester, Va. Catlett's sentence for possession of marijuana was revised to reflect a probation before judgment, meaning that no criminal sentence will be reflected in the case if he complies with all the terms of the probation agreement. Catlett's charge stemmed from his arrest by sheriff's deputies at the Comfort Inn in McHenry.

Charges of possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, and "contributing to the condition of a child" that rendered a child deliquent faced by Joseph Wayne Liller, 18, Oakland, were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office, as were charges of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, faced by Kelly Ann Uebel, 29, Baltimore.

DWI Hearings

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol (DUI) cases were heard in district court recently.

Ronald Edward Crosby, 36, Oakland, was sentenced after an earlier DWI conviction and was fined $200, given a 90-day suspended sentence, and placed on two years of supervised probation.

Bruce Robert Bateson, 44, Pa., was convicted of DWI and fined $155, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

James Lee Nicholas, 32, Oakland, was found to be in violation of his DWI probation. His original incarceration time was reimposed, all of which was suspended except for 30 days that will include a grant for work release.

Mary Elizabeth Bell, 46, McHenry, was convicted of DUI and handed a probation before judgment, fined $100, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Tucker Fisher Fry, 19, W.Va., was granted a motion for sentence revision, and his previous DWI sentence was revised to reflect a probation before judgment.

A bench warrant for failure to appear for a DWI hearing was sworn out for the arrest of Gary Wayne Ford, 43, of Steyer-Gorman Road near Oakland. A $5,000 cash bond was issued in conjunction with the bench warrant.

Blood Drive To Be Held At Oakland Armory

A blood drive, sponsored by the Masons, will be held at the Oakland Armory, Friday, Oct. 17, 11 a.m. - 5 p.m.

The goal for this drive is 175 units, according to Leslie Nicholson of American Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region. All blood donors are encouraged to participate, but there is a special need for O negative and B negative, Nicholson noted.

The Red Cross Blood Services supplies blood and blood products to area hospitals. "Each donated unit of blood can be used to save 3-4 people's lives," she stated.

Donors need to be at least 17 years old, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Further questions about donor eligibility can be directed to 1-800-54-BLOOD.

Applications For Fuel Assistance To Be Available

The Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., Maryland Energy Assistance Program staff will begin taking applications for new applicants beginning October 20. GCCAC has received a waiver from the state to begin the application process earlier than the rest of Maryland because of the county's colder weather.

No funds will be released until sometime in November. Persons receiving assistance last heating season will receive an application in the mail.

To schedule an appointment or for further information, persons may telephone the GCCAC MEAP office at 301-334-9431, extension 114.

METHODIST

A pulpit exchange is set for Sunday, Oct. 12, with Pastor Sam Wachter of the Deep Creek charge speaking at the Friendsville charge (Blooming Rose, 9 a.m.; Selbysport, 10 a.m.; and Friendsville, 11 a.m.), and Pastor Bob Milliren of the Friendsville charge speaking at the Deep Creek charge (Hoyes, McHenry, and Paradise United Methodist churches).

The Selbysport UMW will serve a supper to the Brotherhood of the three churches and their wives on Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 6:30 p.m.

A World Thank Offering program for the Friendsville charge will be held Sunday, Nov. 2, at 6:30 p.m. at Friendsville United Methodist Church. A charge conference is set for Monday, Nov. 3, at 7 p.m. at the Selbysport United Methodist Church.

The Friendsville UMW will serve a harvest turkey dinner on Saturday, Oct. 18, from 4-7 p.m. in the social room. The menu includes turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, sauerkraut and kielbasa, cranberry salad, homemade rolls, pumpkin pie or gingerbread, and a beverage. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Carry-outs will also be available and baked goods and craft items will be offered for sale.

SAND SPRING CHURCH OF GOD

Homecoming services at the Sand Spring Church of God for Sunday, Oct. 12, include Sunday School at 9 a.m., a worship service at 10:15 a.m., and a covered dish dinner at noon. An afternoon service is set for 2 p.m., with guest speaker Pastor Don Herson, Markleysburg, Pa.

Revival services begin at 7 p.m. on Oct. 12, with Pastor Dennis Dawson slated to speak at the Sunday evening service. Ross Glotfelty will speak at the Monday through Friday evening services, and Pastor Jim Pommert, Natrona Heights, Pa., will give a piano concert during the service on Monday, Oct. 13. Special music is planned each evening. The public is welcome to attend.

LAUREL RUN CHURCH OF GOD

Revival services at the Laurel Run Church of God are set for Sunday, Oct. 19, through Wednesday, Oct. 22. Services get underway at 7 p.m. each evening.

ASHER GLADE

A quarterly board meeting at the Asher Glade Church of the Brethren is set for Friday, Oct. 10, at 7 p.m.

The congregation will be responsible for nursing home visits at Henry Clay Villa, Rt. 40, and South Fayette, Markleysburg, Pa., on Sunday, Oct. 12, at 2:30 p.m. Also on that day, the youth of the church will travel to Ohiopyle (Pa.) State Park for a bike outing. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The dedication of a new piano at the church is set for Sunday, Oct. 19, with a covered dish dinner to immediately follow the 11 a.m. service. The piano was donated to the church in memory of Emma Frantz by her family.

A Gideon speaker will be at the 11 a.m. worship service on Sunday, Oct. 26.

RUSH BAPTIST

The congregation of Rush Baptist Church was treated to a visit from 12 members of the Promise Keepers organization who attended the recent rally in Washington, D.C. The men, who were on their way to their respective homes, attended the 11 a.m. service on Sunday, Oct. 5.

The 12th Associational Missionary Kenny Heath will be the guest speaker for the 11 a.m. service on Sunday, Oct. 12. A congregational meeting and covered dish dinner will immediately follow the service.

LIBRARY NEWS

The Friendsville Library has reference materials for reports on insects and all animal life. In addition to these books (which total more than 10 in all), there are also many books available for check-out. The library staff also has access to information on the Internet and can order more information through an inter-library loan. Students who need to label parts of an animal or insect may use the Ultimate Visual Dictionary on the reference shelf.

Interested students or their parents may call the library between 3 and 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. on Saturday.

The Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library will conduct their annual meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 22, the library in Oakland.

The Friendsville branch has a large selection of paperback romance books for sale at 5 cents each. All money raised from the sale will be used for new library materials. Also on sale are children's books and magazines.

Approximately 60 jack-o-lantern patterns for use on carved or colored pumpkins are available at the library. The area children are welcome to use the patterns.

COUNTRY WOMEN TO MEET

The Friendsville Country Women will meet Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 1 p.m. at the home of Ms. Mary Alice Gindlesberger. This is a luncheon meeting.

WOW TO MEET

A TEXTBOOK PERFORMANCE - The Garrett Community College Store has been named a 1996 ITP Gold Customer by International Thomson Publishing, an honor earned by fewer than 10 percent of the nation's college stores. Strict criteria must be met to receive this recognition, and a letter from the publishing company to GCC President Dr. Stephen Herman states, "It is clear to us at ITP that your campus store's textbook department is run in an extremely efficient manner and that they have a very good handle on the patterns and cycles of their ever-changing market. You have ample reason to be proud of their achievement." Store clerk Phebe Mauat, left, and store manager Marguerite Perfetti share credit for the award with the GCC Business Office for following good business practices and paying bills promptly. "We watch course enrollments," Perfetti said, "and we look at trends to see what we've done in the past so we can keep ahead of sellouts." The store had its highest sales volume ever this fall semester, and as Perfetti states, "even with the high enrollments and multiple books in many courses, we were able to stay ahead."

Medicine Approved for Gallstone Prevention

According to the American Medical Association Family Medical Guide, one million new cases of gallstones develop in the U.S. each year. Gallstones result from an imbalance of substances in bile, a solution that flows from the gallbladder to the small intestine where it aids in fat digestion. The imbalance results in small stones that accumulate in the gallbladder. Factors that can increase the risk of stone formation include infection, anemia, diabetes, obesity, and the rapid loss of weight in obese persons. Stones may pass into the intestine without incident. However, in an acute attack, stones become lodged in the bile duct and can cause sharp pain, usually on the right side of the abdomen. The pain often develops suddenly after a meal and can lead to fever, vomiting, and jaundice. Surgical removal of the stones may be necessary.

Sometimes the stones can be dissolved before they become a problem. One of the medicines used to dissolve gallstones is ursodiol. Recently, the Food and Drug Administration approved this medicine for the prevention of gallstones as well. According to Pharmacists Letter, ursodiol is helpful in obese persons who are experiencing rapid weight loss (more than 10 pounds a month). The drug decreases stone formation by increasing cholesterol solubility in bile.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

Diehl's Ford To Provide Photo IDs For Youth

In celebration of October's Ford "Family Days," Diehl's Ford Sales, Inc., will provide Grantsville and surrounding area families with free photo IDs of their children as part of Project KidCare, a national effort to provide parents with personal safety documents of their children in the event that a child is ever missing or abducted. The event will take place at Diehl's Ford in Grantsville from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 25.

"Project KidCare is one way we can give something back to our town. We've been here in Grantsville for 11 years and we've watched our community grow. We believe KidCare will give our families additional peace of mind, and with Halloween approaching it reminds everyone to put our children's safety first," said Greg Diehl, owner of Diehl's Ford Sales. "We urge all our local families to stop by on October 25 and get a tree KidCare ID for their child.

Throughout western Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia, and the borders of eastern Ohio and Maryland, 112 Neighborhood Ford dealerships will participate in the Project KidCare event.

According to U.S. Department of Justice statistics, over one million children are reported missing in the country each year. One in seven missing children is found because of a photograph distributed by the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC), making a current instant photograph the single most important tool in finding missing children, according to Diehl.

Project KidCare, developed by Polaroid Corporation and the NCMEC, serves as the national photo ID standard for children. It provides parents with a passport-like document that list vital personal information with an unobstructed head and shoulders photograph of the child.

"What Polaroid and the NCMEC found was that everyone has pictures of their children, but most don't have a suitable photograph for the location purposes if their child becomes lost or missing," said Ernie Allen, president of NCMEC. "It is very important to have a current, unobstructed head-and-shoulder instant photograph of the child. The picture should be placed in a safe place with the vital statistics of the child at the time the photograph is taken."

Annual ARC "Home For The Holidays" Tour Slated; Tickets Going On Sale

The sixth annual "Home for the Holidays" house tours, sponsored by the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross (ARC), will take place on the first weekend in December. Tickets to the five-home circuit will go on sale beginning Oct. 15.

Five families have agreed to open their homes for the fund-raiser, according to an ARC spokesperson. The houses on the tour will be those of Ralph and Lucy Burnett, Second Street, Oakland; Joe and Rose Matthews, Old Crellin Road; John and Tammy Mattingly, Garrett Highway; Terry and Kathy Helbig, Bradley Lane, Oakland; and Tom and Karen Spiker Myers, Glendale Road.

These homes range from Victorian design to contemporary, the spokesperson said. A raffle will be held at each house, with gifts donated by School House Earth, Grand Central Station, The Christmas Chalet, Flowers By Webers, and Mary Naylor Bennett. Each home will be individually featured in future issues of The Republican.

The tours will take place on Friday, Dec. 5, 4-9 p.m., and Saturday, Dec. 6, 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Tickets, which are $5 per person (for both adults and children), will be available as of Oct. 15 at the following locations: Proudfoot's, Englander's, and Gregg's pharmacies, all in Oakland; Flowers By Webers, Weber Road; Deep Creek Pharmacy, McHenry; and Arrowhead Market, Deep Creek Lake.

Picture cameras and videotaping cameras will not be allowed in the homes.

The fund-raiser is reportedly one of ARC's best sources of extra income that helps the local chapter meet immediate needs of the area's disaster victims, the spokesperson said.

Hospital Notes Billing Changes For ER Services

Garrett County Memorial Hospital has contracted with InPhyNet Medical Management, Inc., for the provision of emergency room physician services, effective October 1.

Previously, patients visiting the emergency room received a single bill that included the charges for the physician's services as well as services rendered by the hospital, according to Walter Donalson, CHE, president and CEO at Garrett Memorial.

Donalson explained that, because Garrett Memorial's emergency room physicians are no longer direct employees of the hospital and are, instead, now employed by InPhyNet, patients will now receive two bills. EMSA (Emergency Medical Services Associates), the billing company for InPhyNet, will send a bill to patients exclusively for emergency room physician services. Other services rendered in the emergency room will be billed by the hospital.

"Our emergency room patients can be assured that they will continue to receive the same high quality care to which they are accustomed, while seeing the same familiar faces of our emergency room physicians," said Donalson.

GCC To Offer First Aid, CPR

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College has scheduled two Community First Aid and Safety Courses at the McHenry campus. The first class will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 14, Thursday, Oct. 16, and Tuesday, Oct. 21, from 6 to 9:15 p.m. The second class will be held Monday, Oct. 27, and Wednesday, Oct. 29, from 5 to 9:45 p.m.

This course will teach the basic skills of cardiac life support for infants, children, and adults, and standard techniques to provide first aid. Certification is provided through the American Red Cross.

For additional information and registration, persons may call the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

NETWEEKEND LINKS SCHOOLS - Two representatives from each of six selected schools, along with other volunteers met, recently to participate in NetWeekend '97 activities at the central office building of the Garrett County Board of Education. Teachers and volunteers worked together during a three-hour workshop to develop web pages for participating schools. Pictured standing, center, Dale Kimble, a new employee of the Garrett County Board of Education, facilitated the web page development workshop. Each of the schools participating in this year's NetWeekend activities received two computer workstations from the Office of the Governor, who initiated this state-wide event. These computers, valued at approximately $1,500 each, will be used to further develop each school's web page and deliver instructional resources to their classrooms. County schools that participated in NetWeekend '97 activities include Accident, Bloomington, Dennett Road, Friendsville, Route 40, and Swan Meadow.

"Trib" House Sets Journey Schedule

The Great Tribulation House has announced times and dates for visits.

Located at Maple Grove Assembly of God, Horse Shoe Run, Tribulation House will be open for tours Oct. 16, 6:30-8 p.m., Oct. 17, 6:30-8:30 p.m., and Oct. 18, 1-3 p.m.

Similar to a "haunted house," a halloween tradition, "Trib" House was designed to offer a message of hope to those who journey through it, Dave Parker, spokesman for the project, explained.

A journey will take a visitor from "this present darkness room" to "daily life room." From there the trail progresses up to the "cruxifiction room," and into the "hell room." The journey ends in the "Heaven room."

"Tribulation House is very dramatic and we encourage everyone from age 7 and up to see it," Parker said.

He explained that lighting and sound effects have been used to enhance the experience of the journey.

Admission to Trib House is free, but groups of 10 or more are asked to make reservations. For further information or to make reservations, persons may call 304-735-5007.

Farm Safety Day Camp Set In Petersburg

The first ever Tri-County Farm Safety Day Camp will be held October 18, in conjunction with the Grant County Health Fair, at the Tri-County Fairgrounds, Petersburg, for third grade students and up, including adults.

Registration at the Petersburg Elementary School will begin at 8 a.m., and the Dorcas PTO will provide a hay wagon to carry participants to the fairgrounds at 8:30 a.m.

Tractor/Shop Safety, ATV Safety, Fire Safety, First Responder/First Aid, and Livestock Safety will be offered concurrently throughout the morning. The classes will start at 8:45 a.m. and conclude between noon and 1 p.m., with an Extrication Demonstration and Health Net helicopter visit from WVU.

Sponsors for the Farm Safety Day Camp are WVU Extension Service (Hardy, Grant, Pendleton Cos.), WV Vo-Ag Programs (Grant, Hardy, Pendleton Cos.), Grant Co. Ambulance Squad, Maysville and Petersburg VFCs, Dorcas PTO, Grant Co. Health Dept., Grant Co. Safety Coalition, Petersburg Golden K Club, Grant Co. BOE, Petersburg Elementary School Staff, Grant County Extension Homemakers Council, Grant Memorial Hospital, and Safety programs/teams from WV Farm Bureau, Wampler Longacre Foods, Advantage Foods, Hester Industries, American Woodmark, Region 8 EMS office, and WV Safe Kids Coalition.

Door prizes, "goodie" bags, a bag lunch, and drinks will be offered at the Farm Safety Day Camp. Pre-registration is recommended for a lunch and materials count. To preregister before Oct. 15, persons may call the WVU Extension Office in Hardy, Grant, or Pendleton counties, or one of the high school vo-ag instructors in those counties.

Retired School Workers To Meet

The Preston County Association of Retired School Employees will meet next Tuesday, Oct. 14, at noon at the Amboy Fellowship Hall. This will be a special meeting, in that those retired school personnel with at least 35 years of service will be recognized. Terry Marchal, Charleston, will be the guest humorist.

Persons wishing to make reservations should do so as soon as possible by telephoning Hazel Durst at 735-5775.

There will also be a hobby show held in the Preston High School cafeteria on Thursday, Oct. 16, beginning at 7 p.m.

P.O. Box 627, McHenry, MD 21541
888-ALL LOGS

At Deep Creek Log Homes, craftsmanship and attention to detail will assure your log home will be the finest quality and built for generations to come.

Deep Creek Log Homes offers 7 - 12" Swedish coped lodge pole pine logs with an age ranging from 75 to 150 years old. Our logs are harvested from Yellowstone National Park where they've been standing dead since 1988, assuring a stable moisture content. They are then milled to specifications and shipped to your homesite.

If you're considering making an investment in a log home and are looking for a rustic midwest look, start by sending us a sketch of your dream home.

Since Deep Creek Log Homes is a custom log home builder, we do not offer standard plans. We do have floor plan ideas and our drafting expert can design the house to fit your style.

You benefit by buying directly from the owner/builder because we have complete control of the logs from the time they are cut until they are part of your custom log home. This guarantees a savings to you, the homeowner, without sacrificing the quality you deserve.

were also in attendance, along with a great-grandmother, Gladys Hauser. There were approximately 40 women and girls present for the occasion.

HOMEMAKERS

The Aurora Extension Homemakers and guests recently traveled to Grafton, where they toured the Anna Jarvis home and the Mother's Day Church. Anna Jarvis began the special Sunday to honor all mothers, especially her own. The group had lunch at Tygart Lake Lodge. Making the trip were Martha Bolyard, Bill and Ressie Conrad, Dee and Keith Douglas, Mary Jane and Loram Hanline, Virginia Martin, Dorothy Spaid, Thelma Simpson, and Janice Tackett.

Deloris Slawter was hostess to an Aug. 17 meeting with Ressie Conrad supplying the devotions titled, "Don't Quit."

Mary Jane Hanline's presentation was titled, "Some Days I Need a Hug." Members also shared a personal "to do" list.

Mrs. Conrad of the environmental committee will plan for a program on water. The global committee is planning an international event. The membership committee reported that a tea had been planned for the September meeting.

Ressie Conrad, and Delores and Keith Douglas participated in the Relay for Life. Attending the July Poultry Festival in Moorefield were Janice Tackett, Ressie Conrad, Mary Jane Hanline, and Delores Douglas. Achievement Day is set for November 20 at Terra Alta, with lunch to consist of salad, bread, and beverage.

The club sold car tickets at Ames on Sept. 5 and at the Buckwheat Festival booth during the Buckwheat Festival on Saturday. The club also made an exhibit with Ruby Kemphfer, Martha Bolyard, Fern Jamison, and Deloris Slawter doing the planning and work.

A media bhtz was planned for Extension Homemakers' Week in September. Each club was to supply articles and pictures concerning their activities.

Suggestions made for a community project culminated with the decision to make a quilt for presentation to the Anna Jarvis home. Janice Tackett donated the quilt and the club members' names will be embroidered thereon.

Nommating committee chair Fern Jamison presented the names of the present officers as the slate for 1998, and it was so voted.

On October 23 a craft day will be held at the Lenox Community Building, and a fall conference at Jackson's Mill is set for Oct. 7-9.

Ressie Conrad, vice president, read "Humor as Medicine" from the Extension Homemakers' letter as her feature. An album of school pictures, class pictures, and history being compiled by James Slawter was shown as a special feature. Mary Jane Hanline was winner of the pig-in-the-poke and there were 10 members present.

The next meeting will be Oct. 21, with Deloris Slawter in charge of devotions and Ruby Kemphfer bringing the lesson.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Lulu Hughes Digby, a former Aurora resident, remains confined to the Valley View Nursing Home and Rehab Center, 729 Hickory Street, Akron, Ohio 44303-2013. Cards may be sent to her at the above address. Her niece, Judy, reports that her condition with ALS continues slowly to worsen.

Bonnie Douglas, Ashland, Ky., and her sister Beverly "Kitty" Myers, Aurora, returned last Tuesday to Ashland after a 14-day trip to Australia and New Zealand, during which they visited Sydney, Ayers Rock, Alice Springs, The Cairns, Queensland, Surrey Hills, and other different and unusual places.

Dean and Scott Sisler, Aurora, accompanied their daughter and family, Donetta, Ron, and Dane Nice, on a Sunday trip to Twin Falls State Park and the town of Bromwell.

Frank Stemple returned last Monday to his Aurora home following his hospitalization at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Jean Drainer remained hospitalized at Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown following her September 27 auto accident in Aurora until this past Thursday, when she returned to her home at Aurora. She reportedly remains quite still and bruised from the accident.

Bessie Heckert was transferred last Wednesday from Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Dennett Road Manor. Her address is 12th St. and Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550.

Walter Howard, Aurora, has been a recent patient in a Morgantown hospital.

Attending the "Stand in the Gap" rally of the Promise Keepers held this past Saturday in Washington, D.C., were busloads of men from both the Kingwood and Oakland areas. Those making the trip from here were John Mauldin and Leonard Snyder, Amboy; Bernard Andy Harsh, Eglon; and Tony Sullivan and Warren Rinehart, Amboy, the latter joining "Christian Men on Motorcycles" to make the trip.

Nell Dickenson and her friends, Pete Sizemore and Suzanne Sims, all of Richmond, Va., visited this weekend with the former's brother and sister-in-law, Arvin and Rita Harsh, and family at Eglon.

Ulrike "Rikky" Neweski was chosen as homecoming queen at Tucker County High School this past weekend. She is a German student who is presently making her U.S. home with Bob and Peggy Spaid at Eglon.

Ronnie, Delores, Kari, and Tyler Harsh of Morgantown visited with Eglon relatives this weekend.

Local Musicians To Perform At Spruce Forest

Garrett County's fall foliage will set the tone for a concert in the Village Church at Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Grantsville. The concert, sponsored in part by the Maryland State Arts Council, will begin at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 18, and will feature folk and barbershop musical entertainment in the 1903 church.

"This church, formerly Garrett County's own Pleasant Valley Methodist Church, guarantees to provide wonderful acoustics and a nostalgic evening of good songs and good friends," said Trish Morgan, administrator of the artisan village.

Kicking off the evening's musical program will be Susan Weisbrod of Oakland. According to Ms. Morgan, Weisbrod has always loved traditional and contemporary folk music, and she now performs this music accompanying herself on the guitar. Her repertoire includes songs by such well-known singer/songwriters as Bob Dylan, Tom Rush, and John Prine, but she is most fond of those songs crafted by more obscure artists such as Hazel Dickens and Norman Blake. Weisbrod has been performing for nearly six years, often with groups of friends, which have included Barry Mitterhoff and Tony Trishka. While she does perform as a solo artist, she is usually the guitarist and vocalist for Sang Run, a local group which plays traditional "olde-tyme," Celtic, and Klezmer music.

Following Ms. Weisbrod's music, there will be a 15-minute intermission, when refreshments will be available for purchase. Refreshments will include homemade candy called "Courtin' Fudge," and orders can be placed in advance of the concert by calling the village for one-pound batches, Ms. Morgan said.

"Then, beginning at 8:15 p.m., one of Western Maryland's finest barbershop quartets will take the stage, promising to put on a very musical, very entertaining and high energy show," Morgan said. The Men of Accord have been singing and performing together since 1990. Charlie Pitrillo, Fairmont, W.Va., sings tenor; Tom Peterson, Oakland, sings the lead melody; and Jack Harvey and Ron Leaf, both from Cumberland, sing the baritone and bass parts, respectively. The group's recording Nothing Too Serious was produced in 1994. The year following this release, the Men of Accord were participants in Red Skelton's 82nd birthday party.

According to the Spruce Forest president Susan Anderson, the concert is expected to sell out early, as there are only 120 seats available in the small country church on campus. For ticket prices and reservation information, persons may call Trish Morgan at 301-895-3332.

All proceeds from this concert benefit the artisan village and its heritage and cultural programs and activities. The village is located near the historic 1813 Casselman Bridge and the former 1818 stagecoach stop, now known as Penn Alps Restaurant and Crafts Shop, Old Route 40.

THE MEN OF ACCORD, an area barbershop quartet, will perform in concert in the Village Church of Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville on Saturday, Oct. 18. The program will be kicked off at 7 p.m. with folk music performed by Susan Weisbrod. The Men of Accord will then take the stage following an intermission. Members include, pictured from left above: Jack Harvey, Ron Leaf, Tom Peterson, and Charlie Pitrillo. See story for details.

THE DEPT. OF FLORIDA of the American Ex-Prisoners of War is currently the only name listed on the fuselage of the B-17 Nine-O-Nine and B-24 All American restored World War II bombers that are owned by the Collings Foundation, but Garrett County resident Irving Day, who is a member of the Maryland AXPOW Department, and his daughter, Lucy Day Champion, pictured, are working and hoping that the Department of Maryland will be next on that list. The two bombers will make a return visit to Cumberland next week and will be on display for two days, Oct. 19-21. See story for more details.

Restored WWII Bombers To Land In Cumberland

The World War II "Flying Fortress" and "Liberator" heavy bombers of the Collings Foundation will make a return visit to the Cumberland Airport next week, Oct. 19-21, as part of a "Wings of History" national tour. The B-17 Nine-O-Nine and the B-24 All American will arrive at about 2 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 19, after a stop in Gaithersburg.

Lucy Day Champion, daughter of Irving and Marin Day, Swanton, was an active participant throughout the northeast segment of the national tour and managed the showing at Portsmouth, N.H. Champion, whose father was a POW during World War II after his bomber was shot down in Europe, is a staunch supporter and member of the Collings Foundation, which restored the bombers, and is also a next-of-kin member of American Ex-Prisoners of War, Inc. (AXPOW).

The Maryland Department of the AXPOW is currently encouraging members, friends, and other well-wishers to donate funds to facilitate the educational tour. Contributions marked for Dept. of Maryland, AXPOW, will also be credited toward the goal of listing the name of the Dept. of Maryland on the fuselage of both bombers.

The inspiration to honor American ex-POWs for their service originated in Florida last winter and was facilitated by the two bombers that were touring the state at that time. The Department of Florida consists of 24 chapters and Maryland has only six, but Champion and her father are hopeful that the Department of Maryland will be near the top of the list on at least one of the bombers.

The names of individuals who have also donated to the non-profit Collings Foundation are also inscribed on the fuselages of the aircraft. Lucy Champion's name is listed just below that of her mother.

"Persons who have been fortunate enough to view these planes up close, inside and out, or have even ridden in one, are aware that there are many names inscribed on the fuselages," Irving Day said. "These names honor individuals, crews, and aircraft. Often there are veterans nearby who can recount stories relevant to plans of their own particular bomb group, so people who come to see the planes should not hesitate to strike up conversations with the veterans who are present."

After their arrival at the Cumberland Airport on Oct. 19, the planes will be open for touring until their departure at about 1 p.m. on Oct. 21.

Auction Slated To Help Fund Rotary Project

The First United National Bank & Trust and the Beachy Lumber Company have announced a charitable auction to benefit the Oakland Rotary Club's Christmas Project.

The auction will be held Saturday, Oct. 25, at the Pritts Building on Liberty Street, across from the Oakland train station. It will begin at 10 a.m. and will continue until the last item has been sold. Steve Lantz, Oakland Rotarian and vice president of First United, said the goal is to raise $5,000.

This fund-raiser continues a tradition started by Bausch & Lomb employees, who formerly sponsored a similar event to benefit the Christmas project.

Proceeds of the auction will help purchase food for the holiday meals of over 400 needy Garrett County families who are served by this annual Rotary project.

Doug Riley, Oakland Rotary Club president, said, "We previously depended on the Bausch & Lomb auction to raise the money needed to purchase the food for the project. Now, thanks to the generosity of First United and Beachy Lumber Company, we are assured the continuance of funds necessary for this wonderful annual project."

Herb Lambert, Oakland Rotarian and employee of First United, said that the auction will contain large amounts of donated commercial and home construction materials from Beachy Lumber Company and many items donated by local merchants and others.

In addition to the auction, Rotary french fries will be sold, along with other food and drinks. Breads and various baked goods will be available for purchase.

Any merchant or person wishing to contribute an item or items may telephone Tom Bittinger at 301-334-4677 or Jack Regentin at 301-334-0622 and leave a message. Arrangements can be made for pick-up of donations during the weeks following the Autumn Glory Festival. Clothing will not be accepted for the auction.

BROAD FORD SCHOOL STUDENTS RENDEZVOUS WITH MOUNTAIN MAN - Four classes from Broad Ford School trekked to Chuck Nolan's home recently, where he hosted the curious students at a mountain man "rendezvous." Students of Teresa Browning, Jane Britner, Debbie Woods, and Deborah Stuck learned about Native American life and the lives of the mountain men and women pioneers who interacted with them. The Oakland Elks Lodge arranged and paid for the day's transportation for the event and distributed drug awareness information to them. "The kids were great," Nolan said of the reaction to the living history presentation. "They were especially impressed with the musket demonstration, the scalps hanging in the tepee, and that one of the many uses for animal fat was as a treatment for diaper rash," he laughed.

Windows 95 Course Offered

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Basic Windows 95 Course at the McHenry campus on Friday, Oct. 17, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. and on Saturday, Oct. 18, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Participants in this five-hour class will learn to explore accessories, and organize files, folders, and diskettes. Previous computer experience is not required. For additional information and registration, persons may contact the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

Readers Wanted For Local Food Bank Project

"Read to Feed" is the name of the statewide project to help stock the larders with emergency food supplies.

Sponsored by the Maryland Food Bank, the drive will be organized locally by the AmeriCorps members working at Garrett County Community Action's Community Emergency Services.

AmeriCorps member Lori White described the project as a reading incentive program. "It is like a walk-a-thon in that participants get pledges for reading books," she said. Unlike the traditional walk-a-thon, Read to Feed sponsors are asked to pledge canned goods.

The three-week read-a-thon will run from Oct. 14 through Nov. 4. "We're contacting schools and churches trying to get support," she said.

Among respondents to date, White listed the West Marva District Office of The Church of the Brethren. This office offered the support of the church members in the Garrett County area.

To make the program more fun for the participants, White said she has been asking businesses to contribute merchandise that she can offer to anyone who participates in the effort. "We've had some good response from businesses. They have offered coupons, T-shirts, and sweat shirts," she said.

In addition to entrant gifts, the project will offer service learning students the opportunity to earn credits, White noted.

The food collected by Garrett County readers will stay in the county to meet the emergency needs of the residents.

All organizations and individuals are invited to help in the effort. Anyone who wishes more information may contact Lori White or Jody Teets at Community Action, 301-334-9431, ext. 121.

Band Boosters To Serve Dinners

The Southern Garrett Band Boosters will serve turkey dinners at the Southern High School cafeteria during the Autumn Glory Festival. They will be served on Saturday, Oct. 11, from 3 to 6 p.m.

The menu will include turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, sauerkraut, cranberry sauce, rolls, pumpkin pie, and choice of beverage. Cost will be $6.50 for adults and $3.50 for children under 12. Carry-out orders will be available.

Profits from the dinners will help support the Southern Band and its activities throughout the year.

Regular Meeting Of Planning Commission Set

The Garrett County Planning Commission will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 8, in Room 304 of the old Garrett County Courthouse. The meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Items to be discussed will include an evaluation of pending subdivision applications, the evaluation of the state highway construction program, and miscellaneous permits and zoning appeals.

For information about the meeting, persons may call the Garrett County Planning and Zoning Office at 301-334-1920.

THE WEATHER WAS EXCELLENT and the crowds were large at the annual Springs Folk Festival this past weekend, held in Springs, Pa., as visitors took a trip back into yesteryear to experience a variety of old-fashioned methods, practices, and foods. Above, three young ladies take a turn at applebutter stirring, while below, 9-year-old Janessa Shambaigh of Ridgeley, W.Va., finds out just how difficult it is to split logs in order to make split-rail fencing the old-fashioned way. Harvest Masquerade Festival

Costume Idea #3—"Something Wild"

Have you ever dreamed of being William Shakespeare, Queen of the Nile, Peter Pan or Pocahontas? Well, your big chance has finally come. GLAF, who brought you the best party of the century back in March, is at it again. This time instead of formal attire you can wear anything at all. In fact, the wackier the better! Come in disguise alone or in pairs with a friend, a date or a spouse. Come in gangs or flocks or teams. We don't care, we just want you there for our second best party of the century.

Don't let us down.
It wouldn't be the same without you.

If you're troubled over what costume to create, try one of our many suggestions to come.

Garrett Co. Farm Bureau Schedules Annual Banquet

The annual Garrett County Farm Bureau Banquet will be held Friday, Oct. 17, at 7 p.m., at the Bittinger fire hall with special guest speaker William Knill, president of Maryland Farm Bureau and a member of the national Farm Bureau board. Banquet reservations are due Oct. 13, and can be made by calling Clark Kolb at 301-746-8484. The cost is $3.00 per person.

Knill, who lives in Mount Airy, has a 90-cow beef herd from which calves are sold in the fall. He has been a Carroll County Farm Bureau member since 1963, serving on various county committees, as vice president for two years, and county president for three years. He was a member of the Maryland Farm Bureau board of directors for seven years, Maryland Farm Bureau vice president for one year, and president for three years. He has cooperated with the local elementary school and hosted farm visits for the school children for over 20 years, including the FFA Chapter "Food for America" program.

Acting Garrett County Farm Bureau President Paul Miller reminds members that 1998 dues should be paid. In the past year, the organization has dealt with such issues as: private property rights, over-regulation, mandatory nutrient management, special environmental taxes on fertilizer/pesticides, tributary strategy issues, "death" taxes, and black bear nuisance management.

Chevy Donates Pickup To National FFA Organization

Chevy Trucks, a 52-year national FFA organization sponsor, donated a new pickup truck to the FFA for the 11th year in a row. The truck, bearing the organization's emblem, will be auctioned by the FFA Alumni Association during the 70th National FFA Convention Nov. 13-15 in Kansas City, Mo. Last year's truck sold for $20,700. Proceeds from the auction provide scholarships for FFA members.

Bill Ames, national merchandising manager, Chevrolet Motor Division, presented the pickup to National FFA President Corey Rosenbusch, Glen Rose, Texas, during the recent FFA State Presidents' Conference in Alexandria, Va.

"FFA is very important to Chevrolet," Ames said. "You are the future of agribusiness. Your efforts will help determine how well we compete in the future on a global scale. Thanks for 52 years of a mutually successful and gratifying relationship."

In addition to donating the pickup, Chevy Trucks sponsors the annual FFA State Presidents' Conference as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc. The conference provides leadership and citizenship training to state FFA officers. Chevy Trucks also funds scholarships for national FFA officers, the National FFA Agricultural Sales and/or Service Proficiency Award program, the outdoor Recreation Proficiency Award program, an exhibit in the FFA National Agricultural Career Show and collegiate scholarships for FFA members.

FFA is a national organization of 452,885 members preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business and technology of agriculture. The organization has 7,263 local chapters located throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands. FFA's mission is to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

Maryland's Ag Exports Still Increasing

Maryland's secretary of agriculture has announced that Maryland's agricultural exports reached an estimated $247 million in 1966, up from $175 million in 1993. In 1991, the exports totaled $155 million, so the 1996 figures represent a 60 percent increase from that year.

"There is no question that our efforts to expand the market horizons for Maryland agricultural and food products are working. There is a market for what we produce around the world, and each year we are doing a better job of meeting this growing demand," said Riley.

According to figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service, the top five agricultural exports for Maryland in 1996 were poultry, $90 million; feed grains, $65 million; soybeans, $43 million; vegetables, $13 million; and tobacco leaf, $11 million.

"These figures are extremely encouraging and the prospects for the future look bright. We are very optimistic of increasing our agricultural exports to such places as South Korea, Poland, the Philippines, Japan, Indonesia, Argentina, Brazil, Turkey, Mexico and others. New market opportunities are developing every day," Riley said.

"We in Maryland are ideally suited to be a significant player in the global marketplace. Our agriculture is diverse and our value-added food products are in increasing demand. We produce what the world wants. The opportunities are out there. It does take hard work. But the rewards are significant," Riley said.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture's International Marketing Section assists Maryland agricultural and food industries to make connections with international buyers through trade shows, export seminars, special promotions, meetings with agricultural attaches and more. They may be contacted by those interested at the Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, telephone 410-841-5770.

CRP Sign-up Deadline Set

Sign-up for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) will be held Oct. 14 through Nov. 14, 1997.

During the sign-up period, farm operators with eligible cropland and those with expiring CRP contracts may apply. The term of the contract must run from 10 to 15 years.

Eligible cropland for CRP is defined as land that has been planted or considered planted to an agricultural commodity two of the five most recent crop years (1993-1997) and must be physically and legally capable of being planted to an agricultural commodity. Also, marginal pastureland is eligible if it will be devoted to a riparian buffer to be planted to trees.

Under this program, farmers receive annual rental payments and cost-share assistance in return for converting environmentally sensitive land to desirable environmental practices.

Landowners interested in further information on this program may contact the Preston County Farm Service Agency at 304-329-1923 of the National Resources Conservation Service at 304-329-1922. Both of these offices are located in the Kmgwood USDA Service Center at 300 Tunnelton Street.

Soybean Harvest Begins In State

For the week that ended on October 5, the soybean harvest started last week in Maryland and was ahead of the previous and five-year averages. Soybeans shedding leaves continued to make significant advances and was above the previous year average but slightly behind the five-year average.

Grain corn harvesting continued and was behind the previous and five-year averages. Corn harvested for silage was still ahead of the previous and five-year averages.

Sorghum maturity made great advances this previous week but fell way short of the previous and five-year averages. Sorghum harvesting continued and improved quite a bit from last week and was very close to the previous and five-year averages.

Pastures were 4% very poor, 12% poor, 42% fair, 40% good, and 2% excellent.

Hay supplies were 18% very short, 27% short, 54% adequate and 1% surplus.

There was an average of 6.4 days suitable for fieldwork. Topsoil moisture was 14% very short, 55% short, and 31% adequate. Subsoil moisture was 19% very short, 38% short, and 43% adequate.

Maryland's crop progress for the week ending October 5 follows and is listed by percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average from 1992 to 1996, in that order.

Progress: Field corn, mature, 92, 65, 90, and 89. Soybeans, turned, 67, 50, 72, and 78; shedding leaves, 48, 25, 43, and 52. Sorghum, mature, 62, 20, 82, and 75. Barley, seeded, 29, no record, 40, and 33. Rye, seeded, 14, no record, 20, and 23. Wheat, seeded, 5, no record, 7 and 7.

Harvesting progress: Field corn, grain, 24, 13, 36, and 41; silage, 86, 74, 81, and 79. Soybeans, 10, no record, 3 and 5. Sorghum, 15, 2, 14, and 16. Apples, 76, 47, 46, and 57. Alfalfa, 4th cutting, 80, 66, 74, and 82. Other hay, 4th cutting, 75, 24, 46, and 44; 5th cutting, 7, no record, 6, and 19.

THIS MAY RESEMBLE A CROP CIRCLE, but its perpetrator is far from extra-terrestrial. This is a photo of damage caused by black bears to corn on the Myers Brothers Farm near Deer Park. "For 10 years we've had this problem," Herbert Myers said. Crops have been destroyed by bears who sit down in the corn field and begin to eat all the stalks within reach. "This kind of damage is all through the fields," he said. "A bear will take an area about the size of a 12' x 12' room and just clear it." But it's not just damage to his corn crop. Myers has experienced a variety of bear-caused destruction. Pictured below are wrapped hay bales. Bear-damage to these is apparent. Has the DNR been contacted? "They were just here this morning. They said it's bear damaged alright," Myers explained. Bears have been trapped, removed, and have returned. Or others just like them have come to the Myers farm. Last year Myers billed the DNR for bear damage to crops and was repaid 41% of his loss.

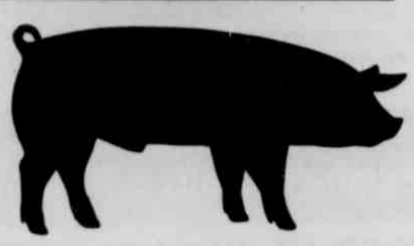
A pork October
National Pork Month



Nation's Pork Producers Invest In Industry's Future

The nation's pork producers are investing $39.6 million this year in programs to strengthen the position of pork in the marketplace and to expand and develop markets for pork products in this country and foreign markets.

Money for pork promotion, research, and consumer information programs comes from a national legislative checkoff program that started in 1986. Producers selling breeding stock, feeder pigs or market hogs, as well as importers of hogs and pork products, invest .45 of one percent of the market value (45 cents per $100 value) through the checkoff program.

The National Pork Board currently contracts with two organizations, the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) and the Pork Industry Group of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, to carry out specific programs.

NPPC coordinates national product promotion and marketing efforts in addition to production research and producer education projects. The checkoff program has enabled the pork industry to establish pork as a versatile, nutritious protein alternative to consumers, thanks to the highly successful "Pork. The Other White Meat" national advertising campaign, which includes network television, radio, and magazine ads. A new phase of the advertising campaign, launched during the 1995 Super Bowl, is "Taste What's Next." It is positioning pork as the next big food trend of the 1990s.

Consumer information programs alert food editors across the United States to the nutritional value and versatility of today's leaner pork. Checkoff funds are being invested in research and education programs that will have a positive impact on the future direction of the pork industry in such areas as genetics, meat science, animal care, nutrition, and the environment.

The U.S. Meat Export Federation assists NPPC in maintaining and developing foreign markets for U.S. pork. Checkoff-funded pork promotions in foreign countries emphasize the United States as a reliable source of high-quality pork products.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board's Pork Industry Group (PIG) coordinates informational programs aimed at health care professionals and schools. It also conducts human nutrition and product research.

Checkoff-funded programs are conducted at the local and state level as well as nationally. State pork producer associations will collectively receive about $7.5 million this year to spend on promotion, consumer information, and research projects in their respective states.

Beware of Silo Gas

Silo gas is a confined space hazard that is formed after chopped silage is placed in a silo. A natural fermentation process takes place, releasing gases. Nitrogen dioxide (NO_2) and carbon dioxide (CO_2) are the greatest concern. These gasses can kill with even a small amount of exposure. NO_2 is toxic, while CO_2 displaces the oxygen supply in a silo. Farmers who work around silos should make sure everyone takes the proper steps to beware of silo gas.

* Label silo to warn of gas hazards.
* Be aware of signals of silo gas such as yellow-brown color or a bleach-like odor.
* Lock access to silos to keep bystanders and children out.
* Do not enter silos after filling has started. Silo gas concentration may be the highest 48-72 hours after filling. Lethal concentrations may exist for up to three weeks in poorly ventilated silos.
* Run the blower to ventilate the silo at least 20 minutes before entering.
* Obtain and use monitoring equipment to determine the level of NO_2, CO_2 or O_2 present. If dangerous levels exist, do not enter.
* If entrance is necessary, a self-contained breathing apparatus must be worn by someone trained in its use. A safety harness should be worn and monitoring should continue while someone is in the silo.

Operation Hay Lift

The Frederick County Emergency Management Office contacted me this week asking if anyone in the area would be interested in donating hay to the drought stricken farmers in Frederick County. The Emergency Management Office will arrange for pick-up of the hay. My office will coordinate the "hay" hft. If you have any hay to donate call my office at 301-334-6960. We need to know the type of bale.

Corn Moisture

Corn silage is drying down very fast. We used to recommend harvesting when the black layer was formed in the kernel; however, it is now recommended to start harvesting at three-quarter milk line and finishing with one-quarter milk line in the kernel. The kernel becomes too hard at black layer for optimum digestibility. As most of you are probably aware, there is a new corn silage processing machine for rolling silage. Research indicates that hard kernel digestibility is improved by processing. I understand that there is a processor in the area that will provide custom service.

The typical moisture content for grain corn for safe storage is 13 to 14%. Drying time in the field may vary depending on corn variety and weather. It can take 30 days in the field to dry corn from 35% moisture to 20%.

Riparian Forest Buffers Video Available In Maryland Libraries

Thanks to funding from the Chesapeake Bay Trust, a new educational video, Riparian Forest Buffers: The Link Between Land and Water, is being distributed to public libraries throughout Maryland.

This close-captioned video, produced primarily with funds from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service and the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, illustrates how riparian--or streamside--forests filter water run-off from land-based activities before it enters waterways. Such filtration helps maintain stream system integrity, protect water quality, and improve aquatic and streamside habitat.

The 21-minute video also provides information on the "three-zone riparian management system" and shows examples from both urban and rural buffer sites.

"The video is designed to help landowners understand the function and value of riparian forest buffers in agricultural, forested and urban settings," said Extension natural resources specialist Bob Tjaden, who directed its production. "It describes the buffers, explains how landowners can create one themselves, and suggests contacts for additional help and information."

Named State's Outstanding Logger

An Allegany County timber harvester has been recognized as the most outstanding logger in the state, as the Maryland Forests Association (MFA) recently honored Maryland Master Logger David Earl Opel of Double D Logging, Frostburg, with the "1997 Logger of the Year" award.

The award was presented to Opel at the Maryland Forests Association's Annual Meeting awards banquet held last month at the Wisp Resort. In addition to an engraved plaque, Opel received a Poulan chain saw courtesy of Ray Fuller of J.P. Fuller, Inc., Glen Burnie. Fuller has annually donated a chain saw to the Logger of the Year for many years. Crew members Jason Compton, Harold Schmidt, and Opel's son David were also recognized. Opel accepted the award, thanking his wife Dottie and son David for their "continual support."

Opel was nominated by MFA Board members Kevin Simpson and Pete Miller, foresters with Westvaco, and Walt Graham, forester for Coastal Lumber Company's Hopwood, Pa., mill. Opel's nomination was the result of his outstanding commitment to sound forest and business management practices. During the award presentation, Graham spoke of Opel's ability to complete some of the most difficult logging jobs in the area with minimal disturbance to the site. Miller then showed slides of various stages of one of Opel's jobs. Miller stressed that Opel "routinely follows" best management practices (BMPs) as taught in the Maryland Master Logger program.

MFA is the sponsor of the Maryland Master Logger Program, which trains and recognizes timber harvesters who have committed to being the safest, most environmentally conscientious loggers possible. Opel's logging sites have been used for the forest practicum part of the Master Logger program, and have also been visited as part of forest educational tours conducted by the Garrett County Forestry Board and the State Association of Forestry Boards. Nearly 80% of Opel's timber harvests are on privately owned, non-industrial forest land. Opel willingly spends time answering questions of adjacent landowners and those passing by his job sites, and encourages the use of his logging sites for education tours.

"Dave is extremely conscientious, hard working, and concerned about the future of our environment and the forest products industry," Miller said. Double D logs in some of the most sensitive areas in western Maryland. Dave goes beyond most accepted standards for BMP compliance and, as a result, his jobs have that polished look that non-industrial forest landowners are looking for. Dave Opel is a master logger in every sense of the word, and truly deserves the honor of Logger of the Year."

Since 1988, the Maryland Forests Association has awarded the Logger of the Year to recognize and promote excellence in logging practices.

Garrett Home Care, Inc.

Garrett Home Care, Inc., owned and managed by Marilyn Jo Janes, R.N., began services in May with the mission of providing short- and long-term home care to those who need assistance in their homes. This includes personal care, housekeeping help, meal preparation, shopping services and companionship. Private duty nursing is also available.

Janes says Garrett Home Care makes it possible for people to maintain the quality of life they desire while encouraging independence and assisting with all of the tasks which must be normally attended to.

"Our services can make a big difference in the lives of those who may live alone or with relatives who cannot be at home 24 hours a day," said Janes. Recovery from illness or awaiting nursing home placement are also times when extra help may be needed.

"Our clients are pleasantly surprised to see our qualified staff come into their homes and not only take care of their personal needs," Janes continues, "but do housekeeping and prepare wonderful meals for them. In addition, they may also do shopping or escort them to appointments and other errands."

Janes, who holds a B.S. degree in health care administration, was an R.N. at Garrett Memorial Hospital for eight years, and a home health nurse for three years, says, "We really care about people."

Garrett Home Care is licensed by the state and maintains a quality of care which is unequaled. The staff of qualified people with CPR certification offers services up to 24 hours a day and works weekends, nights, and holidays.

"Our clients may only need us a few hours a week, or 24 hours a day, but each one is special to us," Janes said. "The client's care provider will become a friend and companion whose most important job is taking care of them and meeting their needs."

Garrett Home Care, Inc., based in the Oakland area, can be reached by calling 301-334-1844.

FEEDING TIPS FOR PRESCHOOL CHILDREN

Children go through many stages as they grow. Their eating habits are often affected by these stages. The years between 1 and 5 can be a very busy period of learning, so it is not unusual for preschoolers to have times when eating does not interest them.

In general, when children are active and growing steadily, a small appetite is nothing to worry about. However, sometimes a loss of appetite can be a warning. The child could be ill, tense, or worried (especially if there are many arguments in the home). If a child never eats and does not seem to be growing normally, he should see a doctor.

*Sometimes children quit eating to get attention. One solution to this problem is to give children attention before a meal. Involving them in pleasant conversation while eating also helps them eat.

*Children also quit eating when they do not get enough physical activity. Children need some physical activity every day, preferably outside.

*Normal preschool eating behavior happens because children are learning to be independent. You can help your child feel more independent by giving him a choice whenever possible. Choices can be simple and inexpensive. Cooked or raw carrots. Scrambled eggs or boiled eggs. A plain peanut butter sandwich or peanut butter and jelly.

*Foods that let the child eat by himself also helps him feel independent. Prepare foods that can be eaten with the fingers.

*Children like to eat foods they have helped prepare. Give your child a simple job to do to prepare food like taking apples out of the refrigerator or tearing lettuce for a salad.

*Children learn eating habits by watching others eat. Children are more likely to try new foods if they see others eating and enjoying them.

*Children eat better when calm. Have a few minutes of quiet rest time before eating and save family fights until after meals.

*Choking often happens because children are lying down, running, jumping, playing, laughing, or crying while eating.

*No matter what, you may still find yourself in a "me against you" situation. If you find yourself in a difficult situation try:

a) distracting your child by talking about something besides food. Perhaps something outside. Children have short memories: the child may soon forget and eat without further argument.

b) playing a game such as "Let's see who can drink their milk first."

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watarshed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public haaring on October 16, 1997, at 7:30 p.m. in the Planning Commission Meeting Room (Third Floor Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review an application made by Mr. John Stets (Docket VR-410) for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the side yard set-back requirement for residences. Specifically, the applicant is requesting a Variance to allow construction of an addition to his residence which would extend to within 12.2 feet of the side property line instead of the required 15 feet. The property is located on Deer Run Lane in Sky Valley (Zoned LR).

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE FEE-SIMPLE DWELLING 8 EAST PENNINGTON STREET OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Thomas B. Thayer to Hans Rusli, Trustee, dated March 15, 1996, and recorded in Liber 675, folio 281 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, the holder of the indebtedness secured by the Deed of Trust having appointed Alvin E. Friedman, Kenneth J. MacFadyen, James J. Loftus, and Daniel Menchel, Substitute Trustees by instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the Land Records of the County aforesaid, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the parties secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer for sale at public auction

AT THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, AT THE COURT HOUSE DOOR, OAKLAND, ON TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21,1997 AT 1:00 O'CLOCK P.M.

ALL THAT LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett County, Maryland, and described as follows:

ALL THAT PARCEL OF LAND SITUATE IN ELECTION DISTRICT NO. 14, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND, WHICH IS DESCRIBED AS FOLLOWS:

BEGINNING FOR THE SAME ON THE NORTH SIDE OF PENNINGTON STREET IN THE TOWN OF OAKLAND, BEING KNOWN AND DESIGNATED AS LOTS NO. 7 AND 8 OF WILSON'S FIRST ADDITION TO THE TOWN OF OAKLAND, A SUBDIVISION OF LOT NO. 57.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty as to the description or the improvements.

Terms of Sale: a deposit of $16,000 will be required at the time of sale in the form of cash, certified check or other form as the Substitute Trustees determine acceptable. If the noteholder and/or servicer is the successful bidder, the deposit requirement is waived. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten (10) days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Time is of the essence as to the purchaser. If the purchaser defaults, the deposit will be declared forfeit, and applied as required by Maryland law, with the remainder, if any, to be applied at the discretion of the Substitute Trustees. In addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to the Substitute Trustees or noteholder, the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. Further, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for any deficiency resulting from the resale, as well as all costs and expenses of the resale, including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees and all other charges incurred by the Substitute Trustees. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason (and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder), there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, water rent, condominium fees, and/or homeowner association dues, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. In the event the property is occupied by tenants, the Substitute Trustees assume no responsibility for security deposits, or other monies paid by the tenants to anyone. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Couple Weds In Las Vegas

Lisa Linn Kessel and David Arroniz were united in marriage on Sept. 16. The evening double ring ceremony was held at the Las Vegas Wedding Chapel in Las Vegas, Nev.

The bride is the daughter of William and Gloria Kessel of Mt. Storm, W.Va. The groom is the son of Lydia West and George Arroniz, both of El Paso, Texas.

Lisa Lynn strolled down the aisle to the traditional wedding march. She wore a white princess gown of soft, flowing, crepe with embroidered lace trim at the empire waistline. Her headpiece was embellished with fabric rosettes decorated with beads and simulated pearls, and a finger-tip length veil.

The bouquet she carried was made by her mother. It consisted of white and red roses accented with lily of the valley and pearls. Mickey and Minnie Mouse cut-outs were attached to the bouquet streamers.

The groom was attired in a charcoal gray suit with a red rose boutonniere. He wore a Mickey and Minnie Mouse tie.

Serving as matron of honor was the bride's mother, while the groom's mother served as "best man." They wore red and black, accented with corsages made of white and red roses with lily of the valley and pearls. The two mothers carried the couple's rings to the altar on the straws of Mickey and Minnie Mouse sippie-cups.

The couple's special song, "It's a Whole New World," was played during the traditional ceremony and exchange of rings.

Joy Welling of Mt. Storm, great-aunt of the bride, was the only special guest. She also wore red and black with a red rose corsage.

Following the ceremony, the couple proceeded to the Stratosphere Casino/Hotel on the Las Vegas Strip. There they cut their two tier wedding cake decorated with red roses. The cake-topper was a ceramic Mickey and Minnie Mouse couple dressed in wedding attire.

After the traditional wedding toast, the couple, along with attending family members, celebrated the occasion with an evening buffet in the casino/hotel.

After a honeymoon in Las Vegas, the couple established residence in Texas.

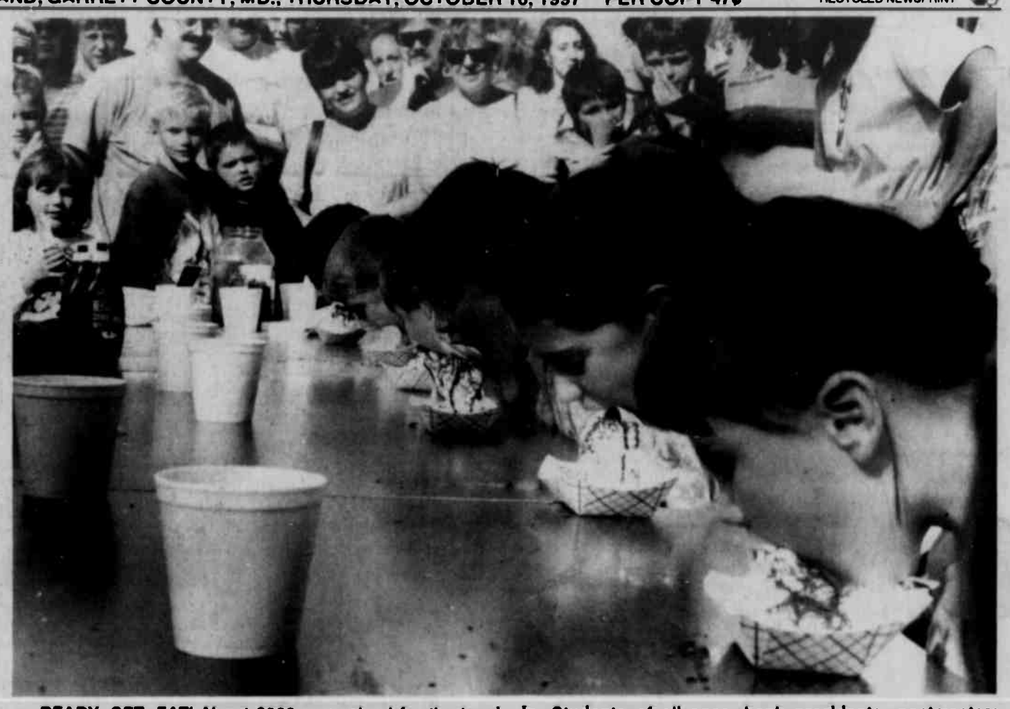
Man Sentenced In Vehicular Homicide Case

The driver in a single-vehicle accident on Savage River Road in December that claimed the life of a Grantsville woman was sentenced to five years in jail, two years of which were suspended, in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

At his July trial, Norman Frederick Brown II, 26, Arnold, pleaded not guilty to a charge of vehicular homicide while intoxicated, but Judge Ralph M. Burnett found him guilty. Brown was also convicted on two charges, reckless driving and driving on a revoked operator's license, both to which he pleaded guilty. An additional charge of driving while intoxicated was merged in with the vehicular homicide while intoxicated charge.

Brown was driving a 1992 Eagle Talon northbound on Savage River Road early in the morning of Dec. 1, 1996, when the vehicle ran off the road and struck a tree. His passenger, Amy Danielle Durst, was partially ejected from the vehicle and died of her injuries at the accident scene.

Brown's conviction on the driving on the revoked operator's license charge drew a one-year suspended sentence. He was further placed on three years of supervised probation, to commence upon his release from prison after completion of his incarceration term.



READY, SET, EAT! About $300 was raised for the local chapter of Big Brothers/Big Sisters on Sunday by people doing just what these youngsters are about to do -- diving face first into piles of cold ice cream and eating like wild. The first Lakeside Creamery No Hands Sundae Eating Contest took place in conjunction with the Autumn Glory Festival, and, apparently knowing all about the tasty stuff available at the Creamery, about 65 people paid $2 to dig in. Students of all ages, bank presidents, postmasters, pharmacists, and board of education officials were among the eager ice-cream divers (see other photos). The organizers of the fund-raiser wished to thank all those who took part in the raucous party. If this becomes an annual event, surely it will be one of the most popular yet. Photo by John McEwen.

W.Va. Governor Endorses Trade Corridor Concept

Governor Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia has given his endorsement of the Route 219 Association's efforts to designate US Route 219 as an International highway, according to a press release received this week from Garrett County Chamber of Commerce co-presidents David Moe and Jerry Geisler.

In a letter dated June 16 of this year to Jerry Brant, executive director of the five-state Route 219 Association, Underwood stated, "The proposal to designate US Route 219 as an International Highway from Toronto, Canada, southward through West Virginia is a concept which conforms very well with the defined needs of the state's princi-

Aurora Man Shot, Killed While Hunting; Homicide Apparent Cause

The West Virginia State Police are currently investigating the apparent homicide of an Aurora, W.Va., hunter who was found shot to death early Sunday morning in a wooded area near Brookside, W.Va.

According to West Virginia Natural Resources Officer Richard McCrobie, the body of Harlen W. Kemphfer, 38, was found at 2:23 a.m. Sunday, after a search was launched when he failed to return home from squirrel hunting. His wife reported to authorities that he had left their Aurora home about 4:30 p.m. to hunt in the Brookside area, off Rt. 50.

Written reports indicate that two other men were also hunting in the general area but didn't drive as far back into the woods as Kemphfer, who used his four-wheel-drive vehicle to go a half mile up a trail.

Approximately 50 people, including firefighters from Aurora, Mt. Grove, and Rowlesburg, along with volunteers from Union Ambulance (all in West Virginia), a helicopter from Maryland, a search and rescue dog from the Weston (W.Va.) area, and family members searched until Kemphfer's body was found.

The assistant state medical examiner's office in Morgantown performed an autopsy on Monday and determined the shooting was not self-inflicted, but McCrobie declined further comment on the type of gun used or the number of shots fired.

"It is being investigated as a homicide," said State Police Sgt. Randy Proctor, head of the Kingwood detachment. "We're not ruling anything out at this moment."

Charges for homicide, according to West Virginia law, range from first degree murder to negligent homicide. Persons with information about the incident are asked to contact Tfc. James T. Merrill, WV State Police at 304-329-1101.

Born March 8, 1959, in Oakland, Kemphfer was the son of Herman L. Kemphfer Jr., Aurora, and Deloris R. (Baker) Graham, Albright, W.Va. He was a foreman for the Mountaineer Contractors in Kingwood, having worked for the company for more than 21 years. He was a member of the Laborers' Union, Local 379, the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department,

Board Of Ed. Considers Computer Connections, Audit, Construction

In two separate presentations Tuesday night, the members of the Garrett County Board of Education heard about educational opportunities available via cyberspace connections.

Tom Bulka, science and computer teacher at Northern High School, offered information on classroom uses of the Internet. Later, Victoria Olson, director of Education Partnerships Family Education Network, reported on her company's educational computer information, which targets parents rather than students.

VIRTUAL HIGH SCHOOL

Bulka reported on educational activities undertaken by his students at Northern High School, which was one of six charter schools involved in the creation of the statewide Virtual High School.

This computer initiative provided equipment and funding to link into a network interacting with other schools. The Northern High School students were then able to create their own web page and begin engaging in enhanced computational education projects.

Bulka presented visual information on a variety of applications of the Virtual High School program.

At the conclusion of his presentation, he requested approval from the board to attend the National Supercomputing Conference in San Jose, Calif. Bulka has been invited to be a presenter at this event. His request was approved.

FAMILY EDUCATION NETWORK

Olson's presentation on the Family Education Network stressed the fact that the information provided by her organization is funded through business partnerships that she establishes. Those who link into the material provided by her publishing company pay no fees to do so.

She stated that her company is parent-Issue oriented. "We build a way for parents to integrate themselves into the school through this computer link," she said.

She described a set format used for information retrieval in all communities, making it easier for parents to access the data about school programs, menus, and activities. In Maryland 11 of the 24 school systems are currently signed up with her program she said.

Several questions were raised by board members concerning the network. One issue that had short-circuited board acceptance in May of Channel 1, a classroom Internet link-up program, came into play again Tuesday: advertising.

Olson advised the members that conservative standards were set by her company in accessing the funding for her network program. "I can supply a copy of all sponsors and all infor-

Sec. Winstead To Make Tour Stop Tomorrow

Maryland Transportation Secretary David L. Winstead and other department officials will be in Garrett County on Friday, Oct. 17, as part of their annual state tour. The officials will meet with the Garrett County Commissioners and other individuals to discuss key transportation programs for the years 1998-2003 and to exchange information on transportation issues and construction projects.

The session will begin at 9 a.m. in the commissioners' meeting room in the courthouse. The public is invited to attend. Copies of the Consolidated Transportation Program will be available, according to a release from the secretary's office.

John Nelson, director of the county's office of planning and zoning, will present the state road "wish list" of the county, which includes such items at Rt. 219 improvements, concerns about the state intersection near the Yough Glades Elementary School, various truck lane issues, and other items, as previously reported in The Republican.

$300 Million ARC Highway Bill Passes Hill

The U.S. House and Senate approved a compromise transportation funding bill last week that would allocate $300 million specifically for highway construction in the Appalachian region, including $7.6 million targeted for Maryland, according to Congressman Roscoe Bartlett's office. The final step to reality for the bill is approval by President Clinton, which is expected by the end of the month.

Only roads in the Appalachian Development Highway System (ADHS) are eligible for these Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) highway funds. The only roads in Maryland that are part of the AHDS are US Route 220 and US Route 219. The Maryland board of the ARC, together with the state's department of transportation, will determine how Maryland's allocation will be spent.

While the exact spending specifics of Maryland's portion has yet to be determined, the section of Route 220 from the Pennsylvania border to Cumberland is most often mentioned as an early priority for improvements. The two-lane road in Allegany County has been the scene of a number of accidents in past years. "This is a concrete step to making fatal and serious accidents on Route 220 a thing of the past," Bartlett

Stewart Is First Chair In Three Rivers Young People's Orchestra

Amanda K. Stewart, daughter of Brad and Patsy Stewart, Oakland, and a sophomore at Southern High School, has been informed that she is the principal trombonist (first chair) for the Three Rivers Young People's Orchestra in Pittsburgh, Pa. She auditioned to be a part of the orchestra in the spring. She is pictured with the orchestra's director, Lawrence Christianson, professor of music and conductor of the symphony orchestra at West Virginia University.

The Three Rivers Young People's Orchestra, or TRYPO, is an orchestra of 75 musicians from four states. They practice each Saturday at Carnegie-Mellon University. The group will perform in concert on Saturday, Dec. 6, at 3 p.m. in the Bynum Theatre, Pittsburgh. Selections to be presented include "Overture of the Season" by Svoboda; "Lincoln Portrait" by Copland; "Pelleas and Melisande" by Faure, "Dances" from Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite; "Night on Bald Mountain" by Mussorgsky; and "Symphony No. 5 in C, Op. 67," by Beethoven.

There are tentative plans for a bus to travel from Oakland to the concert. Persons who are interested in making the trip should call the Stewart Funeral Home at 301-334-2166. Callers should leave their names, addresses, and phone numbers and they will be contacted when more information is available.

In addition to TRYPO, Amanda is a member of The Young Guns, a brass quintet at WVU. This group will perform prior to the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Handel's Messiah on Saturday, Dec. 13, at St. Peter's Catholic Church. The quintet will play from 7 until 7:30 p.m.

School Bus Struck By Jeep; All Escape Serious Injury

A school bus on its second run was slammed into by a Jeep Wednesday morning in Accident, but no one was seriously injured.

The report released by Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, stated that about 8:30 a.m. school bus 37, driven by Bryan Lenhart, 46, Accident, was eastbound on Accident Bittinger Road, headed to Accident Elementary School with 11 students on board.

At the same time a 1996 Jeep, operated by a juvenile and transporting another juvenile, was northbound on South Street approaching the intersection in front of the post office. Reportedly the driver of the Jeep was exceeding the speed limit when he crossed through the intersection, passing the stop sign, and striking the bus.

Everyone involved in the incident was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital, either by rescue squad or private vehicle. All were treated and released.

Police reported that both vehicles were totally destroyed in the accident and that charges are pending against the juvenile driver of the Jeep. The police continue to investigate.

Anyone who has information on this accident is asked to contact Tfc. R. Tarburton, at the McHenry barrack, 301-387-1101.

STRIKES POLE

A single vehicle accident Saturday sent the driver to the hospital for treatment.

Police reported that Bruce G. Van Wagner, Accident, was eastbound on Mosser Road, east of Bumble Bee Road, at 2:10 a.m. He was allegedly exceeding the speed limit when he lost control of his vehicle, crossed the westbound lane, drove onto the shoulder of the road, and struck a utility pole. The impact broke the pole in half, the report said.

Van Wagner was transported by Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial

THE PUMPKIN PEOPLE ARE BACK IN DEER PARK, and just in time for the annual Fall Frolic, slated for Saturday, Oct. 18, in the town park. This year the pumpkin heads are hootin' it up out at the "old west" near the General Store, Wells Fargo Bank, the jail, saloon, and dentist/barber shop. They can get a little rowdy at times, but they're still very friendly toward little people, especially those with parents and a camera. (In other words, photo ops are plenty!) The public is cordially invited to the Fall Frolic, which will be held from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m., and will feature country, gospel, and folk music, as well as a variety of events and activities. And even if you miss the celebration, the pumpkin person scene in Deer Park is definitely worth a visit over the next few weeks.

DHR Sec. Explains Rejection Of Head Start Grant

Alvin C. Collins of the Maryland Department of Human Services sent a letter to the Garrett County Commissioners last week, explaining why the grant proposal submitted by the Garrett County Community Action Committee this fall was rejected. The grant had been awarded to the local agency before and had been used to establish a day care/head start facility that has allowed approximately 60 families to leave welfare and enter the work force. The application for grant monies to continue the program was sent in by Duane Yoder, director of Community Action, and he was informed several weeks ago that the proposal was not accepted.

"This was a competitive bid process conducted in accordance with regulations governing the state procurement process," Collins wrote. "All proposals were evaluated as outlined in the Request for Proposals. Proposals that scored at least 80 points were grouped by regions. Garrett County was grouped with Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties.

"The financial volumes of each proposal were reviewed by Child Care Administration staff, and a financial score was determined," the letter said. "The technical and financial scores were then combined to establish a total score. The proposals within the region were ranked from highest to lowest. Proposals were recommended for funding, beginning with the highest score, until all funds allocated for the region were disbursed.

"The Garrett County proposal was ranked sixth," Collins explained, "and only the first four proposals could be funded with the allocation."

Collins said the Child Care Administration staff held a debriefing with Yoder and others to discuss the strengths and weaknesses identified by the review panel. He also noted that another Request for Proposals will be issued prior to December 31 of this year, and that he and his staff have encouraged the local officials to submit another proposal.

In the interim, the Garrett County Department of Social Services, under the direction of Henry Brown, is working to develop a short-term plan to finance the continuation of the program.

NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK PROCLAIMED - The Garrett County Commissioners this week joined with the nation in proclaiming Oct. 20-24 as National Business Women's Week. The elected officials were joined Tuesday by several members of the local Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) to make the proclamation. The document states in part that working women constitute 44 million of the working force in the United States, and they are "constantly striving to serve their communities, their states, and their nation in civic and cultural programs," and that the major goals of professional women include helping to create better conditions for working women through the study of social, educational, economical, and political problems; to help them be of greater service to their communities; and further friendships among women throughout the world. The week observance is sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., which is urging all citizens to join in this salute to working women. Seated left to right are Commissioners Wayne Wilt, Roger Glotfelty, and Gary Fratz. Standing in the same order are BPW representatives Earleena Treasler, past president of the Grantsville BPW; Ruth DiPaolo, vice president of the Grantsville BPW; June Hoselbach, president of Garrett County BPW; Peggy Jamison, secretary; and Phyllis Trickett, co-chair of the National Business Women's Week committee.

Guilty Pleas Are Entered In Child Abuse Cases

Two cases involving alleged abuses of children were heard in Garrett County Circuit Court last Thursday, with the defendants pleading guilty to the charges. Sentencing for the two men is pending.

Roger Lee Moats, 26, Swanton, entered guilty pleas to two counts of child abuse and two counts of child pornography, according to a report from Lisa Thayer Welch, the state's attorney for Garrett County. Judge James Sherbin revoked the defendant's bond and remanded him to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff pending sentencing. He faces up to 50 years for these crimes, the state's attorney reported.

Moats was arrested in April after allegedly having abused two juveniles left in his care at various times in January, February, and March of this year. His sentencing will take place two months after the pre-sentence investigation is completed, according to the report.

An Oakland man pleaded guilty to two counts of child abuse. Sherbin accepted the plea and ordered a pre-sentence investigation of Jackie K. Glaze, 66, who was arrested earlier this year following an investigation by the Oakland City Police. Glaze is accused of engaging in sexual activity with a number of young boys in his neighborhood, according to the report.

Glaze faces up to 30 years in jail for the charges, to which he pleaded guilty, according to the state's attorney. Welch said she will ask the judge to impose the entire 30-year term at sentencing. Sherbin revoked Glaze's bond, so the defendant is currently in jail awaiting the sentencing hearing.

A former Accident man convicted of third degree sexual offense was sentenced by Sherbin. Daniel R. Orendorf, 29, had entered a guilty plea to the charge in August. The judge handed down a five-year prison term to be served at the state department of corrections. He then suspended all but 18 months of the sentence, which the defendant will serve in the local jail.

Orendorf was arrested in April following a Maryland State Police investigation into allegations that the defendant had been sexually assaulting a woman with mental disabilities.

In other circuit court news, an Oakland man was sentenced last week for two driving while intoxicated offenses. Roger Foglepole, 46, was given 18 months of jail time, 12 months suspended, by Sherbin for the first count. For the second, he received an additional 12 months, suspended. A $500 fine was also suspended by order of the judge. Upon Foglepole's release, he will be on supervised probation for two years, according to the report.

The defendant was first charged on Dec. 28, 1996, after a Garrett County Sheriff's Office deputy watched him driving erratically along Rt. 39 in the Crellin area. The second charge was incurred by Foglepole on Feb. 24 of this year, when the same deputy came upon the defendant along Oakland-Sang Run Road. Foglepole was apparently having car trouble at the time.

A Friendsville man was sentenced to one year in jail with all but 60 days suspended after being convicted of conspiracy to distribute marijuana. Clint Allen Artice, 25, pleaded guilty to the charge in July. After his release from jail, he will be on supervised probation for one year.

Artice was arrested by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, according to the report.

Sherbin reimposed jail sentences for two men accused of violating probation. Shannon D. Ringer, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, was given a 60-day reimposed jail term after having apparently violated his probation by failing to pay fines, costs, and restitution. Ringer had originally been convicted of destruction of property and had been given the two-month suspended sentence by Judge Fred Thayer.

Wendel E. Hartman, 21, Swanton, apparently violated of his probation when he was found guilty of marijuana possession in Tucker County, W.Va. He had originally been convicted of misdemeanor theft and had been given a three-year suspended sentence. Sherbin reimposed 18 months of the term, which Hartman will serve in the local jail.

ASI Executive Council Holds Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the executive council of the Adventuresports Institute (ASI) held recently at Garrett Community College (GCC), members heard an update on various projects and the Adventuresports academic program. The meeting was chaired by Dr. Harold J. Cordts, council chairperson and professor emeritus, HPER, Frostburg State University (FSU).

Dr. Steve Herman, GCC president, reported that the college's Adventuresports academic program has 92 majors this fall semester. He described close relationships having developed with FSU, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), the Wisp Resort, and various adventure sports businesses.

Lowell Bender, associate dean of continuing education and Dawn Beitzel reported on the team building training sessions that have been done or are being planned for numerous corporations and organizations through Workforce Adventures.

Additional information about the Adventuresports program was presented by Mike Logsdon, program director, who told the council about the weekend activity courses being offered and the two successful adventure sports intercollegiate triathlons GCC has sponsored.

Don Storck reported that the Adventure Direct master directory covering 25 different adventure sports and locations of their venues is nearing completion.

A discussion about the proposed Adventure Sports Center was led by John Braskey, DNR project officer for adventure sports in western Maryland. Following this, Tom Finan, business consultant, suggested that the council begin to plan and establish the Adventure Sports Hall of Fame. Members agreed to pursue this project as soon as possible.

Another DNR project, the fly fishing seminar on the Casselman River, was announced by Gary Yoder, who told the council about the rapidly increasing popularity of the sport of fly fishing.

Other executive council members who attended the meeting were Dr. Catherine Gira, FSU president; Susan Henley, consultant and trails advisor; R. Dean Kenderdine, assistant secretary of the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development; Beverly B. Byron, Byron Butcher Associates; Dr. Donald H. Squire, assistant vice president, Towson State University; Peter V. Stanton, president of Stanton Communications, Inc.; and Lt. Col. Robert F.Turbyfill, coach of the U.S. orienteering team.

Town Hall

ACCIDENT

The town meeting was held Tuesday, Oct. 14.

- The town trick or treat night has been set for Thursday, Oct. 30, 6-7 p.m. Those who wish to participate are asked to turn on a porch light.
- The issue of skate board use in town was introduced. This topic will be addressed at a future meeting.
- Representatives of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society spoke to the council about the society's plans for its Christmas in Flowery Vale celebration. They requested use of Town Hall for the craft bazaar. The mayor and council agreed to this request. They also requested that the judging of town Christmas decorations be done earlier this year so that the winners' names can be announced at the concert at Flowery Vale Dec. 13. The council agreed.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 3.

DEER PARK

The meeting of the mayor and town council was held Monday, Oct. 13.

- A leaf pick-up is being scheduled.
- The trick or treat night for town children age 12 and under has been set for Friday, Oct. 31, 6-8 p.m. Those wishing to participate are asked to turn on a porch light.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 10.

MTN. LAKE PARK

The town meeting was held Tuesday, Oct. 14.

- There will be leaf pick-up the week of Oct. 27-31.
- The mayor reported that the county will pave Deer Park Ave. and Pittsburgh Ave. for the town.
- The state law effective Oct. 1 enables the local sanitary commission to cut off water to customers who have unpaid sewer bills.
- The town will arrange with the U.S. Department of Agriculture to have a gypsy moth survey done to see if it will be necessary to spray.
- Halloween trick or trick night has been set for Thursday, Oct. 30, 5-6:30 p.m. Participants are asked to turn on a porch light.
- Residents should be reminded that open-air burning of leaves is prohibited within the town limits.
- It has been noted that some residents are still putting out trash the day before pick-up. This continues to be a problem because of animals getting into it.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 28.

BACK UP AND PUSH, with Ed Rafferty and "the boys," will be one of the featured bands at the Deer Park Community Center this Saturday, Oct. 18, during that town's annual Fall Frolic. There will be refreshments for sale and live entertainment throughout the day, with all proceeds going to the community center. All are welcome to attend.

Theft From Building Site Investigated

A theft of scaffolding materials worth $1,000 from the Mountainside Development, off Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake, is one of several thefts recently reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. The October 8 incident, which occurred at a home construction site on Mountainview Drive, involved the theft of three sections of yellow metal scaffolding, valued at $600 and four scaffolding wheels valued at $400.

In other sheriff's news, a burglary occurred between October 2 and 12 at a residence in the 3100 block of Lake Shore Drive. A kitchen door window was broken out, resulting in $75 damage, and stolen was a GE videocassette recorder, model VG-4040, serial #711454028, valued at $170.

On the night of October 11, there was an attempt to steal a car parked at Hutton Auto on Hutton Road. Employees arriving for work the next morning discovered that a knife blade had been broken off in the ignition switch of a 1972 Plymouth Duster parked at the lot for repairs. A damage estimate for the ignition switch was not available.

A tree stand, valued at $160, was taken from a tree on farm property on Steyer-Gorman Road sometime between October 7 and 8.

Any person with information about these incidents or any other criminal investigations currently being carried out by law enforcement agencies is encouraged to call the Crime Solvers number at 301-334-1975. Anonymous calls are accepted.

Several persons were arrested by sheriff's deputies for disorderly conduct and various related charges recently.

A fight at the Sheetz Gas Station in Oakland on the night of October 9 resulted in the arrest of the combatants. Robert William Gray and Joel Justin Uphold, both 18 years old and of Oakland, were both apprehended amidst a crowd of onlookers outside the gas station, and both men reportedly had blood on their clothing from wounds attributed to the fistfight. Gray and Uphold were both arrested and charged with second-degree assault and disorderly conduct. Each was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

An Oakland man was arrested for public intoxication, failure to obey a lawful order from a police officer, and disorderly conduct at the Autumn Glory parade on the afternoon of October 11. Roger Lee Keiper, 43, Oakland, was arrested on Water Street and charged with public intoxication, failure to obey a police officer's order, and disorderly conduct. He was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

Arlington Carl Shelton, 31, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested at the Long Branch Saloon on Route 135 on Saturday night, Oct. 11. Shelton and his girlfriend were reportedly fighting at the bar when an employee who intervened to try and stop the altercation allegedly noticed that Shelton had a knife. When deputies arrived and questioned Shelton, he turned over a dirk to them. He was arrested and charged with concealing a deadly weapon and disorderly conduct, and was subsequently released after posting a $500 bond.

A loud party in Kitzmiller at the same time as the Long Branch Saloon incident led to the arrest of Todd Allen Whitacre, 28, Kitzmiller. Deputies called to the scene to ask the revelers to lower the noise level were met by an allegedly intoxicated Whitacre, who reportedly cursed them and dared them to arrest him. Whitacre was then arrested and reportedly continued to curse and threaten deputies from the back of the police car as he was being transported to the jail. He was charged with disobeying a police officer and disorderly conduct, and was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

Ernest Ray Welch, 62, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated.

Time Changed For Free Photo IDs At Shaffer Ford

Local residents are reminded that Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc., Oakland will provide an opportunity on Saturday, Oct. 25, for local parents to have free photo identifications made of their children, and the time for that opportunity will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., rather than 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. as was announced last week.

Persons are encouraged to visit Shaffer Ford, located along U.S. Rt. 219 just north of Oakland, at that time to have these photo IDs made free of charge, which will provide parents with personal safety documents of their children in the event that they are ever missing or abducted.

Free fingerprinting will also be available at Shaffer Ford that day from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Shaffer Ford is one of 112 Neighborhood Ford dealerships in the region that is participating in this program, called Project KidCare. Diehl's Ford in Grantsville is another Garrett County dealership that will also participate (10 a.m. to 4 p.m.), providing the same opportunity for residents in the northern area of the county.

Spruce Forest Sets Saturday Night Concert

A pair of performances by local folksinger Susan Weisbrod (above), followed by a barbershop concert by the Men of Accord, will be featured this Saturday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. at Spruce Forest Artisan Village near Grantsville. The setting for the event is the 94-year-old Village Church, noted for its acoustics.

Weisbrod, a folk guitarist and vocalist from Oakland, will play songs by a variety of singer/songwriters including John Prine, Tom Rush, Bob Dylan, Norman Blake, and Hazel Dickens. The guitarist and vocalist for Sang Run, a local acoustic group that plays traditional oldtime Celtic and Klezmer music, Weisbrod has been performing for six years.

Weisbrod's 7 p.m. concert is scheduled to last one hour. Following her performance, the program's intermission will feature homemade "courtin' fudge" and soft drinks at the concession stand.

After the intermission, the Men of Accord will take the stage. The local barbershop quartet consists of Tom Peterson, Oakland,4 Charlie Pitrolo, Fairmont, W.Va., and Jack Harvey and Ron Leaf, both of Cumberland. The Men of Accord have been performing together since 1990, and released their first recording, Nothing Too Serious, in 1994. The following year, they sang at Red Skelton's 82nd birthday party.

All proceeds from ticket sales, which are $7 each for adults and $4 for students, and from concession sales, will benefit the non-profit Spruce Forest Artisan Village. Children under the age of 6 are admitted free. All persons attending will be eligible to win a $20 gift certificate for Penn Alps Restaurant.

Persons interested in attending are encouraged to call Trish Morgan, Spruce Forest village administrator, at 301-895-3332. Seating space is limited to 120 persons.

Buyer, Beware...

Everyone has heard and/or voiced the above words on a number of occasions, and as much as this writer prides himself on not being taken by shysters, he slipped up recently and is now paying a price.

"we are new company and we'd like to send you a free wrist watch (gold or silver, your choice), and we were wondering if you'd like to try a case of our long-lasting fluorescent light bulbs?" said the sweet female voice at the other end of the line. "How many bulbs are in a case?" was the response. "Thirty," she said. "Sure, I'll try a case," said the writer, thmking, but not saying, "How much could 30 light bulbs cost?...$200 maybe?"

The bulbs arrived, and shortly thereafter the invoice: 30 light bulbs - $1,800; yep, that's one thousand, eight nundred dollars. The bulbs were shipped back immediately, but guess what: the company refused to accept the shipment until we paid a "restocking fee" of 25% of the invoice ($450).

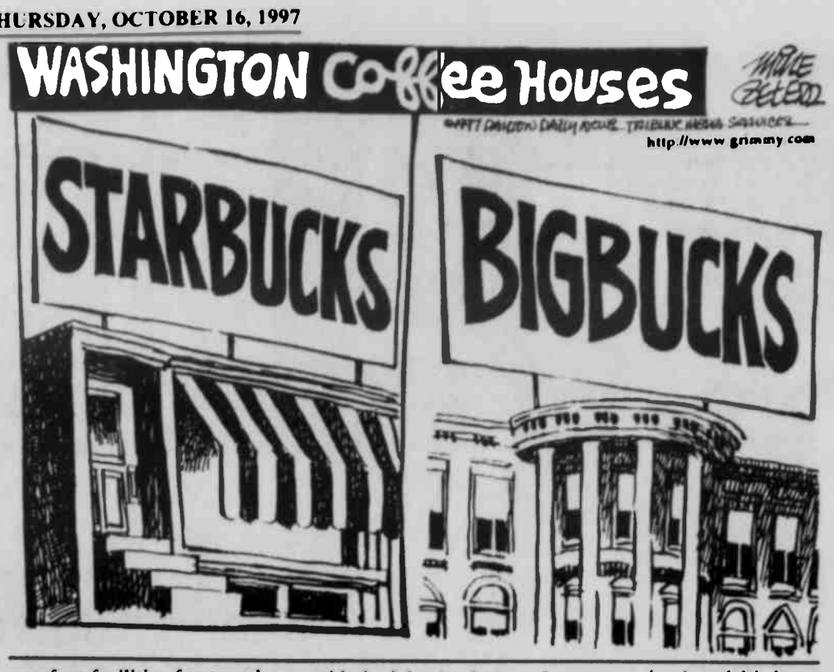
"Forget it!" we said, and instructed the trucking company to return the bulbs to us, vowing to keep the bulbs in storage and never use them. When the company calls wanting to know why we haven't paid for the bulbs, we will tell them that they are here for them to pick up anytime they wish, but we will not pay for them and we will refuse to ship them again. In fact, if they don't come pick them up soon, maybe we'll send them a bill for storage of those bulbs.

To add to the situation, when the bulbs were returned to us, every one of them had been shattered inside the box, apparently by the trucking company.

We have often said that so much human behavior is dictated by the pursuit of the almighty dollar, and some people simply have no conscience. It matters not whom their victims include: the elderly, the poor, the handicapped, newspaper editors...

So once again, we echo the above words to all of our readers. Not only "Buyer, beware," but also, don't ever forget to ask, "How much will it cost me?"

By the way, the "gold" wrist watch has already stopped running.



Take a Risk with Squishy Fruit

By Melodee Hill

Last year when the Ecumenical Youth Ministry was making the rounds of local churches with their singing program, we thought it would be a good time to explore some of the other religions in the area. We visited St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, where Reverend Chip Lee is sermonizer and pastor. The sermon that day happened to be about taking risks and using even the least of your abilities to make a difference in the world. This was meant to be praise and encouragement for the youth who had dug deep within themselves to find a talent and use it for the benefit of others. While I do not recall the sermon word for word, an analogy the Reverend made has stayed with me. It created a powerful image, yet one common enough and humorous enough that nearly everyone could relate to it.

He compared our life to a brown-bag lunch, where we sometimes have to reach way down under the peanut butter sandwich and the wedge of cake to find the squashed cookie or the leftover piece of fruit and bring that out into the light and examine it. To us, it may not seem like much, but to someone else it could be a delicacy. Some of our talents and abilities are like that squashed cookie: hidden under the peanut butter sandwich and not much to look at, but with a little care and perhaps some imagination, could have the potential of being a rare treat.

I have done a lot of thinking over the past year about the challenge that was thrown out that day, and boiled it down to this: Risky business is not just a movie title--it can be a guiding principle. Reaching into your lunch bag and grabbing a squishy piece of fruit can be a messy but rewarding activity. And if you are middle-aged like I am, it can be something you have forgotten how to do. If you have become complacent or set in your routine, you are probably not reaching into the lunch bag, unless you are a habitual risk-taker. By that I mean someone who has grown up taking positive risks, didn't get killed during the "I am an immortal, indestructible, teenager" phase of risk-taking and continues to take chances on a daily basis.

These risks can be physical, emotional and social and can be products of our subconscious (just lie on the couch, please) or conscious selves. Every day in small ways we can actively choose to take a risk. You don't have to try sky-diving or alligator wrestling, but small, positive risks can really make a difference. Sometimes, this needs to be nothing more than trying a new food, a different sport or making a new friend. These lesser risks can be good practice for finally trying something that really scares us.

Right now the biggest physical risk I take (besides hurtling down the roads in a thousand pounds of steel, glass and plastic) is steaming the wrinkles out of my clothes--while I'm wearing them! Or eating Hershey's kisses every day--without a second thought! So, when we went to the ocean this year I forced myself to--gasp!--get in the water. Not a very big deal for most folks, but for someone whose love for frolicking in the water was terrified out of her frame by frame during the movie Jaws, it was a monumental physical and emotional event. I overcame an irrational fear, I had a great time in the water, and I didn't get my leg ripped off by a gigantic animatronics robot. Next, I'm going to eat green pea soup and maybe, just maybe, visit the Mummy's tomb.

On the emotional/social side of things, we could all afford to do a little risk taking. When was the last time you gave someone a sincere, significant, compliment about their character, not their clothes? Or welcomed a stranger into a xenophobic gathering? Have your kids heard the words, "I love you" or "I'm proud of you," lately? Will you make the time to teach a child to read, visit a senior citizen, join a community organization? You do not have to personally know someone to reach out to them, or make a difference in their life. That's the beauty of the risk--it has unrecognized potential and unlimited possibilities!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Let's stop the hassle! It is time now to move forward and improve the highways in the Oakland area and the rest of Garrett County. As you know, Oakland is a congested area for people who want to shop and for people just passing through to go elsewhere. We definitely need a bypass around Oakland to make shopping easier to people who want to shop, as well as for people just passing by. If we don't act now, our many activities such as Autumn Glory and our winter sports will fall apart and we will have nothing.

We also need industry as well as other businesses to employ the many who are without work here in Garrett County. Our young adults would have something to look forward to upon graduating from high school as well as college. Again, let's act now to improve the economy or we will be a dead community.

Sincerely,
Bill DeWitt
Oakland

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to express concern for our Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave. With 47% of the populace earnings going to taxes, our economy should be stable. The law enforcement is making great efforts to control the increasing crime. Our technology enables greater efficiency everywhere. With all of these blessings, we experience increase of diseases, pestilence, tension, unrest, tears of wars, and unusual weather patterns that are destructive, earthquakes, etc. All of these are out of man's control.

Surely the leadership of this great nation will recognize the fact that God is our only hope. We have permitted Him to be taken out of our schools, from the public sight, churches are being closed, and pastors jailed. Christian witnessing is being attacked everywhere. We have murdered 1.5 million innocent babies annually. We have aided and abetted the most evil life styles and immorality over the world. How can we expect to have Gods blessings?

Our government, our justice department, schools, and churches have lowered the standard of right and wrong. We see the trend turning to the new age philosophy, which is satanic. The wages of sin is death. What can be expected to happen next? Our freedom of speech, religion, and many everyday freedoms, which are too numerous to mention, are being taken, one by one. This is very disrespectful of those brave men who have sacrificed life and limbs to establish and preserve our freedoms, life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness.

Great efforts are spent under the guise of peace. Yet there are more wars and unrest over the world today than ever before. While the whole world is preparing huge stockpiles of mass destruction weapons, people are being put to sleep by the liberal, new age news media.

There can never be peace until the Prince of Peace, Jesus Christ, is recognized. Unless this nation recognizes the God that made it great, it will cease to be great. Can we still call this one nation under God, or is it a nation under a 20th century Ahab and Jezebel?

Respectfully,
Homer Mellott

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Garrett County Arts Council, I would like to thank our county commissioners for designating October "Arts and Humanities Month" in Garrett County.

Your proclamation is fitting and proper for a number of reasons:

(1) The arts are good for mind, body, and soul. They exult us in our celebration and comfort us in our grieving.

(2) The arts are good for education. Children who participate in the arts perform significantly better in academics than their peers who do not participate. This aspect of the arts is not lost on discriminating employers reviewing the educational credentials of job applicants.

(3) The arts are good for the economy. Garrett County's Autumn Glory Festival is a case in point. Mother Nature obliges annually with a dazzling display of natural outdoor art. Dozens of nonprofit organizations and hundreds of individuals supplement this show with presentations comprising Garrett County's finest arts and humanities celebration of the year. Involving more than 60,000 residents and visitors, the implications of the Autumn Glory celebration for the local economy are obvious.

And so--thank you, Mr. Glotfelty, Mr. Fratz, and Mr. Wilt, for proclaiming October "Arts and Humanities Month" in Garrett County and for urging residents "to participate in and to celebrate the cultural riches our community has to offer."

Sincerely,
Steve Schlosnagle
Administrator,
Garrett County
Arts Council

To the Editor:

This is in response to Dorothy Leighton's letter from last week.

I found this letter to sum up much of what I feel is wrong with this highway proposal. To say that driving through some of the most beautiful forest land that God created for all creatures, including humans, to enjoy while to you "the countryside appeared poor and lacking in industry," and "there were few good views and an uncomfortable lack of food or comfort facilities for travelers" shows where you were coming from. May I suggest that the next time you and your husband travel to Toronto out of "curiosity," as you say, you take an airplane if you are in such a hurry. Stewardesses will be available to bring food and drink to your comfortable seat and a bathroom will be just down the aisle at all times.

Regardless of whether or not Canadian tourists flock to Canada (as they already do), what could possibly lead one to assume that they would automatically pause in the midst of their three thousand mile journey in the less than fifty-mile stretch of hotels, fast food restaurants, and gas stations that Garrett County would have to offer?

Tourists and commerce originating in Canada are not likely to seek sunnier pastures by driving hundreds of miles south to find themselves, for six months out of the year, risking weather conditions worse than what they left at home.

The problem with your letter, with the arguments voiced for this road, and with American society in general, is that everyone is in a hurry, only to realize too late that they have nowhere to go and that all they need has already been provided right in front of them, by God!

A.M. Moore

To the Editor:

Our forests provide us with many products that we use daily. Some are obvious, such as the paper that this newspaper is printed on. Lumber for housing and furniture, wood for pencils and toys, and the multitude of paper products easily come to mind when one is asked to name a forest product. Most people would be surprised, however, by the number and variety of forest products that dominate their lives. Our forests provide many foods and chemicals. Cellulose extracted from plants provides rigidity to plastic items and thickens many liquids, such as paint and shampoo.

Wood and paper products are reusable, recyclable and biodegradable. They typically require much less energy to produce in comparison to other materials. Our forests are a naturally renewable resource. Harvesting trees for wood products creates openings in the forest canopy. This allows sunlight to reach the forest floor and enable natural regeneration to occur. These openings also create edges and diversify habitat to improve conditions for many animal and bird species.

Our forests also provide us with clean water to drink and air to breathe. The oxygen upon which we depend is actually a by-product of tree growth. As for clean water, forests play an irreplaceable part in the water cycle. Trees absorb water from the soil and through the process of evapo-transpiration release clean water vapor into the air. The tree roots also stabilize soil and impede run-off, helping to keep surface waters such as rivers and lakes clean.

Almost 40 years ago, Congress set aside the third week of October in each year as National Forest Products Week. Congress created National Forest Products Week as a time to recognize the many products that come from our forests and to honor the industry which produces them. This year that week falls between October 19 and 25. The Maryland Forests Association (MFA) is a statewide, non-profit citizen's organization with a 20-year history of promoting the maintenance of a healthy and productive forest land base through forest conservation. MFA is proud of the role the forest products industry plays in Maryland, its commitment to environmental stewardship through best management practices, and its support of the Maryland Master Logger program. The forest products industry is the fifth largest industry in Maryland, the largest industry in western Maryland, and second only to agriculture on the Eastern Snore.

National Forest Products Week offers us the chance to ask people to think about the forest products industry and how it contributes to their fives. For starters, from now on, every time you pick up this publication, think "forest product."

HENS' SCRATCHINGS AND MINE

Indian summer has been a period of grace for me. It has given the Brussels sprouts a chance to grow a little more before a week of frost sweetens them up. I have also continued my outside painting without so much as a sweatshirt to keep me warm. All that will change all of a sudden, and soon, but who knows when?

Another joy of this fall is that we are in eggs again. The Barred Plymouth Rocks I bought back on April 21 started to lay on September 2. Now, more than a month later, they are laying a dozen of lovely brown eggs every day.

These hens are my fourth batch since I started keeping chickens a dozen years ago. They are the second batch of Barred Rocks, and they are unlike any hens I have had before. I bought 25 straight-run chickens, of which three died on the second day I had them. I am still not completely sure how many are roosters, but I think no more than four.

I refer to them as "hens," but there are the roosters, too. The thing that makes them different is that they let me pet them. In fact, they run up to me to pet them. I scratch their backs right at their tail bones which seems to give them great pleasure.

I have always enjoyed keeping chickens, but never before have I had any that seemed interested in bonding with their keeper. My wife has observed for three years, though, that the Barred Rocks seem far more intelligent than the Rhode Island Reds. The latter breed--at least, the exemplars of that breed which have lived here--just seem to be egg machines, just dumb clucks.

The Barred Rocks are much more social than the Reds, often talking to each other, especially when separated. They seem curious about what is going on, something that is problematical when it is the garden which they are curious about. They establish their pecking order, not only amongst themselves, but also with respect to the other animals on the place. They are themselves animals with personality.

They are also beautiful. It is not by accident that black and white constitute the color scheme of the most formal dress. The alternating black and white bars make these Rocks very distinguished in appearance. When they strut across an emerald green lawn, they are absolutely gorgeous.

One of my favorite authors, Flannery O'Connor, wrote a short story titled "All Things That Rise Must Converge." The title itself has become a favorite line of mine. I delight in observing the convergence of things and in participating in their ascent.

Throughout the fall many things rise and converge. There are corn fields to be gleaned to have a supply of scratch feed through the next year. When I pull turnips I give the greens to the chickens; that is, if we are not hungry for turnip greens ourselves.

The warm, even hot, sunny days of Indian summer have given the Brussels sprouts their last, needed spurt of growth, and the frost makes those nice, fat mini-cabbages deliciously sweet. One variety of apples succeeds another. The harvest continues and winter hastens in our direction.

All the while I can hear the pullets celebrating their eggs, which increase in size day by day. They cluck and cackle, and strut back and forth in triumph at their achievement. And what an achievement it is! Feed and water and grit and oyster shell converge within them, and become these glorious brown ovals.

Life isn't easy, but it can be good if we learn to delight in simple things day after day.

Wilhelms To Celebrate 60th Anniversary

Asa and Rose Wilhelm, Lonaconing, will observe their 60th wedding anniversary with an afternoon open house on Sunday, Oct. 19, 2-6 p.m., at the Wilhelm Recreation Area, located along Avilton Road.

Mr. Wilhelm is the son of the late Jon and Ada Wilhelm, and his wife is the daughter of the late Otha and Linnie Fike. The Wilhelms were married on Oct. 16, 1937, by Rev. Cosner at the parsonage.

The Wilhelms have been life-long residents of Avilton. Mr. Wilhelm retired from the Garrett County Roads Department after 40 years of service. Mrs. Wilhelm has been a homemaker most of her life. Both are active members of the Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren, the Republican Club, and the Woodmen of the World.

The couple's children and their spouses are Bob and Doris Weimer, Baltimore, Catherine Spiker, Frostburg, Jim and Gladys Fazenbaker, Hagerstown, and Allen and Cheryl Wilhelm, Avilton. They also have 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The family invites all friends and relatives to attend the celebration. The couple has asked for no gifts.

Reception Slated For Phillips Pair

The reception for the marriage of Neil Kenneth and Sandra J. (Wiles) Phillips will be held on Saturday, Oct. 18, at the Terra Alta Moose Lodge (located along Washington Street), beginning at 5 p.m.

All family and friends are invited to attend the celebration. No invitations are being mailed. A cash bar will be available.

Love Bug Paints Faces To Benefit Big Bros./Sis.

Persons who attended the Grand Feature Parade of the Autumn Glory Festival in Oakland Saturday probably noticed many painted faces of children in the downtown area, most of whom had received their facial artwork from the "Love Bug," a green critter that was on the lawn of Stewart Funeral Home along Second Street.

The "Bug" and face painting were sponsored by the First United National Bank & Trust and the proceeds were donated to Garrett County's Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization. First United personnel working at the site, along with Karen Keefer, Big Brothers/Big Sisters coordinator, were Shirley Fitzwater, Denise Muenchow, Carissa Rodeheaver, and Chris Sisler. Ms. Keefer also noted her appreciation to Brad Stewart, owner of Stewart Funeral Home, and to Linda and Steve Severe, who also assisted with the effort.

Highway Bill

commented.

Bartlett was instrumental in getting the spending package through Congress. He reportedly put together a coalition of representatives who successfully lobbied Congressman Frank Wolf of Virginia, chairman of the House Transportation Appropriations Subcommittee for approval of the funding measure, which increased the normal federal funding of the ARC from $100 million to $300 million. Maryland, which usually receives just under $2.5 million in the annual ARC package, will receive three times that much in FY 1998.

The letter that Bartlett's coalition sent to Wolf's office underscored economic development as the reason more funds were needed to complete the ADHS, which has 700 miles remaining to upgrade to four-lane interstate standards, including Routes 220 and 219. While acknowledging that "it is going to cost more to build the remaining 700 miles than it did to build the first 2,300 miles," the letter stated that "the presence of these highways is often a crucial factor for persuading businesses to locate in the rural areas of Appalachia.

"Without the ADHS the poverty of Appalachia would be exacerbated because the region would be a less attractive location for the businesses that will pull Appalachia out of poverty," the letter concluded.

Corridor H

In other regional highway news, a federal judge yesterday turned back efforts to block construction of Corridor H in nearby West Virginia. The proposed four-lane interstate highway, which has been portrayed as "proposed construction" on West Virginia state road maps for the past several years, will connect Elkins, W.Va., with Virginia near Wardensville, W.Va., by cutting across the northern reaches of the Monongahela National Forest. Corridor H will come less than 10 miles from the southern border of Garrett County, in the area of Thomas, W.Va.

Senator Robert Byrd was in Elkins when the judge's ruling was made public yesterday, and he was quoted as saying he now fully expects construction of Corridor H to begin early next year.

WHERE'S MISS MANNERS WHEN YOU NEED HER? She would have been rather taken aback by several Garrett County officials Sunday as they actually went face-first into piles of Lakeside Creamery ice cream, but she probably would have relented when told it was all in the name of fund-raising. The first No Hands Sundae Eating Contest at the Deep Creek establishment was a great success, with about $300 rounded up for the Garrett County Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization. Pictured above as they do headers into their sundaes are Ken Perrin, Oakland postmaster; Brenda McCartney, director of elementary education in Garrett County (she wore her formal best for the event); Bill Grant, president of First United National Bank & Trust; and Tom Fowler, principal of Broad Ford Elementary School. Shown below are winners in the "out of high school" division – or was it "way out of high school?" (Just kidding, guys.) Left to right are pharmacist Jerry Herpel, Deep Creek Pharmacy, Perrin, and Greg Daubner.

A special thankyou!

A special thanks to all the people who donated time and/or funds toward the upkeep of the Mount Zion Cemetery located on Mount Zion Road, Swanton, this summer!

MILITARY DRILL TEAMS

Parkville American Legion "Patriots," Baltimore, first; Dundalk American Legion Post #58 Honor Guard, second; and Carroll County Young Marines, Sykesville, third.

This year's grand feature parade was sponsored by First United National Bank and Trust.

NOW THAT'S A BIG IMPROVEMENT - Orientation training for members of the Maryland Conservation Corps brought first-year members to Deep Creek Lake State Park. They spent two weeks working on projects to improve the park and protect the environment. Members of the work crews pictured here came from as far away as the lower eastern shore. Above, crew members are seen working on the roof of the oldest building in the state park. It will be refurbished for education projects. Below, the crews are pictured installing steps to stop erosion. (See story Page A-16)

DOWN SECOND AND AROUND TO THIRD went the marchers in the annual Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade, and the traditional route was packed with spectators this year, apparently in record-breaking numbers. The two local high school bands are pictured here, with Southern above moving down Second Street, and Northern below on Third. The Northern band took the first place trophy in the category of bands with fewer than 70 playing members. Southern was the host band, and therefore marched in exhibition rather than competition in the parade. Photos by John McEwen.

A PARADE OF SPECTATORS preceded the actual Autumn Glory event on Saturday, as the unusually warm temperatures were apparently inviting to more people than ever before. The streets were curb-to-curb with pedestrians greeting one another, negotiating strollers, and checking out the various forms of entertainment and edibles along the way.

MR. "BIG MAC" HIMSELF, a.k.a. Jim Delligatti, served as the Grand Marshal of the 30th annual Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade in Oakland on Saturday. Delligatti, shown in the passenger's seat, is known nationally for creating the ever-popular Big Mac burger at McDonald's Restaurant, but he is known locally more for his and his wife's philanthropic gestures within the county in donations toward such entities as the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. He was also the impetus behind the elegant "Garrett 8 Cinemas," the long-awaited and appreciated movie theatre complex at Deep Creek Lake. His car was one of the first units in the parade, which lasted nearly two hours and contained a variety of performing clowns, twirlers, bands, floats, and other spectacles.

BOE Schedules Special Meeting

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold a special session tonight starting at 6:15 p.m. at the board office in Oakland.

The members will discuss the information presented to them at Tuesday's meeting regarding a grant for an abstinence program to be taught after school. It was recommended by the school board's Health Advisory Committee.

Also on the agenda is the high school assessment.

At 6:46 p.m. the board will go into executive session for consideration of personnel matters.

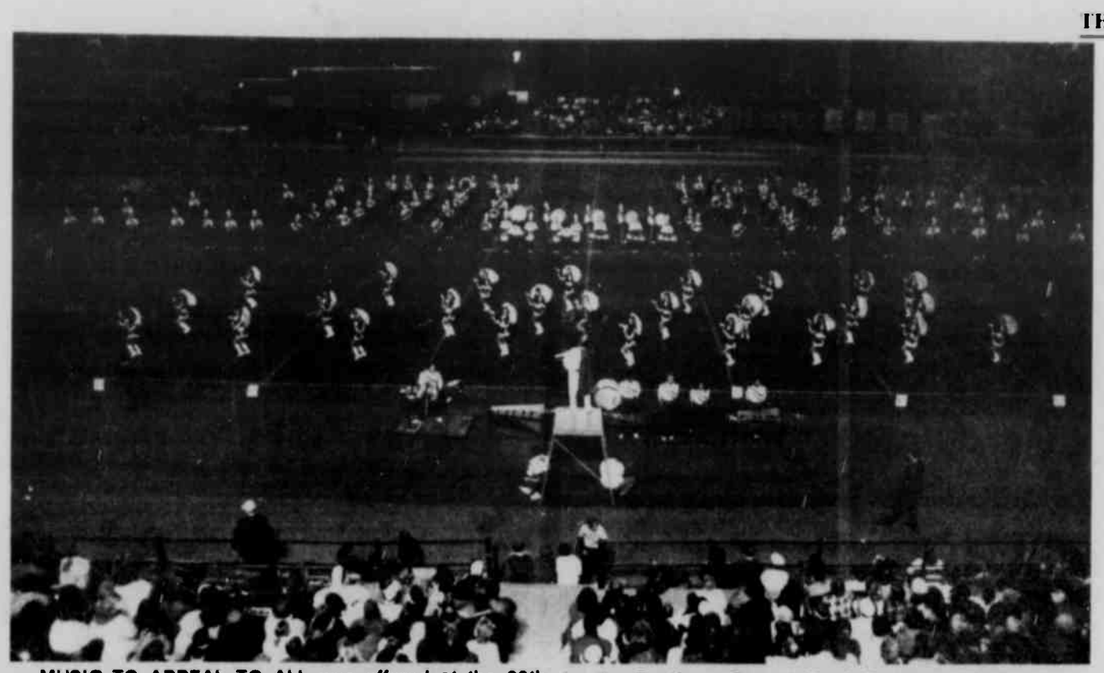
Maryland State Banjo, Fiddle Winners Named

Winners of the 1997 Maryland State 5-String Banjo and Fiddle championships, held Friday and Saturday nights, respectively, at Southern High School as part of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, were announced by the festival committee.

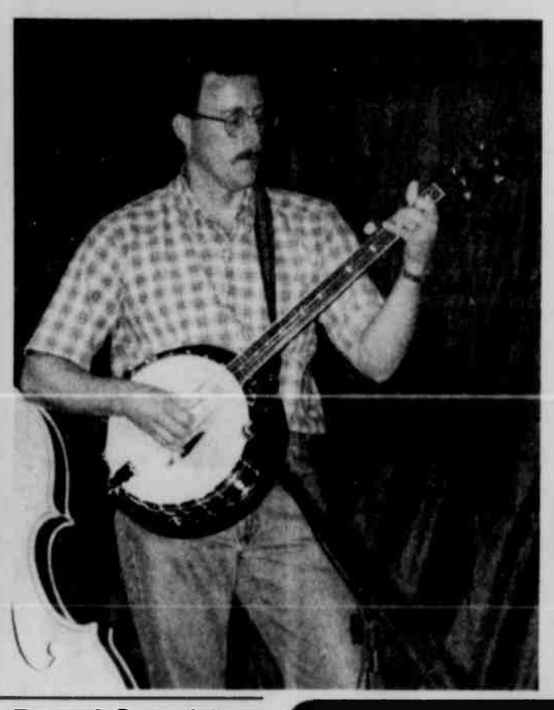
Top finishers in the banjo competition were: Cory Staggs, Burlington, W.Va., first place; Jeffrey Ryan, Oakland, second; Bob Phillips, Greensburg, Pa., third; Robert Seigers, Apalachin, N.Y., fourth; and Woody Simmons, Mill Creek, W.Va., Best "Old-Time" Banjo Player.

The Fiddle Championship winners in the youth category were: Douglas Meek, Jacobus, Pa., first; Brandon Meek, Jacobus, Pa., second; and Jason Chewning, Beverly, W.Va., third.

Winners in the age 13-59 division were: Scott Pearson, Russell, Pa., first; Geordie McKernan, Farmington, Pa., second; and Alan Birkby, Grantsville, third.



MUSIC TO APPEAL TO ALL was offered at the 30th annual Autumn Glory Festival, with marching bands, string players, and keyboard artists, to name a few. The Morgantown High School Marching Mohigans are shown above as they compete in the Western Maryland Tournament of High School Bands, sponsored each year during Autumn Glory by the Southern Garrett Band Boosters. Fiddler Corrin Evans, Thomas, W.Va., is shown below left as she competes in the annual fiddlers' contest, and banjo player Jeffrey Ryan, Oakland, is shown at right as he plays his way to second place in the banjo competition.



Winners in the age 60 and over division were: Bill Meek, Jacobus, Pa., first; Lawrence Rush, Oakland, second; and Grover Broadwater, LaVale, third.

Winners in the professional/championship category were: Dan Kessinger, St. Mary's, W.Va., first; and Philip Birkby, Grantsville, second.

The contests were sponsored by American Trust Bank and funded in part by the Garrett County and Md. State arts councils.

Board Considers

mation providers we use," Olson said.

Board member Patrick Riley, who said he has been linking into the Family Education Network to review it, referred to information which he found potentially offensive to "community values."

Riley cited an example of an advice column in which a mother described secretly looking at the e-mail of her 13-year-old daughter and finding references to cybersex. The advice given by an expert suggested that the mother not invade her daughter's privacy. Riley said he believed this to be unacceptable material to be endorsed by the board.

Olson explained that the type of column Riley referred to appears in the national section of the network, not in the local section. The local section would appear under the name of Garrett County Schools and would be controlled by the school system.

The board delayed a vote on subscribing to the programming.

In a related matter, Chuck Trautwein requested approval of a local low bid for purchase of computer equipment. The board approved acceptance of the bid.

AUDIT REPORT

The board reviewed the general audit report, which was presented by Jim Murray of Rodeheaver and Associates. He noted that generally accepted accounting principles were complied with and the single audit will follow.

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County schools, commented that he would like to see the board move toward a budget that would "stand on its own." He said he would like to see a budget that does not rely on carry-over funds to make up for deficits.

SHS CONNECTING CORRIDOR

Mike Sines, supervisor of maintenance, discussed the construction of the connecting corridor at Southern High School. Bids previously received for the job had been rejected.

"Bids exceeded what we had in funds. So we decided to do the work in-house, acting as our own contractor," he said. After review, Sines said he had concluded that the architect overdesigned the project and that it could be accomplished far less expensively.

The board voted in favor of the construction project proceeding according to Sines's plan, which would bid only the masonry work, and purchase other materials and services through local vendors.

YOUGH GLADES

Bids were also approved by the board for furnishings for the new Yough Glades School. "We have prioritized what could be done," Al Coviello, assistant superintendent said.

After reviewing the bid list, Dr. Teets recommended approval and the board concurred.

Green Leads Huskies To Victory Over Turkeyfoot

A 200-plus-yard, three-touchdown performance by running back Jimmy Green highlighted a convincing 43-6 victory by the Northern High Huskies over visiting Turkeyfoot Friday night, which evened the Huskies' record at 3-3.

Green not only gained 203 yards on 27 carries, but he also returned a kickoff 70 yards at the beginning of the second half to set up a touchdown, which broke the game wide open for Coach Phil Carr's squad after a reasonably competitive first half.

The first quarter was all defense, but the Huskies hit paydirt for 17 points in the second quarter and held a 17-6 lead at halftime. Matt Houser put the first three Northern points on the board when he nailed a 24-yard field goal early in the second quarter.

Green, who is averaging 105 yards per outing in six games this season, then scored on the Huskies' next possession on a two-yard carry, and Joey Wilhelm, who finished with 81 yards of rushing on 13 attempts, carried for the next Husky TD, this time on a six-yard carry. Houser booted both extra points and the Huskies led 17-0.

As the second quarter was about to expire, the Northern defense forced Turkeyfoot to punt the ball away, but the punt was fumbled away back to Turkeyfoot. With just 10 seconds remaining in the first half, the visitors capped a 40-yard drive when John Wass hauled in an 11-yard touchdown pass from Jared Miller. It would be Turkeyfoot's only points of the evening.

Northern		Turkeyfoot
10	First Downs Rushing	5
2	First Downs Passing	4
1	First Downs Penalty	2
11	Total First Downs	15
5	Passes Attempted	24
2	Passes Completed	10
0	Passes Intercepted	2
46	Yards Passing	133

1-32	Punts-Average	4-41
2-2	Fumbles-Lost	3-1
6-70	Penalties-Yardage	9-87
376	Total Offense	160

Green's big kickoff return at the beginning of the second half put the ball on Turkeyfoot's 12-yard line, and Green finished the journey by carrying the ball the final 12 yards. The run for the conversion failed, and the Huskies led 23-6.

The rest of the third quarter was scoreless, but the Huskies put the contest away with three more touchdowns in the fourth period. Green scored early in the quarter on a 10-yard carry, Mike Auvil broke loose to record a 53-yard touchdown run, and Adam Brenneman tacked on an insurance touchdown with a two-yard carry late in the game. All three extra-point kick attempts were blocked.

The only real highlight for Turkeyfoot was the 133 yards through the air recorded by quarterback Miller, with Wass collecting 56 of those yards on five catches.

Gary O'Brien and Ryan Savage led the Huskies' defensive effort in tackling, while Jed Wilhelm and Corey Sisler each grabbed an interception. The Huskies had to punt the ball only once.

Food For Thought

A crush of herbs and pepper adds real flavor to a fillet of beef. Buzz 1 Tbs. dried rosemary, 1½ Tbs. dried thyme and 2 Tbs. whole black peppercorns in a small processor. Roll the fillet in the mixture, then roast: 10 minutes at 425, about 30 more at 375.

Tall, layered appetizer at New York's famed Tavern on the Green is formed in a 3-inch piece of plastic pipe brushed with olive oil. It has a layer of potato salad, then artichoke salad and then crab salad. Holding the salads in place, the chef twists off the tube.

Sea salt is most often made by evaporating sea water in enclosed bays. The process purifies it, and the result is a salt with lots of sodium chloride plus many trace elements like magnesium, zinc, calcium, iron and potassium. It takes a lot, so you need less.

Rams Off A Week; To Resume Action At BW

After having to take a week off, the Southern High varsity football team will return to action this Saturday afternoon in Cumberland against Bishop Walsh, a team that has struggled most of this season (1-6), but one that will not be overlooked by Coach Tom Woods. The Rams defeated Tucker County in their last outing and are currently 3-2 on the season.

"Bishop Walsh has a number of good athletes, but they are very young and just don't have the numbers to be able to play hard for an entire game," Woods said. "They have been competitive with just about everyone, including Allegany, in the first half, but when the same 12 or 13 kids stay in the entire game, they just run out of steam."

Among the top players on the young Spartan squad, which has just six seniors among a total of 23 on the roster, are senior quarterback Brett Blanco (6-1, 180), junior running back Tony Caporale (5-11, 165), and junior tight end Chris Greise (6-2, 185). The Spartans run a split-back veer offense.

"Blanco is one of the better quarterbacks in the area," Woods said. "He does a nice job of mixing the run and the pass, with Caporale getting most of the carries and Greise being Blanco's favorite target."

Defensively, BW uses primarily a 4-4 formation, with Caporale at linebacker and Blanco in the secondary as their best players.

"They run to the ball very well," Woods said. "Their liability is that they aren't very big."

Woods said one of his concerns is that the Rams will not have played for over two weeks when they take the field Saturday afternoon. "Our timing on offense still looked pretty good in practice this week, though, so I'm hoping we haven't lost our edge," he said.

The Rams will still be without senior linebacker and defensive captain Josh Helbig, who continues to nurse what was a serious knee injury and inflammation. "We also had a lot of kids down with the flu over the past several days, but we seem to be pretty well over that," Woods said.

"We would have much rather played last week, because we believe we saw a lot of improvement in the game against Tucker, and we would have liked to have seen if there was continued improvement last Friday night," he said, "but at least we have been able to get just about everyone healthy."

Woods added that, since the junior varsity did not have a game this week, he hopes to get an opportunity on Saturday to play a number of his sophomores.

"Of course, that will depend on whether we can make things go our way in the first half," he added.

"Every game from here on out is very important to us and our season," Woods said. "This game will be the first of three straight that we play against Cumberland teams, and then we have Northern. We believe if we can win at least three of them, we will have a good shot at making the playoffs."

Saturday's kickoff at Bishop Walsh is slated for 2:30 p.m., immediately following the school's soccer homecoming match.

Husky Jayvees Mash Spartans

The junior varsity football team of Northern High School upped its season mark to 3-2 Monday night by rolling over the visiting Bishop Walsh jayvees, 40-0, as Mark Wolfe led the Huskies by scoring three touchdowns. The contest was forfeited by the Spartans in the fourth quarter with 5:16 remaining.

Wolfe scored on runs of 57 and 73 yards, and also on a 34-yard interception return.

Keith Artice put the first points of the game on the board with a three-yard touchdown run. After Wolfe's 57-yard TD run, Toby Gilpin scored on a four-yard carry to give the Huskies a commanding 20-0 first-quarter lead.

Paul Beitzel scored the last touchdown for the Huskies, on a 22-yard carry in the fourth quarter.

Artice recorded five sacks to pace the Northern defensive effort.

Ram Freshmen Lose To Alco

The freshman football team of Southern High School dropped to 0-3 on the season last Thursday evening by letting a 14-0 lead slip away and falling to visiting Allegany, 28-14.

Jeremy Hayhurst put the first Ram points on the board when he scored a touchdown on a 45-yard run in the first quarter. The two-point conversion run failed.

A 55-yard touchdown carry late in the first quarter by Brian Yommer, who also received the two-point conversion pass from Josh Fitzwater, completed the evening's scoring for the Rams.

The Campers cut their deficit to six points in the second quarter when John Bucy scored on an eight-yard run and Shannon Miller ran for the two-point conversion to make the score 14-8 at halftime.

Allegany knotted the score in the third quarter when Steve McNabb dove one yard for a touchdown. The pass for the conversion failed.

Miller then scored on runs of 46 and 12 yards in the fourth quarter, and Bucy added a final two-point conversion run to conclude the scoring for the night.

The Ram freshmen are slated to play at Tucker County this evening.

Mickey, Hall Overall Winners Of Lions' Race

Dennis Mickey, Ridgeley, W.Va., and Maureen Hall, Cumberland, were the top male and female finishers in the 1997 five-kilometer Run for Sight, sponsored by the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club and held Saturday morning at Broadford Park in conjunction with the Autumn Glory Festival.

Mickey, 32, blazed through the 3.1-mile course in a record 16 minutes, 23 seconds to finish over a minute and a half ahead of second-place finisher Jimmy Railey (18:06). Tony Yurko placed third with a time of 18:17.

Hall, also 32, completed the course with a time of 19:12 (seventh overall), while Lynn Bridges placed second in 20:29 and Christie Browning was third in 21:06.

The complete list of top three finishers in each age and gender group follows this story.

The overall winner in the two-mile walk was Debbie Goss, 40, of Parsons, W.Va., who finished in a time of 20 minutes, 31 seconds. Porter Welch, 53, Oakland, was the fastest male walker, as he recorded a time of 23:08.

The top finishers in each age and gender group follow this story.

A variety of prizes were awarded to the top finishers, and to other runners via drawings, with Alice Lion of St. Mary's, Pa., winning a Wisp vacation, and Tammy Byrd, Fort Worth, Tex., winning a Trek mountain bike.

The major sponsors of the event this year were: The Oakland New Car Dealers (Oakview, Shaffer, Team One), First United National Bank & Trust, Long Branch Saloon, Frank Arnold Contractors, Sisler Lumber Co., Hot Country 92, Glotfelty Enterprises, Mt. Top Monument Co., Proudfoot's Pharmacy, TCI Computer Systems, Stewart Funeral Home, The Republican newspaper, American Trust Bank, Mettiki Coal

Ram Booters Rally To Nip Tenacious Huskies

The second match-up of the season between the varsity soccer teams of Southern and Northern high schools, held Friday evening on the Rams' field, was another nail-biter for both teams, and the result was the same - a one-goal victory by the Southern Rams.

Behind a pair of direct kicks by junior John Menker, Coach Tom Powers' squad rallied from a 3-2 deficit to record a 4-3 victory over the Huskies, who were edged 2-1 by the Rams in the first meeting this season at the Cove. The win snapped a two-match losing skid for the Rams and upped their record to 6-3, while the Huskies fell to 2-8. Northern was defeated Tuesday night at home by Bishop Walsh (see separate story).

The Rams built a 2-0 lead in the first half of Friday's match, as John Andrews scored an unassisted goal at the 29:46 mark, and then fed a ball to Mark Ludwig, who headed the ball into the net with 17:24 remaining.

The Huskies came storming back after intermission and literally seized and maintained control of the match for much of the second half, beating the Rams to the ball and keeping it in Southern's half of the field throughout much of the half. Zach Rawe put the first goal in for the Huskies less than five minutes into the half (35:29) on a penalty kick.

A breakaway and an unassisted goal by Matt Fletcher with 27:38 remaining knotted the score at 2-2, and it was just 18 seconds later that the Huskies struck again when Rawe scored off a throw-in to put the Huskies on top, 3-2.

Losing the lead seemed to finally wake up the Rams, who gradually regained the momentum. Menker tied the score with an outstanding direct kick from about 45 yards out that cleared the defensive wall and sailed just over the out-stretched hands of a leaping Matt Fritz into the goal.

It began to appear that the match would go into overtime, but Menker was awarded another direct-kick opportunity, this time from about 30 yards out. This time his blast struck the head of a defender in the wall, went high into the air, and squeezed right through the hands of Fritz into the net for the winning goal.

Despite the close score and the Huskies' dominance for some 20 minutes, the Rams finished with a top-sided 30-12 advantage in shots on goal and a 5-0 margin in corner kicks. Jonathan Price was credited with eight saves for the Rams, while Fritz recorded 15 for Northern.

The Southern junior varsity won the preliminary match, also by one goal, 2-1.

The Rams will face a tough opponent this evening when they host Mt. Savage, with the junior varsity match slated to kick off at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30. Southern will also host Westmar this Saturday and conclude the regular season next Tuesday against Flintstone, also at home.

The Huskies will wrap up their regular season with a home match tonight against Calvary Christian Academy. The Huskies' matches kick off at 5:30 p.m. (jayvee) and 7 p.m.

Huskies Lead, But Lose To Bishop Walsh

The Northern Huskies enjoyed a 1-0 lead for almost 10 minutes against the area's top-ranked soccer team, Bishop Walsh, Tuesday night at the Cove, but the Spartans rallied to tie the score and go on to record a 3-1 victory. It was the 14th win against just one defeat and one tie for the Spartans, while the Huskies dropped to 2-9 on the season.

Zack Rawe put the Huskies up by a goal when he scored unassisted at the 31-minute mark of the first half.

The first of two goals for the night scored by Rex Villanueva, scored with 22:45 remaining in the half, tied the score at 1-1. The tying goal came off an assist by Craig Zollner.

Andrew Searles, one of the area's top scorers, put the Spartans on top for good when he tired the ball into the net with a bicycle kick off a feed from Tom Bolt with 17:49 left in the half.

Villanueva recorded his second goal of the night and concluded the match's scoring at the 13:32 mark off an assist by Myles Spatz.

The second half of the match was all defense, as the goal keepers for both squads played well. There was a total of 54 shots-on-goal in the match, with BW recording 30 of those and the Huskies, 24. The Spartans also finished with a 6-2 edge in corner kicks.

Matt Fritz was credited with 24 saves in goal for the Huskies, while John Meyers and Nathan Price combined for 15 for the Spartans.

Bishop Walsh had allowed only one other goal in a six-match win streak, and Rawe's score halted a three-match scoreless streak by the BW defense.

The Northern junior varsity was topped in the preliminary match by the BW jayvees, 3-0.

The Huskies were also edged Friday night by cross-county rival Southern in Oakland, 4-3 (see separate story). They will conclude their regular season this evening at home against Calvary Christian Academy.

Runnin' Rams Capture Boys', Girls' Area Titles

Despite having their second fastest runner sidelined with the flu, the Southern High School boys' cross country team successfully defended its Area title at Hampshire last Thursday by defeating the 10 other teams in the competition.

The Southern girls' team, also the reigning area, regional, and state champion, more easily won the 1997 Area title.

Dan Sincell paced the Southern boys once again by finishing the 3.1-mile course in third place overall, with a time of 17:23. Frankfort's Nathan Gates was the individual boys' winner with a time of 17:01 and Brent Michael of Hampshire was second with a finish of 17:20.

Eric Rexrode, who normally finishes second on the Southern squad, was sick with the flu and was unable to compete. The Rams finished with 54 team points to edge Frankfort with 56. Hampshire was third with 62 points, followed by Fort Hill with 87, Keyser with 138, Beall with 180, Allegany with 182, Westmar with 201, and Northern, Mt. Savage, and East Hardy with incomplete scores.

Other top finishers for the Rams were: Beau Gibson, ninth, in 18:32; Rusty Strubin, 14th, 18:47; Sean Conroy, 15th, 18:48; Casey McBee, 17th, 19:09; and Ted Wolfe, 23rd, 19:28. Mike Bittinger placed 34th.

Dan Sincell's sister, Angie, led the Southern girls and also placed third individually with a time of 21:46. Northern's Rachel Leverenz was the girls' Area champion, as she completed the course in 20:37, more than a minute faster than Hampshire's Sharon Alkire. Leverenz then had to jump in her father's car and make it back to Oakland in time to participate in the Autumn Glory Festival Firemen's Parade as one of the festival's two princesses.

The Southern girls finished with a team score of 48, while Keyser placed second with 69 and Frankfort third with 79. Allegany was fourth with 100 points, followed by Westmar, 107; Fort Hill, 118; Hampshire, 163; and Northern, Beall, East Hardy, and Mt. Savage, all incomplete scores.

Other top finishers for Southern were: Erin Hoalcraft, seventh, 22:27; Amy Snyder, eighth, 22:33; and Beth Sauder, 17th, 23:41. Christy Hoalcraft was 26th, Katelyne McBee placed 34th, and Megan Conroy finished 39th.

The Southern junior varsity teams dominated that division's run, as five members of the girls' team placed among the top 10 and four members of the boys' team were among the top 10 finishers.

Southern's Jody Bowser finished first among the jayvee girls with a time of 26:34. Keri Strubin was third (28:05), Mariah McBee was fifth (29:05), Maria Hines was sixth (29:08), and Annie Neville finished 10th (30:28).

In the jayvee boys' race, Southern's Pete Porcaro finished second in 20:42, George Tichnell was third (20:45), Dan Shafer was fourth (21:00), and Jonathan Browning was eighth (22:16).

The Rams will host the Western Maryland Interscholastic Meet this afternoon at their Broadford Park course and then will not run again until the Maryland 1A West Regional Championships, to be hosted by Clear Spring on Oct. 30. The state championships are slated for Saturday, Nov. 8, at Hereford High School.

Wengerd Paces Ram Golfers Over Huskies

A low-medalist 37 was carded by Southern High School's Kane Wengerd yesterday afternoon at the Oakland Golf Club course to pace the Rams to a four-stroke victory over the Northern Huskies and claim the Garrett County championship. It was the final regular season match for both teams.

The Rams, who lost to the Huskies just last week in a several-team match at the Wisp, finished yesterday's nine-hole competition with a score of 174, while the Huskies recorded a 178. Bryson Paugh had a 44 for the Rams, Justin Stephens finished with a 46, and Justin DiSimone carded a 47.

Leading the Huskies was Matt Settle with a 41, while A.J. Thomas and Justin Heslop each recorded 45s and Greg Speicher finished with a 47.

Representing Garrett County schools in the Maryland state tournament, to be played Oct. 20-21 at the University of Maryland golf course, will be Wengerd of Southern and Settle and Jill Speicher of Northern.

Husky Golfers Top Five Teams; Record 32-10-1

The golf team of Northern High School upped its season record to 32-10-1 this past week by defeating five teams, four at one time last Thursday at the Wisp course in McHenry and one (Rockwood) Monday, also at the Wisp. The Huskies topped a five-team field Thursday which included Allegany, Beall, Southern, and Fort Hill.

Northern finished with a team total of 188, while Allegany placed second with 193, Beall was third with 194, Southern was fourth with 199, and Fort Hill was fifth with 210.

Kane Wengerd of Southern was the low medalist for the day, as he fired a 41 in the nine-hole competition. Nick Yoder of Allegany was second, just one stroke back.

Matt Settle paced the Huskies with a 45, while Greg Speicher and Rob Taylor each carded 46s and A.J. Thomas and Ryan Butler finished with 51s.

Leading Allegany was Kevin Drew with a 46, and Derek Yates carded a 47 to pace Beall.

The low medalist in Monday's match with Rockwood was Thomas, who finished with a 44, while Settle carded a 45 in an easy 182-213 team victory.

Taylor recorded a 47, while Speicher and Justin Heslop each had 47s.

Pacing Rockwood with a 45 was Scott Rush, while Nick Nelson shot a 50.

The Huskies played again yesterday in Oakland against cross-county rival Southern to wrap up their regular season (see separate story).

Steelers Fall To Ridgeley In CAYFL Contest

The Northern Steelers were blanked by Ridgeley, 44-0, in a Cumberland Area Youth Football League clash held Saturday at Hampshire.

Justin Jenkins scored touchdowns on runs of five and 30 yards, threw 65 yards to Lauren Noel for another touchdown, rushed for 109 yards, and kicked three conversions for the Rams. Trey Corwell hauled in a 25-yard scoring pass from Noel, while the other two Ridgeley touchdowns were scored on runs of two yards and one yard by Dustin Bosley and Richard Kimble, respectively.

In the Division II game, the Steelers were defeated 40-6, as Ridgeley's Andy Dawson and Andy Helmstetter each ran for two touchdowns. Jeremy White received a 42-yard touchdown pass from Adam White, and Neal Wright had a rushing touchdown.

The only points for the Steelers were scored on a 36-yard TD run by Rico Alston.

In Loving Memory of Kenneth E. Ridder 10/18/96

God saw you were getting tired
And a cure was not to be.
So He wrapped His arms around you
And whispered, "Come with me."
With tearful eyes, we watched you suffer
And saw you fade away.
Although we loved you dearly, Ken,
We could not make you stay.
What was it that you saw that night
Just beyond our faces?
The love we held so deep inside,
Or God's most precious grace.
Your golden heart stopped beating,
Your hard-working hands at rest.
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best.
Lovingly missed by Alice Ann, Bonnie and Kathy.

Laker Netters Perfect For Week; Record Now 23-7

It was seven up and seven down for the Garrett Community College women's volleyball team, as the Lakers took every match they played over the past week. The combined team efforts have resulted in a overall 23-7 record for the season and 7-1 in the Maryland JUCO.

The Lakers' first wins of the week came Friday on the road in Largo when Washington Bible College fell to GCC by scores of 15-2, 15-11 and 15-3, and Prince George's Community College was vanquished 15-3, 15-5, and 15-2.

Alexis Nogle was perfect on service against Washington Bible, going nine-for-nine with one ace and eight assists. Erica King added five service points, one ace and two kills, while Sindy Niner totaled eight service points with three aces and four kills. Erica McBride had nine attacks and six kills.

King's 24-for-24 service record helped down Prince George's in the nightcap. Andrea Barrick served 14 with seven aces, three attacks and two kills, while Mindy McCarty had 11 kills and five assists. McBride had two aces and 13 attacks.

On Saturday, the Lakers traveled to Arnold to defeat Anne Arundel with game scores of 13-15, 11-15, 15-6, 15-4, clinching the come-from-behind match victory in a closely fought deciding game with a score of 15-13.

Nogle paced an all-around team effort by going 29-for-31 in service with four aces. McCarty was 12-for-13 with one ace, Andrea Barrett was 18-for-21 with three aces, McBride was 12-for-13, and Niner was 12-for-12.

McCarty was 24-for-43 on the attack with 11 kills, King was 31-for-36 with six kills, Barrett and McBride matched stats by going 16-for-19 with three kills, Niner went 10-for-10 with four kills, and King went 7-for-7 on blocks.

Nogle was 74-for-88 on sets with 11 assists, and McCarty was 29-for-37 with nine assists.

The Lakers added two more wins on Monday evening in New Kensington, Pa., by sweeping both CCAC-Allegheny and Penn State-New Kensington.

Barrick tallied 12 points in the 15-6, 15-4 victory over CCAC-Allegheny, while King had an ace. McCarty went eight-for-eight on service with nine attacks and four kills. McBride was 12-for-13 on attack and had three kills, while Niner had nine attacks and three kills.

New Kensington was GCC's next victim, falling by game scores of 15-3 and 15-11. King served for 18 points, Nogle had 27 sets and nine assists, and Barrick added 10 points and two aces. McBride had 16 attacks and eight kills, while Niner added four kills.

The Lakers topped off their perfect week last night at CCAC-Boyce, with wins over Penn State-Beaver 15-10, 15-7 and over Boyce 15-1 and 15-3.

Barrick paced the servers in the opening match versus Penn State-Beaver by going 10-for-10 with three aces, while McBride and McCarty led the attack with five kills each. Niner added four kills and King chipped in three.

Barrick went 10-for-10 again from the service line in the nightcap against Boyce, with two aces. McBride and King had four kills each.

GCC will attempt to continue their winning streak on the road at Essex tomorrow night.

Smith, Bridges Win 5-K Race At Spruce Forest

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Grantsville, recently held its second annual "My Heart's in the Arts" 5K (3.1-mile) Run/Walk. Steve Smith, Germantown, took overall honors as the top runner with a time of 16:28. Smith was also the winner of the 1996 race.

Earning best overall time in the female category was Lynn Bridges, Cumberland, who also was one of the first-place finishers in last year's race.

The race was held in conjunction with Spruce Forest's 30th anniversary, according to village administrator Trish Morgan. "We had 76 runners and walkers out this year for the competitive race, and had beautiful weather," Morgan said.

Winners in the walking category were as follows: Male 50-59: 1. Clyde Johnson (34:37), 2. Ed Lipski (36:41), 3. Alan Keiser (41:49); Male over 60: 1. Charles Spicola (34:39); Female 25-29: 1. Tiffany Darr (44:19); Female 30-34: 1. Robin Barnett (44:54), 2. Donna McFetridge (50:28); Female 40-44: 1. Susan Brown (44:54), 2. Annette Warnick (50:26).

Winners in the running category were as follows: Male under 20: 1. Mark Olson (19:31), 2. Nick Tenaglio (21:52), 3. James Walters (22:51); Male 20-24: 1. Roger Whittaker (20:54); Male 25-29: 1. Ronald Zimmerman (18:08), 2. Billy Meek (18:25), 3. Mark Delaney (19:15); Male 30-34: 1. Tad Davis (17:10), 2. Tery Croyle (17:11), 3. Tony Yurko (17:37); Male 35-39: 1. Charles Walters (18:00), 2. Ken Hotopp (22:07), 3. Douglas Wetzel (24:50); Male 40-44: 1. Mark Thorne (18:17), 2. Mark Naymick (18:18), 3. John Altobello (18:38); Male 45-49: 1. Dan Dawson (19:01), 2. Mike Kozier (19:22), 3. Gary Neus (19:56); Male 50-59: 1. Bob King (21:43), 2. Jim Delaney (22:55), 3. Don Amoruso (27:59).

Female under 20: 1. Katie DeRosa (22:25), 2. Jackie Brenneman (25:37), 3. Joni Miller (29:31); Female 20-24: 1. Alana Sucke (30:13); Female 25-29: 1. Karen Mammone (29:58); Female 30-34: 1. Natalie Zimmerman (21:07), 2. Paula Bridges (21:59), 3. Jennifer Profozich (30:02); Female 35-39: 1. Robin Gorrell (23:40), 2. Gloria Miller (24:50), 3. Cindy Wetzel (25:12; Female 40-44: 1. Mary Siemann (21:04), 2. Marina Getz (29:57); Female 45-49: 1. Joyce Michaels (22:59), 2. Pat Santoro (23:17), 3. Ellie Hamilton (26:25).

This event was sponsored by Road Runners Club of America, Runner's World, Queen City Striders, Maryland State Arts Council, and Penn Alps Restaurant and Crafts Shop to benefit the nonprofit Spruce Forest Artisan Village. The grand prize, a hand-crafted blanket chest donated by Casselwood Furniture, was won by Dan Dawson. Each first, second, and third place winner was awarded hand-carved plaques by Frank and Rachael Gerwig. Each participant also received a "goodie bag," filled with samples and the exclusive 1997 hand-thrown mugs by village potter Lynn Lais. The overall winners also received $100 savings bonds donated by 1st Philson Bank and Spruce Forest.

Rams Whipped At The Net By Indians, Wildcats

Southern High's volleyball team had a tough week on the courts as it dropped matches to Mt. Savage and Westmar to give the Lady Rams a 4-7 record for the year. A .500 record is still a possibility, as three matches remain in the season.

Monday night the Rams hosted Mt. Savage, but the visitors proved to be inhospitable guests by taking each of three games by 15-5 margins. Heather Abucevicz and Mary Beth Kennell tallied nine points each from the service line to pace Mt. Savage, while Rachel Lane and Elizabeth Paesani each contributed five points to Southern's efforts.

The Rams junior varsity met the same fate, losing a best of three match to the Mt. Savage jayvee 15-3, 12-15, and 15-9. Southern's Miranda Byers totaled 17 points and Alyssa Kuykenball had seven, while Lindsey Dickle served 17 points.

On Wednesday night in Lonaconing, Southern lost to Westmar with game scores of 15-4, 14-16, 15-10 and 15-13. The Wildcats' Mindy Fazenbaker and Mandi Morton had 12 service points each, while Lauren Warnick led the offense with six kills. Jennifer Teagarden stood out for Southern with 10 service points.

The Rams jayvee salvaged the night by winning 15-11 and 15-11. Megan Hickman's 10 points for Southern paced them to victory. Stacy Langham led Westmar with six points.

Southern's next match is at home against Fort Hill on Wednesday.

Turkey Season Dates Announced; No Extension

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin has announced that Maryland's either-sex fall turkey hunting season will open Monday, Nov. 3, and close Saturday, Nov. 8. Fall turkey hunting is permitted only in Garrett, Allegany, and the western portion of Washington counties.

"DNR considered extending the length of the fall hunting season in 1997, but reproductive success was lower than necessary to support an extended fall season," Griffin said. "Although field staff recorded a similar number of turkey broods in 1997 as they did in 1996, the total number of turkeys observed indicates that the population in Western Maryland is down slightly from last year."

Reproductive ratios, such as the number of turkey poults per hen, are up slightly in 1997, indicating somewhat better recruitment than in 1996, when recruitment was very low. However, average brood sizes were not high enough to justify a season extension in 1997, Griffin said.

The fall turkey harvest in 1996 was down significantly from 1995's near record. It is anticipated that the 1997 fall turkey harvest will be near the 349 harvested during the 1996 fall season.

Mast crops are poor to spotty across Western Maryland. Hunters will need to locate such mast producing trees as oaks, beech, and cherries in order to find turkeys. Pre-season scouting is recommended to locate concentrated food sources for turkeys.

Public hunting lands in Western Maryland have good to excellent wild turkey populations, according to Griffin. Interested hunters are encouraged to contact area land managers in order to determine where their best chances for bagging a turkey may be.

Shoot To Retrieve Dog Field Trial Set For Weekend

The first annual Garrett County Chuckar and Quail Shoot to Retrieve Pointing Dog Field Trial will be held this weekend, Oct. 18 and 19, beginning at 7 a.m. each day, at the Howard Green Farm on Kings Run Road. Sponsored by a number of local businesses, the Garrett County competition is part of the National Shoot to Retrieve trials, and top contestants are eligible for trophies, prizes, and points that can lead to regional and national competitions.

The Garrett County trial is for registered pointing dogs and is expected to draw competitors from a multi-state region, including Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, New York, Delaware, and New Jersey. Handlers will be allowed to camp at the Green Farm, and hotel lodging is also available at the Wisp Resort Hotel at $40 per night.

There is a $30 registration fee per day for each dog entered in the trial, and potential competitors can register their dogs or dog for either or both days by contacting Ron Beeghly of Swanton at 301-387-4057 in advance, or at the trial itself.

Spectators are welcome at the free event, where concessions for the whole family will be available.

Husky Netters Unbeaten Streak Ends; Record Stands At 9-1

The Northern volleyball team saw its hopes for an undefeated season snatched away at Mt. Savage last night, but the Huskies record still stands at an impressive 9-1.

The Huskies began the week on the right foot, sweeping Oldtown on the road Monday evening by scores of 15-0, 15-0, and 15-7. Jenny Thomas had 18 service points and Chelsea Frickey added 12, while Jane Williamson and Rebecca Hinebaugh had two kills apiece.

Northern's junior varsity also defeated Oldtown's jayvee 15-0 and 15-10. Mimi Harvey's 10 points led the Huskies to victory.

The battle of undefeateds at Mt. Savage ended the unbeaten streak for Northern, as the Huskies fell to the Indians in a three-game sweep 15-6, 15-11, and 15-13.

Frickey, Laura Wolfe, and Kerrie Suntz served for seven points each for Northern. Wolfe also totaled 14 attacks and two kills while Hinebaugh had seven attacks. Mt. Savage's Heather Abucevicz served for 18 points, and also led on the attack with 22 hits and six kills. April Lashley added 19 attacks, while Amy Stafford had 18. April Skidmore totaled 16 assists.

Mt. Savage also took the jayvee match by scores of 16-14 and 17-15. Crystal Simpson served for 11 points and Melanie Shaffer had eight for the victors, while Northern's Cindy McKenzie and Heidi Frazee had 15 attacks each.

Northern will attempt to rebound from what is hoped to be a minor setback in an otherwise stellar season during a visit to Allegany on Monday night.

"Day Of Hope" Golf Tourney Raises $12,500

The inaugural "Day of Hope" golf tournament was held last Friday at the Wisp Resort course in McHenry as part of the Autumn Glory Festival, and proceeds from the event, which totaled $10,000, will be used to benefit prostate cancer research at Johns Hopkins Medical Centers and to initiate an early detection program at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Over 150 professional and amateur golfers participated in the six-player team tourney, and checks for $10,000 and $2,500 will be presented to Johns Hopkins and Garrett County Memorial hospitals, respectively. Organizers plan to make the tournament an annual event.

The featured speaker for the presentation dinner was John Steadman, senior sports columnist with the Baltimore Sun. Another guest speaker was Dr. Jonathan Simons of Johns Hopkins Medical Center, who is considered one of the top oncology researchers in the world.

Major General Joe Franklin (ret.) served as the honorary tournament chairman, and Gary Yoder, who was on the organizing committee, served as master of ceremonies.

The primary sponsor of the tournament was Mylan Laboratories, Inc., Morgantown, W.Va.; however, there were also a number of local sponsors.

Among the celebrity players in the tournament was John Kruk of the Keyser area, former slugger (retired) with the Philadelphia Phillies. Kruk's team won first place in the Gross Division.

Winning first place in the Net Division was the team of Walters and Saltysiak, followed by the teams of Tru-Par; Smiley's Pizzeria, First United, and Tru-Par #2.

Gaty Blake, Wheeler Stewart, and Joe Lonigro captured first place in Pro Division and shared $800, followed by Mike Ahrnsbak, who won $545 for second place; Bill Chandler, third, $436; Dan Poling and Don Schillinger, fourth, $354.25; Glen Kelly, Craig Yutzy, Wes Tuck, and Rhett Butler, fifth, $218; Fred Swischer and Terry Boggs, sixth, $163.50; and Gary Benoit, Tom Lernham, Sam Depe, and Chris McDonald, seventh, $40.88.

The various tournament hole contest winners and respective prizes were: Chip Steelman, straightest drive on #1, Ping putter; Jay Meyers, closest second shot, #2, Taylor made driver; Dan Bosely, closest third shot, #3, Lynx Staff bag; Bill Saltysiak, closest to pin, #4, travel cover; Kevin Logan, closest second shot, #5, 100-ball display case; Paul Tideman, longest drive, #6, Titleist towel, hat, balls; Bob DeWaters, closest to pin, #7, Harvey Penick lob wedge; James Lopez, closest third shot, #8, four rounds of golf at the Oakland Golf Club; Ted Femi, longest putt, #9, four rounds at Wisp; George Martin, closest second shot, #10, two nights' lodging at Rocky Gap; Dan Eisenhuth, closest third shot, #11, dinner and movie, Uno's and Garrett 8 Cinemas; Bob Arnone, longest drive, #12, dinner for four at McClive's; John Robinson, closest to pin, #13, Rudy's gift pack; Craig Lang, closest to target, #14, (TBA); Meyers Coggin, closest second shot, #15, Rudy's gift pack; Frank Cox, closest to pin, #16, Rudy's gift pack; Luke Stewart, closest third shot, #17, golf at Glades Spring; and Brian Boumer, longest putt, #18, Ping putter.

Jim Hetrick won the Biggest Big Bertha Raffle.

IT WAS A SUCCESSFUL DAY at the Wisp Resort golf course last Friday, the site of the inaugural Day of Hope Golf Tournament to benefit cancer research at Johns Hopkins Medical Centers and to initiate a prostate cancer detection program at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The event, for which the major sponsor was Mylan Laboratories, Inc., Morgantown, W.Va., featured some 150 professional and amateur golfers and raised a total of $12,500. Honorary chairman of the tournament was Major General Joe Franklin (ret.), who is pictured above. Guest speakers at the presentation dinner were Dr. Jonathan Simons, left, of Johns Hopkins, who is one of the world's top cancer research physicians; and John Steadman, pictured right, senior sports columnist for the Baltimore Sun. Among the celebrity players in the tourney was John Kruk, Keyser, W.Va., former major league baseball star with the San Diego Padres, Philadelphia Phillies, and Chicago White Sox. Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day Set For October 25

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced recently that Sat., Oct. 25, has been designated Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day in Maryland. Part of a national effort by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the day "is designed to encourage young people to learn about and participate in waterfowl hunting activities in a safe and enjoyable way," according to DNR Secretary John R. Griffin.

According to the DNR, waterfowl hunting is a time-honored tradition across Maryland, long a part of the state's heritage and culture. DNR supports hunting as an essential element of scientific wildlife management and as a valuable outdoor recreational activity.

In recent years, the number of young people taking part in hunting has declined for a variety of reasons, including the growth of an increasingly urban population, with fewer parents hunting, and the busier lifestyles of today's young where activities like after-school jobs and organized sports leave little time for hunting.

"Hunting is a learned tradition," said Josh Sandt, director of DNR's Wildlife and Heritage Division. "Most people begin hunting by accompanying a parent, relative or friend," he said. He urged adult hunters to take advantage of this special opportunity to pass on the enjoyment, values, and tradition of waterfowl hunting.

Young people 15 years of age and under may hunt as part of the Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day, and must possess a valid Maryland hunting license (or be license-exempt), a valid Maryland Migratory Waterfowl Stamp (or be stamp-exempt), and a valid Migratory Bird Harvest Information Program (HIP) permit. The young hunter must be accompanied by an adult 21 years of age or older, who possesses a valid Maryland hunting license (or is license-exempt). The accompanying adult may call, assist with decoys, and retrieve downed birds, but may not possess or shoot a firearm.

Daily bag limits for the day are as follows: for ducks, four ducks total, which may include no more than two mallard hens, two pintails, two wood ducks, one redhead, one fulvous tree duck, one mottled duck, and/or one black duck: for mergansers: daily bag limit of five, of which only one may be a hooded merganser; and for coot: daily bag limit of 15.

The day, and the season as a whole, is closed for harlequin ducks and canvasbacks.

The shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for all waterfowl hunting.

In addition to the Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day, DNR has established several programs to encourage youth participation in hunting, including Junior Hunting Days and a special one-day statewide youth deer hunting season, scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 15.

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

A small group of outdoor enthusiasts recently enjoyed a 3.5-mile guided hike into the Potomac State Forest. This particular hike started at the park ranger headquarters and followed the Lostland Run Trail to a terminus at the North Branch of the Potomac River. Participants were treated to spectacular scenery framed by fabulous Garrett County autumn weather. The beautiful state forests of Garrett County are an asset that offer outstanding recreational opportunities to outdoor enthusiasts with a wide range of interests.

The Potomac State Forest contains over 12,000 acres and is located along the ridge of Backbone Mountain near the headwaters of the Potomac River. This is mountainous terrain with numerous streams feeding the Potomac. In addition to hiking, the Potomac State Forest offers camping, hunting, and fishing. More information is available by calling 301-334-2038.

Other tracts of interest are the Garrett and Savage River state forests.

Garrett State Forest is located near Swallow Falls, about five miles west of Oakland and is comprised of 7,400 acres of forests, streams, and valleys. This forest is named for the Garrett brothers, who donated an original 2,000 acres. Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls state parks are included in the forest. Recreational opportunities include fishing, camping, hunting, and winter sports. Information is available at 301-334-2038.

The Savage River State Forest is the largest of Garrett County's state forests, as it contains approximately 53,000 acres of wilderness. Located within the forest are New Germany and Big Run state parks and the Savage River Reservoir. Interestingly, the Savage River State Forest contains headwaters of both the Savage and Casselman rivers. Each river flows in a different direction, as they are separated by the continental divide. The Casselman River flows north into the Youghiogheny River and eventually the Mississippi and Gulf of Mexico. The Savage River flows south, joining the Potomac River on its way to the Chesapeake Bay and Atlantic Ocean. Recreational opportunities here include fishing, boating, camping, hunting, and hiking.

The Big Savage Mountain Wildland is 3,000 acres of unspoiled forest within the Savage River State Forest. This is a primitive wildland, completely wooded, having no structures, and is accessible only by roads around its perimeter. Hunting, hiking, and nature appreciation are encouraged; however, no camping of any kind is permitted. More specific information is available from 301-895-5759.

FLY FISHING SEMINAR

An all-day fly fishing seminar will be conducted this Saturday, Oct. 18, at New Germany State Park for beginners and intermediates. This is a cooperative venture of the Adventuresports Institute of Garrett County Community College and the DNR. The format will be a morning of instruction at the lake house warming hut followed by an afternoon on the Casselman River. The cost is $50. For information or registration, call 301-387-3032.

RIVER FISHING REPORT

Fly fishing in the county is at its fall peak, with the Yough, North Branch, and Savage all fishing well. Allen Noland offers that anglers will do well to focus on small bead head nymphs tied in 18 to 24 inches below a large caddis or stimulator dry fly. Expect 60% of the strikes to come on the nymph. Note: this nymph and leader is tied directly to the shank of the dry fly not as a conventional dropper. It is much easier to cast this way.

FISHING THE LAKE

Fishing should improve as the water cools and smallmouth start moving back into the shallows. The prolonged warm weather has kept lake water temperatures up a bit. Also, as the water cools, walleye action should pick up. Look for them in about 25 feet of water. Jim Iden of AMC, recently back from an archery hunt in northern Colorado, says that the productive walleye fisherman will watch the water temperature, and when it hits 58 to 60 degrees, look out for the walleyes.

Congratulations to Brett Winegardner on his recent triumph in the Hank Parker Fishing Tournament last September 20.

NEW SUPERLIGHT 243 WIN RIFLE

New England Firearms has introduced a new super light deer rifle for 1997. The 243 Win deer rifle is flat shooting and capable of fine accuracy. And, the weight is only 5.5 lbs. without scope. The manufacturer claims that this is the lightest single shot centerfire deer rifle on the market. Weight has been reduced by use of a shorter tapered barrel and special lightweight synthetic stocks, and forends replace the wood found on the standard model. The matte black synthetics feature a non-slip finish. The metal finish is semi-matte black. Interested riflemen should contact their outfitter or write H&R, Inc., at 60 Industrial Row, Gardner, MA 01440.

WINTERIZE YOUR OUTBOARD MOTOR

Garrett County fishermen who use outboard motors should start thinking about how they are going to prepare their engines for winter storage. Here are some things to remember. (1) Check the condition of the fuel hose and replace if showing cracks or wear. (2) Suspend the motor in a tank of water and run until all gas in the system is expended. (3) Remove the spark plug(s) and spray fogging oil down the throat of the carburetor and into the plug hole(s). Then replace the plugs. (4) Remove the lower unit from the water tank and let drain completely. (5) Drain oil from the lower unit and refill with new oil. (6) Remove the propeller and remove any line twisted around the shaft. (7) Grease the shaft and, if necessary, have the prop repaired over the winter. (8) Charge the battery before storing. (9) Grease all fitting on both motor and trailer and repack wheel bearings with grease.

Why Do Old Bombers Tour?

by Irving Day

There are countless answers. A good one, simply stated, is: "Because they are so proud!" They are proud of the loyal sons who served in them; especially those who died in that service. The Mighty Eighth Air Force, of the European Theater of Operations, lost 26,000 airmen killed in action plus 28,000 who became prisoners of war. More than 350,000 men and women served in the 8th AF during World War II. The 8th AF was only a part of the worldwide effort of B-17 and B-24 heavy bombers and it shared the ETO responsibility with the heavies of the 15th AF. Even that broad scope fails to include the magnificent contributions of the medium, light, and fighter-bombers.

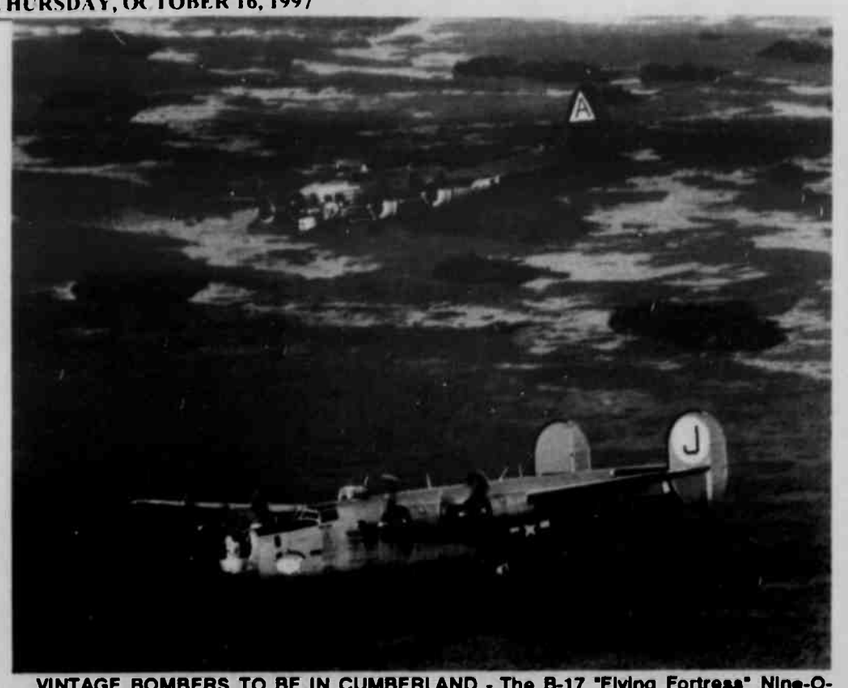
They are proud that they were "state of the art," when they took to the skies all over the world defending the principles set forth by our Founding Fathers and defended at great cost ever since. These bombers assist us in educating generations who never experienced the life, or death, struggle of all-out world war. We pray that they never will; and, if we do our job as teachers of history properly, they will never have to.

These two four-engine, propeller-driven heavy bombers--B-17 "Flying Fortress" Nine-O-Nine and B-24 "Liberator" All American--are artifacts of World War II. But they are more man that; they are icons of American military might. There are no tanks, PT boats, or artillery pieces touring the country to remind us that we did not win by bombers alone. It was a magnificent team effort which can be celebrated by all participants rallying around these bombers, since they are the only show in town. All veterans and active duty personnel can stand in the shade of antique bombers' wings and glorify their own branch of service and whichever war they served in, or peacetime duty they performed. All did not receive medals for their service, but each is respected and loved for being there in the line of duty. The not-for-profit Collings Foundation, Stow, Mass., takes pride in presenting this educational tour to bring these restored, historic World War II aircraft to "wherever the four winds blow."

American Ex-Prisoners of War is a veterans group consisting of former prisoners from any war and every branch of service, as well as civilians who were captured by enemy troops who invaded their workplace. The AXPOW, Department of Maryland, is currently promoting the Collings bombers to direct attention to the Department's campaign enlisting support for adding "Dept. of Maryland" to the many names of contributors displayed on the bombers. AXPOW members share The Collings Foundation's desire to "Keep 'Em Flying." As the touring "Ambassadors" approach Gaithersburg, Oct. 16-19, and Cumberland, Oct. 19-21, donations totaling one-half of the amount needed for listing Maryland on one airplane have been received. It is hoped that the full amount for listing on both bombers will have been received, or pledged, by the conclusion of the Maryland portion of the tour. Department of Maryland AXPOW consists of only six chapters, and it is likely that the help of friends and well-wishers will be needed to meet the goal. The American public has been very supportive of their MIA and POW veterans, for which AXPOW is most appreciative.

Donations to honor the State of Maryland and American Ex-Prisoners of War may be forwarded to The Collings Foundation, c/o Irving Day, 2983 Turkey Neck Road, Swanton, MD 21561-9730. Veterans are asked to indicate their military unit ID.

Editor's note: Mr. Day, a Garrett County resident, is an ex-POW of World War II, having been a member of a B-24 crew that was shot down over Europe. He is also an instrumental member of The Collings Foundation.



VINTAGE BOMBERS TO BE IN CUMBERLAND - The B-17 "Flying Fortress" Nine-O-Nine and the B-24 "Liberator" All-American, World War II bombers that were restored by The Collings Foundation, will arrive at the Cumberland Airport this Sunday, Oct. 19, and be there until Tuesday for touring. Irving Day, a Garrett County resident, former B-24 crew member, and an ex-prisoner of war, has been a key member of The Collings Foundation, and is hoping to have the name of the Maryland Department of the American Ex-Prisoners of War added to the fuselage door of the "Liberator," via donations to the foundation for the care of the aircraft. See Day's column at left for more details.

MCC Members Get Things Done In Garrett County

Garrett County has hosted crews from the Maryland Conservation Corps during the last two weeks and has received some permanent reminders of those visitors.

Six separate MCC crews from across the state have camped at Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area for some on-site orientation training.

Laurie Denne, the program director of United Youth Corps of Maryland/Maryland Conservation Corps, spent time working with the trainees in the state park as they made structural improvements.

Having left her administrative office behind in Annapolis, Denne donned sweatshirt, jeans, and work boots. "I don't ask them to do anything I won't do," she explained.

Included in the projects worked on by Denne and her crew were installation of stairs in steep embankments to deter further erosion and provide increased safety.

Another endeavor took the corps members onto the roof of a park building. This structure, the oldest in the park, was previously a bathroom facility. It has been gutted and will be rehabilitated to house a demonstration center for such activities as apple-butter making.

The work undertaken provided the trainees the opportunity the develop teamwork skills. "Physically getting things done -- this is how we are training them," she said.

Through working with crews from across the state and Department of Natural Resources staff at the park, the trainees can see how they fit into this cooperative effort, Denne said.

During their year with MCC the members will become certified in a variety of fields of service. Beside the environmental work they will do, they will train on computers, in public speaking, first aid, CPR, and making classroom presentations to students.

"They go into the schools and speak to students on the importance of trees in the environment. They become the teachers," Denne explained.

The combined crews getting things done in Garrett County this week numbered about 50.

"The proposed attempt[s] to get US 219 designated as a High Priority Corridor in the upcoming ISTEA reauthorization effort and as an International Trade Corridor stretching from Canada to Florida are also concepts in keeping with West Virginia's long-range plans for infrastructure and economic development," the Governor's letter said.

Moe and Geisler said that they were gratified with the West Virginia governor's endorsement of this long-range concept of developing a north/south interstate highway in and around the current US Route 219 corridor.

When constructed, Corridor H in West Virginia will utilize a portion of the US Route 219 corridor from Elkins, W.Va., to Davis, W.Va., and pass within six to eight miles of the Maryland/West Virginia border near Davis. Utilizing Corridor H would reduce West Virginia's highway construction costs for the entire 219 corridor, according to the Route 219 Association.

"Governor Underwood's recognition of the regional importance of this corridor and the development of transportation infrastructure necessary to support long-term economic development is vital to continuing the growth of our tourism/hospitality industries and diversification of our regional multi-county and multi-state economics," Geisler stated.

Moe added that "as a result of the governmental and business cooperative efforts in Maryland our own secretary of transportation, David Winstead, is beginning a multi-lane feasibility study of the 219 corridor between Interstate 68 and the Pennsylvania state line. A consultant will be retained and make his report to the secretary in the spring/summer of 1998."

"This 2.6-mile section of 219 is contained in the Appalachian Highway Development System as Corridor N," Moe continued, "and thus is eligible for additional funding from the Appalachian Regional Commission which, thanks to the vigilant efforts of Congressman Bartlett and U.S. Senators Sarbanes and Mikulski, has received triple its normal appropriation for fiscal year '98 highway construction programs."

Brant gave his assessment of the June letter by stating, "Governor Underwood's endorsement is extremely important to the Route 219 Association, which has been promoting this project for over 30 years. With Corridor H's construction, the 5.1-mile 219 Meyersdale, Pa., bypass construction, and with New York state's planned improvements, we keep chipping away at the overall project, bringing it closer and closer to reality."

Moe and Geisler's press release ended with a comment from West Virginia Department of Transportation Secretary Richard Jemiola. In addressing Route 219 Association Steering Committee members in a July meeting, Jemiola said of the project, "When you sit down to eat an elephant you chew one bite at a tune."

Glimpse of The Past . . .

Line Dancing Scheduled For Senior Center

Line dancing will be offered at Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland beginning Friday, Oct. 31. The class is scheduled from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and will run for six weeks. Ann Morris will instruct the class.

The course, which costs $1.50 per class per person, is designed for persons age 50 and older.

Anyone with questions about the course may contact Betty Joe Hudnall at Community Action's Area Agency on Aging, 301-334-9431, ext. 177.

Windows 95 Computer Course Offered By GCC

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer Introduction to Windows Software: Microsoft Windows 95 course at the McHenry campus on Friday, Oct. 24, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 25, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

This course is for students who have completed a basic Windows course or have equivalent experience. The class will cover the Windows operating system in producing easy-to-use pull-down menus, applications with text, numbers, and graphics.

For additional information and registration, persons may call the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

Free Class In Self-Defense Being Offered

A class in self-defense will be offered free of charge to all interested persons on Wednesday, Oct. 29. The class is being sponsored by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office through a Violence Against Women Act grant from the governor's office.

The time and place for the class was not yet determined at press time, but persons can get that information by calling Brenda Arnold at 301-334-9053 or Lt. Larry Gnegy at 301-334-1911.

FB Says: Climate Treaty Would Cripple Domestic Farm Economy

The proposed United Nations Climate Change Treaty has the potential of "causing an economic downturn in the agricultural sector that would parallel...the mid-1980s," according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Speaking at a news conference last week, Bryce Neidig, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, said the American Farm Bureau Federation was launching "FACT: Farmers Against the Climate Treaty."

"Few issues have galvanized agriculture like this one has," said Neidig, who was joined by several representatives of other agricultural organizations in kicking off FACT's efforts.

Citing an analysis by AFBF economists, Neidig said the climate treaty, as it now stands, would cause at least a 24 percent loss in net farm income. That projection, he explained, assumes the imposition of a 25-cent per gallon tax on fuels to bring the United States in compliance with the treaty's goals for greenhouse gas emissions. He said, however, that an industry estimate of a 50-cent tax increase is more likely, which would cause a nearly 50 percent plunge in net farm income.

The impacts, Neidig said, would vary by commodity. Net profits for corn growers could be slashed by 23 percent to 51 percent, depending on the amount of the fuel tax. Net profits for hog producers could be reduced 40 percent to 85 percent.

"Economic impacts of this magnitude will hurt smaller, family farms the most," said Neidig. "Younger farmers, with proportionately higher debt, could be forced to sell to larger-scale producers. Farm loans could be jeopardized and land values could fall."

Sens. Chuck Hagel (R-Neb.) and Pat Roberts (R-Kan.) also were on hand to express their support for FACT's efforts. Hagel, a principal sponsor of a Senate-passed measure that called for equal treatment to developed and developing nations by any climate treaty, reiterated that the impact on agriculture from the proposed U.N. treaty would be tremendous. He said given farming and ranching's intensive use of fuel and energy, devastating economic consequences to agriculture families would ensue if the treaty were forwarded by the Senate.

Roberts said the potential harm in store for the agriculture sector from the proposed treaty should signal "a wake up call" for America's rural population. Roberts praised FACT for its opposition to the treaty.

Also joining Neidig were: Wallie Hardie of the National Corn Growers Association; Kermit Richardson of the National Grange; and Chandler Keyes of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association.

Farming In Maryland.....

State President To Be Speaker At FB Banquet

C. William Knill, president of Maryland Farm Bureau and a member of the American Farm Bureau Federation Board of Directors, will be the guest speaker Friday, Oct. 17, at the Garrett County Farm Bureau banquet. The event, which begins at 7 p.m., will be held at the Bittinger fire hall.

In June 1996, Knill began his term as one of three northeastern representatives to the American Farm Bureau Federations Board of Directors. Knill, who has also been Maryland Farm Bureau president since 1992, was elected to complete the final two-year term of Keith W. Eckel of Pennsylvania, who resigned in May 1996.

Prior to becoming Maryland Farm Bureau president, Knill served for one year as a vice president in the state organization. He also sat on the state organization's board of directors for five years while serving as president of the Carroll County Farm Bureau. A member of the Carroll County Farm Bureau since 1963, he also served as its vice president for two years.

A former dairy farmer, Knill was active in the Young Farm program of his dairy cooperative and attended the 1967 National Milk Producers meeting as an Outstanding Young Cooperator. He has also served as director and chairman of the Southern States Mount Airy Cooperative for several terms.

A lifelong farmer in southern Carroll and Frederick counties, Knill and his son Jim currently raise beef and grain on about 750 acres. The family also raises sweet corn, melons, tomatoes and other vegetables for their roadside farm market in Mount Airy.

Knill lives with his wife Jean in Mount Airy. The couple has raised four children, Jim, Susan, Anne and Duane, and currently have five grandchildren.

Small Grain Planting Is Ahead Of Average

For the week which ended on October 12, small grains seeded in Maryland made some major increases. Wheat seeded jumped 10 points and is ahead of the previous year's average. Barley seeding improved by 30 points and was above the previous and five-year averages. Rye seeding was reported to be ahead of last year's average, as well as the five-year average. The time frame for soybeans which turned color was the same when compared to the previous year average but below the five-year average. Soybeans harvested improved by six points and was ahead of the previous and five-year averages. Soybeans shedding leaves made some advances but fell behind the previous and five-year averages.

Grain corn being harvested continued to make gains; however, it's still short of the previous and five-year averages. Corn harvested for silage was reported to be near its completion last week.

Sorghum maturity continued to make great advances the previous week but was short of the previous and five-year averages. Sorghum harvesting improved from last week and was above the previous year average but under the five-year average.

Pastures were 3% very poor, 17% poor, 44% fair, 34% good, and 2% excellent. Hay supplies were 17% very short, 37% short, 45% adequate, and 1% surplus.

There was an average of 6.8 days suitable for fieldwork. Topsoil moisture was 28% very short, 42% short, and 30% adequate. Subsoil moisture was 25% very short, 41% short, and 34% adequate.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended October 12, listed by percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average from 1992 to 1996, in that order, are:

Progress: Field corn, mature, 94, 92, 96, and 94. Soybeans, turned, 80, 67, 80, and 87; shedding leaves, 60, 48, 65, and 69. Sorghum, mature, 72, 62, 93, and 83. Barley, seeded, 59, 29, 52, and 51. Rye, seeded, 38, 14, 28, and 37. Wheat, seeded, 15, 5, 12, and 16.

Harvesting Progress: Field corn, grain, 37, 24, 48, and 53; silage, 96, 86, 92, and 88. Soybeans, 16, 10, 7, and 13. Sorghum, 22, 15, 20, and 24. Apples, 77, 76, 56, and 66. Alfalfa, 4th cutting, 81, 80, 80, and 87; 5th cutting, 17, 7, 32, and 32. Other hay, 4th cutting, 76, 75, 55, and 50.

Precipitation for the month of September in Garrett and Allegany counties was still slightly below normal, with Garrett receiving 3.2 inches, just 0.1 inch below normal, and Allegany receiving 2.9 inches, just 0.2 inch below normal.

Frederick and Washington counties, which were two counties hardest hit by drought this summer, finally received above-normal rainfall, up just two inches above normal.

Prince George's, Anne Arundel, Queen Anne's and Wicomico counties are several counties in the state which are still not receiving a normal amount of precipitation, all still more than two inches below normal.

Crop Notes

* As of Tuesday, October 14, the alfalfa plants were not in the dormancy stage. The recent warm weather keeps the alfalfa plants growing; however, alfalfa will soon start into dormancy because of the short daylight days. A hard frost will speed up the process. In absence of a frost, I would recommend waiting at least another week before harvesting the crop.

* Fall management of sudex and other sorghum hybrids pose a problem since prussic acid levels in plants less than 24 inches tall may be elevated. Cool nights slow the growth of sudex. Additionally, frosted, plants of any size are potentially toxic. If your sudex is less than 24 inches or has been frosted the best recommendation is to make dry hay. If dry hay is not possible, it can be diluted by ensiling with a late corn silage or haylage crop. The ensiling process itself does not significantly reduce the prussic acid content, but the silage movement and mixing at feeding will release much of the cyanide gas. Another route is to simply let the sudex stand until after frost. When the plant has dried until it is essentially hay, it can be safely harvested at ant size as pasture, green crop or baled hay.

Lady Bugs are Swarming

Lady bugs are the little spotted beetles that can be pesky this time of the year. It is their nature to swarm in late fall, particularly with the warm weather. Unfortunately, the lady beetles will invade your home; however, they are not harmful. I recommend that you use your vacuum cleaner to remove them rather than trying to use a pesticide.

Pork Producers Stake A Claim For The Future

Meet America's pork producers: active, aggressive and setting an ambitious goal--to make pork the No. 1 meat in America. The National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) announced the pork industry's ambition, setting a goal of 60 pounds per capita annual pork consumption, an increase of 20 percent per capita, within the next decade.

Pork producers have invested hundreds of millions of dollars the last 10 years aggressively improving their product, educating producers and changing consumer attitudes about pork. The pork industry has a $66 billion impact on the U.S. economy, creating over 764,000 jobs in farming and agriculture-related industries. The United States is the world's second-largest pork producing nation, behind China, producing more than 17 billion pounds of fresh pork each year.

"Pork is the world's favorite meat, with approximately 43 percent market share around the globe. Yet in the U.S., pork trails beef with an annual consumption of about 50 pounds per capita," said R.H. "Moe" Mohesky, president of the Des Moines, Iowa,-based NPPC, and North Carolina pork producer. "We'd like to see it reach 60 pounds within the next decade, which would make it the most consumed meat in the United States."

According to a recent meat segmentation study, two-thirds (66 percent) of Americans ages 18 to 59 eat pork on any given day. That totals nearly 100 million consumers. By comparison, 57 percent eat beef and just under half (49 percent) eat chicken.

Pork is also the fastest-growing restaurant ingredient, with menu appearances up 16 percent from 1993. And attitudes are changing; research in 1995 shows that 87 percent of American adults recognize pork as "The Other White Meat."

Perhaps the most significant step the pork industry has made is cutting the fat in its product by as much as 50 percent since the 1960s. Through improved genetics, feeding and management practices, pork producers have continued to do this. In fact, since 1983 they have reduced the average fat content of pork by 31 percent and lowered the calories by 14 percent. Some of today's pork cuts are as lean as a skinless chicken breast.

While the product changed, the perceptions lingered. In the mid-1980s, pork's market share of total meat consumption was declining. This was largely due to people working more and cooking less, and the increased focus on health, leading to questions about pork's nutritional value.

"The problem was not in the product, but in the perception," said Barry Pfouts, vice president of consumer product marketing for NPPC. "We had changed the product, but now we had to change consumers' attitudes." In 1987, in a strong move to take charge of their own destiny, pork producers launched the "Pork. The Other White Meat" campaign. Using funds from a legislative checkoff assessed to all producers and importers of hogs and pork products, the campaign included TV commercials, print ads and a variety of marketing programs.

To support the goal of being No. 1, NPPC has launched a bold new $20 million marketing campaign called "Taste What's Next," the most significant new directive since "The Other White Meat."

And U.S. consumers have noticed. Per capita pork consumption, which stood at 45.2 lbs. in 1986, reached 49.9 in 1994.

The campaign, financed by the National Pork Board through the legislative checkoff, kicked off in a big way with an advertising effort that included five television spots during the Super Bowl. Two new TV commercials depict pork as a new food trend.

"Taste What's Next isn't just an advertising slogan," Mohesky explained. "It's the marketing direction that will lead us into the new millennium. We are building on the success of 'The Other White Meat,' going beyond talking about pork as lean, versatile, delicious meat to really show people why it is set to become the next big food trend in America.

"We have a long-range strategic plan to be No. 1," added Mohesky. "Consumers want quality, nutrition, variety and convenience. By capitalizing on our successes, we'll continue to perfect the way we make and market our products to give them all of these and more."

The National Pork Producers Council, based in Des Moines, Iowa, represents approximately 85,000 pork producer members in 45 affiliated state organizations.

Raffle Benefits Cystic Fibrosis Research Efforts

A raffle was held recently in Oakland to raise funds to benefit research on cystic fibrosis, a disease which is currently without a cure.

The winning ticket was selected by Tiffany Morgan, daughter of Terry and Tammy Morgan, Oakland. Tiffany was recently diagnosed with cystic fibrosis. "There is no cure for this devastating disease, but with fundraisers such as the raffle we held, there are hopes of finding a cure through research," Tammy said.

Local businesses and other individuals contributed the prizes for the raffle. The winners, named in order, were: Clayton and Dani Miller (who donated their prize back to Tiffany), Mike Trickett, Becky Dawson, Clayton Arnold, Charlie Grubb, Helen Fitzwater, Larry Wilt, Red Fredrick, Max Bittinger, Gary Skeweris, Jo Ann Smith, Doug Baker, Ron Lewis, Pam Glotfelty, Doris Bittinger, Larry and Jan Morgan, Gene Glotfelty, and Cheryl Shaffer.

AND THE WINNER IS - Tiffany Morgan had the honor of drawing the winning tickets for a raffle held recently to benefit cystic fibrosis research. She is pictured as she reaching for the first place winner. Helping Tiffany is her mom, Tammy. Tiffany was diagnosed recently with CF, which is currently without a cure.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Mars Hill Homemakers met Tuesday at the Jennings United Methodist Church for a regular monthly meeting. Those attending were: Clara Wiley, Anna Sturtz, Karin Durst, Anna Belle Folk, Mary Kamp, and Ruth Stanton, president.

The club had a show-and-tell time. Games were played and prizes were won by Anna Sturtz, Mary Kamp, and Clara Wiley.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 11, when the club will eat at Gnagey's at Meyersdale. Members will make plans for the Christmas dinner, which will be held Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 11 a.m. Santa will appear and give out the gifts.

In closing, Karin Durst, read "Drinking From My Saucer"!

PERSONAL

Mrs. Vadne Henline and daughter, Maria Henline, visited with relatives and friends in Grantsville and Friendsville. They ate with Kathryn Nixon, Norma Bowser, and Mary Kamp at the Casselman Restaurant before returning home Monday.

Workshop Series On Chastity Set By Crisis Center

The Mountain Top Crisis Pregnancy Center (MTCPC) will present a three-session workshop on chastity, with the purpose of encouraging teenagers to refrain from sexual intercourse until marriage, and helping the adults in their lives help them make that choice. The first of the three sessions will be for parents and/or guardians only, and the second and third will be for teenagers and their parents or guardians.

The dates are as follows: Session #1, Saturday, Oct. 18 (adults only); Session #2, Saturday, Oct. 25; and Session #3, Saturday, Nov. 1, all held at the center, which is located at 111 Alderson Street in Loch Lynn. The time for the sessions each day will be 9:30-11 a.m.

The classes will be taught by Carol Peracchio, an MTCPC volunteer, and Mark Watkins, a local youth pastor. The discussion will focus on dating, courtship, how to talk to youth about sex, the mixed messages about sex in today's society, and other common problems associated with the issue. In the first session for parents, the materials to be used in sessions 2 and 3 will be available for preview.

To register for the workshop, persons should contact MTCPC at 301-334-1058. The office hours are Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Election Bd. Notes Dates To Be Closed

The Board of Supervisors of Elections will be closed Oct. 20, 21, and 22. On these dates the office staff will attend a meeting.

The office will re-open on Oct. 23 at 8 a.m. Anyone having questions may call the office prior to Oct. 20 at 301-334-1962.

Accessing The Internet Focus Of GCC Course

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer Introduction to Accessing the Internet course at the McHenry campus on Tuesday, Oct. 28, and Thursday, Oct. 30, from 9:30 a.m. to noon each day.

This course will introduce students to the "information superhighway," use of the World Wide Web, File Transfer Protocol, E-mail, and electronic group discussions.

For additional information and registration, persons may call the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

United Methodist Women Convene

The 41st annual meeting of the Grantsville and Northeast Garrett charges of the United Methodist Women was held recently at Mt. Zion United Methodist Church.

Connie Burdock introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Edith Friend, who led singing and prayer.

The program was centered around the book of Colossians. Loretta Hummel and Connie Burdock sang several songs. The service was closed with prayer led by Mrs. Friend.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Burdock. Karin Durst read the minutes and a letter from the House of the Carpenter from last year's offering.

The roll call was then taken and 27 were in attendance, representing Emmanuel, Mt. Zion, St. Paul's, and Jennings churches. Each president was presented with a token of appreciation.

State Line ladies will host the 1998 meeting.

This year's offering was sent to the Burlington Children's Home in Burlington, W.Va.

Refreshments were served by the Mt. Zion ladies.

Habitat Gets Help From Three New Volunteers

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Inc., has announced the addition of three new volunteers to their work force: Kim Crosco, Milton Charles DeWitt Jr., and Lynda Weeks.

Crosco is the wife of Roger Crosco and the mother of Jessica, Chelsea, and Regina. Kim graduated from Southern High School and received the Lions' Club Award for Home Economics. She is a Garrett County native, who has worked with Garrett County Headstart for the past two years. Crosco will be calling on churches throughout the county to develop a Church Relations Committee.

DeWitt is married to Kelly Rhodes and is the father of Charles Scott. "Chuck" is a Garrett County native. He joined AmeriCorps to be able to go back to school to study auto mechanics and to learn a new trade. He will be working as an assistant building supervisor.

Lynda Weeks is the mother of Elric and Tory. Lynda is a former AmeriCorps member with the Garrett County Health Department. Weeks said, "I joined VISTA so that I might help improve inadequate living conditions in Garrett County." Weeks will be calling on businesses and civic groups to develop a volunteer committee and a skilled volunteer labor force.

Anyone who is in need of safe, adequate housing and earns approximately $1,000 take home pay a month may call Barbara Briggs at 301-334-9431, ext. 113 for information on the Habitat for Humanity program.

GCC To Offer First Aid/CPR

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College has scheduled a community first aid and safety course to the held at the McHenry campus.

The class will meet Monday, Oct. 27, and Wednesday, Oct. 29, 5-9:45 p.m. The course will teach basic skills of cardiac life support for infants, children, and adults. It will also teach standard techniques to provide first aid to individuals in an emergency situation.

Certification will be provided through the American Red Cross. Tuition is $17 plus $24-fees.

Anyone wishing more information or wishing to register for the course may call the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

Friendsville Schedules Fall Town Clean-Up

The annual fall clean-up in Friendsville has been scheduled for the weekend of Oct. 25. The event is planned by the mayor and town council to promote care and up-keep of property within the town.

Noted by Mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle as a time to demonstrate civic pride, the clean-up days will give the residents an opportunity to remove household items as well as leaves and cuttings from yards and vacant lots.

The town's regularly scheduled trash pick-up will take place on Friday, Oct. 24. Pick-up of large household items will be on Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. This specially arranged collection will include furniture, appliances, and other household items.

Scrap metal items should be separated from other materials for removal.

"This spring we began with a thorough cleaning and renovation. Let's continue. It's the sensible thing to do for health, safety, pride, and happiness of all our people," Schlossnagle said.

Benefit/Memorial Concert Set For Glen Keller Family

A memorial concert has been planned in Accident for former resident Glen Keller. The event will also raise funds to help defray medical expenses incurred in his care and treatment.

Born in Accident in 1918, Keller, a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, played bass for the Accident Concert Band. While serving in the army, he played bass for the U.S. Army Band while stationed in Texas.

The memorial/benefit concert, which will take place Saturday, Oct. 25, 7:30 p.m. at Flowery Vale Senior Center, will feature the Accident Concert Band and the Northern Middle School Jazz Band.

The event will be sponsored by the Accident Cultural and Historical Society, the Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) Branch 5821, and the Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8483.

Pastor Randy Nairn of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Accident, said that the free will offering accepted at the concert will be matched by AAL and the Lutheran Brotherhood.

Anyone wishing further information may contact St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 301-746-8235.

LIONS INSTALL NEW MEMBER - The newest member of the Deep Creek Lions Club was installed during District 22-W Governor Carol Smith's annual visit. New member Harold Forsyth has lived in the Deep Creek Lake area for nearly 15 years. Prior to moving to Garrett County, Forsyth, an abstractor, was the top administrative assistant to a Montana congressman in Washington, D.C. Pictured left to right are Forsyth, Smith, and David Wheeler, who sponsored the new member.

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland Friday, Oct. 17

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross is urging area residents to support the bloodmobile visit on Friday, Oct. 17, at the Oakland Armory, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Donors are advised to note the time change.

According to Elizabeth Huxford, local Blood Services chairman, the Johnstown Region must collect 700 units each weekday to meet the needs of regional residents and patients at hospitals served through the Red Cross Blood Services. The goal for this visit is 160 units of blood.

"We need all blood donors of all types to join the Oakland Masonic Lodge, sponsor for this bloodmobile, in giving and supporting the community in this effort. The need for blood is constant, and the American Red Cross is in demand for all blood types at this time," Huxford said.

Although giving blood is easy and safe, Huxford says only five percent of eligible Americans donate blood. To donate blood, one must be at least 17 years old, weigh at least 110 pounds, and be in generally good health. Donor identification is important, so donors are advised to bring their Red Cross Donor card or driver's license to the bloodmobile. Individuals can safely give every 56 days.

Those with questions about donor eligibility may call 1-800-54BLOOD.

Aurora School "Gets The Creeps" Collecting Stamps

"Get the Creeps" is the theme of the year's National Stamp Collecting Month, which was recently promoted for fourth-, fifth-, and sixth-graders at Aurora School.

Frances Roth, postmaster relief at the Aurora Post Office, assisted by Keith Lipscomb, Eglon postmaster, introduced the students to the new classic movie monster commemorative stamps, which feature Bela Lugosi as Dracula, Lon Chaney as Phantom of the Opera, Lon Chaney Jr. as the Wolf Man, and Boris Karloff as The Mummy and Frankenstein.

The students saw film clips of Lugosi's Dracula and played a Frankenstein word game.

The purpose of the stamp collecting month, which is sponsored by the U.S. Postal Service, is to emphasize stamp collecting as a hobby for the young.

Anyone wishing to enter the world of stamp collecting may call 1-888-STAMP-FUN.

Members Seek Historical Info On Churches

The members of the congregation of the Gormania United Methodist Church have asked for assistance in researching the history of their church and of the Presbyterian Church which they have recently purchased.

Pictures of the churches or of the town of Gormania, W.Va., would be appreciated by the members. They are also in search of stories and information on the town. "We are trying to write up a little history of the town as well as the church," Sonny O'Haver, project historian, said.

Anyone wishing more information or wishing to provide assistance in this undertaking may contact Sonny O'Haver, 7418 George Washington Highway, Oakland, 301-334-4194 or Evelyn Steyer, 5329 Gorman Rd., Oakland, 301-334-2848.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

AEROBICS CLASS

Those who are interested in taking a low-impact aerobics class are asked to contact Linn Crowe at 304-735-3031. This month will determine whether or not there is sufficient interest to continue the classes that began the first of September.

TRIBULATION HOUSE AT MAPLE GROVE

Tours through the Tribulation House at the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church, Horse Shoe Run, will be conducted Oct. 16-18. Hours on Thursday are 6:30 to 8:00 p.m.; Friday, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.; and on Saturday, 1 to 3 p.m.

CRAFT FAIR

An annual craft fair will be held at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Nov. 1. Food will also be available, and the fair is being sponsored by the Mt. View Rebekah Lodge. Those who haven't reserved a table may contact Ressie Conrad at 304-735-5428.

BUCKWHEAT CAKE DINNER

An annual buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be held Saturday evening, Nov. 1, at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren on Rt. 24, south of Eglon. Serving will be from 4 until 8 p.m., with donations of $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Those under 4 eat free.

Cakes and sausage, gravy, sauce, and beverage constitute the menu.

LOCAL MAN DIES BY GUNSHOT

When Harlen Kemphfer Sr., 38, failed to return from a hunting outing on Saturday night, a hunt for him was initiated and the body later found on the hill near Brookside where he had gone to hunt. The body was transported to Morgantown and the funeral will be today, Oct. 16, at Maple Spring Church.

THANKS EXPRESSED

The daughter of Jean and George Drainer, JoAnn Helbig of Ohio, visited her parents this weekend at their Stemple Ridge home and expressed her thanks and theirs to all of those who have helped then since Jean's auto accident.

EGLON HOMEMAKERS

The Eglon Homemakers had a carry-in brunch at 10:30 a.m. on Oct. 7. The ladies then were shown craft items brought by their guest, Delores Douglas, Aurora. She brought items which she had made to show the members. Mrs. Douglas is president of the Aurora Extension Homemakers.

The next meeting of the club will be Nov. 4 with Rebecca Teets and Florence Minnig serving as hostesses and Sandra Hauser bringing the lesson titled "Some Days I Need a Hug." The club made plans to serve a Mt. Lions dinner on Dec. 4. Members purchased meat tickets from Eglon Mountaineer 4-H leader Linda Lewis as a donation to the Preston County and local clubs. Jean Winters brought a copy of the new clothing care labels to familiarize the members with the changes.

Attending were Florence Minnig, Rebecca Teets, Sandra Hauser, Mary Rembold, Avenell Parsons, Jean Winters, Linda Lewis, and guests Barbara Heckert and Mrs. Douglas.

PERSONAL MENTION

Shirley Harsh, Stemple Ridge, was a recent patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Her daughter, Connie Harsh, Oakland, underwent arthroscopic surgery on her knee and is getting about on crutches.

John and Leora Hall, Goldsboro, N.C., were visitors Tuesday to Saturday with Ruth and Roscoe Teets, Eglon, and Maynard and Bonnylin Lantz, Aurora.

Jim Moore and friend Annette visited Wednesday and Thursday in the area, including a visit with the former's sister-in-law, Jessie Winters, Eglon, on Thursday. They then returned to his home at Zanesville, Ohio.

Louella Fike, Aurora, accompanied her brother, Cecil Snyder and his friend Erica of Ben DeWitt Road on an Oct. 5 trip, which included Blackwater Falls and Canaan state parks, Spruce Knob, and other scenery. This Sunday, Ruth Montgomery, Hagerstown, and her daughter Jean came for a visit with Mrs. Fike.

Lois Layman, Eglon, had heart catheterization Wednesday in Morgantown and returned Thursday morning to her home. Her husband, David Layman, underwent eye surgery Monday in Morgantown and is reportedly recovering at his home here. He reports that his sight is now improving.

Mary Jane Hanline, Aurora, has been a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital since being admitted Thursday. She expects to return early this week to her home.

Frances Roth, Aurora, was a Tuesday surgical patient in Preston Memorial Hospital this week.

Returning last Wednesday to Silver Lake were Ellis and Marie Teets, who had been visiting in Salem, Va., with their daughter and her children, "Bitsy," Stephen, Andrew, and Elizabeth Shepherd. The family is making plans for a move to Denver, Colo., where Mr. Shepherd is employed.

On Tuesday of last week Sheridan and Nina Layman returned to their home in Aurora from a visit in Flatwoods, Ky., with Mr. Layman's sister Neva Kincaid.

Ressie Conrad attended a state convention of the West Virginia IOOF and Rebekah lodges, held Oct. 9-11 at Snowshoe Resort.

Attending annual Fall Conference of West Virginia Extension Homemakers last week was Opal Myers of Aurora. Attending on Thursday were Dorothy Spaid, Thelma Simpson, Delores Douglas, and Ressie Conrad.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Imes and Amber Dawn, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Harsh, all of Ft. Ashby, were Sunday visitors at the Maple Spring Church.

Emily Lewis of South Charleston was a weekend guest of her parents and sister, Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis, at Eglon.

On Friday, children who had participated in the Aurora School summer reading program were treated with a trip to Morgantown for the Balloon Festival.

Alvin Fint, Alta Loma, Calif., arrived last Thursday for a week's visit with his parents, Roy and Violet Fint, Aurora. On Sunday, a family dinner was held at their home, with Ralph and Wilda Fint, Carl, Betty, Carla and Tina Fint, Joe, Stacy, Courtney, Joey and Rebecca Fint, John, Connie, and Darrell Fint and Carma Terrant, Ilene Fint of Old Fields, Robert Fint of Hawaii, and Nancy Winters of Manassas, Va., all attending.

Allen and Mia Rupp have purchased the Lester Hauser property of Stemple Ridge and plan to occupy it next week. He is the son of Steve and Sue Hauser and has been in military service.

Clean Up Day Set In Kingwood

Volunteers are being sought to join citizen's groups and participate in a Fall Clean Up Day set to take place at various locations in Kingwood on Saturday, Oct 18. Persons interested in volunteering are encouraged to bring chain saws, hand saws, tools, gloves, appropriate shoes, and eye and ear protection. Sponsored by the Green Team, the clean up project may cause temporary delays to occur on Route 7 during the day.

A clean up will begin at 8 a.m. at the McGrew House, where members of the Green Team, cadets from the Mountaineer Challenge Academy, and members of the McGrew Society will remove small trees and undergrowth from the lawn.

Also getting underway at 8 a.m. is a clean up at the Brown Building, where members of Main Street Kingwood and cadets from the Mountaineer Challenge Academy will be removing excess construction debris and materials.

The Preston Academy will be the site of an afternoon clean up by the Friends of the Academy and the Green Team, slated to begin at 1 p.m.

For more information about the McGrew House and Preston Academy clean ups, interested persons may call 304-329-2698. For more information about the Brown Building clean up, the number is 304-329-2717.

Thomas Cafe Sets Theater Performance

The Masqueraders, a traveling theatre group comprised of six students from Mussleman High School, will be performing in Thomas this Saturday, Oct. 18, at 8 p.m. at Sweet's Body and Soul Cafe.

Founded and directed by Tucker County High graduate Michael Stiles, the Masqueraders troupe has won several awards in its four-year history, including the West Virginia State Thespian One-Act Play competition.

"I am very excited about bringing Masqueraders back home to Tucker County," Stiles said. "These kids really do a great job and we hope this visit will help the [local] arts council generate interest to start their own program."

The Saturday night performance at Sweets Body and Soul Cafe will include skits and improvisations. There is no admission charge, but "the spittoon will be passed to collect donations," said Floye Johansen, a spokesperson for the event. For further information interested persons may call Johansen at 304-866-4117.

Thank You

The family of Howard C. Roth would like to thank Dr. Coughlin, all the nurses and aides on the third floor at Garrett Memorial Hospital, and everyone who sent flowers, food or helped in any way. A special thank you to the pallbearers and Stewart Funeral Home for all their kindness. God bless you all.

BITTINGER NEWS

The Emmanuel Lutheran Church Youth Group had a hay ride and cookout at the farm of the late Robert Glotfelty on Saturday, Oct.4. Lloyd Sussman and Rodney Glotfelty provided the hay wagon and ride for about 25 youth and a few adults.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish held a joint service on Sunday in celebration of Appalachian Sunday at Emmanuel Church in Bittinger. Special music was provided by the joint choirs, Linda Buckel and Lana Robey, Robert Brenneman, Leora and Jan Chalkerly, organist.

The Rodney Glotfelty family, Kevin Bass family, and the Lloyd Sussman family held a crab feast Saturday evening. Guests were the Kyle Morrison family, Courtney Englar, Accident, Molly Vick, Vienna, Va., Steve Sherrard, Accident, Ruth DiPaolo, and several other guests from Arlington, Va.

Shirley Johnson, Cumberland, visited Ruth DiPaolo on Saturday and they attended the Autumn Glory Parade in Oakland and ate turkey dinner at Crellin Elementary School. Claire, Caitlin, and Meredith Sussman accompanied them.

Lea Stanton and roommates, Stacey and Allison, students at Allegany College, spent last weekend with Sam and Cindy Stanton.

Michael and Susan Scheffres, and children Joe and Julie, Rockville, spent the weekend with Lenny and Sally Poholsky and Torrey.

Linda Buckel and Ferne Beachy went to the Scarpelli Funeral Home in Cumberland Sunday evening for visitation of the family of Shawn Sternberg, 21, who died as a result of an automobile accident in Fargo, N.D. Shawn was there for training with the National Guard.

Sheila and Bill Southerly, Landon and Tyler spent several days with Brooke and Kerry Green in Laurel and attended the Maryland/West Virginia football game at College Park.

Vicki Sussman, Columbia, attended the Autumn Glory Festival and was a Sunday guest of her brother, Lloyd Sussman, and family Sunday afternoon.

Ida Reckner and Jim Glotfelty visited Mary Harman at the Goodwill Nursing Home Sunday evening.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Resh were the Southerlys and Ferne Beachy.

Wayne and Hazel Gaumer, Hagerstown, spent the weekend with her mother, Kathryn Bowser.

Gary and Sharon Buckel, Bill and Sheila Southerly and sons, Rodney and Marci Glotfelty and family, Denny Buckel, and Peggy Chapnell attended the Maryland/West Virginia University football game at College Park on Saturday. The Mountaineers won the game, which proved to be a disappointment for the Terp fans. Rodney Glotfelty, a Maryland graduate, showed the campus to his family.

Joan Sussman was among six local artists showing their art work at the Art Council's Autumn Glory Show, "In Good Company." The show was dedicated to artist Jennifer Evans, who died in a horseback riding accident last week.

Ferne Beachy and Maxine Legeer donated a Log Cabin quilted wall hanging for Emmanuel Lutheran Church in recognition of Appalachian Sunday.

Robbie Glotfelty won one of the heats in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters No-Hands Ice Cream Eating Contest at the Deep Creek Creamery on Sunday. Darryl and Elliot also participated.

JoEllen Graham returned to her home in St. Albans, W.Va., after spending some time with her sister, Buelah Moon.

Sam and Cindy Stanton saw a bear on their farm last week. Cindy wanted to run, but the bear ran first.

Lesa Whittemore and Joan Sussman had a couple of close encounters with large flocks of wild turkeys.

An unknown female collie mixed dog is visiting the Sussman family and their family dogs, Boo and Emily. She will go home when her owner claims her. She is charming with lovely manners.

ELCA WOMEN TO MEET

Women of the ELCA, Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on October 7.

Leota Baker led the topic, "Coming to Sinai - Commitment to the Lord Who Saves." The lesson explored Israel's encounter with the Lord at Sinai, where a covenant was made with Israel, and the Ten Commandments were presented.

Devotions closed with the litany, "God Has Borne Us on Eagles' Wings."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting. Announcement was made of the Fall Retreat, to be held at Jackson's Mill in Weston, W.Va., this weekend, October 18-19.

A thank-you note was received from Youth and Family Services, Zelienople, Pa., for the package recently sent by Zion's unit. The project list of needed items was received from The Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa.

A birthday offering was presented by Ruthella Resh.

An assortment of sweaters was sent to Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in Box Elder, Mont., for their clothing give-away to residents on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation. The quarterly offering was sent to the American Bible Society for the Bible-A-Month ministry.

Tribute to the memory of Mrs. Ann Rawe was made through an offering to her family at the time of her death.

THANKS FOR YOUR SUPPORT - Sponsors help make possible the colorful and exciting events of the annual Autumn Glory Festival. Among the patron sponsors this year was GPU Energy. On behalf of GPU, Ed Schultz received a patron sponsor recognition plaque from Diane Wolf, director of the Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council. The presentation was made at the festival kick-off reception held last week at the Wisp.

McKenzie Named To Who's Who

Jeremy David McKenzie was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students for the 1996-97 school year. His biography will appear in the 31st annual edition of the Who's Who yearbook.

McKenzie, a senior at Northern High School, is involved in cross country and track. He has competed in track regionals and state competitions.

As a member of the Northern VICA club, he placed second in regionals and third place award for outstanding performance in the Maryland VICA State Skills Championship, 1996 carpentry competition. He is also a member of Maryland Tomorrow.

McKenzie is an employee of the Dept. of Natural Resources at New Germany State Park. He resides with his grandparents, Paul and Shirley McKenzie, Avilton.

GCC Student Govt. Association Is Re-Organized

A newly organized Student Government Association has been meeting at Garrett Community College on Monday evenings to plan activities and discuss matters of concern to students. Led by president Marc Edmiston, the SGA considers requests for funding from campus organizations and allocates money for appropriate activities.

Two new clubs have been formed this year--the Computer Club, advised by Terry Norris and Bryon Sines, and the Psychology Club, advised by Terry Kasecamp. The Wildlife Club, advised by Kevin Dodge, is selling tickets to help pay for a spring-break trip to Arizona and the Golden Achievers and Math Club members are selling tickets to the Hubcaps Sock Hop on October 31. An Ultimate Frisbee Tournament is being planned by the Adventure Sports Club, and the Athletic Club is planning a fund-raiser to pay for an announcer at basketball games.

Co-advisors to the SGA this year are: Manning Smith, associate dean of student services, and Lonnie Brewster, professor of English. Other officers are: Evelyn Bittinger, vice-president; Nicole Swiger, secretary; Debbie Bittinger, treasurer; and Catherine Dixon and Beth Maroney, sophomore representatives.

Friedman, Kenneth J. MacFadyen, James J. Loftus, and Daniel Menchel, Substitute Trustees by instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the Land Records of the County aforesaid, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the parties secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer for sale at public auction

AT THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, AT THE COURT HOUSE DOOR, OAKLAND, ON TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21,1997 AT 1:00 O'CLOCK P.M.

ALL THAT LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett County, Maryland, and described as follows:

ALL THAT PARCEL OF LAND SITUATE IN ELECTION DISTRICT NO. 14, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND, WHICH IS DESCRIBED AS FOLLOWS:

BEGINNING FOR THE SAME ON THE NORTH SIDE OF PENNINGTON STREET IN THE TOWN OF OAKLAND, BEING KNOWN AND DESIGNATED AS LOTS NO. 7 AND 8 OF WILSON'S FIRST ADDITION TO THE TOWN OF OAKLAND, A SUBDIVISION OF LOT NO. 57.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty as to the description of the improvements.

Terms of Sale: a deposit of $16,000 will be required at the time of sale in the form of cash, certified check or other form as the Substitute Trustees determine acceptable. If the noteholder and/or servicer is the successful bidder, the deposit requirement is waived. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten (10) days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Time is of the essence as to the purchaser. If the purchaser defaults, the deposit will be declared forfeit, and applied as required by Maryland law, with the remainder, if any, to be applied at the discretion of the Substitute Trustees. In addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to the Substitute Trustees or noteholder, the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. Further, this defaulting purchaser shall be liable for any deficiency resulting from the resale, as well as all costs and expenses of the resale, including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees and all other charges incurred by the Substitute Trustees. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason (and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder), there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, water rent, condominium fees, and/or homeowner association dues, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. In the event the property is occupied by tenants, the Substitute Trustees assume no responsibility for security deposits, or other monies paid by the tenants to anyone. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees or the noteholder. The property will be sold in an "AS IS" condition without either express or implied warranty or representation, including, but not limited to, the description, fitness for a particular purpose/use, structural integrity, physical condition, construction, extent of construction, workmanship, materials, habitability, zoning, subdivision, environmental condition, merchantability, compliance with building codes or other laws, ordinances or regulations, or other similar matters. The Substitute Trustees, their attorneys and/or the noteholder shall not be liable individually or otherwise for any matters relating to thia sale and/or the property.

Historical Trust Seeks Applications For Preservation

The Maryland Historical Trust, an agency of the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), is now accepting applications for capital and non-capital historic preservation grants. Total funds available for the FY 1998 MHT Grant Funds, shared by the Capital, Non-Capital, and Museum Assistance programs, was $750,000. It is anticipated that $750,000 will be available for the upcoming FY 1999 grant round.

Nonprofit organizations, local jurisdictions, business entities, and individuals may apply for grants to fund capital projects. Eligible projects include the acquisition, rehabilitation, or restoration of historic property in Maryland. Only nonprofit organizations and local jurisdictions may apply for non-capital grants. Non-capital projects may include a wide array of preservation activities, ranging from research and survey work to the development of educational programs and planning documents.

The application deadline is December 12, 1997, for application cover sheets and January 30, 1998, for the full application. The project selection process will begin February 2, 1998, and grant awards will be announced by July 1, 1998. The maximum grant award is $40,000.

A 50/50 match is required of most applicants for capital projects and of all local jurisdictions for non-capital projects. Nonprofit organizations are not required to provide a match; however, those that do include a match will be more competitive in the grant selection process.

Each application is ranked and evaluated using the Maryland Historical Trust's Open Project Selection Criteria. Criteria include, but are not limited to: the significance of the resource, the urgency of the project, the educational value of the project, and support for the project. This year's priorities for receiving DHCD funds include projects that incorporate or promote growth management strategies, neighborhood revitalization and economic development through heritage tourism. Successful applicants for grants assisting the preservation of historic real property must convey a perpetual historic preservation easement to the trust prior to the release of funds.

The Maryland Historical Trust is Maryland's state historic preservation office and is dedicated to preserving the legacy of Maryland's past. Through research, conservation and education, the trust assists the people of Maryland in understanding their historical and cultural heritage.

For further information, applications, and copies of the Open Project Selection Criteria, persons may contact Kate Mahood by telephone at 410-514-7635 or by e-mail at mahood@dhcd.state.md.us (Capital Projects) or Elizabeth Hughes by telephone at 410-514-7617 or by e-mail at hughese@dhcd.state.md.us (Non-Capital Projects). You may also write to the Maryland Historical Trust at Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032-2023. Applications are also on the Internet at http://www2.ari.net/mdshpo/mht-ftp.html or at http://www.dhcd.state.md.us.

Fumes Dissipate, Mental Health Clinic Re-Opens

The application of fire retardant chemical at the Garrett County Community Mental Health Center last week caused a short closure of the facility because of dangerous fumes. The clinic re-opened this past Monday and business has resumed at the building.

According to press release from the Garrett County Health Department, the flame retardant varnish was applied to the clinic hallways on Monday, Columbus Day -- a legal holiday during which the office was closed. When the staff members came to work Tuesday, they could smell the varnish, and Edward Zook, clinic director, contacted Dr. Rex Archer, the health officer for the county.

Archer and his staff reviewed the Material Safety Data Sheet and consulted with the Maryland Occupational Safety and Health Administration (MOSHA). The health officer also reported that he told employees who felt sick to go home on administrative leave. He reported that two individuals elected to go.

Ventilation fans were used overnight and the fumes from the varnish were reduced but not completely gone on Wednesday. Zook again told Archer of the situation and the health officer then closed the facility. The landlord continued to ventilate the area. No detectable fumes were

THE CALM BEFORE THE STORM - It won't be long before this serene scene is no more, as winter is surely approaching. The temperatures have been markedly colder this week, although snow flurries did not arrive yesterday as had been predicted. In a matter of weeks, this snow machine at the Wisp ski area will be working at full tilt, effectively obscuring any view one may have had of the earth's closest celestial partner. Until that time, though, there are games yet to be played, as the soccer, football, and cross country teams continue their contests of strength and agility, and there are, of course, lots of leaves yet to be piled up for some serious autumn jumping.

Secretary Winstead Addresses County's Transportation Needs

Maryland state highway officials, led by transportation secretary David L. Winstead, were in Oakland last week meeting with local officials and interested members of the public to discuss the state's draft transportation plan. Part of Winstead's annual fall tour of the entire state, he and his staff highlighted the road improvement projects slated for Garrett County over the next few years.

In addressing the packed county commissioners meeting room, Winstead remarked, "Our capital program continues to preserve and enhance Garrett County's excellent transportation system. Investing in transportation improvements, like those discussed today, will increase the economic competiveness of the County and the State," he said.

Construction Projects

Neil Pedersen, state highway director of planning, led off the discussion by outlining road projects that are in the construction phase, or have recently been completed.

The completion of the new exit ramp from eastbound I-68 to northbound Route 219, which opened this week, was the lead-off item of Pederson's presentation. The project, justified by hazardous traffic patterns and recent accidents, completes the major construction needed to provide a full cloverleaf at the intersection. Completed for a cost of less than $1.7 [illegible] lion, the impro[illegible] the spendin[illegible] the state.

"A public meeting needs to be held to discuss how traffic will flow during the actual bridge construction," Pedersen said, "especially regarding adequate access for emergency vehicles."

A third item discussed in the construction phase was the half-mile Backbone Mountain truck runaway ramp, currently under construction, with completion projected for next spring.

Planning Projects

Next, sixth district highway engineer Fred Crozier addressed proposed development and evaluation issues regarding projects that are still in the planning and engineering phase but not yet in the construction phase. While he mentioned that planning projects for bypasses around Accident and Deep Creek Lake, along with improvements to the length of Route 219, especially north of Grantsville, all had a high priority, the discussion regarding a bypass for Oakland drew the most attention.

Oakland Bypass

Crozier said that representatives from the state highway administration will be coming to Garrett County this winter to present several proposed alternatives for the proposed route of an Oakland bypass. He reminded listeners that although the Oakland bypass has been d[illegible] ma[illegible] f[illegible]

Local Man Charged With Rape, False Imprisonment, Burglary

Charges of rape, burglary, and false imprisonment were filed this week against a Swanton man by Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry. The police report stated that the assault on the victim occurred Sept. 29, between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. at her residence in Garrett County.

Timothy D. Hare, 26, reportedly tied the 20-year-old victim in her home and raped her three times during the 12-hour period. Fearing the accused, the victim did not report the assault at the time, the police said.

Returning home from work on Oct. 15, the victim reportedly found Hare hiding in her bedroom closet. A neighbor called the police and Hare fled the scene, the report stated.

After two days of phone conversations with him, police said that Hare turned himself in, and was arrested and charged without further incident.

He was taken to the Garrett County Jail, where bond was set at $250,000.

Arrest Made For Heroin, Cocaine Possession, Theft

Multiple charges, including possession of cocaine, heroin, and paraphernalia, were filed against a Laurel man Monday by Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

Steve K. Crabill, 32, was reportedly driving on a suspended license when he was stopped after being clocked at 100 mph on I-68 about 2:30 p.m.

Crabill had stolen fuel from a station in West Virginia prior to being spotted on eastbound I-68 at Chestnut Ridge Road, Grantsville, police reported.

After stopping Crabill's van east of Green Lantern Road, the police searched the vehicle and found the drugs, paraphernalia, and stolen motor vehicle tags from Laurel.

Craybill was taken to Garrett County Jail and held on $1,000 bond.

Commissioners Sign Homeless Services Pact

The Garrett County Commissioners this week signed the Homeless Services Operating Agreement presented by Duane Yoder, director of the Community Action Committee, Inc. The agreement will help provide grant funding to meet emergency housing needs in the county. In discussions Tuesday at the commissioners' office, Yoder also noted emergency housing accomplishments made by Community Action over the past year.

Yoder's memorandum to the commissioners stated that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development administers several grant programs to meet emergency housing needs of local communities. The allocation of the funds is a competitive process, with grants being provided for the purpose of either preventing homelessness or further addressing the problems associated with homelessness. The money must go through local fiscal authorities (the commissioners).

Yoder said his agency has been able to obtain small grants over the past several years that have been used in concert with other housing money. Community Action has been the local administering agency.

"We have always taken the approach of trying to keep people from becoming homeless," he said.

Yoder explained that the state requires the county and whatever agency operates the programs to sign an agreement, and the commissioners did so. The proposed Homeless Services Agreement describes what Community Action will do with the Emergency Shelter Grant Program, Yoder said. In this particular case, the grant is for $2,500. While this is a relatively small amount of money, it is used in conjunction with grants from the Department of Human Resources and some of the rental assistant funds to help prevent families from becoming homeless.

From Oct. 1996 through Sept. 1997, Community Action saved 59 households from eviction with a one-time financial boost and counseling, 48 households were assisted in locating and moving into affordable permanent housing, three families who were displaced because of housing code violations were given assistance in identifying and moving into suitable affordable housing, and 17 households were provided with temporary shelter.

Yoder said the Homeless Services Operating Agreement will help tie the different resources together to continue serving persons in need of shelter.

Announced At Capitol

Garrett County Selected For National Child Care Initiative

Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., has been selected as one of five community development corporation partners nationwide to be selected to receive financial and technical assistance for expanding child care. This rural child care initiative was announced this morning at the U.S. Capitol.

Through this program Community Action will be able to build a $713,000 6,000 square foot facility to serve 50 children through a Head Start program. The new program will open 12 new jobs and offer full-day, year-round child care to enable parents to work.

Duane Yoder, executive director of Community Action, of which the Head Start program is a part, worked on behalf of Garrett County for inclusion in this national program. "We pursued this pretty vigorously," Yoder said in describing the application process.

He and several parents and children from the Head Start program, along with two staff members, traveled to Washington, D.C., for the announcement. They have also been invited to the White House, where a child care conference is being hosted by President and Mrs. Clinton.

Partners in the collaborative that made this funding possible include the U.S. Department of Agriculture/ Rural Housing Service (RHS) Community Facilities Program, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)/ Head Start Bureau, the Federal Housing Finance Board (FHFB), and the Federal Home Loan Bank System (FHLB).

[illegible] agencies have joined [illegible]es with the Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC), the nation's leading community development support organization, and the National Head Start Association (NHSA).

Private sector seed money for this initiative has been provided by Freddie Mac Foundation.

Expansion Seen For CAC/BOE Partnership

While touring the sites last week of houses being built by carpentry students at Southern High School through a partnership with Garrett County Community Action, Inc. (CAC), Duane Yoder, executive director of the agency, spoke of plans to expand that partnership.

Under the current relationship between CAC and the school's Career and Technology Education program, construction loans are arranged by CAC so the students can develop skills and experience in home building. When complete, the houses become available for purchase through the CAC first-time home buyers program.

Pleased with the partnership, Yoder spoke of his ideas for the future with the members of the Garrett County Board of Education and Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent, who were touring the sites with him.

CAC will be purchasing the High View Apartment complex in Oakland and rebuilding rental units. Yoder said the rental units [illegible] dated area than the current complex, leaving lots available for single family homes. Yoder would like to see the carpentry students build these homes.

He also referred to funding that would soon be available in Garrett County through a federal child care initiative. The funds applied for, he said, would be used to build a child care facility on the grounds of the complex. He outlined his plans for the partnership expansion in his application for funding. (See related story)

This part of the Garrett County application helped to swing the vote in the county's favor, Yoder explained. The partnership between CAC and the board of education will be instrumental in making child care programming possible.

Students from Southern High School who are in the child care curriculum would work at the day care center, which will offer Headstart and a wrap-around day care. Jo Ann Vent[illegible] sor of the Care[illegible]

Assault, Intent To Murder; MSP Arrest Juvenile

A juvenile was arrested yesterday in Accident on various charges, including assault with intent to murder.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that a 17-year-old youth, at a party at a residence on Garrett Highway, was alleged to have become violent sometime between 2 and 5 a.m.

Police stated that during the incident the youth assaulted three or four people and stabbed his brother in the leg.

The youth was arrested at his home at 3 p.m. and charged with assault with intent to murder, reckless endangerment, four counts of assault, and two counts of destruction of property.

He is currently in the custody of Juvenile Services, Cumberland.

Fumes Dissipate, Mental Health Clinic Re-Opens

The application of fire retardant chemical at the Garrett County Community Mental Health Center last week caused a short closure of the facility because of dangerous fumes. The clinic re-opened this past Monday and business has resumed at the building.

According to press release from the Garrett County Health Department, the flame retardant varnish was applied to the clinic hallways on Monday, Columbus Day -- a legal holiday during which the office was closed. When the staff members came to work Tuesday, they could smell the varnish, and Edward Zook, clinic director, contacted Dr. Rex Archer, the health office for the county.

Archer and his staff reviewed the Material Safety Data Sheet and consulted with the Maryland Occupational Safety and Health Administration (MOSHA). The health officer also reported that he told employees who felt sick to go home on administrative leave. He reported that two individuals elected to go.

Ventilation fans were used overnight and the fumes from the varnish were reduced but not completely gone on Wednesday. Zook again told Archer of the situation and the health officer then closed the facility. The landlord continued to ventilate the area. No detectable fumes were

THE CALM BEFORE THE STORM - It won't be long before this serene scene is no more, as winter is surely approaching. The temperatures have been markedly colder this week, although snow flurries did not arrive yesterday as had been predicted. In a matter of weeks, this snow machine at the Wisp ski area will be working at full tilt, effectively obscuring any view one may have had of the earth's closest celestial partner. Until that time, though, there are games yet to be played, as the soccer, football, and cross country teams continue their contests of strength and agility, and there are, of course, lots of leaves yet to be piled up for some serious autumn jumping.

Secretary Winstead Addresses County's Transportation Needs

Maryland state highway officials, led by transportation secretary David L. Winstead, were in Oakland last week meeting with local officials and interested members of the public to discuss the state's draft transportation plan. Part of Wmstead's annual fall tour of the entire state, he and his staff highlighted the road improvement projects slated for Garrett County over the next few years.

In addressing the packed county commissioners meeting room, Winstead remarked, "Our capital program continues to preserve and enhance Garrett County's excellent transportation system. Investing in transportation improvements, like those discussed today, will increase the economic competiveness of the County and the State," he said.

Construction Projects

Neil Pedersen, state highway director of planning, led off the discussion by outlining road projects that are in the construction phase, or have recently been completed.

The completion of the new exit ramp from eastbound I-68 to northbound Route 219, which opened this week, was the lead-off item of Pederson's presentation. The project, justified by hazardous traffic patterns and recent accidents, completes the major construction needed to provide a full cloverleaf at the intersection. Completed for a cost of less than $1.7 [illegible] lion, the impr[illegible] the spendin[illegible] the state.

"A public meeting needs to be held to discuss how traffic will flow during the actual bridge construction," Pedersen said, "especially regarding adequate access for emergency vehicles."

A third item discussed in the construction phase was the half-mile Backbone Mountain truck runaway ramp, currently under construction, with completion projected for next spring.

Planning Projects

Next, sixth district highway engineer Fred Crozier addressed proposed development and evaluation issues regarding projects that are still in the planning and engineering phase but not yet in the construction phase. While he mentioned that planning projects for bypasses around Accident and Deep Creek Lake, along with improvements to the length of Route 219, especially north of Grantsville, all had a high priority, the discussion regarding a bypass for Oakland drew the most attention.

Oakland Bypass

Crozier said that representatives from the state highway administration will be coming to Garrett County this winter to present several proposed alternatives for the proposed route of an Oakland bypass. He reminded listeners that although the Oakland bypass has been d[illegible] for ma[illegible] 6.

McClintock Named Member Of Year By State Group

Donna McClintock, Accident, was recently named the 1997 Member of the Year for the Western Maryland area by the Maryland Classified Employees Association (MCEA), Maryland's largest independent labor union for state employees. Local Man Charged With Rape, False Imprisonment, Burglary

Charges of rape, burglary, and false imprisonment were filed this week against a Swanton man by Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry. The police report stated that the assault on the victim occurred Sept. 29, between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. at her residence in Garrett County.

Timothy D. Hare, 26, reportedly tied the 20-year-old victim in her home and raped her three times during the 12-hour period. Fearing the accused, the victim did not report the assault at the time, the police said.

Returning home from work on Oct. 15, the victim reportedly found Hare hiding in her bedroom closet. A neighbor called the police and Hare fled the scene, the report stated.

After two days of phone conversations with him, police said that Hare turned himself in, and was arrested and charged without further incident.

He was taken to the Garrett County Jail, where bond was set at $250,000.

Arrest Made For Heroin, Cocaine Possession, Theft

Multiple charges, including possession of cocaine, heroin, and paraphernalia, were filed against a Laurel man Monday by Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

Steve K. Crabill, 32, was reportedly driving on a suspended license when he was stopped after being clocked at 100 mph on I-68 about 2:30 p.m.

Crabill had stolen fuel from a station in West Virginia prior to being spotted on eastbound I-68 at Chestnut Ridge Road, Grantsville, police reported.

After stopping Crabill's van east of Green Lantern Road, the police searched the vehicle and found the drugs, paraphernalia, and stolen motor vehicle tags from Laurel.

Craybill was taken to Garrett County Jail and held on $1,000 bond.

Commissioners Sign Homeless Services Pact

The Garrett County Commissioners this week signed the Homeless Services Operating Agreement presented by Duane Yoder, director of the Community Action Committee, Inc. The agreement will help provide grant funding to meet emergency housing needs in the county. In discussions Tuesday at the commissioners' office, Yoder also noted emergency housing accomplishments made by Community Action over the past year.

Yoder's memorandum to the commissioners stated that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development administers several grant programs to meet emergency housing needs of local communities. The allocation of the funds is a competitive process, with grants being provided for the purpose of either preventing homelessness or further addressing the problems associated with homelessness. The money must go through local fiscal authorities (the commissioners).

Yoder said his agency has been able to obtain small grants over the past several years that have been used in concert with other housing money. Community Action has been the local administering agency.

"We have always taken the approach of trying to keep people from becoming homeless," he said.

Yoder explained that the state requires the county and whatever agency operates the programs to sign an agreement, and the commissioners did so. The proposed Homeless Services Agreement describes what Community Action will do with the Emergency Shelter Grant Program, Yoder said. In this particular case, the grant is for $2,500. While this is a relatively small amount of money, it is used in conjunction with grants from the Department of Human Resources and some of the rental assistant funds to help prevent families from becoming homeless.

From Oct. 1996 through Sept. 1997, Community Action saved 59 households from eviction with a one-time financial boost and counseling, 48 households were assisted in locating and moving into affordable permanent housing, three families who were displaced because of housing code violations were given assistance in identifying and moving into suitable affordable housing, and 17 households were provided with temporary shelter.

Yoder said the Homeless Services Operating Agreement will help tie the different resources together to continue serving persons in need of shelter.

Announced At Capitol

Garrett County Selected For National Child Care Initiative

Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., has been selected as one of five community development corporation partners nationwide to be selected to receive financial and technical assistance for expanding child care. This rural child care initiative was announced this morning at the U.S. Capitol.

Through this program Community Action will be able to build a $713,000 6,000 square foot facility to serve 50 children through a Head Start program. The new program will open 12 new jobs and offer full-day, year-round child care to enable parents to work.

Duane Yoder, executive director of Community Action, of which the Head Start program is a part, worked on behalf of Garrett County for inclusion in this national program. "We pursued this pretty vigorously," Yoder said in describing the application process.

He and several parents and children from the Head Start program, along with two staff members, traveled to Washington, D.C., for the announcement. They have also been invited to the White House, where a child care conference is being hosted by President and Mrs. Clinton.

Partners in the collaborative that made this funding possible include the U.S. Department of Agriculture/Rural Housing Service (RHS) Community Facilities Program, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)/Head Start Bureau, the Federal Housing Finance Board (FHFB), and the Federal Home Loan Bank System (FHLB).

[illegible] agencies have joined forces with the Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC), the nation's leading community development support organization, and the National Head Start Association (NHSA).

Private sector seed money for this initiative has been provided by Freddie Mac Foundation.

Assault, Intent To Murder; MSP Arrest Juvenile

A juvenile was arrested yesterday in Accident on various charges, including assault with intent to murder.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that a 17-year-old youth, at a party at a residence on Garrett Highway, was alleged to have become violent sometime between 2 and 5 a.m.

Police stated that during the incident the youth assaulted three or four people and stabbed his brother in the leg.

The youth was arrested at his home at 3 p.m. and charged with assault with intent to murder, reckless endangerment, four counts of assault, and two counts of destruction of property.

He is currently in the custody of Juvenile Services, Cumberland.

Expansion Seen For CAC/BOE Partnership

While touring the sites last week of houses being built by carpentry students at Southern High School through a partnership with Garrett County Community Action, Inc. (CAC), Duane Yoder, executive director of the agency, spoke of plans to expand that partnership.

Under the current relationship between CAC and the school's Career and Technology Education program, construction loans are arranged by CAC so the students can develop skills and experience in home building. When complete, the houses become available for purchase through the CAC first-time home buyers program.

Pleased with the partnership, Yoder spoke of his ideas for the future with the members of the Garrett County Board of Education and Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent, who were touring the sites with him.

CAC will be purchasing the High View Apartment complex in Oakland and rebuilding rental units. Yoder said the rental units [illegible] dated area than the current complex, leaving lots available for single family homes. Yoder would like to see the carpentry students build these homes.

He also referred to funding that would soon be available in Garrett County through a federal child care initiative. The funds applied for, he said, would be used to build a child care facility on the grounds of the complex. He outlined his plans for the partnership expansion in his application for funding. (See related story)

This part of the Garrett County application helped to swing the vote in the county's favor, Yoder explained. The partnership between CAC and the board of education will be instrumental in making child care programming possible.

Home Health Certification Gains Approval

The Garrett County Health Department's Home Health Agency received approval of its annual licensing and certification on Friday, Oct. 10.

Ms. Anne Piluk, R.N., B.S.N., Department of Licensing and Certification, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, complimented the local agency for its "outstanding survey review of home health care services," which includes skilled nursing, home health aides, physical therapy, speech therapy, and medical social worker.

Ms. Piluk spent three days making home visits with the nursing staff to various homes in the community and reviewing patient records, policies and procedures, and staff credentials.

At the exit interview attended by key home health staff and Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County health officer, Ms. Piluk stated she was "pleased with the commitment and dedication" provided by the Home Health staff and the "high quality of care" provided to clients as evidenced by home visits she made with staff members. She also remarked on the "devotion and care" that Garrett County families exhibited in order to keep their loved one in their own homes. She was "especially pleased" by the coordination of the care inter-referral system within the Home Care Services, which includes physicians, therapies, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Geriatric Evaluation Services, Personal Care, and other community agencies.

Linda Moe, R.N., director, stated that Home Care Services provide an important alternative to other more expensive types of health care and help the patients and their families remain as independent as possible. Dr. Archer praised the home health staff for their commitment and progress towards meeting the needs of the ill homebound in Garrett County.

Information regarding Home Care Services can be obtained by calling 301-334-8113 or 301-895-3112 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

National Home Care Month will be celebrated during November and Garrett County citizens with any questions are urged by Mrs. Moe to call the above phone number.

BOE Endorses GCHD Course On Sex Abstinence

At a special meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education last Thursday, members endorsed a plan for after-school training through the Garrett County Health Department that would focus on sex-abstinence. The training would target middle school students.

The concept was taken to the board for consideration through the school system's Health Education Advisory Committee, which is composed of parents and members of the community.

Kendra Todd, of the Community Health Education division at the health department, said that funds are being sought to provide this program on abstinence. "We have now applied for the grant. The board of education gave us a letter of support that all members signed and we sent that with our application," Todd said.

Dale Carpenter, president of the board of education, said the members appreciated the health department's cooperation and willingness to work with them on this issue, "I've looked at the program and I think it is the best that has been offered. I hope many will take advantage of it," he said.

The training program would be offered after regular school hours and would not be part of the school curriculum. Instructors for the program have not yet been identified.

"Our grant request included funding to hire an abstinence trainer," she explained. Response to the request is expected by the end of November, Todd said.

Downtown Oakland Halloween Parade Set For Oct. 30

The annual Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club Halkween Parade will be held Thursday, Oct. 30 at 6:30 p.m. in downtown Oakland. Participants will line up in front of the Mary Browning Senior Citizen Center on Center Street. The parade will begin forming at 6:15 and start promptly at 6:30.

The parade will proceed down Second Street, up Alder Street and then down Third Street to the fire hall. Everyone marching in the parade in costume will receive a prize with major winners receiving special prizes. Those marching in the parade may pick up their prizes at the fire hall. Parents are also invited to dress in costume for the parade. Last year approximately 500 prizes were donated by local businesses and individuals throughout southern Garrett County.

Everyone is invited to come to the fire hall after the parade where games, cake walks and food will be available for all ages. A raffle for a 20-inch color television will take place at the end of the evening.

The proceeds from this event will benefit the Oakland Fire Department. The parade is sponsored each year by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club.

More Flu Shot Clinics Slated

The Garrett County Health Department continues to offer influenza shots to local citizens throughout the county for a cost of $8. In addition, visitors to the flu clinics can receive the pneumococcal vaccine for the cost of $16. Anyone visiting the clinics for these services should be prepared to provide Medicare cards or Medicare replacement cards such as Optimum Choice Advantage card. Medicare replacement cards should be accompanied with a referral from a physician.

Scheduled clinics include: Monday, Oct. 27, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the Oakland American Legion; Wednesday, Oct. 29, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the Friendsville Senior Meal Site; Thursday, Oct. 30, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the Gorman Meal Site; Monday, Nov. 3, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the Oakland American Legion; Thursday, Nov. 6, 2 to 6 p.m., at the Grantsville Senior Meal Site; and Monday, Nov. 10, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the Oakland American Legion.

An annual influenza vaccine is recommended by the health department. The pneumococcal vaccine is usually given only once in a lifetime. However, a second dose could be given depending on certain medical conditions.

Anyone with questions concerning either vaccine being offered at the local clinics may contact the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-8111 or 301-895-3111.

Kathleen Yommer, First United Are Honored By BPW

The Grantsville Area Business and Professional Women (BPW) organization has announced that Kathleen M. Yommer has been named the Woman of the Year, and the Grantsville branch of the First United National Bank & Trust Company has been named the Employer of the Year. Ms. Yommer and bank representatives were guests of honor at a recent meeting of the group.

Ms. Yommer is a graduate of Grantsville High School and the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Cumberland. She is a retired registered nurse, having last worked at Lion's Manor Nursing Home in Cumberland. As staff nurse, she was responsible for medications and treatments for a number of residents and nursing assistants, and served as charge nurse every other weekend.

She previously worked at doctors' offices in Salisbury, Pa., and Grantsville, and at the Grantsville Health Center. She did private duty nursing at Frostburg and Cumberland hospitals, as well as at Meyersdale (Pa.) Hospital.

Her civic activities include membership in the Grantsville Area BPW, currently serving a second term as secretary; Mountain Chapter #15, Order of the Eastern Star and Daughters of the Nile. She attends Harvest Baptist Church. In volunteer work, she extends her help during Grantsville Days and visits the Goodwill Mennonite and Lion's Manor nursing homes.

During her employment at Lion's Manor, she helped and advised nursing assistants, encouraging them to earn a degree in nursing. She stated that she can visualize women becoming more and more prominent in the business world.

"Nothing is impossible for them today," she said. "With faith, education, determination, and hard work, you can accomplish any goal you have." She also asserted that women can contribute to their communities by speaking out and being active in community affairs.

She was presented with a corsage and plaque in recognition of the honor.

Accepting the plaque for First United were Sandra J. Wakefield, community office manager of the Grantsville branch of the bank, and Jeannette Rudy Fitzwater, representing the main office in Oakland.

Domestic Dispute Ends With Arrest Of Oakland Man

A domestic altercation that occurred last Wednesday, Oct. 15, resulted in the arrest of an Oakland man by Garrett County sheriff's deputies recently.

Jeromy Shawn Baker, 21, faces a charge of one count of second-degree assault after his alleged victim, with whom he resides at a Carlson Lane residence, reported the incident to the sheriff's office t[illegible] it occurred [illegible] degree assault. After his arrest by sheriff's deputies, Baker was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

In other sheriff's news, a burglary investigation has resulted in the arrest of one suspect. Roger Rudolph Foglepole, 46, Oakland, faces charges of second- and fourth-degree burglary and malicious destruction of property stemming from a burglary of Billy Bob's Bar on Hutton Road that occurred earlier this month. Foglepole is currently being held in the Garrett County Jail.

In recent thefts, three portable tree stands were taken from some trees in the Tanglewood Development sometime between Oct. 19 and 20. The hunting equipment was valued at $80 for the three stands. Also taken were 25 screw-in tree stand steps at a value of $3 each.

Finally, Tressler's Garage on Old Crellin Road was the scene of a second burglary this month. Suspect(s) broke into the business sometime between the evening of Oct. 17 and 8:30 the next morning. An undetermined amount of cash was taken from the cash register.

Any citizen with information on these incidents, or any other criminal activity that may be of interest to law enforcement authorities, is encouraged to call the Crime Solvers number at 301-334-1975.

Chapter 76 is composed of employees in a variety of lines of work. "Our chapter is large and diverse. It includes, not only health department workers, but also some from DNR and the courthouse," she explained.

Helping people with a broad range of questions must be done with consideration and deliberation. "It is challenging for me. I can't just think in terms of health department problems, I must think in terms of employees in general," she said.

In her role as president of her chapter of MCEA, McClintock described her efforts. "I help people get fair and equitable treatment. I try to funnel them to the correct people and the correct places to get the information they need," she said.

Norma Bolding, director of nursing at the health department and McClintock's supervisor, appreciates her efforts and achievements. "Donna is an asset to the department and is very professional in her duties. She is a conscientious, caring person, who is involved in many support groups throughout the county. She has worked hard for MCEA Chapter 76 and this is an honor well deserved," Bolding said.

McClintock serves as chair of the Garrett County AIDS Council, co-leader of the Alzheimer's Support Group, and vice present of Garrett County Business and Professional Women.

found Monday and the office was re-opened.

The varnish used in the treatment of the hallways was a commercially available product that required no special application procedures, according to the report. Archer said there is no reason to believe that the air quality in the facility is any different now than prior to the application of the fire retardant. There was no order from MOSHA to close the facility at any time, although other published reports contended that there had been.

Allen To Be Guest Speaker At GLAF Mtg.

Philip Allen, the dean of Frostburg State University's school of arts and humanities, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF). The meeting is set for Monday, Oct. 27, in the Bausch & Lomb art gallery at Garrett Community College. It will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Allen graduated with highest honors from Swarthmore College and holds a doctorate from the Graduate Institute of the Liberal Arts at Emory University. His dissertation addressed the sociology of the arts in America.

After a career in the United States Foreign Service and with the African American Institute, Allen turned to teaching. He spent 17 years in the Vermont State Colleges system before coming to Frostburg in 1987 as the arts and humanities school dean. This school has seven departments and a dozen major programs, including a unique bachelor of fine arts (BFA) degree in art and design, strong programs in mass communication and theatre, and a music department that Allen said has for generations supplied fine teachers of music for Maryland's schools. FSU's Performing Arts Center opened in 1994, and with that facility came the organization of "Arts Alive!" -- a consortium of arts producers and presenters, which includes GLAF as well as GCC.

Allen was instrumental in the creation of the Cumberland Theatre in 1987. He remains on the theatre's board, is a member of the board and executive committee of Maryland Citizens for the Arts, chairs the Performing Arts panel for the Maryland Celebration of the Arts 1997-98, is on the Access and Equity Committee of the Governor's Information Technology Board, and the advisory board of public radio station WFWM. He also administers the Maryland Arts Camp West, a personal development camp that includes Garrett County middle school students.

He is the author of four books -- the latest of which examines the Indian Ocean island of Madagascar -- and numerous articles, book reviews, and other writings.

At the meeting, new members of the GLAF board of directors will be elected. The 1997 season will be reviewed and the 1998 season will be previewed, according to Fred Stemple, GLAF executive director. The public is invited to attend the event.

After-School Programs Set For GC Youth

After-school programs for Garrett County youth have been developed jointly by three county agencies and Garrett County schools, and sponsored by AmeriCorps, the national service initiative.

The Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. (CAC), the Garrett County Health Department, and the Garrett County Department of Social Services (DSS) have formed a cluster to provide an after-school youth-support program. AmeriCorps members working at each agency will coordinate efforts at three county sites.

Sandy Sutton will spear head the program at Southern Middle School. A second year member of the AmeriCorps service team, she worked with an after-school program started in the school last year.

Sutton described her program as multi-faceted. "It is a four-point program offering recreation, service learning opportunities, tutoring, and prevention training," she said. These components will be available on a rotating schedule.

DSS has offered services in mentoring for youth through AmeriCorps for the last two years. Dana Mason will now coordinate the DSS after-school program at Northern Middle School. Like their Southern Middle School counterparts, students at NMS will attend sessions and activities to increase study skills, interpersonal skills, health, and recreation.

Using the Grantsville Senior Center, the AmeriCorps member from CAC will provide after-school activities for children grades fourth-eighth. Linda Green of CAC, who helped to develop the new program, said the response has been excellent. "I was a bit leery at first. Now I'm very excited about it. We've had an excellent response from Grantsville Elementary," she said.

Transportation to the site from Grantsville Elementary School will be provided free of charge by CAC's transportation department.

AmeriCorps's Garrett County after-school programs were developed in accord with two state programs. MASCOTS (Maryland After School Safe Communities Through Service) and SASA (Service and After School Activities) are state-wide programs focused on improving the quality of life for children during the out-of-school hours.

A grant of $59,000 from the Maryland Service Funding Collaborative to A Star! in Western Maryland, the AmeriCorps branch serving Garrett and Allegany counties, made the after-school programming possible.

Bloodmobile Nets 179 Units At Friday Visit

The Oakland Armory was visited by 205 people Friday, who were heeding the call by the American Red Cross to donate blood. From those donors the Red Cross was able to collect 179 productive units of blood.

"We had the largest turnout of the year and were very pleased with the community response to the shortages we are currently experiencing," stated a local representative.

Four people joined the ranks of donors for the first time. They were Christy Eggleston and Dana Stallard, both of Mountain Lake Park, Kristi Coddington-Durst, Oakland, and Diana O'Brien, Swanton.

Many personal milestones were reached. Those donating for the eighth time to reach the one-gallon mark were: Jo Donaldson, Deer Park; Harriet Johnson, Kitzmiller; Jason Miller, Swanton; Donna Nordeck, Oakland; and Darius D. Paugh, Elk Garden, W.Va. The two-gallon milestone was reached by Steve Hinton, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va.; Gail K. Hixon, Gail Shope, Tim Taylor, and Steve Wolf, all of Oakland; Jason Rush, McHenry; and Ardra Sharpless, Mountain Lake Park.

Barb Sweitzer, Oakland, topped the three-gallon mark, while Lois Carla Schrock and Tilden H. Wilt, Oakland, reached the four-gallon milestone. The five-gallon mark was reached by John E. Forrester, Swanton, and Frannie Kauffman and Wilma Petersheim, Oakland. A. Louise Gordon, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., topped the six-gallon mark. The eight-gallon mark was reached by Mary Friend, Swanton.

Top donor for Friday's bloodmobile was Don Sincell, Mountain Lake Park, who donated for the 72nd time to reach the nine-gallon mark.

"The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross would like to thank the Oakland Masonic Lodge for sponsoring the canteen for our bloodmobile," stated Elizabeth Huxford, Blood Services chairman. "For such a small chapter, every penny, every volunteer, and every donor is very dear. We are here for our community, and without everyone's support that just wouldn't be possible." Also donating for the canteen was Cumberland Coca-Cola, which provided sodas.

Returning to staff the canteen were the members of the Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club which included: Clera Anderson, Kathy Edwards, Mari Funk, Elen Harbath, Jacki Johnson, Marie McCarty, Shirley Panther, Nina Roberts, Sue Shockey, and Linda Wieland. Greeters were Artie Dixon and Rosalie Baker. Registration was covered by Barb Sweitzer and Elizabeth Huxford. Anne Forrester and Jonathan Wildesen were walkers.

The next local visit of the bloodmobile will be held next Monday, Oct. 27, at the Kitzmiller fire hall. "We urge everyone who could not make it to Oakland to please join us in saving lives by donating at Kitzmiller on Monday," stated Huxford. "The blood supplies have been down for quite some time and the only way to bring them back up to an acceptable level is to bring our donors back to the bloodmobiles. We want to make sure that if and when the time comes, the blood will be there to save our friends, our neighbors, and our family members. We can't always prevent the need for blood, but we can prepare for it."

To be eligible to give blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds, and be in generally good health. Normally, individuals can give blood every 56 days.

To further ease the donation process and help maintain accurate donation records, the Red Cross encourages individuals to bring their Red Cross donor card, driver's license, or other positive identification with them when they give blood. Individuals with specific questions may contact the Red Cross toll-free at 1-800-54BLOOD.

Police reported that about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday a 1996 Chevrolet van driven by an unknown suspect was northbound on Route 42 near Hoyes Road. The vehicle went off the shoulder of the road, striking a C&P pole. The van then reportedly overturned and came to rest on the driver's side. The driver fled the scene.

A search of the area was conducted using Trooper 5, the state police helicopter. Area hospitals were contacted, but the driver was not located.

Investigation continues.

Sue Rohrbough Earns Employee Award At GCMH

Nursing administration secretary Sue Rohrbough received Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Employees' Choice Award for the month of October.

A 15-year employee of the hospital, Rohrbough began her career at Garrett Memorial as a unit secretary before joining the nursing administration department in 1990. Certified as a health unit coordinator, Rohrbough is primarily responsible for providing support to the department's nursing director, nurse managers, and cardiac rehabilitation nurse.

"As we strive to increase our resourcefulness, to 'do more with less,' Sue is always ready to face new challenges," said Joyce Andrews, RN, Garrett Memorial's director of nursing. "She constantly takes on new responsibilities, which at times can be overwhelming. However, Sue does this only in a professional, efficient, and caring manner. She is a tremendous asset to the hospital's nursing administration department."

Rohrbough resides in Terra Alta, W.Va., with husband Jim and two children, Brandon and Kristi, while her son David is married and lives in Aurora. She serves as the assistant youth group leader at the First United Methodist Church in Terra Alta.

Kudos for Yoder...

It's no secret that our government, at nearly every level, has its fair share of employees who reap relatively large salaries for relatively little effort. Government is much different from the business world, in that the incentive to do a good job in order to remain solvent is often lacking. And it's usually this kind of employee who gets most of the press, who is the focus of the various evening news magazine programs, and who infuriates the taxpaying public.

We wish to use this column, however, to cite a local example on the other end of that spectrum, and to extend to him our appreciation for doing such outstanding work for our community. He is Duane Yoder, executive director of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc.

Yoder is a guest of President and Mrs. Clinton at the White House today because, through his vigorous efforts, his agency is one of but five in the nation to be selected to receive federal funds for construction of a new, 6,000-square-foot Head Start facility that will create a dozen jobs and provide day care for 50 children. Besides creating jobs, the facility will also help the parents of the children to get off the welfare rolls, and it will integrate local high school students, providing them with valuable, hands-on training in the care of children.

This is only one example of the untiring efforts of Yoder. His agency has also integrated high school vocational students into the construction of housing units, it has created an after-school program of activities for local middle and elementary school students, complete with transportation, it has provided numerous services and housing for our senior citizens, it has saved 59 local families from being evicted with one-time financial help and counseling, it has helped relocate and move 48 other families into affordable permanent housing, it was a key player in the Glade West housing project that replaced Bradley Manor,...the list could go on and on.

The primary reason Yoder has been so successful, beyond his hard work and intelligence, is his character as a human being. He was reared with an indelible set of solid values that are so obvious in the way he does his job. He is a caring person, he is direct and honest, he is determined, he has a positive, proactive attitude, and perhaps most importantly, he is humble. This column will no doubt cause his face to redden, and he will quickly point out that all of CAC's work is a team effort, with many people deserving praise.

We agree with that assessment, but also note that for any team to be successful, there must be an energetic, competent captain at the top. Our community is fortunate to have such a leader at the helm of the CAC.

HALLOWEENX

by Mary Sincell McEwen

Hey, you mommies -- if you're due to have your kid in late October, try your best to talk your doctor out of inducing labor on Halloween. Three years ago I was in your spot. And, yeah, it seemed like a good idea at the time -- I was a little overdue and in sort of non-committal labor, the baby was enormous, and, of course, I hadn't been able to tie my own shoes for about eight weeks. (It was also to be a VBAC, which I'm not about to explain to those of you who don't already know what that is.) So October 31st it was, and our 9-pound, 13-ounce son arrived at about 4:35 p.m. I distinctly remember Dr. Schwalm catching the squirming thing and announcing "It's a boy!" and then after a slight pause: "A big boy." I have always said that people in the hospital probably thought the staff was providing some very realistic sound effects for the holiday, being broadcast straight from the OB department. Yikes.

Now Alex's third birthday is on the horizon and this little guy is quite confused about Halloween and all it entails. What a mess. I keep thinking of Charles Schultz's "Peanuts" Halloween cartoon about Linus and his faithful belief in The Great Pumpkin. In an interview, Schultz said Linus is basically somewhat delusional, having confused Christmas and Santa Claus with the October holiday. Kind of pathetic. So now comes Alex, who is even more muddled, because he, too, gets Halloween slightly mixed up with Christmas, and now added to the mix is his very own birthday. Holy moly.

Now, I do enjoy Halloween. I have always enjoyed the silliness of it, the wacky evening of feigned macabre fun. And that's all it is, as far as I'm concerned -- it's just fun. (So don't be writing me any letters about how evil it is, please. They will go unheeded.) I have great memories of walking through Mountain Lake Park with my sister, both of us dressed in some goofy costumes, stopping at house after house where they just handed candy out like . . . like it was candy. The combination of bunches of wrapped sweets all piled together in a brown paper bag creates a distinct aroma that can, to this day, make me recall those dark autumn treks that brought such amazing booty. And this was, of course, before all that razor-blade-in-the-apples business when everyone got panicky and stopped letting kids be out at night. It only takes a few crazed maniacal killers to ruin a good tradition.

But getting back to Alexander. He already deals with the infamous family position of the Middle Child. This is supposed to be a very difficult position to hold, competing with both the older boy, Robert, who is a soccer player and kindergartner, as well as baby Michael, who is monosyllabic and bald. Alex copes fairly well, although he makes extreme efforts to never allow Rob to finish a sentence, usually interrupting him by screaming out some non-related item, hke "Hey!! I'm gonna wear a blue shirt and play soccer and you're going to say, 'Go, Alex Eli,' aren't you, Mom?" His interruptions of Michael's attempts to communicate consist chiefly of full body checks. In general, he probably gets in the most trouble right now, simply unable to stop doing something even when I'm looking directly in his eyes and telling him no. "Don't throw that, Alex," I'll say as he holds a hard, potentially hazardous object aloft. He looks back at me for a second and then apparently gets shocked by an internal cattle prod, which causes him to wing it.

Anyhow, Halloween-Alexmas is approaching and the boy's confusion is growing. He has taken to telling John and me that his "Halloween friends" are coming. He tells me to go to the door and answer it because his Halloween friends are there. "They're wearing masks and they have presents for me," he eagerly explains, his blue eyes wide. When he sees the decorations of jack-o-lanterns and straw people, he exclaims, "Hey! I see pumpkins! And guys! And it's for my birfday! Yay!"

He also hkes to list off what he and his brothers are going to be for Halloween: "I'm gonna be Wolverine (which is an amazing costume sewn by John's amazing mother Alice), Rob's gonna be a Power Ranger, and Michael's gonna be a clown," he says proudly. "And it's gonna be my birfday." He's right, of course, but I have to wonder if he thinks the whole country is going orange just for him. I suppose that's okay for a 3-year-old to assume. Maybe it offsets some of that alleged Middle Kid trauma.

At any rate, Halloween is a changed holiday for me, that's for certain. It now represents a great day at Garrett Memorial where I worked hard, with John beside me, to bring Alex here. And he has been a fine addition to our lives, no doubt about it. Smart, dexterous, affectionate, and risk-taking -- the only son yet to get stitches in his face. I suppose Halloween could actually be an appropriate day to celebrate his birth, with all its craziness and controversy. To be truthful, the boys and their diverse idiosyncrasies often inspire me to celebrate their births every day -- minus the occasional urges to sell them, cheap. (Just kidding, Social Services!)

Happy Birthday to you, Alex, my little pumpkin. (Ooh, is he ever going to love this when he's about 16. I think I'll show it to his first girlfriend. Heh-heh.)

To the Editor:

The ultimate responsibility and power to protect the health, welfare and economic well being of the residents of Garrett County rests on the shoulders of the three county commissioners. The acceptance of this responsibility by the commissioners at their meeting on October 7th is highly gratifying. I refer to their taking the first and necessary step to ascertain whether Mr. Beitzel of the Sanitary District, Mr. Nelson, director of Planning and Zoning, and the Health Department have been parties to the issuance of water and sewer applications, taps and permits for the Funny Farm gas station in direct desecration of numerous plain and explicit guidelines contained in the Comprehensive Plan, permit applications, and numerous Maryland statutes. The step taken was the request by the commissioners to the county attorney for a review of the conduct of these officials and the legality of approvals and these permits. The only justification for their actions is when the Comprehensive Plan is amended to accommodate Mr. Spear's project.

The specific law concerning public notice and hearing is Environment Article 3.07. The plain language of this law can be accessed via the Internet at http://mlis.-state.md.us...b_qu_cy32.-exe?g66b&3.07. Other environment articles of interest are 9.511, 9.506, 9.505. A search of Planning and Zoning articles at that web site also reveals many related statutes such as Article 3.06.

The claim of Mr. Gilbert at the commission meeting that a hearing on the tap issuance had been held by the Garrett County Sanitary District (G.C.S.D.) is absurd and of no import. The sole power to amend the Comprehensive Plan and Water and Sewer Plan is initially placed in the hands of the Garrett County Planning Commission, which can only act after a public hearing on sixty days' notice to all involved, including the State, and local jurisdictions with ownership responsibility and liability, maintenance, and financial responsibility for this necessary public improvement. In addition, the public must be informed of the proposed amendment via detailed notice to the newspaper that specifically describes the change via maps, text, etc.

After the hearing, and before the county commissioners can adopt the amendment, the Planning Commission must certify that this amendment is consistent under the State Environmental Code with the Friendsville Plan, the County Plan, and the Maryland Planning Act of 1992 and annotations, especially Article 66.B. The proposed amendment must also be submitted to the Department of the Environment for review and approval.

Consistency will be hard to obtain. The project lies outside the designated growth area. The site is on the banks of Minnow Creek in an obvious special water resource area and drinking water supply, a designated trout stream, and portions of the site lie in floodplains, with soil types prone to flooding. The lot is shallow and poorly suited to interchange development a outlined in the plan, and the sad financial shape of our waste water treatment plant, as well as its capacity problems (no allocation), will make it hard to justify giving capacity away to what is obviously sprawl development into a group of farms located in a rural area. Specific language in the Friendsville Plan clearly advocated "protection of the town center businesses"; it does not plan for this extension, and treatment capacity is supposed to be protected for future growth.

It will be interesting to see what claims are made, and what "misunderstandings" are assumed by the local and state officials who are most entrusted with guiding and protecting the sensible and planned growth of our state and county. How many times in the past have county projects and utihty extensions been "approved" and installed without our knowledge and without hearings and required planning review?

We have a voice by law. We must have the courage to stand up and consider the greater good of all if we ever hope to have a future we can be proud of.

Sincerely,
Crede Calhoun
Friendsville

To the Editor:

A few weeks ago David and Irene Eyer along with the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival treated approximately 100 Garrett County high school students and their chaperones to a riveting production of the ballet Dracula. Through this dazzling experience, my students gained an incredible amount of cultural enlightenment and appreciation for the athletics as well as the aesthetics of ballet. In addition to the presentation, our hosts arranged for a tour of the Benedum Center, which left all of us agog.

Mr. and Mrs. Eyer and GLAF, I extend a wholehearted thanks to you for purchasing our tickets. Without your generosity, several of my students would not have been able to attend this powerful and beautiful presentation. Many of them intend to experience more ballet in their future because of the joyful day we spent in Pittsburgh. I will never forget their gasps of delight when Dracula flew into his cave, and I will cherish the memories of my students' faces when they looked up into the auditorium from the front of the stage. Thank you for caring; you have enriched our lives.

Sincerely yours,
Jane Avery
Instructor of Theatre Arts

To the Editor:

The week of October 19-25, 1997 has been proclaimed as National School Bus Safety Week. I would appreciate you sharing this information with your readers.

In Garrett County, we have over 78 school buses transporting more than 5,000 students to and from school each day. Our buses travel almost 1 million miles a year. Our Garrett County bus drivers are doing a super job, with safety being their main objective. The bus drivers need the cooperation of the motoring public to make their job a little easier.

We would ask the citizens to exercise courtesy and caution when they are approaching a school bus. In Garrett County we use an 8-light school bus warning system. These lights are located on the front and back of the buses near the top. The lights are used to warn the public what the bus is going to do. When the bus is approaching a loading or unloading area they use the amber lights, which mean caution, meaning for the public to slow down, preparing to stop. The red lights are flashing when the bus has come to a complete stop and opened the door for the children to load or unload. The stop arm on the left side of the bus is activated at this time.

Motorists are required to stop at least 20 feet from a stopped school bus that is displaying flashing red lights and stop arm.

There is another procedure that is used on heavily traveled state routes. This procedure is called off-road loading/unloading. This is only used when the shoulder is paved and 8 feet wide, and the bus can get completely off the traveled portion of the highway. When using this procedure the driver picks up or discharges children that live on that side of the road only. The only lights that are used in this procedure are the turn signals. This allows the traffic to continue to flow, but please use caution.

Our most common complaint is motorists violating the school bus stop law. This is a very dangerous situation for the children.

Current Maryland Motor Vehicle law allows a maximum penalty of 2 points and a $500.00 fine for passing a stopped school bus.

The transportation department wants to thank the motoring public for their help and cooperation in making this an accident free year.

Thank you!

Sincerely,
Barbara Shaffer
Driver Instructor

To the Editor:

Let us consider Garrett County's future wealth and well-being vis-a-vis interstates and so on.

1-81 bisects Maryland a hundred miles east of here. It is a north/south route to and from Canada. It runs about a thousand miles between Fisher's Landing, New York, and its southern end at US Route 40 about 40 miles east of Knoxville, Tennessee. It's been there long enough for economic development patterns to be clear. I-81's path is less subject to weather calamities than an interstate through here would be.

From top to bottom almost all economic growth along 1-81 that can be called exceptional has occurred within fifty miles of million plus population

"HEAVENLY FEASTS"

Food and spirituality have been connected since creation. Adam and Eve could eat everything except the fruit of one tree. Eating everything else was an expression of their right relationship with God. Eating that one thing expressed their wrong relationship with God.

Every religious tradition I know of gives expression to its spirituality through food. Sometimes the connection is all encompassing, as with the kosher dietary laws of the orthodox Jews. Sometimes it is as informal as a church covered dish supper.

A spate of books has been published in the last few years which combine the two themes of spirituality and food, one of which is Heavenly Feasts by Marcia M. Kelly (published by Bell Tower, 1996, $16).

Marcia Kelly and her husband visited 250 monasteries, abbeys, and retreats all across America, which resulted in a guide to those houses of religion, a second book of table graces, and now this cookbook.

Mrs. Kelly touches down on a few places that have been important in my own spiritual journey. The book begins with an anecdote and some recipes from the All Saints' Episcopal Convent in Catonsville, Md., which I have visited and which houses some of the prettiest, most charming, and erudite nuns I have ever met.

There is also the Friends Retreat Center of Pendle Hill in Wallingford, Pa., where I spent a weekend during my seminary days. While I never visited Gethsemani Abbey in Kentucky, it is important to me as it is to so many others because it was the home of Thomas Merton, whose writings have shaped not only persons but also important elements in our society.

The book is organized according to monasteries and according to meals. So this is not just a book of recipes, rather of religious menus, with the recipes to back up the menus. The effect includes the reader in the life of the religious house for that meal--that is, if the reader is also a cook.

One can recreate the "Traditional New Year's Dinner" of the Holy Name Monastery in St. Leo, Fla., and the nightly supper laid on for the formerly homeless by the brothers of St. Francis Friends of the Poor in New York City.

Some of the recipes are produced by full-time cooks, even chefs, and they are interesting recipes, but the least useful. In religious houses the cooks are brothers or sisters who have a hundred other things to do: household and garden chores, administrative duties, works of mercy, parish, school and hospital responsibilities, and--most importantly--prayer. They have to work in cooking amongst everything else.

They also know that, like armies, religious houses march on their stomachs, so the food has to be above par. The result, in my experience, is food that is as interesting as it is simple. That is true of the best recipes in this book.

I made two chicken dishes, chicken and potatoes from St. Francis Friends of the Poor, which filled the house with wonderful fragrances before it filled our mouths and bellies, and oven-baked southern chicken from Visitation Monastery in Mobile, Ala., a dish that could not be simpler and also could not be improved.

The buttermilk biscuits from the St. Christopher Conference Center in Charleston, S.C., (from the "Annual Clergy Conference Brunch" menu) may or may not be the best biscuits I have ever made, but the difference wouldn't be worth quibbling over.

I like to cook from this book, if perhaps selectively, and let the cooking evoke the places from which the menus come, smelling the smells not only of the food, but also of the men and women who make and eat it in daily service to God.

Senior Citizens' Menus

Garrett County, Maryland

While heartily enjoying our Autumn Glory Parade, it brought to mind the many times I have observed this ritual in many other small towns. A parade always brings back memories of my childhood, (I did most of my accountable growing up in the 1950s), when times were different. The following is just one such observation that contrasts these differing times.

BALL CAPS
by John McLaughlin

When at the parade two Saturdays past,
I saw on most men at the height of their mast
The ubiquitous ball cap - all colors and hues
Spouting messages, ads, and places with views.

I think that a ball cap, once it gets tossed
On the head of a man, just seems to get lost;
What once was just cover for sun and for cold
Now seems attached to both young and to old.

We see it in restaurants when sitting to dine;
Maybe some gentlemen think it looks fine.
But something is lost when the cover stays on:
It wasn't that way in times not so long gone.

I was taught that a hat is something you wear
When you are outside - and only out there!
That when you come in, it's removed at the door;
And on other occasions - we all knew what for.

When I was a child my dad taught me true
That many young men under Red, White, and Blue
Died for that flag and the land that they made,
So that we in blest freedom could watch a parade.

As I watched the parade, I knew there were men
Who had fought for our country on foreign soil when
It was good to stand up for those things that are right;
Whose hearts stirred at the sight of those colors so bright.

So why on an equally bright Saturday
Did men's caps not come off when our flag came their way?
Most not even stood to give their respect
To that symbol of freedom it still does reflect.

Have we had it too good for too long, and at last
Those values respected are things of the past?
A return to those ways I know many would like -
Like respect for our flag with its colors still bright.

The younger ones learn by example the best.
Take a look at yourself - do you pass the test?
Let's stand at attention and cover our hearts
With those caps for our flag - at least that's a start.

centers. Hagerstown is a perfect example of that. An example of a small rural city that was prosperous and then continued to prosper less spectacularly after I-81 was built is Harrisonburg, Virginia. The area has not grown as much as rural Hagerstown did, although the schools are as good and the work force is as dependable. The main difference is that Hagerstown is closer to the megalopolis.

Let's use North Carolina as a different kind of bench mark. Essentially a rural state, its native populations of rednecked longhairs and Bible thumpers are similar to ours, and like here, it is increasingly populated by fiftyish exurbanites living on government pensions averaging more than the average earned wages of indigenous working class people. In other words, few from here would be traumatized by culture shock if they suddenly found themselves in North Carolina.

Anyone taking the time to index 1990 census figures with Sales and Marketing Management's 1997 Survey of Buying Power can verify that altnough Maryland household income for 1990 averaged over $10,000 more than North Carolina household income, Maryland households did not have $10,000 more buying power. By the year 2001, North Carolina households are projected to spend $31,050 at retail versus $27,652 for Maryland households DESPITE a projected continuance of the $10,000 higher income for Maryland households. Maryland's taxes and other essential costs-of-living eat up the difference.

Maryland has a lot of baggage that businesses consider before moving here. Rated as a "Tax Hell" by Taxpayers Action Network and having the most pervasive and intrusive state regulatory systems in the nation, for example. Garrett County adds to that baggage by offering: 1) the highest property tax rate in Maryland and probably in the Appalachian mid-Atlantic; 2) punishing building codes seen in no other equally rural areas; 3) a history of "inadvertent" corruption; and 4) twenty-five years of reactive leadership in both civil and educational development (translation: no competent public planning by elected officials observed here in a generation).

Don't get depressed; I found some bright spots. The Regional Review of economic growth for fall, 1997, published by Frostburg State University, reports that Garrett County is competitive on every basis in the FSC RR Index. Garrett County's Commerce index (CCI) is significantly higher than the CI of any other subdivision in the area. Garrett County and Salisbury, Maryland, are the only subdivisions surveyed in which the Government Support Index is moving in the right direction (down) while the Education Index and the Overall Prosperity Indexes are moving up. Any person or group moving a business is going to consider Garrett County if this region fits other parameters.

We can pretty much cut the crap about "Don't expect ... to bring jobs if we don't get the interstate." Setting the stage for failure is pretty lame, amigo. Our business community is already growing at a faster rate than any of our neighbors, including those with lower taxes. A substantial number of business people are competent to determine which trade-offs are going to work for them in business location mode. If one parameter is maximizing disposable income, we could have three interstates and it wouldn't help. if an equal parameter is having access to D.C. but not suffering the stench of it all the time, we're back on the grid.

My money says this county is going to grow in a more positive social direction without any more interstates. I do not believe any of today's or tomorrow's local young people are going to suffer if International Route 219 ends as a whimsical glimmer in Bud "Shyster's" beady eyes. While I respect those who want a new interstate, their faith is the triumph of hope over experience. Wishing is not productive, but not all actions produce desirable results. I'll close by relating part of what my maternal grandfather once told me about the relationship between hope and experience and desirable results: "If you wish in one hand, and dip your other hand in the manure spreader, it is important to remember which one got filled up first and with what."

Sincerely,
W.L. Welch

Editor's Note: The writer of the following letter to Conservative Action for a Rural Environment (C.A.R.E.) asked to have it published in this column.

An Open Letter to the Members of C.A.R.E.

In one of your early communiqués, you indicated that instead of the kinds of businesses dependent on a north-south interstate, C.A.R.E. would rather see the county attract computer-based businesses. Context information Systems, Ltd. is a computer-based business - one that promotes the telecommuting concept. I assume, therefore, that we are the kind of business that you claim to desire.

We, at Context, agree wholeheartedly with your objective of protecting the natural attractions of the county. Garrett County's beauty was one of the reasons we relocated here. We would ask, however, that you explain the "natural attractions" of sharing a crowded and inadequate Rt. 219 with tractor-trailers through the Lake area. We would also ask that you point out the quaint charms that come with high unemployment in a rural area.

Will a new north-south interstate automatically remove all of the trucks from 219 in McHenry? Will it pay for the property improvements and upgrades that come with full employment? No, not in and of itself But it will remove one of the major hindrances to attracting new businesses to Garrett County, that of a poor transportation infrastructure. And that will lead to increased probabilities of attracting a vibrant business community that in turn will build the telecommunications infrastructure that will allow a viable technology community to develop which in turn will assure the citizens of Garrett County of an economically and ecologically sound future, above and beyond selling the family farm to part-time residents in order to pay the bills.

Despite the desire for easy answers and the appeal of single-purpose agendas, the plotting of the future course of Garrett County will not be easy. Nor is it a subject suitable for irrational emotional appeals, but, rather, it should be a topic for concerned and informed discussion. My question to C.A.R.E. is: Who's going to pay for your vision of a magical transfer nation of Garrett County into a low-impact, high-tech community?

Will blocking the interstate guarantee the protection of Garrett County's natural resources and ecology? Maybe. But maybe it will destroy them if the inability to attract low-impact business causes the county to turn to resource exploitive industries to secure employment for its citizens. Can the county expect high-tech companies dependent on high-speed telecommunications to locate here if access charges are higher than other areas with sufficient business presence to support local switching facilities? Maybe. But what financial incentives or costs will the county's citizens have to fund through increased personal taxes?

A case in point: Context employs, directly and indirectly, the services of over 30 computer programmers working in specialized fields of the computer sciences - not one of whom is available, at present - in Garrett County. We have imaging and encryption specialists, database specialists and document management specialists, graphics interface specialists and network protocol specialists. Note that they are contract workers. I cannot (as a start-up) support them full time. I will never be able to justify all of their specialized services on a full time basis.

Would I like to have all 30 of those people nearby? Yes. Would I like to see their tax dollars being spent in Garrett County? Yes. Would I like to see them spending their considerable earnings in Garrett County? Yes. But not one of them will consider moving here from the Cascade Peninsula, or the South Coast of Australia, or the Gulf Coast of Florida unless and until there is sufficient local demand for their talents to assure them and their families of continued full-time employment at above average earnings.

Not one of them can be replaced by a Garrett County resident at even a fraction of their incomes unless and until that resident has the education and training to fill the position. And our educational institutions cannot and will not expend the time, money, and effort to provide that training and education until there is sufficient broad-based demand to justify it.

We are dependent on the availability of Internet service through G.R.I.C. to communicate with our specialists and our customers, but will soon face a competitive disadvantage unless we are able to obtain true, high-speed, broadband data communications services at a reasonable access cost. Currently, the closest phone company, Point-of Presence, is in Hagerstown, a distance cost that is unthinkable in a competitive industry. Without an adequate and growing commercial and industrial demand, the phone companies will not install advanced DS-I, DS-3 or ATM central communications facilities in the county. The cable companies will not upgrade their services to include data channels, nor will the satellite operators consider the installation of ground stations necessary to support high-speed data transmission. Without those, or similar, telecommunications services, the odds of this county ever having the ability to support the kind of successful computer and software technology community necessary to make a significant economic impact are between slim and nil.

Why did Microsoft locate in Bellingham? Because Boeing had already created enougn demand for software talent and telecommunications infrastructure that existed before Microsoft arrived. Why did Hewlett-Packard and Intel locate in Silicon Valley? Because there were sufficient existing facilities and the trained personnel that they required (because of the demands of the nearby existing aerospace industry) to allow them to draw on those facilities without funding their creation. Why did IBM relocate its PC R&D facilities from Boca Raton to North Carolina? Because the short-sighted policies of the city fathers in Boca Raton precluded the development of a self-supporting industrial-technological community like the one that grew at Research Triangle Park.

Can Garrett County grow out of its climate-dependent, low-wage, resource- and tourism- based economy? Yes. Can it do it with only technology-based companies? No. Can it build and pay for the requisite telecommunications infrastructure for an information age business community without a viable commercial-industrial base? No. Can it attract and retain a

RUTH A. TICE

Ruth Amelia Tice, 72, Grantsville, died Friday, Oct. 17, 1997, at Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville, where she had been a resident for seven and one-half years.

Born April 11, 1925, in Meyersdale, Pa., she was a daughter of Martha Naomi (Maust) Yoder, Grantsville, and the late Alvin H. Yoder. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Raymond J. Tice, on Oct. 15, 1989, and one son, Joseph Arlin Tice.

She was a member of the Maple Glen Mennonite Church and the Maple Glen Sewing Circle.

Survivors include one son, Daniel Tice, Dover, Del.; three daughters, Elaine Yoder, Accident, Doris Lichty, Grantsville, and Carol Heagy, Lebanon, Pa.; six brothers, Clark Yoder, Salisbury, Pa., Kenneth Yoder, Roman Yoder, Ezra Yoder, and James Yoder, all of Grantsville, and Mark Yoder, Berlin, Pa.; three sisters, Cora Ann Yoder, Salisbury, and Ellen Yoder and Mary Opel, both of Grantsville; 17 grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville. A service was conducted at the Maple Glen Mennonite Church on Sunday, Oct. 19, with the Rev. Ivan Maust, the Rev. Phil Moser, and the Rev. Dave Yoder officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery.

ANNA P. LICHTY

Anna Pauline Lichty, 84, Salisbury, Pa., died Monday, Oct. 20, 1997, at Meyersdale (Pa.) Medical Center.

Born May 6, 1913, in Boynton, Pa., she was a daughter of the late Elmer and Carrie (Engle) Vought. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Ira Lichty, in 1980; two brothers, Ralph Vought and Sam Vought; and a sister, Margaret Schrock.

She was a member of St. John's United Church of Christ, Salisbury, and the American Legion auxiliary.

Survivors include four sons, Ira Lichty Jr., Richard L. Lichty, and Rodney D. Lichty, all of Salisbury, and Paul E. Lichty, Cumberland; one brother, Paul Vought, Summit Mills, Pa; five grandchildren; and one great-grandson.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, where a service was conducted earlier today, Oct. 23, with the Rev. Raymond Brown officiating. Interment was in the Salisbury Cemetery.

DAVID W. WALTER JR.

David W. Walter Jr., 83, Bethel Park, Pa., died Tuesday, Oct. 21, 1997, at Jefferson Hospital.

Born Sept. 14, 1914, in Oakland, he was a son of the late David W. and Lelia (Friend) Walter. He was also preceded in death by his wife, Mabel H. Walter.

He was a retired carpenter, a member of the Musicians' Union, and Carpenters' Union Local 230.

Survivors include one daughter, Ann Loris, Library, Pa.; one son, David W. Walter III, North Augusta, S.C.; one brother, Lewis Walter, Baltimore; one sister, Alice Archer, California; four grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren;

Friends will be received at the Paul L. Henney Memorial Chapel, 5570 Library Road, Bethel Park, from 7-9 p.m. today, Thursday, where a service will be conducted Friday, Oct. 24, at 10:30 a.m., with the Rev. Bruce Swanson officiating. Interment will be in Jefferson Memorial Cemetery, Pittsburgh.

ON THE ROAD - This shiny van, bearing the S.A.L.T. logo, made its county debut during the Autumn Glory parade in Oakland. Seniors and Law Enforcement Together is an organization working to educate older citizens in crime prevention methods. Donated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert King of Deer Park, the van will help the coordinators of the effort get to seniors who may need their intervention or assistance. Bill Heise, driving the van, is the S.A.L.T. officer in Garrett County, working with law enforcement officers to protect senior citizens through prevention of crime. Anyone interested in learning more about this group may contact Bill at 301-334-6863.

RAYLEEN M. HERSHBERGER

Rayleen Michelle Hershberger, 7 weeks, Kitzmiller, died Saturday, Oct. 18, 1997, at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., from complications following surgery.

Born Aug. 28, 1997, in Cumberland, she was the daughter of Johnny R. and Cathleen E. (Lipscomb) Hershberger.

She was preceded in death by her maternal grandparents, Hugh L. and Geraldine D. (DeWitt) Lipscomb.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her paternal grandparents, John L. and Thelma J. (Thompson) Hershberger, Kitzmiller.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, on Tuesday, Oct. 21. Interment was in the Deer Park Cemetery.

The Rosary was recited at the funeral home on Monday evening.

CLARENCE H. KITZMILLER

Clarence H. Kitzmiller, 63, Gormania, W.Va., died Wednesday, Oct. 22, 1997, at his home.

Born Aug. 28, 1934, in Keyser, W.Va., he was a son of the late Austin and Ozella (Head) Kitzmiller. He was also preceded in death by his first wife, Francis (Helmick) Kitzmiller in 1987.

Prior to his retirement, he was a coal miner for Mettiki Coal Co., Oakland. He was a member of the Bayard (W.Va.) Church of God. He served in the U.S. Army during the Korean Conflict.

Survivors include his wife, Lila M. (Butler) Kitzmiller; one step-daughter, Sharon Odorisio, Panama, N.Y.; two stepsons, Michael J. DeVoy, Salamanca, N.Y., and Brian T. DeVoy, North Fort Meyers, Fla.; two sisters, Dorothy Streets, Hartmansville, W.Va., and Ina Kitzmiller, Gormania; two brothers, Richard Kitzmiller, Buckhannon, W.Va., and Cecil Kitzmiller, Parkersburg, W.Va.; and seven step-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, from 7-9 p.m. today, Thursday, and from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. on Friday. A service will be conducted at the Bayard Church of God on Saturday, Oct. 25, at 11 a.m. with the Rev. William McCallister officiating. Interment will be in the Bayard Cemetery.

Friends may call at the church one hour prior to the service.

EDWINA M. KISNER

Edwina M. Kisner, 89, Friendsville, died Saturday, Oct. 18, 1997, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born Nov. 26, 1907, in Kingwood, W.Va., she was the daughter of the late John B. and Myrtle M. (Burke) Hawkins. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Robert R. Kisner; one daughter, Evelyn Kisner; and two sons, Johnny Kisner and Denzil Kisner.

She was a member of the Bethlehem United Methodist Church, Kingwood, and the Loch Lynn Church of God.

Surviving are two daughters, Betty L. Danks, Kingwood, and Carol L. Murphy, Friendsville; three sons, Everett D. Kisner, Denver, Colo., Harry D. Kisner, Friendsville, and David Richard Kisner, Crellin; 28 grandchildren; and 46 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland. A service was conducted at the Bethlehem United Methodist Church, Kingwood, with the Rev. Dayton Smith and the Rev. Robert Fletcher officiating. Interment followed in the Bethlehem Cemetery.

ALBERT F. HARTKA

Albert F. Hartka, 79, Oakland, died Saturday, Oct. 18, 1997, at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born June 4, 1918, in Baltimore, he was the son of the late Frank T. and Pauline (Czyzechowicz) Hartka.

Prior to his retirement, he was the manager of school building operations for the Baltimore City School System. He attended the Polytechnic Institute, Baltimore, Johns Hopkins University, Wright Junior College, and Texas A&M.

He was a member of St. John's Byzantine Catholic Church, Uniontown, Pa., and St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland. He was also a member of Oakland Chapter 1771, Knights of Columbus.

A U.S. Navy veteran of World War II, he was a member of Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland.

He is survived by his wife, Anna M. (Kitko) Hartka; two daughters, Barbara Fritts, Abingdon, and Christine Comfort, Oakland; one son, Albert J. Hartka, Baltimore; 11 grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Peter's Catholic Church on Tuesday, Oct. 21. Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens, Oakland.

The Rosary was recited at the funeral home on Monday evening.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 378, Oakland, MD 21550.

Military honors were accorded at the cemetery by members of the various veterans organizations in southern Garrett County.

DESTANY D. SCHMIDT

Destany Danielle Schmidt, 4 months, daughter of Stacy M. Schmidt and Refujio Bermejo Ramirez, both of Frederick, died Monday, Oct. 20, 1997, at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

She was born May 20, 1997, in Frederick.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her maternal grandparents, Harold W. Schmidt Jr., Smithsburg, and Debra A. (Welch) Schmidt, Frederick; maternal great-grandparents, Harold W. Schmidt Sr., Swanton, and Ava Brooks, Fayetteville, N.C., and Russell Welch, Oakland, and Patricia (Stemple) Welch, Buckeystown; a maternal great-great-grandmother, Pearl Schmidt, Oakland; paternal grandparents, Rojelio and Eva Bermejo-Ramirez-Martinez, G.T.O., Mexico; and paternal great-grandparents, Juana Martinez, Francisco Ramirez, Juana Maldonado, and Lorenso Bermejo, all of G.T.O., Mexico.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland. A service was conducted in the Stonestreet Chapel of Garrett County Memorial Gardens, Oakland, earlier today, Oct. 23, with Deacon James Comfort Jr. officiating. Interment followed.

A Christian Wake Service was conducted at the funeral home on Wednesday evening.

HARRY SHAFFER JR.

Lt. Col. Harry Shaffer Jr., U.S. Army Ret., 78, Tuscumbia, Ala., died Tuesday, Oct. 21, 1997, at the Helen Keller Memorial Hospital, Tuscumbia.

Born Feb. 3, 1919, in Norfolk, Va., he was a son of the late Harry Shaffer Sr. and Lillie (May) Shaffer. He was also preceded in death by his first wife, Alice Shaffer.

He served in the Army during World War II and had a special assignment at Tanana, Alaska, retiring as a lieutenant colonel. Following his retirement from the military, he worked for the Tennessee Valley Authority as a chemical engineer.

He received his bachelor of arts degree in history from Salem (W.Va.) College, another BA degree in chemical engineering from the University of Illinois, Champaign, and his MB degree in chemical engineering from the University of North Alabama, Florence. He attended the First Baptist Church, Colber Heights, Ala., and the First United Methodist Church, Tuscumbia.

Survivors include his wife, Alice (Shoffner) Frederick Shaffer; three stepsons, Kimber Frederick, Kingsport, Tenn., Donald Frederick, Dayton, Ohio, and Brian Frederick, Knoxville, Tenn.; one brother, Vernon Shaffer, Bellflower, Calif.; and nine step-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, W.Va., on Saturday, Oct. 25, from 1-2 p.m. A graveside service will be conducted at the Aurora Cemetery at 2 p.m. on Saturday, with the Rev. William Connelly officiating. Interment will follow.

Military honors will be accorded at the cemetery by members of the various veterans organizations in southern Garrett County.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 378, Oakland, MD 21550.

The Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, is in charge of arrangements.

CARISSA RODEHEAVER

ANNETTE CHAPMAN

William B. Grant, chairman of the board and chief executive officer for First United Corporation, announced that two members of the bank's staff, Carissa Rodeheaver and Annette Chapman, recently passed the Certified Financial Planner certification test.

The financial planner certification consists of a series of tests on financial planning & insurance, investments, income tax, retirement planning, and estate planning. After successfully completing this series, the individual must pass a comprehensive test to be certified.

"Carissa and Annette have worked very hard to obtain this honor. We are very proud of their accomplishment and look forward to them utilizing the knowledge they have obtained in their respective jobs," Grant said.

Mrs. Chapman started her career at First United in 1983. She has held the positions of customer service representative, customer service manager, customer service officer, trust administrator, and her current position of senior trust administrator.

She is a graduate of Southern High School and has attended Garrett Community College. She earned the designation of certified financial paraplanner in 1987. She is also a graduate of Cannon Trust School.

Mrs. Chapman is a member of Rocky Drean Assembly of God Church and is a board member of Big Brothers and Big Sisters of the Alleghenies Garrett County Branch.

She is married to Terry Chapman, and they reside near Swallow Falls.

Mrs. Rodeheaver, assistant vice president and trust officer, has been with the bank over five years and works in the Trust Department. She primarily serves Garrett County, and Mineral, Hampshire, and Hardy counties in West Virginia.

She is a graduate of University of Maryland with a bachelor of science degree in accounting. She is a graduate of Cannon Trust and has attended Cannon Trust Sales School. She also is attending Maryland Banker's School. She is also a certified public accountant and is a member of the Maryland Association for Certified Public Accountants.

Mrs. Rodeheaver is a member of the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren and a member of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Planned Gifts Committee.

She resides in Bittinger with her husband Scott and son Cody.

Thank You

A big thank you for all the cards, calls and visits to help celebrate my birthday. All were appreciated.

Danelle Fike Receives Horatio Alger Scholarship

Frostburg State University sophomore Danelle N. Fike is one of the 1997 recipients to receive a share of over $1,000,000 in grants and scholarships awarded annually by the Horatio Alger Association. The association focuses on recognizing outstanding Americans while providing a critical communication link to motivate and educate America's youth.

Fike, a resident of Friendsville and a 1997 graduate of Northern High School, was awarded a $5,000 Horatio Alger National Scholarship. This particular scholarship is given to individuals who have overcome adversity and who are recognized for their outstanding community involvement.

Fike has been an active volunteer at a local Lions Club for the past six years. She readily recalled her participation in the organization's many clothing drives and added that, no matter the occasion, she was there helping and assisting.

Fike is a social work major at FSU, and after graduation she hopes to attend West Virginia University to obtain a master's degree. Eventually, she hopes to work with children in either a school or a hospital.

For more information on the Horatio Alger Association, persons may call (703) 684-9444.

Neubert Named To Nat'l Honor Roll

Eric Neubert, a senior at Northern High School, has been named to the National Honor Roll, compiled and published by the United States Achievement Academy (USAA) to recognize the nation's best students for their accomplishments. Selection to the National Honor Roll qualifies a student as a candidate for one of the USAA College Scholarships.

Neubert is a distinguished honor roll student at Northern and has won numerous awards for his academic and extracurricular activities. He is a member of the school's marching band and the varsity soccer, basketball, and track teams. He is on Northern's science and academic bowl teams and is a member of the Sysop Club.

The student spent one week this summer at the United States Air Force Academy and eight weeks at California State University in Los Angeles working in a NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) internship. He is a member of the American Institute for Aeronautics and Astronautics and hopes to attend a national university, where he will major in both astronautical engineering and international relations.

Neubert resides in Grantsville and is the son of Cathy and John Neubert.

Rev. Steiner To Lead Services At Springs Church

Rev. Glenn Steiner, Johnstown, Pa., will speak at several special services at Springs Mennonite Church slated for Sunday through Wednesday, Oct. 26-29.

Rev. Steiner has pastored in churches in Ohio and Johnstown. He is employed by Saylor Industries, Inc. He will be accompanied by his wife Armeda and daughter LaVonne.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday, and at 7 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. Special music will be presented at each service.

All are invited to attend. The church is located at 1686 Springs Road (Rt. 669) between Salisbury, Pa., and Grantsville.

First United Employs Clients Of Local Agency

First United National Bank and Trust, Oakland, has acquired the services provided by Appalachian Crossroads for various duties.

Appalachian Crossroads is a non-profit agency which provides vocational, day habilitation, residential, and family support services to people with developmental disabilities in Garrett County.

The program, which has been in operation since 1975, currently serves 85 individuals with disabilities. Contract work is performed in the areas of grounds maintenance, custodial, and mailing. Job placement and on site job support are provided at numerous local businesses.

The mail room launched services in July 1995, and now handles mail for several area businesses. This range of services includes preparation of bulk mail, C.A.S.S. certification, inserting letters, labeling, collating, and managing a customer's mailing list from a computer disk.

Appalachian Crossroads is providing First United with lawn care by cutting and trimming for the Oakland community office. The organization picks up mail from the bank, sorts and delivers it to the post office, and performs other maintenance duties.

Lloyd Decker, First United's support service manager, stated, "I am pleased that First United has joined with Appalachian Crossroads personnel to perform various jobs for our corporation. They are doing a fine job, and we are looking forward to supporting local non-profit organizations such as this in the future."

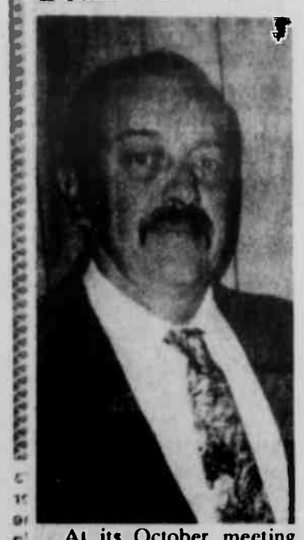
Fink Elected New Chair Of Demo Committee



At its October meeting the Garrett County Democratic Central Committee elected Joseph E. Fink Jr. as its new chair. Fink will serve out the remaining term of the late Don Fratz, who recently died suddenly.

Fink is an engineering assistant at Bell Atlantic. He is a member of the Communications Workers of America and has served on the negotiating team and as president of Local 2109. He is currently a union steward for the local.

Fink is a life-long Democrat and has served as president of the Garrett County Democratic Club for the past four years. He is also a member of the Oakland-Mountain Lake Park Lions Club.

Fink has been a resident of Garrett County for 15 years. He and his wife Mary Ann live in the Oakland area.

SWANTON NEWS

Bob and Fannie Rizer visited Orval and Mareva Teets last Wednesday.

Sonya Craver, Oakland, visited her mother, Ireta Sweitzer, Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon Linda and John Fleming and Richard Gerlach attended the 60th wedding anniversary celebration of Asa and Rose Wilhelm at the Wilhelm Recreation area, Avilton.

Sunday evening guests of Amy and Artie Sweitzer were Pastor David Simmons, his wife Linda and son Jonathan, and Freda Rexroad.

Bob Rizer, Savage River Road, Charles, Crystal, Megan, and Matthew Teets, Deer Park, and Wandell and Steffanie Feaster, New Creek, W.Va., celebrated Fannie Rizer's birthday late Sunday afternoon at the Rizer home. Later that evening Fannie and Bob were guests of Kathleen Miller in Bloomington, Lindy and Ella Jean Rizer and Ruth and Richard Streets were also guests. Birthday cake and ice cream were provided by Lindy and Ella Jean Rizer.

Linda Dodge of Colorado visited Louise and Irvin Beckman on Monday.

M.O. Harvey is now home, following surgery in a Morgantown hospital and a short stay at Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home.

OTTERBEIN UM CHURCH NEWS

Ellis Harvey, Harley Wildesen, Orval Teets, Richard Gerlach, and George Rexroad attended the Brotherhood meeting at Hoyes United Methodist Church last Tuesday. Saturday, October 25, the Brotherhood breakfast will be held at Casselman Restaurant in Grantsville at 7:30 a.m. Wives or friends of members are invited to attend this breakfast. There will be no regular meeting in November. The group will sing at the Swanton Otterbein revival service on Tuesday, Nov. 11.

The United Methodist Women met at the church Tuesday, Oct. 14. The women are sponsoring a hoagie sale Nov. 1 to assist David Schofield on a missionary trip to Bolivia. The Thanksgiving "Thank Offering" Service will be held Nov. 25, at the church.

Joan Riley and Mary June Harvey attended the West Virginia Conference, United Methodist Women's annual meeting at Snowshoe Resort last Friday and Saturday. The theme was "Working Together For Justice." Approximately 370 women attended.

The Sunday School hay ride on Sunday afternoon was attended by approximately 50 persons. The weather was cool, but games of volley ball, kickball, bubble blowing, and playing in the leaves helped keep everyone warm.

Revival services will be held Nov. 9-15 at 7 p.m. Rev. Roger Harrison of St. Paul's UM Church, Oakland, will be the speaker Sunday through Friday. The Saturday service will feature an "old fashioned" hymn sing.

SHARE pick-up will be Saturday, Oct. 25, 11 a.m. to noon. Persons may also sign up for the November SHARE at this time.

COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

The October meeting of the association was held at the center on Monday evening. Business discussed included a Halloween Social to be held at the center this Saturday, Oct. 25. The parade will be at 5 p.m., followed by a costume judging. There will be games and cake walks. Refreshments will include hot dogs, chili dogs, sloppy joes, french fries, and sodas.

Trick or Treat for the Swanton Community has been set for Oct. 31 from 6 to 8 p.m. Those who want to participate are asked to turn their porch lights on.

The association is having a buckwheat, pancake, and sausage dinner on Saturday, Nov. 8. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. Cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

Those attending the meeting appointed a committee to make plans for a scholarship program. Dave Coleman was named chairperson.

The association will meet Monday, Nov. 17, for the final meeting of 1997. A Christmas treat will be given to children of the community on December 15.

SEVERAL HUNDRED DOLLARS WORTH of new merchandise, including toys, games, and sports equipment, was donated this past week by The Trading Post, Deep Creek Lake, to Lou Stouffer, better known locally as Santa Claus. Stouffer, who has already begun making Christmas gift deliveries in the area, makes the holiday brighter for hundreds of families who haven't the funds to purchase gifts. Others who wish to donate new or used toys and other gift items for this purpose may contact Stouffer at 304-789-6743 to arrange for pick-up, or they may drop them off at St. Mark's Lutheran or St. Paul's United Methodist churches in Oakland.

Correction Noted To Court News

Last week's district court report regarding the violation of probation hearings of Jack Alfred Kight Jr. and Alfred Jay Kight, 19-year-old twin brothers who reside in Mtn. Lake Park, requires a correction.

Apparently the individual who actually took a vehicle from the lot of Wagner Trucking last Oct. and eventually ditched it in a stand of West Virginia woods was a juvenile, not Alfred Jay Kight, as the story incorrectly stated.

The report correctly stated that both brothers had been convicted in March on charges of unlawful taking of a motor vehicle stemming from the incident.

Their most recent appearance in district court resulted in both of them being found in violation of probation. Judge Ralph M. Burnett ordered their incarceration time reimposed, suspended all but 90 days of their sentences, and ordered their probation to continue.

Expansion Seen

nology Education program, said the Garrett County students in the child care program are qualified to provide this service. "Our program is one of two high school child care programs approved by the state to present a 90-hour certificate," Vent said.

The students from the food service curriculum would join the partnership also, Yoder suggested, by providing the meals at the center.

Another new member noted by Yoder in this expanding partnership would be the students of the electronics curriculum. In his plans for the housing complex that the day care facility would serve, Yoder has included computers in the units to provide residents with education enrichment.

The construction component of the partnership has started its third year. The construction of the two homes toured is supervised by carpentry teacher Loren Bowser.

The student-builders are learning with experience, and Bowser said their growing competence in the trade is permitting him to subcontract less of each project.

The house started by the students last year was designed through Community Action. "This other house the students designed themselves. Kids from the drafting class worked on it," Bowser said.

Starting with their own blueprints gave the students a sense of pride, he noted. Construction progressed at a quicker pace than it had the previous year. Working about three hours each day, the students went from the basement to felt on the roof in eight days. "Working outside last year made them speedy this year," Bowser explained.

Examining the progress made and the quality of the construction work, Yoder, complimented the project. "It doesn't end with this house; it just starts," he added.

This expanded joint venture could begin as early as next fall, Yoder said.

Let's Get Down To Business!

TRUST WORTHY HARDWARE STORES

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

H&H Hardware Store

On October 31 and November 1, H&H Hardware Store will be holding a 25th anniversary celebration. In 1972, Fred and Evelyn Holliday and Fred and Joan Holliday joined in partnership to purchase the Davis Hardware Store located at 165 Main Street in Grantsville. All four of the Holhdays immediately got involved in purchasing, promoting, and inventorying hardware. Summer vacations were spent in Louisville, Ky., at the yearly Belknap Hardware Shows. Fred, Joan, and their three children took up residence in the rear apartment of the building. For many years, the store was known in the Western Maryland area as the "old-fashioned hardware store." People would come from miles around to look at the old-fashioned and unusual inventory which the store offered.

December 5, 1983, changed the store's image in more ways than one. A devastating fire took the business, the younger Holliday's home, and the home of two sisters who lived in the apartment directly above the store. At that time, the Hollidays were uncertain as to whether or not they should rebuild the store. But, the support of their family, friends, and the entire Grantsville community helped with their decision. The choice was made to become a Trustworthy Hardware Store through Frederick Trading Company. The now existing H&H Hardware Store was opened officially in June 1984. The business was only closed down for five months, with Fred still ordering and helping everyone he could with their hardware needs. Fred, Joan, and children moved in the apartment directly over the store and it was business as usual. The new facility is modern and efficient, but has never quite recaptured the charm of the "old-fashioned" store.

Fred and Joan took over the partnership in 1979 after the retirement of the elder Hollidays. In March 1987, Fred Sr. died, and Evelyn now lives in Starner Hill Apartments. The three Holliday children are scattered from Pennsylvania to Baltimore to Kansas, but Fred and Joan still live above the store. Getting tired of working with the nuts and bolts, Joan went back to work at Frostburg State University, so these days, Fred pretty much runs the show. But, being the family business it always has been, Eva Lou Harman, Fred's sister, works in the store part-time. And, of course, there is Trusti, the resident cocker spaniel, who greets everyone at the door. Trusti stands guard at all times, except when she's napping.

The Hollidays invite everyone to drop by H&H Hardware Store to help celebrate the 25th anniversary. There will be sales throughout the store with 10%, 20%, and 25% off selected merchandise. Refreshments will be available (unless the daily morning coffee klatch eats them all), and visitors may sign up for great door prizes.

Again, the dates for the 25th anniversary of H&H Hardware Store are Friday, Oct. 31, and Saturday, Nov. 1. The store hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 7 a.m. to 12 p.m. Saturday.

Tellers Of Tall Tales Entertain Audiences At Autumn Glory Fest

An event that has grown exponentially in popularity over the past several years was a hit again at the 30th annual Autumn Glory Festival. The Tall Tale Liars' Festival was replete with tellers and listeners, both young and not so young. A competition for younger tale-spinners was held first on Saturday morning (Oct. 11), followed by a contest for adults. An afternoon of entertainment followed the annual parade, with a female barbershop quartet performing as well as several more storytellers.

Students Tell Their Tales

Eileen Mouyard, a sixth grader from Mountain Lake Park, won first place in the storytelling event with a fairy tale about her cousin, the princess of Monaco, who fought a fiery dragon and saved a prince. However, her cousin didn't marry the prince because he didn't value her bravery. She received a $50 savings bond from First United National Bank and Trust.

Second place was won by Cody Brack, who told about his deep-diving dog who brought up a wondrous treasure from Deep Creek Lake. He also noted that his dog is for rent to anyone interested in finding underwater treasures. He received a coin set, also from First United.

Third place went to Becky Archer, who used a chameleon puppet to tell her story, "How the Chameleon Got Its Color." She won a large puppet from Grand Central Station.

Scott Smith, an Accident student, won the prize for the most humorous tale with his yarn, and Sarah Stephens won for the most exaggerated. The most creative tale was told by Anet Dishmon, and Logan Craig won for the most entertaining.

Other winners included Adrienne Yoder for her Paul Bunyan tale, Elric Weeks for his story about the Killer Cat and Mighty Mouse, Ashley Walters for "Hopeless Handspringer," Sarah Stephens for her Deep Creek Lake Monster tale, Amberly Lewis for her story "Loopy the Fish," Rachel Hanlin for "Memaw, the Best Cleaner," Ryan Domenick for "The Crushing Cumberland Ride; and Jessie Smith, Jessica Petrella, Angela Kahl, David Sisler, Valeri Baker, Marie Lauver, Jackie Skeweris, and Chris Hinebaugh.

Local businesses and organizations that contributed prizes, in addition to those already mentioned, included the Book Mark'et, Englander's, Robert's First Base, Mark IV Office Supplies, and the American Association for University Women (AAUW). In addition to the coin set and savings bond, First United National Bank and Trust also provided backpacks and teddy bears to participants. The event organizers expressed gratitude to all those who helped make the contest a success.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the AAUW Garrett Community College Scholarship Fund, the girls' soccer uniforms, and other educational projects for women.

Adult Tellers Take the Stage

Allegany County Spanish and French teacher Katie Ross and her banjo-playing husband Otto entertained the Autumn Glory audience and won first place in the adult contest. They posed as "Liza and Gus" and shared their stories of "mountain living." They won the whitewater rafting trip from the GCC Adventure Sports program.

Tom DeMay told his tale of a loyal, obedient dog and apparently "brought the house down." He won second place and received a $50 savings bond, donated by the AAUW.

Paul Shogren performed a sequel to his last year's tale about Paul Bunyanson and won books from the Book Mark'et and the AAUW.

Jack Slocomb told his version of the Paul Bunyan tales, taken from a new book he has just completed, to be available next year, according to an event spokesperson.

Molly Copes from Virginia placed fourth, and Joan Whetsell, Addison, Pa., won for the most humorous with her adaptation of Chuck Larkin's "Electricity Elixir." Other winners were Dick Good, Jean Walton, and Mary Sutcliffe, who told a true story about her fish-catching dog and brought the pet to prove the tale.

Former first place winners were back by popular demand, including Dr. Bill Savage, Howard Payne, and Nancy Feather.

Donating prizes for the adult contest (in addition to those mentioned) were Jan Florist, Green Acres Garden Center & Flower Basket, Marvin's Men's Wear, Uno's, Towne Restaurant, Rudy's, Not Just Quilts, and Spring Creek Outfitters.

Tape Of Tales Now Available

A new cassette tape of tall tales from the Autumn Glory event is on sale at the Trading Post, located along Rt. 219 at Deep Creek Lake, and at the Book Mark'et in Oakland.

Tellers included on this tape are Gary Yoder, who was the first to win first place; Gail Herman, director of the event; Bill Kolbe, an English teacher from Northern High School; Jean Walton, a retired West Virginia teacher; and Katie and Otto Ross.

commercial or industrial base without an adequate transportation infrastructure? Absolutely not.

Maybe a north-south interstate isn't the only answer, but surely the opponents of a north-south interstate will be hard pressed to point to a single example of a successful economic rebirth of a rural community without modern and comprehensive highway transportation facilities. Certainly doing nothing (i.e., rejecting the interstate without the submission for consideration and discussion of rational, reasoned, coherent, and feasible alternatives designed to achieve the same ends) will turn that magical, free-lunch transformation envisioned by C.A.R.E. into a chimera rather than a panacea, and Garrett County will be left with the status quo or worse.

Sincerely,
Dennis W. League, JD
President

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to Governor Parris Glendenning, Delegate George Edwards, and Senator John Hafer requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Sirs,

I am writing this letter in hopes of having a policy adopted by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources which would allow the use of ATVs by handicapped persons on public hunting areas. I have a close relative that suffers from degenerative bone disease, which often keeps him from getting to some of the better hunting areas in our state forests.

I realize that there are handicapped access areas m many state forests, but these areas limit the disabled to one geographical area that may or may not have healthy game populations. Most hunters would agree that to have a successful outing, you must go to areas where the game animal inhabits.

I'm confident that the Department of Natural Resources can institute regulations in the use of ATVs by the handicapped that would allow for a safe hunting environment. I would add, though, that this privilege be limited only to those persons with degenerative bone and muscle diseases and to amputees.

I truly hope that you and your colleagues will allow these important and vital citizens the opportunity to participate in a sport that non-handicapped citizens enjoy.

Sincerely,
Mark P. Proulx

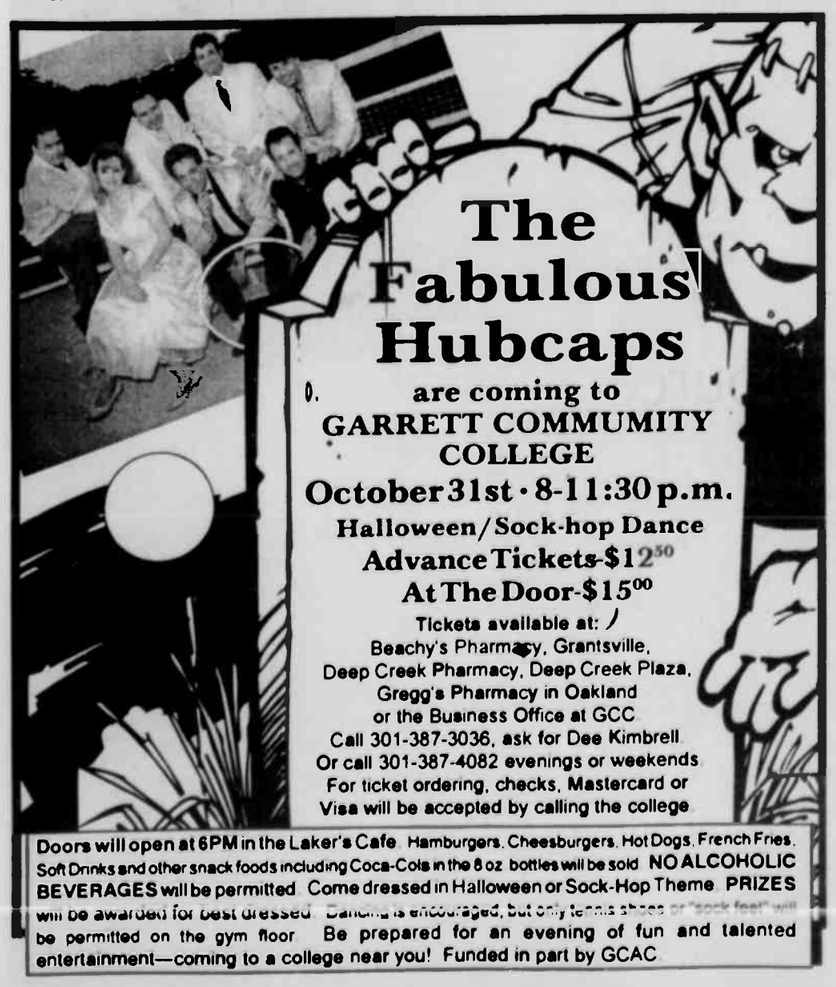
Maryland Trails With Pride



Rams Blank Wildcats, Defeated By Indians, Nearly Top Aggies

A shutout victory over Westmar, being shutout by Mt. Savage, and a heartbreaking one-goal loss to top-ranked Flintstone with just 17 seconds left in the match concluded the regular season of the Southern High School varsity soccer team this week. The Rams finished with their first-ever winning season (7-5), just missed capturing the Western Maryland Interscholastic League title Tuesday evening, and will "host" Allegany this evening at Northern High School in an opening-round West Region 1A playoff match.

Southern's win over visiting Westmar last Thursday was by a score of 5-0, with all five goals scored in the final 28 minutes of play. The Rams were then blanked by visiting Mt. Savage Saturday night, 2-0, and dropped a 3-2 decision to undefeated Flintstone (9-0-2) in the WMIL title match Tuesday evening, also in Oakland.

Thursday's match with Westmar was all defense the entire first half and for about 12 minutes of the second half. The scoreless tie was finally broken at the 27:54 mark of the second half when Steve Pariseau blasted a feed by John Andrews past Westmar keeper Jeff Baker.

Exactly 10 minutes later, the Rams doubled their score when John Menker recorded the first of his three goals for the night on a direct kick with 17:54 remaining.

Andrews put Southern up 3-0 about five and one-half minutes later with an unassisted shot.

Menker completed his hat trick by scoring on direct kicks at the 9:07 and 3:48 marks.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 2-9 overall and 1-5 in the WMIL.

The Southern jayvees won the first match, 1-0.

The Rams out-shot Westmar by a 16-12 margin and led in corner kicks, 4-0. Southern's Jonathan Price made nine saves in recording the shutout, while Jeff Baker was credited with 11 saves for the Wildcats.

In Saturday's match against Mt. Savage (7-3-1), the Rams out-shot the Indians by a 20-15 margin and had a 3-1 advantage in corner kicks, but the stingy defense of the visitors kept the Rams off the scoreboard.

Chris Bloskey scored both goals for Mt. Savage, the first coming at the 20:16 mark of the first half on an assist by Adam Moulden. His second strike was recorded with 16:24 left in the match, this time off a feed by Scott Simpson.

Price was credited with a dozen saves for the Rams, while Mark Miller earned 13 for Mt. Savage.

The Southern junior varsity won the preliminary match, 4-2.

The match with undefeated Flintstone Tuesday night featured the Rams' most outstanding effort of the season, as they controlled much of the contest against the Aggies and nearly pulled off a major upset.

The Aggies wasted no time showing why they are unbeaten on the year, as they put their first point on the board just over two minutes into the match. Jeremy Bishop got the ball past Price off an assist by Jack Pifer at the 37:44 mark.

The Rams rallied to knot the score at 1-1 when John Andrews nailed a shot into the net off a feed by Ricky Vecchioni with 22:18 left in the first half.

The Rams took a 2-1 advantage about 10 minutes into the second half when John Menker's corner kick careened off a Flintstone defender and into the net at the 30:27 mark.

Southern maintained the lead until there was 12:18 remaining, when Brian Alexander scored off an assist by Lewis Sowers.

With about three minutes left in the match, the Rams thought they had scored the winning goal, as several players and a number of fans positioned at the Flintstone goal observed the ball cross the goal line, where it was quickly covered by the keeper Roger Groves. However, there was no signal by the referee and Groves was allowed to punt the ball away.

It appeared that the match would go into overtime, as the clock ticked away, but Herman Sowers got past the Ram line of defense and took a shot off an assist by Rob Ternet. Price came out from the net to meet the attack, and the ball got past him and gently rolled across the goal line with just 17 ticks left on the clock.

The Rams had one more close shot on goal at the buzzer, but Groves made his 13th save of the night to seal his team's 10th victory and the WMIL title. It was the second straight league championship for Flintstone and the Aggies' first undefeated season since 1982.

Had the Rams held on for the win, they would have captured the WMIL title for the first time since soccer returned to Garrett County high schools five years ago. Their 5-2 WMIL finish was second best in the league.

The Aggies finished with a 21-18 edge in shots-on-goal, while the Rams finished with a 7-6 advantage in corner kicks. Price recorded 17 saves in goal for Southern.

Southern's junior varsity was defeated in the preliminary match, 5-2.

The Rams will face another tough test this evening when they meet Allegany for the third time this season, but this time for an opportunity to advance in the West Region 1A playoffs. The Rams defeated the Campers in their first match of the season, 3-2, in Oakland, and were edged by them, 1-0, in their second contest, played in Cumberland.

While the Rams, seeded sixth in the region, are the "home" team, they will have to play on Northern High School's field since the Southern field is five yards too narrow to qualify for playoff competition.

If the Rams are successful this evening, they will move on to face third-seeded Clear Spring.

NEARLY UPSETTING the undefeatod, number-one ranked Aggies of Flintstone Tuesday night were the Southern High Rams, who played an outstanding game, but were nipped 3-2, with the Aggies scoring their third goal with just 17 seconds left in the match. The win gave Flintstone an undefeated regular season (10-0-2), while the Rams finished their regular campaign with a 7-5 mark and second only to Flintstone in the WMIL. Above, Southern's Bo Jonson (#7) prepares to send the ball downfield, with teammate Ricky Vecchioni (#18) ready to follow the ball. In the background are Southern's #11 Karlo Gesner, #5 Steve Pariseau, and #16 Steve Allison. The Rams will be in action again this evening in a 1A West Region playoff match against Allegany, a team they split with during the regular season. Because Southern's field is five yards too narrow for playoff competition, the match will be played at Northern High School. It will kick off at 8 p.m., immediately following the Northern Huskies' playoff match with Westmar.

Service Club League Meeting Set For Monday

The Service Club Basketball League will hold an organizational meeting for the coming basketball season on Monday, Oct. 27, in Room 1171 at Southern High School, beginning at 7 p.m. Any adult interested in coaching or serving in some organizational fashion should attend.

The SCBL sponsors youth basketball leagues for 5th through 8th grade boys and girls. Local service clubs including the Elks, Lions, Knights of Pythias, Rotary, Masonic Lodge, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Fraternal Order of Police sponsor teams that practice and play games from November through February. This year the league is hoping to expand and offer a separate girls division.

For more information, persons may call Dave Bender at 301-334-4390 or Fred Gregg at 301-334-8416.

Huskies Defeat Calvary, 4-1; To Host Westmar In Playoff

The varsity soccer team of Northern High School wrapped up its regular season of competition last Thursday evening on a positive note, by defeating visiting Calvary Christian Academy, 4-1. Coach Tom Ables' Huskies, who are seeded eighth in the region's 1A schools, will begin playoff action at home against ninth-seeded Westmar this evening at 6 p.m.

Zack Rawe led the Husky offense against Calvary Christian (5-8-1), as he scored a pair of goals on assists by Jeremy Reed. He put his first shot into the net just a few minutes into the contest to give Northern a 1-0 advantage.

Joe Weimer took a feed from Jimmy Warnick and fired it past the Calvary keeper later in the half to double the Huskies' score.

Rawe recorded his second goal of the evening about eight minutes into the second half off another assist by Reed.

Northern goalkeeper Matt Fritz made it 4-0 on a penalty kick at the 24-minute mark.

Calvary Christian avoided a shutout when Simon Hoogland recorded an unassisted goal with about five minutes left in the match.

The Huskies dominated the play and out-shot Calvary by a 33-8 margin. Fritz was credited with 14 saves, while Woody Kenner recorded eight for the Huskies. Doug Diehl had six saves for the academy.

The Huskies also finished with a lopsided 10-2 advantage in corner kicks.

The win improved Northern's season mark to 3-9. If the Huskies defeat Westmar this evening in their opening-round playoff match, they will face top-seeded South Hagerstown.

Tonight's match with Westmar will kick off at 6 p.m. at Husky Stadium and be followed by the Southern-Allegany match at 8 p.m. The Huskies defeated the Wildcats, 3-0, during the regular season.

Kane Wengerd Places 18th In State Tourney

Kane Wengerd of Southern High School was the area's top golfer in the state high school tournament, held Monday and Tuesday at the University of Maryland course in College Park, as he finished in 18th place out of a field of 132 players.

Wengerd carded a two-round total of 161 on the par-71 course, with a 79 on Monday and an 82 in Tuesday's round.

Northern High School's Matt Settle also qualified for the state tournament and finished in a tie for 55th place. Settle carded an 83 and an 86.

Jill Speicher, also of Northern, competed in the girls' division and finished with a two-day total of 247 (125 and 122).

Winning the boys' division was Brit Musser of Wootton High School, who shot a four-under par 67 on Monday and a one-over 72 Tuesday to finish with a 139, 10 strokes ahead of the second-place finisher. Erin Clasper, also of Wootton, won the girls' tourney with a two-day total of 169.

The team from North Caroline won the Class 1A/2A championship, with Walkersville and Middletown tying for second.

Runnin' Rams Win Boys' And Girls' WMIL Titles

The long list of victories and accomplishments by the defending state champion boys' and girls' cross country teams got longer this past week, as the Runnin' Rams swept the 1997 Western Maryland Interscholastic League meet, held Thursday at their own course in Broadford Park.

Coach Carl Booth's boys' team and Coach Louis Newcomb's girls' team coasted to victory over the six other schools that participated in the race. The Southern boys, who will be the favorite to win their fifth consecutive state 1A championship next month, placed six runners among the top eight finishers to record a team score of 24. Fort Hill was a distant second with 52 points, followed by Westmar with 85, Allegany with 105, Beall with 107, and Northern and Mt. Savage with incomplete scores.

Members of the Southern girls' team, also favored to win the state title for the second year in a row, captured four of the top nine spots in the WMIL race and concluded with 29 team points. Westmar was second with 49, followed by Allegany with 65, Beall with 87, and Mt. Savage and Fort Hill with incomplete scores.

Leading the Southern boys, as he has done all season, was senior co-captain Dan Sincell, who finished second overall behind Fort Hill's Bruce Dotson. Dotson ran the 3.1-mile course in 16 minutes, 51 seconds, while Sincell finished in 16:57.

Placing third was Zach Bittinger of Westmar (17:23), and the next five spots were captured by Southern Rams Casey McBee, Beau Gibson, Eric Rexrode, Sean Conroy, and Rusty Strubin. Southern's seventh runner, Mike Bittinger, placed 12th.

Dan Sincell's sister Angie, who has placed first among the Southern girls all season, was also second overall in the girls' race, as only Allegany's Kate Gall ran faster. Gall, a senior, crossed the finish line in 20:44, while Sincell, a sophomore, recorded a time of 20:52.

Finishing third was Southern's Amy Snyder (21:11), while Beth Sauder was fifth and Erin Hoalcraft finished ninth. The other three Runnin' Rams were among the top 19, with Christy Hoalcraft placing 13th, Katelyne McBee, 17th, and Megan Conroy, 19th.

The junior varsity competition was literally no contest for the Southern runners, as both the top five runners in both races were Runnin' Rams. Finishing one through five for the Southern girls were Erin Lucas, Jody Bowser, Keri Strubin, Maria Hines, and Mariah McBee. The top five in the boys' jayvee race were Southern's Ted Wolf, Dan Shaffer, George Tichnell, Jon Browning, and Andrew Sisler.

The meet concluded the Rams' regular season of competition. They will defend their 1A West Region crowns at Clear Spring on Friday, Oct. 31. The state meet, which will be held at Hereford High School, is slated for Saturday, Nov. 8.

Green, Wilhelm Pace Huskies To Easy Win Over Indians

One-hundred-yard rushing efforts by both Jimmy Green and Joey Wilhelm, with Green also recording four touchdowns, paced the Northern Huskies to their fourth victory of the season, as Coach Phil Carr's squad hammered host Berkeley Springs last Friday night, 41-12.

The Huskies amassed 302 yard of rushing and 40 more through the air, while the Northern defensive unit held the winless Indians to just 112 yards in total offense. The Huskies also struck paydirt early and seized control of the contest, as they scored 14 points in the first quarter and 14 more in the second quarter.

Green put the first Northern points on the board, as he capped the Huskies' first drive with a five-yard run for a touchdown. Matt Houser booted the conversion point.

Quarterback Scott Sisler went to the air for the second Husky score, as he hit Jed Wilhelm with a nine-yard scoring strike later in the first quarter. Houser's kick made it 14-0.

Green struck again in the second quarter, this time on a 19-yard touchdown run. Houser tacked on the extra point to give the Huskies a commanding 21-0 lead.

The Indians finally got on the board when quarterback Dave Cave connected with Bobby Lee on a six-yard touchdown pass midway through the second quarter. The run for the extra two points was stopped short by the Husky defense.

The Northern offensive unit struck again before halftime, as Scott Sisler capped a successful drive with a five-yard touchdown carry. Houser again kicked the conversion point to put the Huskies on top 28-6 at halftime.

The Huskies resumed their momentum after intermission, and Green recorded his third and fourth touchdowns of the night. The first was on a 20-yard run and was followed by Houser's fifth successful PAT kick. The second was on a 31-yard jaunt, after which Houser's kick was blocked.

With a number of reserves playing for the Huskies in the fourth quarter, Berkeley Springs put six more points on the board when Cave broke loose on a 73-yard run from scrimmage.

Green finished with 165 yards on 23 carries for the Huskies, while teammate Joey Wilhelm recorded 117 yards on 22 attempts. Green didn't carry the ball in the fourth quarter, but played on defense.

The Northern defensive effort featured six sacks and two interceptions.

"We went down there just hoping to win the game," stated Coach Carr, "but we were pleasantly surprised at how well our kids played and our margin of victory. Jimmy and Joey had great running games for us, and our lines on both sides of the ball just played a super game."

Carr said he was also pleased with how well his defensive unit read the plays of the Indian offense.

"They showed us a lot of different fronts, and our kids did a great job picking them up," he said. "We read well and made good adjustments, without having to call a lot of time-outs or having to spend coaching time. It's really encouraging to watch your players learn how to take care of those things on the field."

The Huskies emerged from the contest generally healthy, and Carr said that everyone on the team will be ready to play this Friday night, although Jeremy Hoover, who missed last week with a shoulder injury, may see only limited action.

"Jeremy is our only question mark right now, but we are going to see how he does tonight (Wednesday) at practice to help determine how much he'll play Friday," Carr said.

The Huskies will need to be at full strength for their homecoming game this week, as an improved and somewhat surprising Petersburg team will come to the Cove. The Vikings are currently 4-4 on the season, and are coming off a big 20-18 win over Tucker County last Friday night. The Huskies were defeated by Tucker early in the season.

"The four teams that Petersburg lost to are all good teams," Carr said. "East Hardy only beat them by one point (13-12)."

The Vikings' offense is led by senior quarterback Jeff Feaster (6-0, 175) and junior halfback Ryan Dingess (5-11, 180).

"Feaster throws the ball around 30 times a game," Carr said, "and Dingess is just an outstanding athlete. He rushed for 200 yards against us last year as a sophomore."

Dingess is also one of two favorite receivers for Feaster, along with junior split end Ryan Porter (6-0, 150). The Vikings use the wing-T and slot formations.

"They use a lot of motion and try to really spread your defense out," Carr said.

Dingess is also the leader on defense at a linebacker position.

"They are also bigger than we are on the line," Carr said. "They have a couple of very big tackles, and their overall numbers are better than ours. They have at least 30 kids on their varsity, and we have about 18 eligible this week.

"This is a key game for us because we have a shot at a very good season," he continued, "and we're still in the hunt for a playoff spot. It will be a huge lift for us if we can beat Petersburg because our two remaining games will be against teams with winning records (Mapletown, 6-2, and Southern, 4-2). But we've had a great week of practice and our kids are playing with a lot of confidence right now. Our destiny is still in our own hands."

Northern's homecoming clash will kick off at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Husky Stadium.

Steelers Fall To Patriots, 38-6

The Northern Steelers were defeated Saturday at Nonnenmann Field in Cumberland by the AES Patriots, 38-6, in their final game of the Cumberland Area Youth Football League season. The loss left the Steelers with a 2-6 record, while the Patriots finished at 3-5 and will advance to the league playoffs.

Nathan Dillon recorded 118 yards rushing and three touchdowns for the Patriots, the first of which was scored on a one-yard carry in the first quarter. Ty Page scored on a 22-yard run in the second quarter and Dillon's successful conversion kick made it 14-0.

The Steelers scored a touchdown later in the second quarter (details unavailable) to make the score 14-6 at halftime.

After a scoreless third period, the Patriots put 24 points on the board in the final quarter, with Dillon scoring on runs of 10 and 25 yards and Ryan Shope scoring on a three-yard run. Dillon also kicked three more conversions.

Husky Jayvees Top Mapletown

A 177-yard, three-touchdown performance by Mark Wolf highlighted a 27-2 victory by the Northern High School junior varsity football team over visiting Mapletown Monday evening. The win upped the Huskies' record to 4-2.

Wolf put his first points on the board with a 30-yard TD run in the first quarter. The run for the conversion failed, leaving the Huskies with a 6-0 advantage.

Wolf doubled Northern's total in the second quarter, this time with a 20-yard scoring run. The pass for the extra points was incomplete.

The only points of the evening for Mapletown were scored later in the second quarter when fullback Keith Artice was tackled in the Husky end zone.

Wolf put Northern up 18-2 with a 36-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, and quarterback Brant Green ran successfully for the two-point conversion.

Adding an insurance touchdown for the Huskies in the fourth period was Paul Beitzel on a three-yard run. Justin Robison booted the extra point.

Leading the Husky defensive effort, which has not allowed a touchdown in three straight games, was P.J. Workman, who recorded five tackles.

The Huskies will host county rival Southern next Thursday evening, with the kickoff slated for 7 p.m.

Rams Escape With Win After Lackluster Effort

In what was probably their most lackluster performance in a number of years, the Southern High School varsity football team barely escaped from Cumberland Saturday afternoon with a 16-15 victory over Bishop Walsh, a team that came into the contest as a several touchdown underdog. Even Coach Tom Woods made no bones about his impression of the Rams' effort, as he said that his team finished with one more point, but "the team that wore maroon" actually won the game.

Only 14 Spartans took the field, but they took the lead in the first quarter and again in the second quarter, and maintained the second lead until the final period when the Rams scored a touchdown and the crucial two-point conversion to salvage a win. The victory upped the Rams' mark to 4-2, while the Spartans dropped to 1-7.

Both of BW's scores came as a result of a strong passing performance by senior quarterback Brett Blanco, who completed seven of 13 attempts. One of those completions was a 53-yard touchdown strike to Keith McLane with 4:31 left in the first quarter. Chris Griese's conversion kick was actually a 37-yard field goal, as the Spartans were penalized for, ironically, too many players on the field.

The Rams came back with a 12-play, 68-yard drive that featured a 37-yard run by Nick Dolan on a fourth-and-five play. Dolan's run gave the Rams a first down on the Spartan 13 and Warnick scored five plays later on a one-yard carry. He also carried for the two extra points, which gave the Rams an 8-7 lead with 10:52 left in the half.

The Blanco-McLane duo struck again for the Spartans with just over a minute remaining in the first half, this time on a 25-yard touchdown pass play. Blanco then hit Griese with the conversion pass to put BW on top 15-8 at intermission.

Coach Woods's halftime talk apparently had a positive effect on the Ram defense, which held the Spartan offense to just three yards in the third quarter and a minus 14 in the fourth period.

The Southern offense also put together one more winning drive, a long, 17-play, 80-yard march that was capped at the 9:33 mark by a two-yard scoring dive by Warnick, who also ran successfully for the all-important two-point conversion. Running back Jason Weaver threw a key block on the two-point play.

Blanco finished with 129 yards of passing, 80 of which were on three catches by McLane, while Josh Bosley paced the Rams' 252-yard rushing effort with 100 yards on 21 carries. All but 12 of those yards were recorded in the second half.

The Southern offense had trouble hanging onto the ball, as they finished with six fumbles, two of which resulted in turnovers.

"We just have to consider it a real learning experience," Coach Woods said. "We simply weren't prepared to play, and as head coach I have to take the blame for that. We didn't execute well, we fumbled the ball six times...it was really frustrating. But, as Joe Paterno said over the weekend, 'You'll never hear me apologize for a win.'"

Ironically, Paterno's Penn State Nittany Lions had to rally and just got by underdog Minnesota by the same score as the Southern-BW game, 16-15.

An injury to starting cornerback Boyd Bagwell in warm-ups before the game seemed to be an omen of things to come for the Rams, as he suddenly went down with a torn ligament in his calf. He will be out of the line-up this week, tackle Tommy Diehl is listed as "doubtful" because of a shoulder injury, and senior linebacker Josh Helbig is out for the season after re-injuring his knee in practice.

The Rams cannot afford to be without the services of every player this Friday evening when they host Fort Hill, a team that Woods says is "as strong as ever" and one that he believes will win the state 2A championship.

The Sentinels have nearly 30 seniors on their roster, with 11 starting on offense and nine on defense.

"They have very good size, excellent speed, a huge number of players, and lots of athletic ability," Woods said, "but their biggest asset is their experience. So many of their kids are three-year starters, and they are at least six deep just in their backfield."

Undoubtedly the most outstanding player on the Fort Hill squad is senior fullback Josh Page (6-3, 220), whom Woods describes as "the premier college prospect in the area." Page has been ripping through defenses all season and is leading the Sentinels in rushing and scoring.

Other top players on the Sentinels' wing-T offense include: senior tight end Ricky Jenkins (6-0, 200); Michael Page, brother of Josh, who is another senior tight end (5-9, 165); senior running backs Trae Foster (5-10, 175) and Noah Reed (5-9, 170); and senior tackle Jeff Burgess (6-5, 250).

"Their offense is similar to ours in that they prefer to keep the ball on the ground," Woods said. "They only pass four or five times a game."

Fort Hill's 6-2 defense is anchored by senior end Josh Groves (6-0, 193), who is also the starting quarterback; senior linebacker Tommy Welsh (5-11, 178); Jenkins at another linebacker spot; and Josh Page at defensive end.

"Fort Hill's lowest number of points in a game this year is 47," Woods said, "and just about every one of their starters played in the game last year when we upset them in Cumberland. So I'm sure they will come in with plenty of inspiration Friday night.

"But, we will certainly be there," he said. "We have a game plan and we will give our best effort. We don't know how long we will be able to stand up against them, but we believe we can do some things to move the ball against them. Our biggest worry is how well we will be able to defend against their offense."

A large crowd is expected for the game, as the Sentinels have had a big following all season. Friday's kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Fort Hill Drops Rams At The Net

The Southern High volleyball team was defeated by the visiting Fort Hill Sentinels 3-1 on Wednesday. Game scores were 7-15, 13-15, 3-15, and 15-10. The Rams record is now 4-8, with an upcoming Monday match at Allegany, followed by the season finale at Northern on Wednesday.

The Rams' Jessica Saturday totaled 10 points and Rachel Lane added six. Elizabeth Peasani had five blocks and Michelle Teter had nine assists. The Sentinels were led by Emily Coyle with 21 points and 22 assists, Linda Schenning had 15 service points and Kristie Stone had 21 kills.

Southern's jayvee redeemed the Rams' evening with a 2-1 victory. Game scores were 14-16, 15-3 and 15-11. Miranda Byers led Southern with 15 points and Melissa Kuykendall added 10. Fort Hill's Jennifer Courtney served for nine points.

Day by day we watch and wait
To enter with Jesus through the beautiful gate.
Yes, we miss our loved ones,
They would not want us to grieve nor be sad.

Our bodies of clay will one day decay.
Until that day
We have God's work to do.
We must go God's way.

Each day is a mission for us.
Where God has placed us
To help others to be comforted
And to live in peace God's way.

Let's lift our hearts, and be not dismayed.
We will see Christ and our loved ones someday

Lakers Net Two More, Record Stands At 25-8

The GCC women's volleyball team took two out of three matches this week to improve their excellent season record to 25-8 overall, and an outstanding 8-1 in Maryland JUCO play. The schedule gives them a well-deserved rest until their next match on Wednesday in Keyser against Potomac State, which will close out their regular season of play. The Region XX Tournament will then be held the weekend of Nov. 1 at Hagerstown Junior College.

The Lakers began their week in Baltimore on Friday with a 3-1 match victory over Essex Community College, with game scores of 13-15, 15-5, 15-0, and 16-14. Alexis Nogle and Erica King matched each other's 19 point service total, while Andrea Barrick and Mindy McCarty added four aces each. McCarty had 12 kills, King had 10 kills, and Nogle led the team in assists with 19.

GCC next played host to Cecil Community College on Saturday, sending the visitors back to the eastern shore after a three game sweep with scores of 15-8, 15-3 and 15-7. King had a game-high 20 service points, Nogle added 11 points and Barrick and Sindy Niner contributed 10 points each. Nogle, King, Barrick, and Erica McBride tallied two aces each. On the attack, McCarty was 11-for-15 with five kills while Nogle had 29 sets and Barrick seven kills.

On Tuesday evening, a Fan Appreciation celebration capped the week for the Lakers on their home court, but they fell short against Penn State-Altoona by a tight match score of 3-2, with game scores of 13-15, 15-9, 9-15, 15-6, and 15-7. Nogle led GCC from the service line by going 20-for-21 with three aces. King was a perfect 16-for-16 with an ace, and added nine kills as well. Barrick's 14 kills led the kill totals for the Lakers, while McCarty totaled 12 kills of her own.

Local Angler Shares $2,000 Bass '97 Prize

A total catch of 12 pounds, 12 ounces earned the team of Bret Winegardner, Swanton, and Brent Nelson, Columbia, the $2,000 first prize in the Bass '97 with Hank Parker charity fishing tournament, held recently at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

A total of 95 teams entered the annual event, organized and promoted by County United Way for the benefit of the charity's member agencies throughout a seven-county area in Western Maryland and West Virginia. Forty-five of the teams weighed in a catch.

The tournament was presented by Pepsi and the official sponsor was CSX Transportation. National fishing personality Hank Parker appeared at the tournament, courtesy of Kelly Springfield Tire Company, with whom he has maintained a long-time relationship as a company spokesman.

A purse of $5,650 was awarded to the top 10 finishing teams. The $712.50 lunker pool was captured by the father-son team of Ronald and Shannon Poffenberger with a three-pound, four-ounce largemouth. The Poffenbergers were the defending tournament champions and also pocketed the fifth-place money in this year's tourney.

A number of other Garrett County participants finished among the money-winners. Placing in order behind the Winegardner/Nelson team were: Eddie Brown, Frederick, and Brian Wiles, New Market, with a total catch of 9 pounds, 10 ounces; Bill MacLane, Friendsville, and Brian Topper, Eatontown, N.J., 7 pounds, 15 ounces; Joey and Cory Alexander, both of Nikep, 7 pounds, 14 ounces; Ronald and Shannon Poffenberger, Boonsboro, 7 pounds, .02 ounce; Mike Miller and Tom Fram, both of Grantsville, 6 pounds, 14 ounces; Tony Slovak, Accident, and Jim Iden, McHenry, 6 pounds, 13 ounces; Troy Miller and Terry Bonsell, both of Keyser, W.Va., 6 pounds, nine ounces; Richard Alford, Cumberland, and Steve Stallings, LaVale, 6 pounds, .01 ounce; and Dick Kalbaugh, Cumberland, and Chuck Kalbaugh, Westernport, 6 pounds, .01 ounce.

The 1998 tournament has already been scheduled for the third weekend in September. More information can be obtained by calling Linda Toey at 301-722-2700.

BAGS BIG BUCK - Bill Buckel of Bevansville (near Jenninga) bagged this big beautiful buck in briars beside Bittinger (before brunch) below Beitzels', Blaine Bowser's, Bud Brenneman's, Boylans', and a bevy of Buckels. (Editor's note: We just couldn't resist utilizing the preceding sentence, which was submitted by Mr. Buckel.) Buckel harvested the 170-pound animal with a muzzleloader last Thursday, which was the first day of muzzleloader season. He added that he plans to use the meat for bologna, made by "Butch Buckel's boy Brian the butcher (beside Buzzy the Barber)." He concluded by saying that now he would like to "bag a big boar or a bear with his bow." (Boy, Bill, your Bs are really beginning to bug us.)

Husky Netters Roll Over Two Allegany County Teams

Northern High's volleyball team took command of both Allegany and Flintstone this week to continue its superb season by improving to an 11-1 record. The Huskies' next match will be their season finale at home against the Southern Rams on Wednesday evening.

In Northern's 3-2 match victory at Allegany on Monday, the Campers got off to an early advantage with game victories of 13-15 and 12-15 over their visitors, but the Huskies stormed back with a three-game sweep with wins of 15-12, 16-14 and 15-12 to take the match. Chelsea Frickey had 16 service points and three kills for the victors, while Erin Hohing totaled 19 service points for Allegany, Cassie Murray had 16 kills, and Mandy Talley added 12 service points.

The Huskies jayvee team won their match as well, taking both games by identical 15-6 scores. Mimi Harvey had 19 points for Northern, while Meghan Getty had six for Allegany.

On Wednesday Northern swept Flintstone 3-0 on the Accident court by dominating the visitors with 15-0, 15-4, and 15-5. Frickey had 12 service points while Jenny Stevens added 11. Lisa Blubaugh had four service points for Flintstone and Bethany McMillan had three.

The junior varsity capped off a perfect week for the Huskies by taking their match over Flintstone by scores of 2-15, 15-13, and 15-8. Heidi Frazee had nine service points and two kills, and Heather Umbel had eight service points. The jayvee's record stands at 9-3 for the season.

land bypass," Pedersen concurred, "but still it takes time to go through the required step-by-step process." State Delegate George Edwards, who serves on the state subcommittee for highway funding in Annapolis, later remarked that "the very earliest you can expect to see construction begin on an Oakland bypass is the year 2002 or 2003, and that's probably only if the state passes a tax increase on gasoline. Without the gas tax increase we're looking at a longer period of time."

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce co-president David Moe, who was in the audience with his co-president, Jerry Geisler, asked if the state envisioned using a portion of Maryland's Appalachian Regional Commission highway funds for the construction of an Oakland bypass. (Congress recently passed a funding increase for ARC highways, under which Maryland stands to receive over $7 million that would be specifically targeted for the already-designated ARC highways in Maryland, which are Route 219 north of Grantsville, Route 220 north of Cumberland, and the length of Interstate 68.)

"While some of the planning costs for the Oakland bypass come from ARC funds, subsequent spending for the project will not be coming from the ARC," answered Pedersen.

Illustrating Garrett County's dilemma in seeking a portion of ARC funds for improvements to the designated Appalachian Highway Development System (AHDS) roadways located in the county, Edwards said, "our state speaker of the House Cas Taylor is putting together a project to complete Route 220 north of Cumberland, which would take the state's entire ARC funding allocation. While we all support (the completion of improvements to Route 220 north), we would like Route 219 north of Grantsville to receive some of those funds for improvements. We don't think it should all be put into one pot," he said. State senator John Hafer, also present at the meeting, added that he concurred with Edwards' ideas on the matter.

Trade Corridor Discussion

Edwards then took opportunity to present his thoughts on the current controversy over the proposal to construct a north/south interstate highway through Garrett County. "What we first have to understand," he said, "is that a four-lane corridor from I-68 to Oakland is not a new idea, and has been discussed for years. Some of the bypass discussions (around Oakland, Accident, and Deep Creek Lake) are part of that older proposal.

"The new issue is the idea of the federal trade corridor," Edwards continued, as he addressed the audience containing both supporters and opponents of the proposal. "If the feds get involved, you will have more meetings than ever before that will solicit more and more public involvement. Included in all the options that must be discussed will be deciding whether or not to build the road at all. 'No-build' is an option," he said.

"At this point, the federal trade corridor proposal is a federal issue," Edwards went on. "Once the feds make up their mind, it then comes to the state and local level for their consideration and involvement. If the feds don't put in their money, the state does not have the money to do it alone; then the question is, Do we continue looking at incremental improvements?"

Pedersen spoke on the state's behalf regarding the issue as he said, "We know there is a great deal of interest in Route 219. There is discussion at the federal level of making it a trade corridor. The degree the state gets involved depends on what Congress does; if Congress moves it along, the state will have to go through the whole planning process, including considering the 'no-build' option, as required by law. Until Congress decides their approach, the state will continue as before with incremental improvements to Route 219 as they are needed," he stated.

Other Road Items

Several other items were discussed in the course of the 90-minute meeting.

County Commissioner Roger Glotfelty mentioned that the commissioner's office has been receiving phone calls from concerned citizens regarding the sharp turn at a downhill grade that Route 560 takes in the vicinity of Baker Flat (near Doc Tolson Road.) The location has been the site of several serious car accidents, some involving fatalities, in recent years. The state representatives agreed with Glotfelty's assessment that a traffic study was needed to determine the best solution to the problem, along with the placement of obvious warning/caution signs prior to the turn.

The increasing amount of pedestrian traffic crossing Route 219 in the area of Arrowhead was brought up as a concern of the commissioners as well. The state representatives said that they will have to talk to businesses at that location about putting in a pedestrian crosswalk, and would have to consider if there would be further need to regulate the meeting of overlapping pedestrian and vehicle traffic in that area.

Traffic congestion on Route 219 in McHenry was a concern as well, as the recent construction of a new realtor's office and the opening of a new grocery store have combined to increase traffic volume in that area. Traffic could increase even more in the future with addition of a new tourist information center. The state will consider studying safety improvement options for the location, with increased signage or stoplights mentioned as two alternatives to explore.

Non-Traditional Items

Pedersen also mentioned that the ISTEA Act of 1991 set aside a special category of spending funds for non-traditional transportation spending, such as hiker/biker trails. He said that the state has spent over $350,000 for acquisition of scenic easements along the Youghiogheny River.

Carl Rebele, a county resident who serves on the Maryland State Bicycle Advisory Committee, added that a bike trail is being completed from Pittsburgh to Washington, D.C., and that Pennsylvania is planning a hiker/biker trail that would cross the entire state as it connected Olean, N.Y., to Cumberland. Rebele requested that funds specified for non-traditional transportation spending be used to implement similar initiatives in Garrett County in the future.

Secy. Winstead's Remarks

The meeting had kicked off with a presentation from Winstead of an overview of the state's overall transportation goals and objectives. During his overview, the transportation secretary gave a thumbnail sketch of the new "Smart Growth" initiatives, which went into effect at the beginning of this month. "Smart Growth is a way to better manage and control growth throughout the state," Winstead said. "It asks the state to examine growth to see if it is being spread out too thinly or concentrated in existing areas in an effort to help local governments direct growth to existing towns and communities.

"In reviewing transportation priorities that already exist for Garrett County," he continued, "we see no conflicts between existing project proposals and the principles of Smart Growth. All future projects must be evaluated in the light of the Smart Growth initiative."

In addressing budgetary issues of the transportation department, Winstead said that "this is a critical time for federal spending. The Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA), under which Maryland has done very well since 1991, expired two weeks ago and is currently operating under a six-month extension.

"Whatever form that the ISTEA reauthorization eventually takes," Winstead commented, "Maryland will probably end up getting more money, but a smaller overall percentage of the federal funding that is generated from the federal gas tax. While we can reasonably expect our federal funding for transportation projects to increase from the $310 billion we've been receiving in the past to $330 billion or even $360 billion, Congress is definitely working on equalizing what each state receives back for every dollar each state puts into the federal transportation trust fund."

Winstead summed up this potential development by saying "while Maryland's federal funding input may likely drop, the actual dollar amount we receive will still increase over past levels, just not as fast or as great as it would have otherwise."

Winstead also mentioned in his introductory overview that a special challenge for the state is finding a solution for increasing congestion in the Baltimore/Washington metropolitan areas.

Thank You

In addition to my many thanks to family and friends who are always there, throughout it all;

Special thanks also to Ernie Gregg & staff who gave me support and their expertise at all times; to Freeman Ambulance; and Southern Rescue Squad; to Msgr. Mike McCarron, Father Bill and Father Ric for being part of our journey, to Dr. Miller for his caring ways, to Home Care (Michelle Ford in particular, friend and dedicated nurse), to Hospice (in particular Sue Teagarden who would come help anytime and Mary Glotfelty with her gentle touch and special gift) and Brad Stewart and staff for their professionalism. To the pallbearers for whom it was so difficult but so important.

To the whole teaching community for all the wonderful comments from teachers, staff, parents and students. And for all the memorials done in his honor. It has been so overwhelming and touching: it has helped me from being selfish and that has been a comfort.

To all those placing a contribution to the scholarship fund a special thank you for such a wonderful tribute.

To the special "earthy" angels (you know who you are) who have picked me up, helped my sons, grounded me and kept me focused - thanks doesn't seem to be enough.

Appreciation to all and God Bless,

Miss Carol Doctor Marries Mr. Parker Jacobs In Oct. 4 Ceremony

Carol Marie Doctor was married to Parker Steven Jacobs on Saturday, Oct. 4, 1997. The marriage was performed at the Potomac Presbyterian Church, Potomac, by Pastor Kerry Stoltzfus. The reception immediately followed the marriage ceremony at the Gaithersburg Marriott Washingtonian Center.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bhupendra Doctor, Potomac. Her grandparents were the late Dr. and Mrs. Pannalal Doctor of Surat, India, and the late Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Paddock of Bath, N.Y.

Mr. Jacobs is the son of Frances Jacobs, State College, Pa., and Ralph Jacobs, Mankato, Minn. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Matson, Barron, Wis., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacobs of Joplin, Mo.

The bride wore an elegant gown of white silky shantung. The fitted bodice of hand-beaded and clear-sequined Alençon lace featured a Sabrina neckline, short sleeves, and a scallop-trimmed natural waistline. The full skirt swept to a chapel train beneath a deep scooped back neckline. Her veil was fingertip length and had a pearl crown. She carried a bouquet of 24 white roses.

Sarah Fitzpatrick served as the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Suzanne Paddock, cousin of the bride; and Dawn Hinebaugh, Jessica Quastler, and Leslie Houston. Fallon Farley served as the flower maiden and Kira Farley was the flower girl.

Steven DonTigny was the best man. The ushers were Yale Dean; Steven Doctor, brother of the bride; Brian Koderl, a cousin of the groom; and Ross Koderl, a cousin of the groom. Ryan King served as the junior usher.

The bride was graduated from Frostburg State University and the American Motorcycle Institute. The groom was graduated from the American Motorcycle Institute and is presently attending Garrett Community College.

After a wedding trip to Maui, Hawaii, the couple will live in McHenry, where they operate the Aquatic Center, Inc.

Lutheran Braille Workers Slate Benefit Dinner

The 15th annual turkey dinner to benefit the Lutheran Braille Workers, Inc., will be held at Northern High School in the cafetorium on Saturday, Nov. 1, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. Carry-out meals will be available, as will baked goods and crafts. The public is invited to attend.

Helen Lowe Kochler was the founder of Lutheran Braille Workers, Inc. During World War II, she apparently saw the need for the Bible to be translated into Braille for the blind and in large print for those with impaired vision. She developed a printing system for both types of publications and established a work center in her California home.

News of her project spread and churches began to take on the work. There are currently over 200 work centers printing the Bible in over 40 languages. One center is located at Zion Lutheran Church in Accident, where volunteers from five Lutheran churches are involved in the project. This work center has been in operation since 1983 and produces the Gospel of St. John in the Swahili language, the Gospel of St. Luke in Burmese, and I Samuel in English.

The turkey dinner benefit, sponsored by Lutheran Braille Work Center #173 and the Aid Association for Lutheran Branches 585 and 588, is held each year on the first Saturday in November. The proceeds from the event help defray the cost of materials used in the production of the Braille books.

Glendening To Be Featured In MPT Electronic Mtg.

Maryland Public Television (MPT) will present an electronic town hall meeting titled "Smart Growth, Planning Maryland's Future," on Tuesday, October 28, at 10 p.m. Hosted by MPT's Jeff Salkin, the 60-minute special will provide a forum to discuss the roles of various interest groups in targeting priority areas for development.

The program, which will be broadcast live from MPT's studios in Owings Mills, will feature Governor Parris N. Glendening, as well as the state's top lawmakers, businesspersons, and environmentalists, as they discuss the major benefits and consequences of smart growth.

A toll-free call-in phone number will be provided during the program to allow concerned citizens to participate.

"I want Marylanders to recognize Maryland Public Television as the source they depend on to stay informed about issues affecting every one of us," said MPT President/CEO Robert J. Shuman. "During this program, citizens will be able to voice their questions and comments directly to Governor Glendening, state leaders, and experts."

According to a report from MPT, the "Smart Growth and Neighborhood Conservation" initiative has three goals: 1) To save the state's most valuable remaining natural resources before they are forever lost; 2) to target state resources to support development in existing towns, cities, and other areas where the infrastructure is already in place (or planned) to support it; and 3) to save taxpayers millions of dollars in the unnecessary cost of building the infrastructure required to support sprawl.

This electronic meeting is the fourth in a series of telecasts in the same format broadcast by MPT. Shuman said it will deliver a "unique statewide perspective" on the various efforts by state officials to ensure future generations will have the resources to continue to prosper.

Hospice Moves To New Location

Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., has moved to a new location. The office is now located on the lower level of Dr. Daniel Miller's new office building, on Wolf Acres Dr., off Weber Road, opposite the new Yough Glades Elementary School in Oakland.

The mailing address and phone number for Hospice will not change, Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice, said. The address remains P.O. Box 271, Oakland, MD 21550. Hospice can be reached by phone at the following numbers: 301-334-5151, 1-800-521-5252 in the Grantsville area, and 1-800-735-2258 for TTY. The office hours are 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. week days. Hospice is also on call 24-hours a day.

Butscher said she and her staff are very pleased with the new location and they are grateful to Dr. and Mrs. Miller for their generosity. "This is a wonderful facility for us to continue to provide health care for the terminally ill. Dr. Miller is our assistant medical director and does much volunteer work for Hospice," she said.

4-H Club News

SNOWY CREEK
by Shelby Glover, reporter

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on October 9. Fourteen members and one guest, Stephanie Evans, were present. The topic for October was Disabilities. The club had a guest speaker, Mark Gorman, who came to talk about the many different disabilities people have. Mr. Gorman's legs are paralyzed from the knees down. He showed the members the different ways to get around by using walking canes and a wheelchair. He performed many different maneuvers with his wheelchair, and he also plays wheelchair basketball. He told the kids not to be uncomfortable around people with disabilities, because they're just the same, but different.

The club members turned in their 4-H beef tickets sold during the month. A total of 300 tickets was sold. David Smearman had the highest sales, with 156 tickets.

The club voted to attend a lamb workshop in November.

Thank You

The family of Edward D. Shaffer would like to extend their appreciation and offer a sincere thank you to all who offered us support during his hospital stay and his death.

We wish to thank Reverend Dawson, Reverend Rose, and Reverend Wachter for their hospital visits. We thank Dr. Domenick and Dr. Naumann for their attentiveness and aid.

We express our gratitude to Dr. Walch, the nursing staff, and the aides of the second floor ICU. These individuals did not just do their jobs; rather they displayed an enormous amount of caring and respect. We appreciate their professional expertise, and also the kindness and concern they extended to us. They are truly special people and we are grateful to them.

We thank Reverend Perkins and Reverend Milliren for their visits to the hospital and to the funeral home. We especially thank them for their words of comfort offered at the funeral.

We thank the Newman Funeral Home for their consideration and the Friendsville United Methodist Women for providing a wonderful meal.

Our appreciation would not be complete without recognizing our friends, neighbors and families for the cards, flowers and food sent and the prayers offered. Please know your acts of kindness and thoughfulness gave us comfort.

Sincerely,
The Edward D. Shaffer Family

Food For Thought

Good things about tomatoes: one tomato supplies about a third of the day's vitamin C, plus other vitamins, iron and fiber. It has lots of lycopene, a carotenoid that's a potent antioxidant. And tomatoes seem to help protect against some cancers. Enjoy.

Roasted red peppers turn into a simply super sandwich dressing or sauce with a little blender magic. Drain a 7-ounce jar, add to blender with 3 Tbs. light mayonnaise, 1 tsp. honey and a speck of salt. Buzz until creamy. Great on chicken, seafood or vegetables.

Something new in a pasta salad: orzo! Saute together sliced red onion and sliced shittake mushrooms with thawed corn kernels and a carrot cut into little cubes. Toss with cooked orzo and julienne strips of smoked turkey (hot or cold, as you choose).

The best potato for baking is the russet (sometimes called the Idaho). It's perfect for hash browns and french fries, too. Small red or white-skinned potatoes are better for boiling.

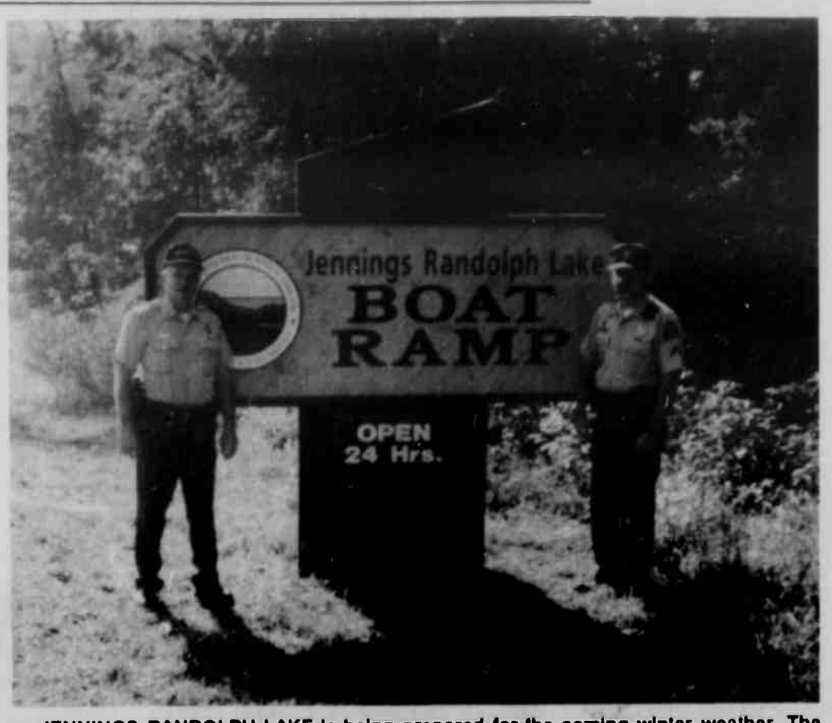
Boat Ramp On Jennings Lake To Close Soon

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service will be closing the boat ramp on the Maryland side of Jennings Randolph Lake, off Route 135, at dusk on Sunday, Nov. 2.

This is the first routine annual fall closing of the boat ramp for the removal of buoys by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. DNR will reopen the boat ramp sometime in April, depending on the weather at that time. The actual date of the ramp opening will be made public when it is decided upon in the spring.

Potomac/Garrett State Forest staff now manages the area at the boat ramp. This project is a joint operation since Potomac/Garrett State Forest has overall management responsibility of the facility and the Maryland Natural Resources Police has law enforcement responsibility of Jennings Randolph Lake and the surrounding area. Both divisions of DNR work closely with Russ Newman, reservoir manager at the lake, to coordinate activities.

Jennings Randolph Lake offers 952 acres of recreational opportunities to the public. A 600-foot concrete boat ramp and parking area on the Maryland side of the lake was constructed to increase access to the rapidly developing trout and walleye fishery. This plays a major role in the creation of a world-class recreation fishing industry envisioned in the North Branch Potomac River Water Quality and Recreational Improvement Agreement executed between Maryland and West Virginia.



JENNINGS RANDOLPH LAKE is being prepared for the coming winter weather. The boat ramp on the Maryland side of the lake, off Route 135, will be closing for the season at dusk on Sunday, Nov. 2. Pictured above are Steve Hamilton, left, manager of the Potomac/Garrett State Forest and boat ramp facility on the Maryland side of the lake, and Dave Marple, Natural Resources Police Corporal assigned to the area. See story.

For more information about the boat ramp closing on the Maryland side of Jennings Randolph Lake, interested persons may call the Potomac/Garrett State Forest at 301-334-2038.

The drive is coordinated by the AmeriCorps members working for the emergency services department of Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc.

County residents are asked to participate by donating blankets and quilts to be given to those in need during an emergency or an energy crisis.

Drop-off sites for donations are: St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Ruth Enlow Library branches in Oakland and Grantsville, Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God, Gregg's Pharmacy, West Marva District Office of the Church of the Brethren, Arrowhead Market, Marvin's Men's Wear, and Friendsville Pharmacy.

Anyone wishing more information may contact AmeriCorps member Lori White, at 301-334-9431, ext. 121.

Mtn. Lake Park Scout Troop 70 Honors Its Own

Boy Scout Troop 70, Mtn. Lake Park, held its court of honor recently at Bethel United Methodist Church. The scouts were presented with a variety of merit badges which they had earned.

The honorees were as follows: Chris Friend and Josh Teets, who each earned nine merit badges including the coveted Life Rank, one step away from the rank of Eagle Scout; Andrew Carlise, recipient of seven merit badges; Scott Shillingburg, three merit badges; Dereck DeWitt, two merit badges; and Tom Crosco, one merit badge.

Below the photo that was printed last week, the names of Carlise and Shillingburg were mistakenly omitted from the caption that pictured all of the honorees. The Republican sincerely regrets the error.

DEEP CREEK READY-MIX
Dedicates New Mixer Unit to the memory of past employee
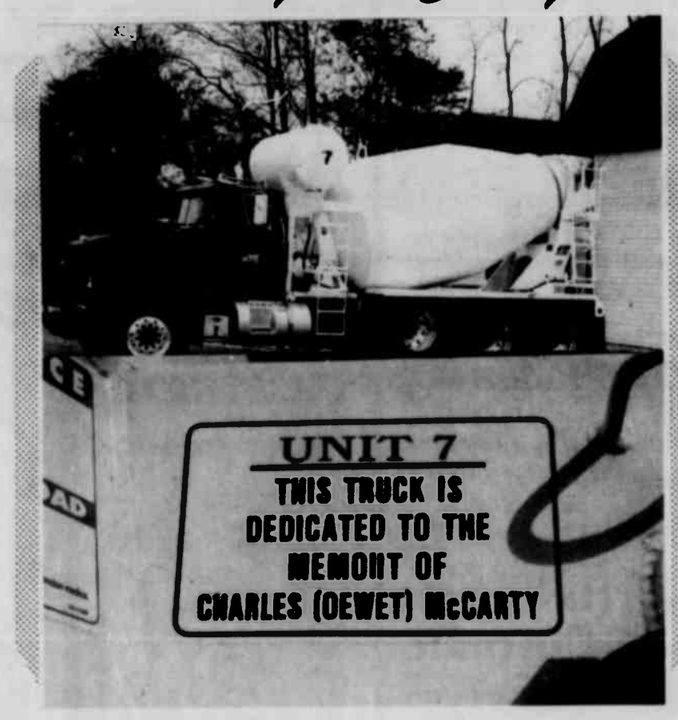
Dewey McCarty



Russell T. Sines, owner, says dedicating this truck seems only fitting. Dewey was one of the first employees of Deep Creek Ready-Mix and had lived his life serving Garrett County and surrounding counties as a concrete truck driver. Dewey, having passed away in October 1994, had over 30 years of service as a concrete mixer operator. Dewey's dedication to his job and community will never be forgotten.

Blakeslee Drive Party Charges Stetted In Court

Charges faced by three men arrested in July at a party at The Blakeslee in the Deep Creek Lake area were placed on the stet docket in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings, while charges against a fourth man arrested at the same party were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

The July 29th party at the South Blakeslee Drive residence drew the attention of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office when several complaints were received from neighbors about loud noise and disorderly behavior. Upon arrival, sheriff's deputies reportedly observed several juveniles drinking beer in front of and allegedly provided by the adults present at the party.

In court last week, Daniel Allen DeWitt, 22, Mtn. Lake Park, faced charges of contributing to an act which rendered several juveniles delinquent and disorderly conduct at the Blakeslee party. These charges were placed onto the stet docket in district court this week, meaning that they can be recalled at the state's discretion within the next 365 days. In ordering the stet, visiting District Court Judge Paul Stakem included a condition that DeWitt complete 20 hours of community service.

Adam James Lucas, 25, Mtn. Lake Park, who faced a charge of wilfully contributing to an act which rendered several juveniles delinquent at the Blakeslee party, must also complete 20 hours of community service as a condition of his charge having been placed on the stet docket.

Richard Bevan Orr, 18, Oakland, must complete 40 hours as a result of a stet order stemming from the same party on South Blakeslee Drive. Orr faced charges of possession of marijuana and resisting arrest.

Marijuana possession and drug paraphernalia possession charges faced by Stephen David Goralski, 19, Oakland, stemming from the same Blakeslee party were not prosecuted by the office of the state's attorney.

In other district court news, Michael Eugene Armstrong, 21, Oakland, must complete 15 hours of community service as a condition of a stet order by Judge Ralph Burnett. Armstrong had been arrested in June by sheriff's deputies and charged with trespassing on the property of Browning's Foodland parking lot and wilfully disobeying a lawful order of a police officer.

Charges faced by Jennifer Lynn Shillinburg, 19, Oakland, of trespassing on the property of the Treasure Island parking lot and wilfully disobeying a lawful order of a police officer were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

Several subjects were found to be in violation of probation (VOP) recently.

Timothy Allen Kitzmiller, 19, Grantsville, was found in VOP. His probation was revoked, and his original 90-day sentence was reimposed. The probation term stems from a conviction on charges of misdemeanor theft and trespassing.

Joshua Anthony DeWitt, 19, Oakland, was found in VOP, and his probation was ordered to continue with a modification to the restitution payments he was ordered to make at the time of his conviction on charges of unlawful taking of a motor vehicle, malicious destruction of property, and misdemeanor theft.

Kenneth George Wiley, 28, Accident, was found in VOP that had resulted from earlier convictions on battery and malicious destruction of property charges. The judge ordered sanctions withheld and the probation term to continue.

Wiley also appeared in traffic court last week, where he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and was fined $455, handed a 60-day sentence, all but seven days of which were suspended, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

THE PRESCRIPTION WAS READY AND WAITING

There are prescription medicines that are prepared by us way in advance of receiving a call for them. This is particularly true of some multi-ingredient prescriptions that are written by dermatologists. Because a dermatologist will prescribe the same basic medication prescription quite often, we will compound a sufficient supply to last for a normal period of time.

Frequently, these prescriptions take a long time to make and in this way our customer will not have to wait for it to be made up from scratch. We try to work closely with all physicians to bring you a professional pharmacy service.

Each autumn, as sure as our fuel bill rises and the golden leaves fall, we turn our clocks one hour "back to the old time".

As darkness descends, many of us feel drawn to the "old times" when the family settled in early for the night, gathering around the table for "winter fare" like steaming vegetable soup and bubbling Brunswick stew. Retiring to the fireside, they had a chance to chat and to draw close at the end of the day.

Truly, this is a different time. We often do not have a schedule that allows the togetherness we long for. Yet, as winter approaches and the evenings grow longer, may we gather more closely to home and share God's Word as a family. Let us also remember to honor Him regularly at our chosen house of Worship. Give God His time each week.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DOES PRAYER REALLY DO ANYTHING?
October 26, 1997

Background Scripture:
Daniel 9
Devotional Reading:
Daniel 7:7-14

I've been praying as long as I've been talking. I cannot remember a time when I did not pray.

I've prayed, not because someone persuaded me that I should pray, nor because anyone taught me how to pray. To be sure, I've experienced some of both the "shoulds" and the "hows," but that is not why I first prayed and have continued to do so.

As best I can remember, I first prayed because praying was as natural as crying, being hungry, and all those other things humans seem to "know" from the very beginning. I prayed because it was the natural way for me to react to God's presence in my life—something else which I don't think I was taught.

I don't mean that my parents didn't teach me about God and that they did not mention prayer, nor that I was not influenced by the Sunday schools to which they took me. But my awareness of God and practice of prayer seemed to precede the formal instruction of both parents and church. Maybe my recollection is in error, but that is really the way I remember it.

EARLIEST REMEMBRANCE

Furthermore, I doubt that my experience of God and prayer are unique. Maybe others do not remember it quite as I do, but I believe we all come into this world with a knowledge of God and prayer that may vary only in degree of consciousness and unconsciousness of it. What may provide the difference in earliest awareness may be primarily the spiritual support that surrounds us in the family. I think I prayed to God before I knew who God is and what prayer can be. My family and my church simply gave a name to what I already knew.

So, 47 or so years ago when I first read Harry Emerson Fosdick's wonderful book, The Meaning of Prayer, I understood exactly what Fosdick meant when he said that prayer is a natural human capacity. He quotes Professor William James—who became another favorite of mine—in saying, "We hear in these days of scientific enlightenment a great deal of discussion about the efficacy of prayer, and many reasons are given us why we should not pray, whilst others are given us why we should. But in all this very little is said of the reason why we do pray.... The reason why we do pray is simply that we cannot help praying." (Associated Press, 1915.1959, p. 9).

I used to think that people prayed or didn't pray because their previous experiences persuaded them that it does or does not work. But I have changed my mind on that. Lots of my prayers didn't seem to "work"—at least, not as I thought they ought to—but that never dissuaded me from praying. Ultimately, I learned—again in the words of Fosdick—"We must not conceive of prayer as an overcoming of God's reluctance, but as a laying hold of his highest willingness."

CONFIRMATION

When Daniel read the prophecy of Jeremiah (25:11,12; 29:10), he responded naturally: "Then I turned my face to the Lord God, seeking him by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes. I prayed to the Lord my God and made confession..." (9:3,4). Daniel poured out his heart to God, not because he was taught to pray that way, but because it was his natural response to the reality of his God.

Daniel received a confirmation of his prayer in a way that few of us ever experience. The angel Gabriel came to him in a vision and said, "O Daniel, I have now come to give you wisdom and understanding. At the beginning of your supplications a word went forth, and I have come to tell it to you..." I believe a "word" goes "forth" from God whenever we pray.

Blessed are those who see the angel who visits them when they pray; but blessed also are those who pray without ever seeing the angels who come to all of us.

GCC To Offer School-Age Child Care Training

A School-Age Child Care Training course (45 hours) will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course will be held at the Oakland Center of GCC starting on October 28 and continuing until December 19, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. each evening.

Some of the topics will include developmental characteristics, state licensing requirements and regulations, role of provider, positive guidance strategies, physical activities, child health/ nutrition/ accident/ child protection, program planning, and resources. The presenter will be Rebecca Friend.

For more information, persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304, or the Continuing Education Office at 301-387-3069.

Tax Credits For Historic Property Workshop Topic

Area persons interested in learning about federal, state, and local tax credits for the rehabilitation of historic structures may wish to attend a workshop in Cumberland next month.

Currently, more than 49,000 structures are eligible, 3,800 of which are in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties. The workshop will be held Thursday, Nov. 13, at the Western Maryland Railroad Station in Cumberland to discuss the availability of these incentives.

Sponsored by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), the Canal Place Preservation and Development Authority, the Cumberland Historic Preservation Commission (HPC), and the Maryland Association of Historic District Commissions (MAHDC), this workshop will address the 20 percent federal income tax credit for income-producing properties, Maryland's 10 percent (15 percent beginning January 1, 1998) income tax credit for certified heritage structures, and various other local property tax credits.

The session will include the presentation of prototypical projects to identify the impact tax incentives have on rehabilitation projects. A panel of historic property owners and developers will outline how the credits affected the financial feasibility of their projects.

Speakers from DHCD, the Cumberland Planning Office, and the Cumberland Downtown Development Commission will describe how the tax credits work and examine how to maximize such credits to achieve the greatest savings possible when rehabilitating a historic structure.

The workshop will be held from 6 to 8:30 p.m. in the waiting room of the Western Maryland Railroad Station on Canal Street. The cost is $10 per person. Light refreshments will be served.

Continuing education credit (2.5 hours) from the Maryland Real Estate Commission and the Maryland Appraisers Commission is pending. The cost for those attendees who require continuing education credit is $30 per person.

SOME HELP WOULD BE APPRECIATED by Theodora Uphold and his family. Thay hava undertaken the rehabilitation of the Oakgrove Methodist Church outside Gorman. Originally dedicated on July 24, 1883 as a union of Presbyterian and Methodist congregations, and not used since the 1980's, the building is in disrepair. The wide support beams of the original structure have rotted and need to be replaced. Uphold said he felt drawn to the building by God and knowa that it is his work to refurbish it for the people of the community. "In the original deed of the church it is specified that the building should always be used as a community church," he said. With some donated materials, he and his wife, son, and daughter have been rehabilitating the aging structure. Left disabled by heart ailments, Uphold said he could use some volunteer hands to get the work done. His hope is to return the church to a usable condition as a house of worship for the community. Pictured above is the church as it looks today with the beam replacement underway. Below, Uphold's wife, Willa, right, is pictured with daughter Patty Tasker as they put a coat of paint on one of the old pews. The Pews and pulpit remain in good condition, they report. There is no electricity or plumbing. Heat was previously provided by a pot belly stove, Uphold said. Anyone who is willing to lend a hand in this restoration project may contact Uphold at 301-334-2927.

First United Third Quarter Earnings Noted

First United Corporation, Oakland, has released earnings figures for the third quarter of this year.

"During the third quarter of 1997, our organization began to realize some of the benefits of our process improvement program which began in late 1996. We will continue to look for opportunities to improve because we are committed to delivering the highest quality products and services to our customers. This commitment is the first step in ensuring our strength to grow and prosper well into the future," stated William B. Grant, chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Excluding the costs of the process improvement, corporation income would have been $5.58 million, or 11.07% ahead of 1996 results for the same time period. The corporation, a one-bank holding company, announced year-to-date earnings of $4.72 million, or $.75 per share. This figure is a slight decrease from the earnings of $5.02 million, or $.77 per share reported for the first three quarters of 1996.

"Even though the corporation reported slightly lower earnings during the first three quarters of 1997, the results are in line with budget projections, and we are confident that the corporation will experience strong performance for the remainder of 1997," said Grant, who noted that an additional provision had been made during the third quarter to the bank's loan loss reserve, primarily because of growth throughout 1997.

First United Corporation's loan portfolio continues to out-perform management projections, growing $47.19 million, or 12.33% year-to-date. The quality of the loan portfolio remains high and the corporation's non-performing loans and delinquency rates compare favorably with peers, Grant said. As of September 30, 1997, the corporation's loan portfolio totaled $429.97 million.

Deposits continue to exhibit strong growth, increasing $45.34 million, or 10.02% year-to-date, to a total of $497.88 million. Among the services provided by the company are: trust services, PrimeVest Financial Services, Inc., and Business Manager for its commercial customers. Income from these services grew 20.54% to $1.35 million as compared to $1.12 million for the same period last year.

First United Corporation (NASDAQ:FUNC) offers full-service banking through its banking subsidiary, First United National Bank & Trust. The bank operates a traditional network of offices throughout Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties in Maryland, as well as Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire, and Berkeley counties in West Virginia. As of September 30, 1997, the corporation posted assets of $565.04 million and had 6,287,542 shares outstanding.

and driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) convictions were handed down from the bench recently.

Kenneth Earl Tasker, 30, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a DUI charge and was fined $100, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Edgar Markwood Browning, 46, McHenry, pleaded guilty to a DUI charge and was fined $355, handed a 60-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

James Brian Cutter, 27, Cumberland, pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a probation before judgment, meaning that if he complies with all the terms of his one year of supervised probation the case will not reflect a criminal record. He was also fined $155, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

David Wade Hinebaugh, 24, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DWI and was given a probation before judgment; he was also fined $305 and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Jesse Thomas Ringer II, 25, Terra Alta, W.Va., was found in VOP of his DWI probation, and 18 months were added to his period of supervised probation.

Finally, Rory Stephen Bernard, 23, Swanton, was granted a motion to revise a DWI conviction to a PBJ.

Senior Center Manager Retires

Agnes Carey, Finzel, was recently honored at a retirement party given by the Grantsville Senior Center participants. She had served as nutrition site manager in Finzel and in Grantsville.

Carey had been assigned to the Area Agency on Aging by the Maryland Office on Aging. She had served as a senior aid since 1985.

"Working with agency staff members and the senior citizens of Finzel and Grantsville has been a very enriching experience for me, and I have learned a wide variety of things. I feel the agency provides a much-needed service to the aging population of Garrett County; I hope that I have been a good leader," Carey said.

In recognition of her service, Adina Brode, director of the Area Agency on Aging, presented Carey with a plaque. "Agnes faithfully executed her job duties and the agency and the participants will miss her; however, we recognize her need to fulfill personal dreams and enjoy a retirement," Brode said.

Goldstein Seeks 14,000 Owners Of Unclaimed Funds

"This is the season for tricks or treats, and 14,000 owners of unclaimed funds may find a special treat in the fall unclaimed property advertising supplement," said Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

The comptroller's office is placing a 12-page advertising supplement in 29 newspapers throughout the state from October 20 to October 30 to help locate more than 14,000 individuals and businesses who are among the most recently reported owners of million of dollars in unclaimed funds. The supplement is in today's issue of The Republican.

The 40,000 most recently reported unclaimed property accounts can also be searched at the comptroller's website at www.comp.state.md.us.

"If you see your name listed in the ad or find a match at our website, please call the unclaimed property office at 410-767-1700 in central Maryland or toll-free 1-800-782-7383 from elsewhere," Goldstein said. "Most of these advertised accounts are still being held by insurance companies and financial institutions, and we will direct callers to the proper place to make their claim."

Insurance companies, financial institutions, and other businesses are required to report funds that have been unclaimed for five years. The fall advertisement mostly reflects insurance benefits, such as life insurance benefits which went unclaimed because the policy was not discovered during the settlement of an estate, insurance policies that had a cash value even though all the premiums weren't paid, or medical insurance benefits that were misdirected in the mail and did not reach the proper recipient.

Approximately 80 days after publication of the ad, businesses that hold unclaimed accounts will turn the money over to the state.

However, that money remains the property of the owners or their legitimate heirs and they can claim the funds any time. There is no statute of limitations.

"The statewide advertising campaign during the spring generated about 11,000 calls," Goldstein said. "Our office has records on approximately 277,000 accounts of unclaimed property worth about $92 million, which have been reported over the past 30 years. In fiscal year 1997, we returned $11,571,470 in unclaimed funds to 7,556 individuals and businesses. The average claim was $1,531."

Businesses with questions about how to report unclaimed funds may also call the unclaimed property section at 410-767-1700 in central Maryland or 1-800-782-7383 from elsewhere. They may also call the comptroller's Forms-by-Fax system to obtain Business Tax Tip #19, "Reporting Unclaimed Property." This tax tip is listed as document number 4019 on index two of the Forms-by-Fax system. To request this document, persons should dial 410-974-FAXX and follow the verbal instructions.

Turkey Dinner To Be Served

The United Methodist Women of Chestnut Grove United Methodist Church will be serving a turkey dinner on Saturday, Oct. 25, in the church basement beginning at 4 p.m.

The menu will consist of turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, cole slaw, rolls, desert, and drinks. Service will continue until the food is gone.

The price of the meal will be a donation and all proceeds will be used for kitchen equipment in the church.

Carry-outs will be available.

New Horizons Tuition Help Still Available

The New Horizons Program, a Single Parent, Displaced Homemaker, and Single Pregnant Women Project, sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College, still has available for the 1997-98 funding year which ends June 30, 1998, approximately $4,000 tuition assistance money to be used by eligible program participants in pursuing vocational training in both non-credit and credit classes.

Credit and non-credit tuition assistance is a continuing part of the program again this funding year, and the New Horizons staff is ready to make this money available to persons interested in vocational training.

Arrangements have also been made to assist program participants with the purchase of books to be used in taking classes. Between $20 to $40 is available per student per class, depending on income.

There is also child care and/or transportation assistance available to program participants while taking training. Income eligibility will be the determining factor in providing this assistance.

Interested persons may contact New Horizons between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays at 410-387-3071 or 301-387-3102 for more information or to schedule an appointment, or they may visit the New Horizons office at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, Room 302.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grants funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 90 percent of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,200, which is 10 percent of the total budget.

Student's Name Among Those Now On Mars Surface

The name of a Northern High School junior is among those listed on a "documentational chip" aboard the Mars Pathfinder spacecraft, now on the surface of the "red planet." Joshua Neubert is a member of the Planetary Society, and the 100,000 members of that group are all included on the micro-chip.

A compact disk titled Visions of Mars was created for the ill-fated Russian mission to Mars in 1996. Accompanying this CD was the documentation chip that lists all the members' names. The chip was included in MAPEX, the microelectronics and photonics experiment, devised by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) as a passive recorder of incoming radiation on the planet's surface. The original idea of the Planetary Society was to include MAPEX in the 1996 Mars project in order to provide the first human explorers with information about the radiation environment.

The society was informed this summer that MAPEX was put on the Pathfinder.

"To read these names on Mars would require a scanning electron microscope, not to mention an intelligent life form on site to do the reading," Neubert said. "That may happen someday, but for now it's nice just to be there." The spacecraft landing site has been named the Carl Sagan Memorial Station. Neubert said he hopes, as Sagan hoped, that humans from all nations will someday venture to Mars and throughout the solar system.

Joshua is an honor student at Northern and has received numerous awards for his academic and extracurricular activities. He hopes to pursue a career in astronomy or astrophysics. He is the son of Cathy and John Neubert, Grantsville.

First United Notes Dividend

The board of directors of First United Corporation, a one-bank holding company headquartered in Oakland, declared a cash dividend of $.14 per share at its board meeting Sept. 24. This dividend will be payable on Nov. 1 to shareholders of record as of Oct. 20.

First United Corporation (NASDAQ:FUNC) operates one full-service commercial bank, First United National Bank & Trust. The bank has a network of community offices located in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties in Maryland, and Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire, and Berkeley counties in West Virginia.

As of Sept. 30, 1997, the corporation posted assets of $565 million.

Spiritual Renewal Services Slated By Lake Charge

The Deep Creek Lake United Methodist Charge will be sponsoring a Spiritual Renewal October 26-28. The Reverend Jack Emerick, pastor of the Grace United Methodist Church in Natrona Heights, Pa., will be the guest speaker. The evening lessons will be based on the Beatitudes. He will also be preaching at morning worship in each church.

On Sunday evening a covered dish dinner will begin at 5:30 p.m. at the McHenry Church at Mosser and Bumblebee roads. The service will begin at 7 p.m. and will include special music by the St. Paul's United Methodist Church Choir.

Fellowship will begin at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Paradise Church on Sand Flat Road, with the service at 7 p.m. The Men's Brotherhood will provide special music. Rev. Emerick will continue his discussion of the Beatitudes. Light refreshments will be served.

Fellowship will begin at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Hoyes Church on Route 42 at Hoyes Road, with the service at 7 p.m. Special music will be presented by Lori and Damon Schmuck and Bonnie Friend, Angela Maust, and Patty Morefoot, who will be playing hammered dulcimers. The study of the Beatitudes will be concluded by Rev. Emerick. Light refreshments will be served.

All are invited to attend. For more information, persons may call the parsonage at 301-387-9059.

Liller Named To Who's Who

Paul Liller, Oakland, has recently been awarded recognition by Who's Who Among American High School Students. A sophomore at Southern High School, Paul was recommended to the publication by his civic's teacher, David C. Beard.

A member of the J.V. soccer team, Paul is also on the mock trial team, and has been previously named student of the month, and received the Minds in Motion award.

His biography will appear in the publication, which includes 5% of all high school students, and he will be eligible to apply for a $1,000 scholarship.

Paul is the son of Sadie and Paul Liller Jr.

COVER STORY

Heaton brings home the new reality

By Jennifer B. Miller
©TVData Features Syndicate

Patricia Heaton

In the past, television sitcom wives generally were cast as one of two types: peevish shrew or smiling, matronly bore.

But these are enlightened times, and with them comes the realization that roles occasionally need to be reversed.

Enter Patricia Heaton.

The actress who plays Debra Barone, the wife of sportswriter Ray Barone (comic Ray Romano) in CBS' Everybody Loves Raymond, has joined Helen Hunt (Mad About You) and Patricia Richardson (Home Improvement) – among others – to create a more contemporary, realistic incarnation of prime-time TV sitcom wives.

Raymond, now in its second season, focuses on the couple's struggles to raise a family in peace despite frequent invasions by Ray's distinctly odd relatives, and Heaton was eager to make a positive statement.

"We've given Ray and Debra a wonderful relationship where she's allowed to express her frustration with him and his family without being a nag," Heaton says. "She can have her own weaknesses, she can make mistakes and be quirky – (like) a grown-up woman."

Raymond, now airing Mondays, has improved its ratings since CBS moved it out of the Friday "death slot" in which the series aired during its first season.

The sitcom's clever writing and first-rate acting have earned praise from critics, and Heaton believes audiences are drawn to Raymond for reasons similar to her own: The series mirrors real-life family experiences.

As a wife and mother, Heaton enjoys playing a character who is a warm and attentive parent but also has a wry wit and a strong sense of independence.

"In playing this part, it really reflects so much of what I go through day to day," she says. "People ask me, 'How did you prepare for your role?' And I say, 'Well, I just go home.' At home, my husband and the kids and I either do the things I just did at work or I go in the next week and I find they've written a script about the very thing I was struggling with the previous week."

Heaton has appeared on Broadway, in feature films and on other TV series (Women of the House and thirtysomething), but she finds sitcom work especially gratifying.

"I feel that a sitcom is a real particular kind of art form," she says. "It's really enjoyable to do a sort of miniplay each week from beginning to end and have an immediate response from the audience, like live theater. And comedy is a pleasure to do. It's really good for your health."

Despite her love of comedy, Heaton enjoys a change of pace. So this past summer, she co-starred in the drama Miracle in the Woods, which airs Sunday, Oct. 26, on CBS.

Miracle is about two estranged sisters (Heaton and Meredith Baxter) who are reconciled through their relationships with an older woman (Della Reese) who lives in a ramshackle house in a forest.

"It's about sisters and forgiveness, and it's really well-written," Heaton says. "I think it's going to be really moving."

Sounds substantial, but for an actress like Heaton, that's to be expected.

IN FOCUS

• Christopher Lee, who sunk his teeth into roles in such films as Horror of Dracula, is one of the stars featured in Monster Mania, a documentary exploring the evolution of monster movies.

• The special, hosted by Jack Palance, airs Friday, Oct. 31, as part of AMC's three-day Halloween Monster Mania festival, starting Thursday, Oct. 30.

The festival features a spine-tingling lineup, including Dr. Terror's House of Horrors and Invasion of the Body Snatchers.

SOAP TALK

There has never been a better time for King

By Candace Havens
©TVData Features Syndicate

T.W. King

He's made the move from daytime to prime time; now T.W. King (ex-Danny, The City) is jumping through time.

The former soap actor stars in Timecop, airing Mondays on ABC.

In the series, which is based on the Jean-Claude Van Damme film of the same name, King plays Jack Logan, a police officer from the year 2007, who protects history by traveling through time to catch fellow travelers who are trying to change the past.

Although he may be saving the world on a week-to-week basis, King says his character is far from perfect. "Every great hero has a tragic flaw, and I think that Jack Logan probably has more than one," he says. "There will be foibles that just make him more human. That's something I would like to inject in the character. I don't want him to be someone that people can't identify with, particularly myself. He's good at what he does, but he doesn't take himself too seriously."

Executive producer Robert Singer agrees. "The character does have one flaw in that while he knows he's supposed to preserve history just as it is, he's a sucker for someone in dire trouble," he says. "But that's the kind of humanist quality that we want to put into the character."

It wasn't required for the role, but King's background in martial arts saved him the trouble of having to learn the fighting technique on the job.

"I studied something called muay thai, which is Thai kick-boxing," he says. "It's the national sport of Thailand. It's used in their military, and it's both a physical exercise and mental exercise."

With the concept of traveling through history, story ideas for Timecop are limitless. King says sitcom stars have even offered ideas.

"We were at the affiliates' meeting in Orlando, and Drew Carey had a suggestion that maybe we have an episode where I go back to 1991 and push Jerry Seinfeld off a cliff," he recalls with a laugh. But don't hold your breath for that story.

There also are no plans at present for the timecop to travel back in time to save The City from certain death. But you never know.

MONDAY

The Discovery Channel cries wolf with a special that highlights the caring nature of these misunderstood animals in Wolves at Our Door, premiering Monday.

Uncle Fester on The Addams Family was a Frump, not an Addams. Morticia Addams (nee Frump) was his niece.

Students Hear About Life With Down's Syndrome

Students in a Southern Middle School seventh grade class recently heard first hand about what it is like to grow up with a disability. In this case it was Down's syndrome.

Angie Myers' class had read a story called "The Crazy Lady" iu which one of the main characters was a child with a disability that caused him to appear strange or different from other people.

Neighborhood children teased and ridiculed him and got him to put on a kind of show. One of these children eventually got to know the disabled child, and a friendship developed through which he learned that his new friend was wonderful and not all that different from himself.

The child described in the story had grown to appreciate the boy with a disability for who he was and realized that the disability did not define their friendship.

As a follow-up to reading this book, the students had a visit from two Oakland representatives from People First, a self-advocacy group for people with disabilities.

Linda Murphy, People First's vice president, and Leigh Ann Boatman, an advisor to the group, came to speak to the class about living with disabilities.

Murphy spoke to the class about what it has been like for her to live with her disability, Down's syndrome. She told them that her disability has not held her back from being happy or successful in her life. She shared her achievements with the class in order to help them see that she is not different from them.

Boatman talked about the advocacy movement today, and the laws that protect the civil rights of people with disabilities, by ensuring that they have opportunities equal to those of other people.

She also described changes that have occurred in the way that people with disabilities are perceived and treated, and about the attitudinal barriers that can diminish a person's opportunities.

In describing the experience of addressing the class, Boatman said it had been beneficial to Murphy and to the students. "This opportunity to speak to the seventh graders allowed Linda to demonstrate her capabilities. She was able to show others that people are people first, and that a disability is only one small aspect of that person's character," she said.

PEOPLE FIRST - Linda Murphy, front row left, shared her experiences in living with Down's syndrome with Angie Myers' seventh grade class at Southern Middle School. The message she gave to the students was simply that people with disabilities are people first, with many of the same dreams and struggles as anyone else. The class also heard about the self-advocacy group People First. The group members work on behalf of those with disabilities.

Cancer Support Group To Meet

Dr. Miklos Auber, hematologist oncologist at Mary Babb Randolph Cancer Center at West Virginia University, will be the guest speaker at the Cancer Support Group meeting this month.

The meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 7 p.m. in the Board Room of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The public is invited, and members and their families are encouraged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Funds Available To Preserve Historic Sites

Preservation Maryland, the state's oldest historic preservation organization, has grant funds available for non-profit organizations. In amounts ranging from $500 to $5,000, the funds can be used for a variety of purposes ranging from emergency repairs to feasibility studies.

The group has recently released information on a grant for $2,400 made to a 100-year-old church, to be used to pay for protective covering for the church windows.

Preservation Maryland also administers a revolving fund, which provides low interest loans to non-profit organizations for the acquisition and rehabilitation of historic structures.

Anyone wishing more information about these grant and loan programs may contact Elise Butler, programs director, or Tyler Gearhart, executive director, at 410-685-2886.

"Silver Whistle" Children's Play Slated At FSU

The Frostburg State University Roundabout Theatre will present its fall children's play on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 1 and 2, at 2 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Drama Theatre on FSU's campus. This year's feature will be "The Silver Whistle," written by playwright Patrick B. Mace. The show will be directed by FSU theatre major Andrea Pappas under the supervision of Dr. Linda McCulloch, professor of communication and theatre arts at FSU.

A silver whistle that is lost is the main focus of the play. When blown, a magical slave appears to grant wishes. However, there is also the threat of the whistle falling into the wrong hands and being used for the wrong reasons.

Cast members include: Andrea Smith as Bago; Tim Elliot as Rago; Courtney Fontaine as the policewoman; Brad Taylor as the soldier; Amy Newcomb as the slave; Dan Bickish as Danino; Kate Treadway as the cook; Tricia Hotchkiss as the princess; Kim Rowley as the bird; and Courtney Herbster, Brynne Kessler, Pam Entwistle, and Erin Keilty as townsfolk and servants.

Tickets are $1 each.

FSU Will Host Vivaldi Orchestra

The Vivaldi Orchestra of Moscow will hold a concert at Frostburg State University on Wednesday, Nov. 5. The performance will take place in the Performing Arts Center Recital Hall at 8 p.m.

According to an FSU spokesman, the orchestra was organized in the early 1740s by composer, conductor, and teacher Antonio Vivaldi. Vivaldi constructed the orchestra with young women from a Russian monastery orphanage where he worked. This was a revolutionary idea, as orchestras consisted of all males at that time. The women were extremely successful, and thus the orchestra survived. "Two hundred and fifty years later, the legendary orchestra continues to grace the stage," the spokesman said.

Tickets for the Vivaldi Orchestra and all CES events are available through the Lane Center Information Desk. Credit card orders can be taken by calling 301-687-4411. Tickets may also be purchased the night of the performance at the venue box office. Seating is reserved for all performances and group discount tickets are available for groups of 10 or more.

The 1997-98 FSU Cultural Event Series is funded in part by the Maryland State Arts Council and is presented in association with WFWM 91.9 FM public radio from FSU.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, FSU Library Room 228, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Md. State Police Recover Record Cocaine Amount

Maryland State Police highway drug interdiction efforts have been recognized for recovering the largest amount of crack cocaine in the country during traffic stops in 1996.

The El Paso Intelligence Center (EPIC), an agency of the Drug Enforcement Administration that monitors drug interdiction efforts throughout the country, recently presented Col. David B. Mitchell with a certificate of appreciation for the highway drug interdiction efforts of Maryland state troopers. According to EPIC, Maryland state troopers recovered more crack cocaine during traffic stops in 1996 than any other police department in the country.

"The people of Maryland have given us a clear mandate," Mitchell said. "They want us to stop the flow of drugs into their state, their neighborhoods, and the playgrounds where their children play. Our troopers are dedicated to stopping the flow of illegal drugs and they are working hard to do that, within the laws of Maryland and the Constitution of the United States," he stated.

During traffic stops in 1996, Maryland state troopers recovered more than 64 pounds of crack cocaine, in addition to the more than 220 pounds of powdered cocaine they found. Troopers also recovered more than 130 pounds of marijuana, four pounds of heroin, and more than $1.6 million in money connected to the drug trade. During these same stops, troopers recovered 41 guns, 25 knives, and eight other deadly weapons.

SHS Names September Students Of The Month

The Southern High School Student of the Month winners for September have recently been announced.

The Student of the Month winner for music was senior Jennifer Grant, the daughter of Bill and Laurie Grant, Oakland. Jennifer is president of her class, a varsity cheerleader, drum major of the marching band, and a member of chorus, winterguard, and the track team. She has been a member of Homecoming Court, the Garrett County swim team, and the Garrett Choral Society.

Jennifer's future goals include becoming a U.S. history teacher.

The social studies winner was junior Alex Roth. He is the son of Hildegurd and Wolfgang Roth of Germany. His host parents are William and Sharon Connelly of Oakland.

Alex enjoys science fiction, football, and playing the piano. In the future, he would like to study languages and social studies to become a diplomat.

The winner for math was sophomore Lori Doss. She is the daughter of Barbara and George Lipscomb of Oakland. She attends Fairview Church of the Brethren. She also is a volunteer for the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department where she helps clean fire trucks and serve dinners. Her goals include attending college and becoming a doctor.

The Student of the Month winner for science was sophomore Elizabeth Sauder. She is the daughter of Steve and Anna Sauder of Oakland. Elizabeth has received such awards as Minds in Motion, honor roll, Tech Ed. Student of the Month winner in ninth grade, and inclusion in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Elizabeth is also a member of the cross country and track teams. She attends Gortner Union Church, is a member of the youth group, and is a counselor at Camp Galilee. She also plays on a summer softball league, and has attended the Orlando '97 Mennonite Youth Convention.

After graduating, Elizabeth would like to attend college and major in engineering or child care.

The vocational winner is sophomore Ted Wolf. He is the son of Ted Wolf and Angie Blythe of Oakland. Ted is a member of the cross country team, the track team, and VICA. He also is in the Dread-Head Mountain Bike Club.

Upon graduating Ted would like to attend the U.S. Naval Academy followed by the University of Cincinnati, and major in mechanical engineering.

The winner for English was freshman Charlena Reeves. She is the daughter of Bill and Sheila Reeves of Oakland. Charlena played in the Service Club Basketball League, Allstars slow pitch softball, and plays for the Mountaintop Soccer Association.

She has received many honors while playing the clarinet in the band. She participated in EYM, the play "Joseph and the Technicolor Dreamcoat," is an active member in church, Vacation Bible school, and is in the bell choir at St. Paul's United Methodist Church. Her future plans include attending West Virginia University or the University of Maryland in College Park to major in oceanography.

Students Offered Post-Graduation Options At Expo

Over 300 students gathered at the Wisp Resort recently to take part in the annual Mtn. Top College Expo. The purpose of the expo is to help give students an awareness of their options after completing their high school education.

The expo gave students from grades 8 through 12 the opportunity to speak with representatives from over 70 colleges and institutions, and learn of programs and possibilities for their futures.

Chairman of this year's event, Kent Huber of the Garrett County Board of Education, said this forum, which is the result of a partnership between Garrett Community College and the board of education, is open to the younger students this year as well as the older high school students. "We want to get them thinking earlier about planning for high school and beyond," he said.

Huber referred to the selection of a pathway for high school studies. Thinking about future directions as early as eighth grade has become more important for students, he explained.

OVER 300 LOCAL STUDENTS from gradea 8 through 12 attendod the recent Mtn. Top Expo, where they were offered information about poat-high achool opportunitiea. Aa the atudenta talked to repreaentativea from a variety of inatitutiona, Lynn Bell, principal of Southern High School, and Martin Green, principal of Northern High School, pictured in the background, center, diecueaed the event.

In addition to the opportunity to learn about future directions, the senior class members who attended the expo had the chance to get a financial boost. Two $500 scholarships were given as senior door prizes.

These awards, Huber said, were made possible by donations from five local businesses: Mettiki Coal Corp., Accident Garage, Buffalo Coal, Oakland New Car Dealer Association, and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. Winners of the scholarships were Billy Scofield, Northern High School, and Mariah M. McBee, Southern High School.

Shriners To Give Out Information

Local members of Ali Ghan Shrine of Cumberland will be distributing free informational papers in the Oakland area this weekend that give information about the children's hospitals that are operated by the Shrine.

Members will be posted at Browning's Foodland and Treasure Island this Friday and Saturday, Oct. 24-25, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Shrine clubs throughout the country maintain 18 orthopaedic hospitals and three burn institutions for the treatment of children. Admission to the hospitals is based upon medical and financial need, and care is rendered at no cost to the patients and their families.

Persons desiring more information about the services may contact the Ali Ghan Temple at 1-301-722-5970, or call the referral line, toll-free, at 1-800-237-5055.

On Saturday October 25th compare your stats to Bill Elliott's.

Bill Elliott. 6'1". 180 lbs. Braves speeds over 200 mph. What does a guy this big have to worry about?
Kids.
Because every year, thousands of children are abducted. That's why Bill supports Project KidCare™—a national program to provide free photo ID cards to all kids. The information contained in a KidCare™ photo ID card—height, weight, eye color, etc.—is invaluable in the search for a missing child. On October 25th, from 10 am to 4 pm, you can get a free KidCare™ photo ID card at your participating Neighborhood Ford Dealer. Bring your kids. It will make Bill happy. And trust us, you want a guy with these stats on your team.

Critic's Corner

KISS THE GIRLS: As you no doubt have heard by now, this flick has generated so much early excitement that its star, Morgan Freeman, has already been approached about a sequel. I'm told he's more than interested. That's good, because once you see this movie, you'll want more as well.

Freeman portrays Alex Cross, a police detective and forensic psychologist. As such, he's not just your shoot-first, ask-questions-later type of cop. This guy thinks before he acts. He's also smart enough to get into the mind, as it were, of the bad guy he's pursuing.

Dr. Kate McTiernan (Ashley Judd), a beautiful and brilliant doctor, is kidnapped by a real psycho whose hobby is to "collect" women who intrigue him and then use them to fulfill his sick fantasies. When he's had his fill of a particular woman, he kills her. However, Kate is not about to let that happen. In the movie's most riveting scene (about halfway through), she boldly escapes. This is a real white-knuckler here. The audience fairly gasps and pants as it awaits to see if she actually succeeds.

Succeed she does. She then joins Cross in order to help him catch this guy. In one of the picture's weaker areas, though, our smart, resourceful heroine is reduced to taking a back seat to the "guys." More's the pity.

Freeman and Judd turn in phenomenal performances, keeping the audience riveted to its seats. And for the action fans among you, you won't be disappointed. There's more than enough in this picture.

While the second half of the movie isn't as well done as the first, all in all, it's a stunner. Don't miss it.

Home Tips

EMERGENCY FLOWERPOT — I needed a quickie flowerpot for a small ivy plant I was transplanting. I didn't have time to shop for one, but I did have a 2-liter-size bottle. I cut the support part of the bottom of the bottle off and removed the bottle itself.

The result was a small green planter with drain holes already provided. Hannah C., Macon, Ga.

TISSUE USE — My friend uses facial tissue instead of wrapping tissue in the presents she gives. It gets recycled or used more than once, as opposed to wrapping tissue, which is just thrown out.

I love the idea and I keep them in my kitchen drawer for future use. Jeannie P., Big Timber, Mt.

PLASTIC BAGS — My husband gave me this tip for recycling the plastic bags that newspapers are delivered in.

I save them to insert shoes into when packing and he informs me they are great for applying stain and the like to wood. Just slip your hand in and the protection is "far reaching." Jayne D., Danville, Pa.

SCREW-TOP JAR LIDS — I've found a good way to remove the lids from screw-top jars. I save the wide rubber bands that come on broccoli and stretch them around the lid. Then you can just screw them off! Candice L., Silver Springs, Md.

EASY DATE — I don't take pictures that often and my film stays in the camera for quite a while. As a result, I forget the date when the first pictures were taken, the type of film and how long it has been in the camera.

To avoid this, I take a small piece of freezer tape and place it on the camera. When I put a new roll of film in, I write date, film type and number of exposures.

This prevents a lot of mind searching! Jill D., Waterford, Va.

Antiques

Q. My dad saved my old marble collection. It includes some painted china marbles. Are they valuable?

A. China marbles can be expensive. It depends on the condition of the paint, the decoration and the size.

The most rare china marbles are painted with scenic designs. A one-inch diameter scenic marble in mint condition might sell for $1,000. A one-inch china marble with lines painted on it, in comparison, is worth about $5; with an intricate floral decoration, $100.

Q. My sister paid $45 for a cobalt-blue covered butter dish at an antique shop. The pattern looks like the caramel-colored Holly Amber pieces. Did they make that pattern in cobalt?

A. Holly Amber was first made in 1903 by the Indiana Tumbler and Goblet Co. of Greentown, Ind. The pattern of holly leaves was molded into amber glass.

It also was made in clear glass and called "Holly Clear."

In the 1970s, several companies began making Holly pattern reproductions. The covered butter dish was one of the first. It was made in cobalt, chocolate and red amber slag glass.

Reproduction items have one holly berry alternating with each leaf. The originals have from one to three berries.

Other reproduced pieces include compotes, creamers, cruets, mugs, plates, sauce dishes, sugar bowls, toothpick holders and tumblers.

Q. My old eggbeater has a handle that looks like a stiff spring. The beater blade is attached to a metal disk that turns to whip the eggs when the handle is turned. It is marked "Full Vision." It fits in a bowl marked on the bottom with "A&J, Made in the United States of America." What can you tell me?

A. The A&J Co. was started in 1909 by Benjamin Ash and Edward Johnson. They made all sorts of kitchen equipment as well as dozens of types of eggbeaters.

Most of their eggbeaters had wooden handles that were painted in green, red or beige enamel.

The company eventually was sold, and the trademark remained in use until the 1950s.

Adventure Sports Skill Courses Open To All Students At GCC

Adventure Sports skills courses at Garrett Community College are not just for the 92 students who are enrolled in that academic program this fall semester. These courses, which find classes climbing rocks, paddling kayaks through white-water rapids, and biking along mountain trails, are available to students in other programs who want a challenging outdoor physical activity. That is how Matia Egan, GCC student majoring in social and behavioral science, came to be backpacking through Dolly Sods on a recent September weekend.

Egan, mother of three, was one of 11 students in the Backpacking and Outdoor Living Skills class taught by Steve Tomb. For three days and two nights the group hiked and climbed to nearly 4,000 feet, purified water they pumped out of a stream, learned to build a no-trace fire, and slept in tents or under the stars. They carried everything in their back packs, following the rule, "Pack it in--pack it out," leaving nothing behind them.

According to Egan it was a "wonderful, refreshing" experience. "We learned so much," she said, "and the area was beautiful. The course wasn't only about outdoor camping skills, but nature, the environment, first aid, and hygiene. We learned to read a topographical map and to take compass bearings, and we even learned how to cross a river. After we had rested or camped in an area, we roughed up the grass with sticks so there would be no trace. And we learned that if you come to a mud puddle, you walk right through it, not around it."

About the food they ate, she said, "It was mostly carbohydrates--noodles, rice, trail mix, and candy bars. We cooked on a whisperlight stove, and ate it all."

Among the many things she will always remember about the weekend, Egan said, is that "air is your enemy. You push everything down tight in your packs so there is no air space."

The weekend wasn't all work for the campers, but "lots of fun," too. Egan mentioned the "Porkin" game, in which a heavy can of beans is slipped into an unsuspecting hiker's pack, other games they played, the night they slept in an open field under the stars, and the "spectacular" views they had every day.

Skill courses in the Adventure Sports program are scheduled throughout the year. Many of them have limited enrollment, but are open to other students if space is available. They include various skiing and snowboarding courses, whitewater paddling, rafting and river guiding, mountain biking, orienteering, rock climbing, fly fishing, sailing, sea kayaking, SCUBA, and ropes/initiative courses. Anyone desiring further information about these courses or the Adventure Sports program may call 301-387-3032.

Motorists Urged To Watch For Deer On Roads

Fall is a time of migration and movement for many of Maryland's wildlife species. Ospreys, which nested and fished the Chesapeake Bay all spring and summer, seek the warmer fishing grounds of Central and South America. Migratory Canada geese, which nested in the Ungava Peninsula of northern Canada, arrive in the fertile fields and wetlands of Maryland's Chesapeake Bay region.

White-tailed deer, which maintain a home range of about one square mile, also increase their daily movements and become more active during the fall season. White-tailed deer begin their reproductive cycle, and bucks begin to search for receptive females. The peak of breeding occurs during the first two weeks of November.

"Motorists need to heighten their awareness of deer during the fall breeding season," said Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin. "Deer do not stop and look both ways when they cross a highway, and the number of deer/vehicle collisions increases at this time of the year."

Collisions between deer and automobiles result in a substantial cost, including damage to vehicles, the loss of a valuable wildlife resource and human injuries or fatalities. Recent reports indicate that more than 400,000 deer/vehicle collisions occur annually on the nation's highways.

Reported deer/vehicle collisions in Maryland have risen by 62 percent over the past five years. As deer and human populations have grown in the metropolitan areas, this danger has become greater. Although no statistics are available regarding the combined property damage and personal injury loss resulting from deer/vehicle collisions in Maryland, property damage alone is conservatively estimated to be in excess of $6 million annually, according to Griffin.

Most of these accidents occur between dusk and dawn. DNR recommends the following tips to decrease the odds of striking a deer:

- Upon observing a deer crossing the road ahead, slow down and scan for more deer. Often additional deer are out of view.
- A deer standing calmly in a field may suddenly jump into the road. Anticipate the potential for this rapid change in posture.
- Elevate deer awareness at locations with deer crossing signs. These warning signs indicate locations of frequent deer crossings.
- Be especially aware during the morning and afternoon. Deer tend to be more active during the early morning hours and late afternoon hours year-round. They are moving between evening feeding areas and daytime bedding sites.
- Slow down to avoid hitting a deer, but do not swerve. This can cause a driver to lose control and strike another vehicle or to leave the highway and strike a tree or other object. Injuries to drivers and passengers when the vehicle swerves.

Heart Healthy Meals Offered At Senior Site

In an attempt to provide meals to Oakland area senior citizens who are conscious of their nutritional well-being, Mary Browning Senior Center will be preparing one "Heart Healthy" menu each month, according to a release from the Area Agency on Aging. An existing menu will be used with items being prepared from low-fat, low-sodium recipes approved by a registered dietitian.

Although menu items will be "heart healthy," salt and margarine will be available for participants who wish to add these ingredients to their food. "By having salt and margarine on the table we hope to make everyone happy while still being able to extend our Nutrition Program to those on restricted diets," stated an Agency spokesperson.

The "Heart Healthy" menus will be posted two weeks in advance to give seniors am-ple opportunity to plan ahead and make reservations.

The first "Heart Healthy" menu will be served on Friday, Nov. 21, and will include: orange juice, fish Veronique, baked potato w/nonfat yogurt, peas and carrots, wheat bread, apple, and 1% milk. Seniors should call 301-334-9431, ext. 134, for reservations.

Persons with questions about the Senior Nutrition Program and/or the "Heart Healthy" menus may call Community Action's Area Agency on Aging, 301-334-9431, ext. 142.

HIGHEST POINT PLAQUE PRESENTED TO HISTORICAL SOCIETY - Gene and Lillian Elliott, Silver Spring, on Saturday presented a plaque to the Garrett County Historical Society in commemoration of Maryland's highest point, which is located in the southern tip of the county. The spot was designated with a sign in 1952, placed there by the historical society in honor of Capt. Charles Hoye, founder of the society. The Elliotts have been working for months to help the county and/or state gain ownership of the high point, the location of which is on land owned by a West Virginia company, Western Pocahontas Properties. The Elliotts participate regularly with a national "High-pointers" club, the members of which aspire to climb to the highest spot of every state in the U.S. While many states have designated their highest peaks with permanent markers, monuments, inns, and other attractions, Maryland's spot has gone almost unnoticed by the state and county. The Elliotts have been clearing the path to the highest point and have marked the trail with orange blaze arrows for hikers. They have also contacted numerous officials and have since heard that Delegate George Edwards has been in contact with Secretary John Griffin about the issue. Rev. John Grant helped the Elliotts first find the apex, and they said they were pleased that the plaque was accepted by him on behalf of the society. Paul Shogren, a local scoutmaster, has expressed interest in making the maintenance of the high point a venture for his troop, noting that one aspiring eagle scout may take it on as his main project. The Elliotts are working to establish a local group of caretakers by the name of "Friends of Backbone Mountain." The plaque presented to the society includes a picture of the crest sign and a short history of the site. Pictured left to right are the Elliotts, Grant, and Shogren.

Helbig House To Be Part Of ARC Holiday Tour

The home of Terry and Kathy Helbig will be among those on this year's "Home for the Holidays" house tours, an event that benefits the local chapter of the American Red Cross. The tours will take place on Friday, Dec. 5, 4-9 p.m., and Saturday, Dec. 6, 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Located on Bradley Lane in Oakland, the Helbig home is "saltbox" colonial style. It was designed by Bob May and built by Concept Associates. The interior design was created by Sheila Reeves of Decorator's Nook. The Helbigs said they strongly believe in supporting local businesses, as is evidenced by their home.

The 2,700 square foot home was completed in 1994, having been almost finished when the family business, Gonder's Insurance, burned to the ground. As guests come up the walkway, they will notice massive stonework in the walls of the home. This rock was salvaged from the Gonder building's foundation.

Guests will enter the foyer and proceed through the downstairs to see custom cabinetry and columns, combined with hardwood floors and elegant seating. The house will be decorated for Christmas. Upstairs, guests will enter the sports room, where a "sports tree" will be set up. The guest room will feature antiques and unique holiday decorations. The Helbigs said they are looking forward to greeting the guests on the fund-raising tour.

Tickets are $5 for the five-home tour and are available at Flowers By Webers, Arrowhead Market, and Proudfoot's, Englander's, Deep Creek, and Gregg's pharmacies. Articles featuring the other homes will appear in future issues of The Republican.

HELBIG HOUSE TO BE ON ANNUAL RED CROSS TOUR - The Bradley Lane (Oakland) home of Terry and Kathy Helbig will be among those on the ahth annual "Home for the Holidays" house tours to benefit the local chapter of the American Red Cross. Tickets, which are $5 per person, are now on sale for the five-home event and are available at Flowers By Webers, Arrowhead Market, and Proudfoot's, Englander's, Deep Creek, and Gregg's pharmacies.

* REWARD *

I need specific information on the following cemeteries and/or burial locations which are within Garrett County. Each is listed in either the book titled Maryland's Garrett County Graves (MGCG), compiled by the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, National Society of the D.A.R., Oakland, MD, published in 1987, or in the supplement of cemeteries compiled by the GCHS (SMGCG), published in 1995, or in The Glades Star (TGS), the official publication of the GCHS. The book and supplement are available through both the Garrett County Historical Society (GCHS) and the Ruth Enlow Library. A reward of $50 will be paid for information leading to the actual physical location of each cemetery and/or burial location listed below in the form of a certified check. Responses must provide detailed and specific directions which lead to finding them, and a willingness to personally assist in physically locating them, if needed. Additional verification, if needed, is the responsibility of the respondant. Winners will be determined based upon time and date postmarks on their envelopes or FAX time and date stamps. Responses must be postmarked/FAXed prior to December 1, 1997. The decision of the advertiser/judge is final.

Health Education Info On Display

Recommendations resulting from the September meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education Health Advisory Committee were presented to the Garrett County Board of Education on October 13. At that time, minor revisions to the fourth and fifth grade developmental lessons for boys and girls were presented for information. Additionally, brochures titled "Teens Talk Sex" and "Teens Talk Drugs" were presented for use in the seventh, ninth, and eleventh grade health programs.

Copies of these lessons and brochures will be on display for public comment through November 7. Members of the community are welcome to examine and comment on these documents at the Board of Education office, which is open on weekdays between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., according to Maxine Miller, director of curriculum and instruction, 9-12.

Accident PTA Schedules Fall Fest For Oct. 31

The Accident Elementary School Parent Teacher Association will hold its annual Fall Festival on Friday, Oct. 31, at the school, an event that features games, activities, and food, as well as door prizes. It will begin at 5:30 p.m. and conclude at 8:30 p.m.

Persons and/or local businesses that wish to donate cash or door prizes for the festival may drop them off at the school or send them to the school at P.O. Box 260, Accident.

The festival is the primary fund-raiser for the Accident Elementary PTA. Proceeds from past festivals have been used to fund library books, plays, storytelling, instructional aids, Scholastic News for each student, a geography reading series for fourth and fifth grades, student supplies, cultural arts programs, and educational trips.

ACE Meeting Set For Tuesday

A meeting of the Garrett Board of Education's Advisory Committee on Education (ACE) will be held Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 7 p.m. in Room 315 in the Continuing Education Building at the Garrett Community College.

Topics for discussion will include Garrett County Schools' Technology Plan and the Family Education Network. The public is invited to attend, according to Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools.

GCC Students Are Designated For Who's Who

The 1998 edition of Who's Who among Students in American Junior Colleges will include the names of 25 students from Garrett Community College who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders, according to a recent release from the publishing company.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities, and potential for continued success. They join an elite group of students from more than 1,800 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1966.

Students named this year from Garrett Community College are: Ginnie Blocher, Jesse F. Brobst, Richard C. Chaney, Ginger A. Clark, Carolyn Cook, Andrea D. Delaney, Sandra K. DeWitt, Sheila Dillsworth, Ann Dunaway, Elizabeth A. Ellis, Judy E. Fike, Lorrie Filsinger, Alisa L. Friend, Linda Friend, Tammy Friend, Marilyn Malcolm, Michael McClintock, Nicole Meyers, Brenda Moran, Debra A. Reckart, Cheryl Remley, Tiffany Rexrode, Pamela Simpson, Waher W. Wachter, and Robert Zimmerman.

JOEL B. MILLER REUNION HELD - The Joel B. Miller reunion was held on August 31 at the Oak Dale Mennonite Church. Ivan Mauat led the prayer before the meal, which was followed by a short program with group singing led by John Yoder. The next reunion will be held in two years. Elected as officers were Paul E. Yoder, president; Ronald Miller, vice president; Lola Scheffel, secretary; and Heidi Yoder, treasurer. The newly revised Miller family book was introduced by Ivan Mauat, chairman of the book sale committee. Approximately 70 people attended the gathering. Pictured above, seated, is Joanna Miller, who is in charge of book sales. Dr. Alta Schrock, a consultant and major contributor to the "Miller Story" section of book, is next to her. Standing left to right are Marie and Paul H. Yoder, consultants and contributors to the historical section; Ada Mauat, compiler and typesetter for the genealogical section; and Evan Mauat, chairman of the Miller Book committee.

Assault Case Not Prosecuted

A case involving numerous counts of reckless endangerment and assault was not prosecuted last week in Garrett County Circuit Court. Edgar W. Brown, 29, Salisbury, Pa., had been accused of six counts of reckless endangerment and six counts of assault in May of this year.

Brown was arrested after allegedly leaning out of a car as Patricia Blackwelder drove it past a home along Foster Inn Road. He was accused of shooting a .22 calibre pistol in the vicinity of six people.

The case was not prosecuted by order of the state's attorney for Garrett County because of a lack of corroborating physical evidence.

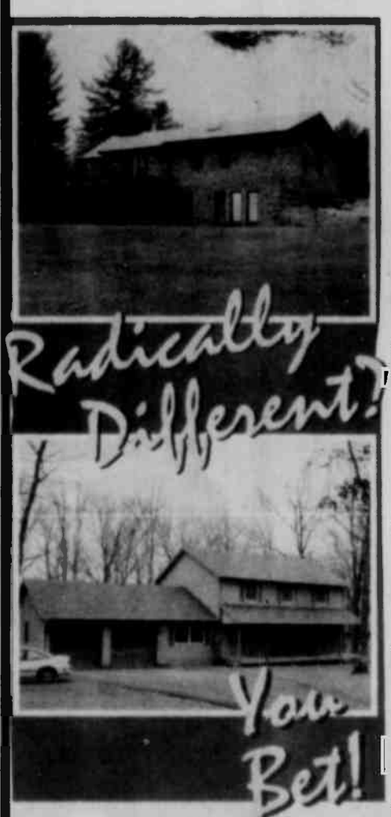
Introducing Panelcraft Building Systems
The House of Tomorrow is Here Today!
Cool When It's Hot, Cozy When It's Not!
Customer satisfaction is our #1 goal.
(Residential, Commercial, Churches—ICBO, BOCA & SBCCI Approved)
PANELCRAFT BUILDING SYSTEMS, INC.



These houses are built with Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs). Using SIPs requires less construction time and leaves the customer with a draft-free Energy Efficient Home at an affordable price!
At Panelcraft, these Panels go through a special bonding process to create a Structural Panel far superior to using just the insulation by itself in a conventional frame building.
The material used for the insulation is called Polystyrene, the same thing that is used for styrofoam coffee cups. Not only does 1/16 of an inch of Polystyrene protect your fingers from being burned from the scorching hot coffee, it also keeps them dry!
Now if only 1/16 inch will do this, imagine what 4 to 6 inches will do in your home to keep the warm and the dry inside and keep the cold and the dampness outside!
Oh! By the way all you carpenters and do-it-yourselfers, etc., no more itching and scratching and coughing while insulating a house!
Panel homes have withstood earthquake activity where others crumbled.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

LIBRARY NEWS

The Terra Alta Civic Club has once again presented to the library a donation to purchase new books. The Civic Club has been a long time supporter of the library.

Another group that has been supporting the library is the Beautificatioh Committee of Alpine Lake. This is the second year this organization has made a donation for the purchase of new books.

The Rotary Club recently requested the ordering of a book, A Pictorial History of North Central West Virginia, to be placed in the library for patrons. Active in the community as well, the Rotary has supported the library with monetary donations the past few years. Friends Of The Terra Alta Library have been supporters through purchasing computer equipment and assisting in setting up the communication system. Through the help of FOTTAL donations, the library has kept the West Virginia State Code books up to date.

Individuals giving monetary gifts have been Mary Jo Gregg and Virginia Frazee. A year's subscription to Family Fun was recently given as a gift from Nonie Johnson and The Smithsonian was given to the library as a gift from Edith K. Coxe for one year.

Patrons recently donating books or magazines have been: Shirley Young, Stanley Myers, Juanita Gardner, AARP, Kaye Garlitz, Vivian McConnell, Pearl Gordon, Jean Shaffer, Linda Rodeheaver, Lori Himelrick, Bernard Shillingburg, Carol Kling, Rebecca Harriman, Cindee Wheeler, Tim Peters, Sue Livengood, Jeanette McCarthy, Tina Smith and Donald E. Calhoun, who has also donated video tapes.

The library staff noted its appreciation to these groups and individuals for all of their continued support.

The library is once again planning its annual book sale, which will start November 4 and continue through Nov. 14. There will be a large variety of fiction and non-fiction books for all ages, at "reasonable" prices. Library hours are Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Board of Trustee member Ison T. "Bud" White has resigned from the Library Board because of health matters. White has served with the Board of Trustees for 13 years. An appreciation gathering was held as a surprise for him following a regular monthly board meeting. Attending were: Bud and Betty White, Juanita Gardner, Edna Hartman, June Frazee, June Thomas, Margarette Sypolt, all co-workers of White from the past, staff members Sharon Haskiell and Ima Thomas, and Board of Trustees members Wayne Williams, Sally Boone, Howard Metheny, and Lynda Hopkins. Replacing White on the board is Shirley Smith. She will remain until the term expires in June 1999.

BUCKWHEAT CAKE DINNER

On Nov. 1, a buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be served at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren on Rt. 24 south of Eglon. Serving begins at 4 p.m. and continues through 8 p.m. Donations for adult meals are $5, and for children 11 and under, $3. Children 4 and under may eat free. Proceeds go to the youth of the church.

MAPLE GROVE CHURCH

Next Sunday, Oct. 26, is the night for regular singalong services at the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church, Horse Shoe Run, beginning at 7 p.m.

On Sunday evening, Nov. 2, evening services will be assembled at 6 p.m., an hour earlier than regular summer convening.

The pastor, Rev. David Parker, wishes to extend to the community his appreciation for all of those who attended (more than 400) and to the cast of 75 who presented the dramatic happenings in the Tribulation House.

AURORA PTO

Allen Colebank was present at the Aurora School on Tuesday evening, Oct. 14, to present a workshop for parents, titled "How to Help Your Child With Homework."

Following his presentation, the Aurora PTO met for a business session. It was reported that members of the West Virginia parks and Recreation Directors Association had looked at the Aurora site and have made recommendations for the land use, including playground and equipment, and refurbishing of the tennis court area.

The board of education will be letting bids for razing the old vo-ag and band building. Materials stored there have been removed.

Halloween hours for the communities have been set for 6 until 8 p.m. on Oct. 31. Persons are asked to leave their porch or outside lights on if they wish to participate.

The Fall Fun Fest is set for Nov. 1, when a costume parade will begin at 6 p.m., followed by games, cake walks etc. at 6:30 p.m. Students now have tickets available for pork, turkeys, and harvest baskets.

AURORA PIONEERS MEET

The Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club had its Oct. 12 meeting in the home of leader Stacy Fint. Meghan Durst led the group in singing "Every Little Cell." The American pledge was led by Scott Kelly, and Kaylen Pike led the 4-H pledge. Becca Fint, secretary, read the minutes and roll call, and the treasurer, Jessica Callahan, also gave her report.

Rebecca Wotring reported on the club's participation in the lamb dressing contest at the Buckwheat Festival. Becca Fint said that the Aurora Pioneer Ag Olympic team placed third. The Haunted Trail event was Oct. 11, and Meghan Durst reported on the activities there.

On Nov. 9, beginning at 3 p.m., county officers' training and an achievement program will be held at Kingwood. Everyone attending is asked to bring a finger food for refreshments. Guest speaker will be Doug Hovatter.

Plans were made to serve the Mountain Lions Club on Nov. 6. All members and guests introduced themselves and told something about their interests.

Twenty members and the two leaders present viewed a video of the Haunted Trail as the evening's program.

Kaylen Fike, reporter.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

B. J. "Jeff" Coberly of Aurora was guest of honor at a surprise birthday dinner on Saturday, Oct. 11, at the Tucker County Inn in Parsons. The dinner was hosted by his wife and children.

Attending were Mr. Coberly and his wife, Barbara, of Aurora; Harold and Janice Loughrie, Grantsville, Md.; Barbara Ann Servant, Nags Head, N.C.; Michael, Ella, Alicia, and Jessica Coberly, Middletown, Md.; Jacki Coberly and Guy Riffle, and Saran and Jamie Riffle, all of Highland, Md.; Bill and Charlotte Kisner, Goldsborough, N.C.; and Joe, Joanne, and Michael Coberly, Jack, Sandra, Kelli, and Jesse Harman, David and Diana Coberly, Theresa Wamsley, Robert Goode, and Kay Harris, and Pamela Morgan and Wesley Goode, all of Elkins.

MOUNTAINEER 4-H

The Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club held its Oct. 13 meeting at the Eglon Memorial Building. Club members are selling meat raffle tickets, which support both club and county 4-H programs. They are to be turned in by Oct. 29.

An officers' training and achievement event will be Nov. 9 at Preston High School, beginning at 2 p.m.

Members designed special there desserts which were served following the meeting. The next meeting will be Nov. 12 in the Maple Spring Church basement and will be the annual club achievement event.

Ashley Bachtel, reporter.

PERSONAL MENTION

Recent donations made to the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department have been from Hancell Teets, Lawrence Hoban, and Stan's Landscaping.

Harry Cullers of Massachussetts visited recently with his sisters, and brother-in-law, Bonnie and Robert Harsh, and Betty and Dayton Bolyard and their families, all Eglon.

Frances Roth of Aurora underwent surgery Tuesday at Preston Memorial Hospital and returned to her home Saturday evening to continue recuperation.

Jessie Winters of Eglon was a Wednesday out-patient surgical admission at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She spent Thursday with her son and daughter-in-law, Neil and Bonnie Winters, Hutton, before returning to her home.

Weekend visitors with Terry and Jill Hauser at Eglon were her parents, Sam and Patricia Masters of Lewisburg, Organ Cave.

Ellis and Marie Teets attended a surprise birthday party Sunday in Cumberland honoring Mrs. Teets's cousin, Vivian Christman Ghost, on her 79th birthday. Also attending were Harold and Helen winters of Columbus, Ohio; a sister, Bernice Didio, of Kingwood; a brother, Louie Christman, of Markleysburg, Pa.; a sister Leona Yeager, Cumberland; and other relatives and friends.

Julie Baker of Virginia Beach, Va., arrived Sunday evening for a week's visit with her parents and sister, Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis, Eglon.

Aaron Layman of Eglon is sporting a cast as a result of a fractured foot, which happened during Preston High football practice.

George Friend of Aurora celebrated his birthday last Wednesday, October 15, and his daughter, Stacy Friend and son Todd, of Oakland, brought ice cream and birthday cake for an evening party at their home.

Eldean Poling has returned to her Stemple Ridge home after spending a week in Ohio visiting with her daughters, Darlene Boyett and her family at Wadsworth and Gloria Harsh in Barberton. She also visited in Parkersburg with her son and daughter-in-law, Roger and Pai Harsh.

Dale and Mildred Stemple, Aurora, and Clifton and Grace Bachtel, Horse Shoe Run, accompanied a Fall Mystery Tour this past weekend to Valley Forge. They enjoyed a barge ride (pulled by mule) on the old canal, visited Carousel World at New Hope, and Longwood Gardens and Linella Orchards.

The home of Mariorie Moats in Aurora was damaged by smoke and water Friday morning, Oct. 17, when a fire was discovered on a closed-in porch. The Aurora VFD was first responder to the call. Further damage or spread of the fire was reportedly prevented by their prompt action. Mt. Grove and Terra Alta companies were also on the scene.

A search was initiated Saturday for Guy E. Shaffer of Horse Shoe Run, who apparently left his home with a gun on Saturday. He was apprehended on Sunday at his home, reportedly having returned and hidden during the previous night. He was taken into custody by Preston County authorities.

Martha Bolyard returned this Sunday from a three-week vacation with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bolyard, in Johnson City, Tenn., and with her niece, Pamela Wainscott, in Statesville, N.C., where she also visited with a nephew, Brian Lantz. She was returned to the area by her niece and husband, Charles and Julie Adams, Oakland.

Church Slates Holiday Bazaar

The Mt. Storm United Methodist Church will host its annual Christmas Bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 1, at the Union High School gym from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

There will be many crafters that day displaying items including woven rugs, wooden crafts, fabric crafts, wooden cradles, ceramic items, Christmas ornaments, baskets, baby quilts, tree skirts, jams, jellies, and many other items.

There will also be soup, rolls, drinks, chili dogs, and baked goods for sale.

Mt. Top Service Unit's Senior Girl Scout Kelli Davis will also be collecting canned food for the Mt. Top Food Pantry and Christmas food baskets. Each can donated entitles the giver to a door prize ticket that is good for the day.

Dance Scheduled At TA VFW Post

Terra Alta VFW Post 578 will host a dance at the post home this Saturday, Oct. 25, from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. The band Blind Mice will provide classic rock for listening and dancing entertainment. Admission, which is restricted to those age 21 and over, will be $3 per person.

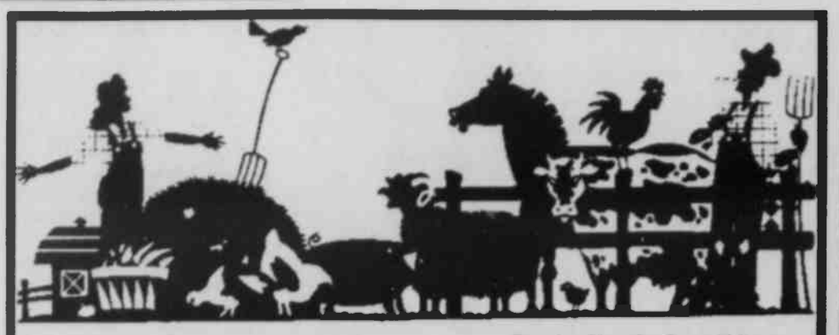
New Goatherders Aren't Kidding About Goat Meat



Barnice Kepple, Farm Editor

Farming In Maryland.....

by David Foster

Eight Garrett County families are taking the plunge into small-scale goatherding as part of a pilot program sponsored by Heifer Project International (HPI). The project participants recently welcomed 23 goats from western Texas, which they hope will become the basis of a new supplemental-income livestock industry in the region -- raising goat meat for market.

Two reasons lie behind the risk these entrepreneurs are taking. One, there is a growing search for new areas into which smaller agricultural venues can diversify. Small family operations here and around the country are being squeezed out of the larger cash crop/livestock industries of corn, beef, and dairy production, and raising goats for meat is seen as a way for local farmers to supplement their incomes.

Second, meeting the demand of growing numbers of Hispanics, Muslims, Caribbeans, Asians and other immigrant groups who bring a taste for goat meat with them from their native lands helps fuel the project. "There's a lot of potential in the county and surrounding region for building alternative agriculture with goat meat production," said Garrett County farm veterinarian Dr. Joyce Colbert, who received two does through the project. "There is a tremendous poundage of goat meat being imported through the Baltimore harbor to satisfy the needs of the ethnic market.

"American goat production just doesn't meet the domestic demand for goat meat," Colbert continued, "especially that of the various ethnic groups. They have to import most of the goat meat they consume, mainly from Europe, especially Spain and France. The market for the meat is there; we need to produce a consistent product in adequate numbers for that market."

At the moment, goatherding in western Maryland is not a full-time proposition," said Colbert "but in the future, who knows? The only limit is our imagination, because five to seven meat goats can comfortably pasture on an acre of ground during the summer months without any supplementation. During the winter some good quality hay with a small amount of grain will see them through.

"Goats are low-maintenance," Colbert continued, "but not as care-free as folklore would have some of us believe. Yet, their smaller size makes them generally easier to produce and handle than cattle for many people. They're ideal for senior citizens," she said.

Robert and Robin Rice and their family, who received one buck and three does through the project, explained how the local goat project came to be. "When we saw there was a niche in the goat meat market that we could work our way into from the bottom up, we decided we had to try it," Robert Rice said.

HPI played a big role in the Rices and the other participating families deciding to get into goats. "Heifer Project has pilot goat meat production projects going on in Virginia and South Carolina," Rice said, "and they are really interested in helping the little guy. They work with you to help you prepare for what's coming. For instance, in the process of getting the funding grant to get started, the eight participating families had to had to come up with bylaws as a group for our project, and each family had to fill out a detailed application. Then, as a group, we had to work together to come up with a budget for the next three years that was submitted to HPI headquarters in Little Rock, Ark., for Heifer Project's approval," he said.

As part of their agreement with HPI, the participants have agreed to pass on the first-born female offspring of every doe received to another family joining the program, a featured stipulation of HPI projects. This not only strengthens the goat-production industry by increasing the numbers of families producing goats, but also helps build community ties among the participants. Cooperation between members, not competition against each other, is promoted by projects sponsored by HPI.

And for the bottom line -- how does goat meat taste? "It tastes like a mild venison," according to Rice. "Like venison, it's also a very healthy lean meat, low in fat and low in cholesterol," he said.

"Goat meat is low in fat," Colbert concurred, "because goats deposit their fat outside of the meat rather than marbling it the way beef cattle have purposely been bred for. At the recent Garrett County Livestock Association dinner, we served almost two dozen of the diners goat meat without their prior knowledge, then asked them afterwards how they liked their meal. Everyone liked it, and some people even guessed it was goat meat, because there is a flavor difference between goat and beef," she said. "Goat meat is a little sweeter."

This reporter, who has eaten cubes of goat meat as part of shish kabobs in Afghani and Pakistani restaurants in the D.C. area, can attest to its taste as being delicious.

Garrett County's newest immigrants are settling into their new homes, busily bleating, eating, and growing into their winter coats. Cuds at the ready, they are poised to take their place as productive members of the local agricultural community.

GETTING THEIR GOATS - Proudly displaying four of the 23 goats that arrived from western Texas recently are, left to right, Melissa Bolyard, and Robin, Robert, and Duane Rice. The project is the result of long hours of planning and preparation by the Rices and the seven other families who are participating in a local meat goat start-up program, sponsored by Heifer Project International. The local goat raisers meet monthly at GCC, and persons who may be interested in joining the group or are just plain curious are invited to the next meeting, set for Friday, Nov. 7, at 7 p.m. in the Continuing Education building. (The room number will be posted at the entrance.) In the meantime, persons interested in further information may call Tom Donaldson, local project president, at 301-334-6311 or Robin Rice, local treasurer/secretary, at 301-387-6311.

MDA Reports On Egg/Chick Production

Maryland laying flocks produced 73 million eggs during August 1997, of which 67 million were table eggs and 6 million were hatching eggs. The average rate of lay was 71.9%. The average number of layers on hand during August was 3,275,000. On September 1, 10.5% of the layers in Maryland were being molted and 40.5% of all layers had been through a molt.

U.S. egg production totaled 6.47 billion during August, up fractionally from 6.45 billion produced during August 1996. Production included 5.45 billion table eggs and 1.02 billion hatching-type eggs. Hatching eggs included 962 million from boiler-type flocks and 56 million from egg-type flocks. The total number of layers during August averaged 299 million, up 1% from the average for August 1996. August egg production per layer was 21.6 eggs, compared to 21.7 eggs a year earlier. On September 1, 4.0% of the layers in the U.S. were being molted and 21.4% had been through a molt.

Egg-type chicks hatched during August totaled 32.9 million, up 2% from August 1996. Additional egg-type hatching eggs in incubators on September 1 totaled 31.3 million, up 13% from the previous year.

Pullets hatched and intended for future placement in domestic egg-type hatchery supply flocks totaled 284,000 during August, up 53% from the 186,000 replacements hatched in August 1996.

The August hatch of broiler-type chicks, at 709 million, was 3% above August of the previous year.

Dairy Meeting Planned Tonight In Pleasant Valley

All Garrett County dairy farmers are invited to a meeting tonight (Oct. 23) at 7:30 at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. The speakers will be John Kinsman, vice president of the American Raw Milk Producers' Pricing Association, and Wisconsin dairy farmers Joel Greeno and Joe Biba.

Topics will include an introduction of the American Raw Milk Producers' Pricing Association, the history of the association, how it works with other milk buying co-ops and plants, and how to fill out the membership agreement, followed by questions and answers and a wrap-up.

All dairy farmers are encouraged to attend due to low milk pricing.

Garrett County Farm Bureau Holds Annual Meeting/Banquet

The Garrett County Farm Bureau held its 60th annual banquet on Friday, Oct. 17, at the Bittinger fire hall. A welcome was given by Paul D. Miller, acting president, and Rev. Alan Birkby gave the invocation.

State Farm Bureau President C. William Knill was the guest speaker. He presented a film of his trip with American Farm Bureau to Austraha and New Zealand, and said that without exports, those countries could not exist. They export 70 to 90 percent of their products.

He related that New Zealand has a lot of Friesian cattle, a Jersey/Holstein cross, which has a higher fat content in their milk. This is important because cheese and butter are their main products.

Knill explained that New Zealanders depend on pounds of dry matter per acre, whether it's for five cows per acre or 10. They don't focus on pounds of milk, which is different from this country. They also rotate pasture every six to 24 hours, usually on a 12-hour basis.

He told the group that New Zealand also exports deer to the mideast through Germany, and while in that country he saw many deer farms with hundreds of deer. The velvet horns of the deer are usually exported to China and used as an aphrodisiac. The income generated from the velvet is usually more than from both the meat and hides.

Vineyards produce a large agricultural market in New Zealand, as well, he added.

Following Knill's speech, Debbie Barnard, Women's Association chairman, gave her report, and introduced the 1997 Garrett County Farm Queen April Enlow, who gave a short speech.

Clark Kolb reported on the Garrett County Fair dairy booth, where the group sold 519 gallons of ice cream, part of which were 2,600 cones. Appreciation was extended to Fike's Dairy for donating all the milk. Garrett County Farm Bureau netted over $3,000 at the fair booth after all expenses, and the money will be put to use for college scholarships for sons and daughters of Farm Bureau members, as well as a $500 scholarship for the Farm Queen.

This year, Garrett County Farm Bureau received three Gold Star Awards. They were presented to Debbie Barnard for women's committee, Art Lake for membership, and Rebecca DeBerry for information.

Election of officers and a vote on resolutions was conducted by W. Brooks Hamilton. (Resolutions are listed elsewhere in this farm section.) The new officers are: Paul D. Miller, chairman; W. Brooks Hamilton, vice chairman; Arthur Green and Thomas Brobst, Accident directors; William Enlow and Larry Meyers, Friendsville-McHenry directors; James Carey and Edgar Yoder, Grantsville-Bittinger directors; Jesse Harsh and Daniel Yoder, Oakland-Red House directors; and Willard Broadwater and Rex Hoalcraft, Swanton-Deer Park directors. Delegates to the state convention will be Ralph Lichty, William Enlow, and Don Ringer.

The Women's Committee chairman and co-chairman are Debbie Barnard and Rebecca DeBerry, respectively; Mabel Blamble, Oakland-Red House committee member; Janet Fike, Friendsville-McHenry committee member; Eva Yoder, Accident committee member; Sharon Mast, Grantsville-Bittinger committee member; and Hazel Broadwater, Swanton-Deer Park committee member.

The menu this year consisted of turkey and all the fixings, and entertainment was provided by the Gortner Quartet.

USDA Gives Rural Women Recognition

USDA officials applauded the recent news that President Clinton has designated October 15 as International Rural Women's Day. According to the White House, the move was meant to highlight largely unrecognized contributions of rural women the world over to food security and to the development of rural areas.

The presidential proclamation stated, "Today rural women comprise more than one quarter of the world's population, and they form the basis of much of the world's agricultural economy. In the United States, working on farms and ranches, they play a vital part in ensuring a healthy, safe, and abundant supply of food and fiber for our people."

"While millions of rural women worldwide live below the poverty level, they produce 60 to 80 percent of all food in some developing nations," said USDA's Under Secretary for Rural Development Jill Long Thompson. "This is a proud day for the women of rural America. I am glad that the president chose this avenue to recognize the work of rural women to produce food to feed their families and neighbors, and that the contribution of these women is starting to be recognized on a large scale."

Along with USDA Rural Development, International Rural Women's Day was sponsored by the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, the World Bank, the Women's World Summit Foundation, and Associated Country Women of the World.

The president also announced that the United States will host the Second World Conference on Women in Agriculture, to be held in 1998. The conference, sponsored by the president's Interagency Council on Women and USDA, is intended to draw women from around the world to examine ways in which women contribute to agriculture and their role in business economy. Under Secretary Long Thompson will be spearheading efforts in support of the conference.

1997 Garrett County Farm Bureau Resolutions

I. Be It Resolved: That we support the planned improvement to Rt. 219 and other state highways in Garrett County, but we are opposed to making Rt. 219 a four-lane, limited access highway through Garrett County.

II. Be It Resolved: That we urge the Department of Natural Resources to institute a black bear hunting season to control the problems associated with the numerous bears in the county. We hope compensation will be forthcoming for landowners' damages.

III. Be It Resolved: That we support the voluntary use of nutrient management plans, and oppose mandated nutrient management plans.

IV. Be It Resolved: That we applaud the county in providing the new facilities for the Extension Service, Natural Resources Conservation Service, Farm Service Agency and Rural Development.

V. Be It Resolved: That we support designating the Potomac River as an American Heritage river.

Heron Cove
"Deep Creek's Last Great 'Lakefront'ier"
. . . but about the most trailblazing you'll be doing is finding your way from your back door to the tennis courts, enjoying an evening stroll down lovely wooded trails, or slipping over to your own private dock for some of the best boating in all of Maryland — skimming atop the tranquil, blue waters of Deep Creek Lake.
And though it may seem to be a world unto itself — with its peaceful setting and crisp, clean air — this little diamond in Garrett County's crown is literally just minutes from great shopping, two 18-hole golf courses, a movie theater, and all the fine dining that makes being on the mountain top so special.

Climate Treaty Could Crush Farm And Rural Economies

The United Nations may soon be handing Americans a big surprise--a 25-cent to 50-cent hike in the price of a gallon of gasoline. If the United States, at the urging of the Clinton-Gore administration, signs on to the Global Climate Change Treaty, all Americans will pay drastically higher prices for gasoline, electricity and other sources of energy, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Those higher energy prices will seriously affect the average American farmer and rancher. According to an American Farm Bureau Federation economic analysis, the predicted higher energy costs would sap net farm income by at least 24 percent. In the worst-case scenario, farm income would be slashed nearly in half.

Farm Bureau economists, with the use of Commerce Department and industry projections of the proposed treaty's cost, analyzed the numbers to project how the increased prices would impact farmers. The economists used two scenarios: the Commerce Department says the treaty would force a 25-cent-per-gallon tax increase on gasoline, but other estimates says a likely scenario would impose a 50-cent-per-gallon tax.

According to Terry Francl, an AFBF senior economist and policy analyst, higher energy costs would be detrimental to the entire production agriculture sector. The proposed treaty, in real dollar terms, would cost farmers and ranchers anywhere from $10 billion to $20 billion in increased costs of production--including higher gas, electricity, fertilizer, chemical and other expenses.

Francl said if a 50-cent tax were imposed, farmers and ranchers could see another farm crisis similar to that experienced by many producers in the mid-1980s. He said farm-related industries also would suffer.

"Not only would net farm income be impeded, but a downturn in land prices would shrink asset values and, most likely, result in another mini-depression in the farm sector," Francl observed. "The increased production costs are expected to reduce profits and income to farmers, and slow farm loan and mortgage repayments. Consequently, this scenario would also bode poorly for lenders who are extending credit to farmers."

Sky-high energy costs for younger producers and smaller operations, or for those farmers and ranchers with high debt ratios, could force them to sell to larger, more stable producers or to simply abandon their farming activity. Economies in rural America, where many businesses depend on each other and a healthy farm economy for survival, also would be drastically impacted, Francl said.

For a closer, more detailed examination, Francl analyzed how the treaty would affect producers of specific commodities. His analysis took into account the two different energy tax scenarios on six basic American farm commodities:

· Corn production costs would rise 16 percent under the "low" increase estimate and 32 percent under the "high" estimate. Returns, or net profits, to producers would be cut by 23 percent and 52 percent, respectively.

· Soybean production costs would rise 14 percent under the "low" increase estimate and 27 percent under the "high" estimate. Returns to producers would be cut by 10 percent and 20 percent, respectively.

· Cotton production costs would rise 13 percent under the "low" increase estimate and 25 percent under the "high" estimate. Returns to producers would be cut by 25 percent and 49 percent, respectively.

· Wheat production costs would rise 13 percent under the "low" increase estimate and 27 percent under the "high" estimate. Returns to producers would be cut by 29 percent and 57 percent, respectively.

· Hog production costs would rise 5 percent under the "low" increase estimate and 10 percent under the "high" estimate. Returns to producers would be cut by 40 percent and 85 percent, respectively.

· Milk production costs would rise 4 percent under the "low" increase estimate and 8 percent under the "high" estimate. Returns to producers would be cut by 27 percent and 53 percent, respectively.

Negotiators will meet in Kyoto, Japan, in December to finalize the treaty. The treaty will then be referred to the Senate for ratification and potential adoption into U.S. law. Farm Bureau will oppose any agreement that unfairly disadvantages American farmers and ranchers.

4-H, FFA EARNS $800 FOR CLEANING UP FAIRGROUNDS - The Garrett County 4-H/FFA Livestock Program recently received a donation of $800 in return for cleaning the county fairgrounds on the Sunday following the annual fair in August. Parry's Solid Waste Disposal, a firm headquartered in Mtn. Lake Park, received the contract for the job and in turn worked with the youth to pick up the end-of-fair trash. Pictured are several of the workers during a break from their labor. In the foreground is Kelli Wilhelm. In the first row, left to right, are Amanda Wilhelm, Aaron Wilhelm, Joe Colmer Jr., Cheryl Wilhelm, and David Smearman Jr. Second row: Earl Williams (Parry's Solid Waste manager), Cindy Mitchell, Jenny Wilhelm, Bobby Jo Beltzel, Ann Colmer, and David Smearman Sr. Third row: Joe Colmer, Nathan Taylor, Crystal Colmer, David Butler, and Tim Butler.

Small Grain Planting Continues

For the week which ended on Oct. 19, wheat planting jumped 14 points but fell behind the previous and five-year averages. Wheat condition was 11% fair, 87% good, and 2% excellent.

Barley planting increased slightly this previous week by 7 points but was a little behind the previous year and five-year averages. Barley condition was 5% very poor, 9% poor, 18% fair, 63% good, and 5% excellent.

Rye seeding made the largest increase of the small grains with a jump of 20 points. Rye condition was 17% fair, 78% good, and 5% excellent.

Soybeans shedding leaves improved by 25 points and was above the previous and five-year averages. Soybeans harvested advanced by 6 points and was ahead of the previous year average but 4 points below the five-year average.

Grain corn harvesting still continued to make gains; however, it's well below the previous and five-year averages.

Sorghum harvesting advanced slightly from last week and was below the previous year and five-year averages.

Pastures were 3% very poor, 14% poor, 41% fair, 40% good, and 2% excellent.

Hay supplies were 24% very short, 35% short, 40% adequate, and 1% surplus.

Apple harvesting barely made any gain but was ahead of the previous and five-year average.

There was an average of 4.9 days suitable for fieldwork. Topsoil moisture was 9% very short, 31% short, 55% adequate, and 5% surplus. Subsoil moisture was 28% very short, 28% short, and 44% adequate.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended Oct. 19, listing the percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the 1992-1996 average, in that order, was:

Progress. Corn, harvested for grain, 45, 37, 66, and 65. Soybeans, shedding leaves, 85, 60, 83, and 83; harvested, 22, 16, 21, and 26. Sorghum, harvested, 24, 22, 33, and 32. Barley, seeded, 66, 59, 68, and 69. Rye, seeded, 58, 38, 47, and 49. Wheat, seeded, 29, 15, 32, and 33. Sorghum, harvested, 24, 22, 33, and 32. Apples, harvested, 78, 77, 70, and 76. Alfalfa, 4th cutting, 86, 81, 89, and 92; 5th cutting, 31, 17, 51, and 41. Other hay, 4th cutting, 77, 76, 65, and 57.

Hog Inventory Down 4 Percent

U.S. inventory of all hogs and pigs on September 1 was 60.3 million head. This was 4% above both the September 1996 and June 1, 1997, inventories. Breeding inventory, at 6.95 million head, is up 3% from September 1, 1996, and virtually unchanged from June 1, 1997. Market hog inventory, at 53.3 million head, was 4% above last year and last quarter. The average number of pigs per litter continues to increase at a rapid pace, with an average of 8.70 pigs saved per litter for the June-August period. Last year the litter rate averaged 8.57 pigs per litter. Pigs saved per litter by size of operation ranged from 7.50 for operations with 1-99 hogs to 8.90 for operations with more than 2,000 hogs and pigs.

World Food Prize Awarded

Two scientists who pioneered a holistic method of agricultural pest control were awarded the 1997 World Food Prize last week. Drs. Ray Smith and Perry Adkisson will share a $250,000 cash award for the development and promotion of integrated pest management (IPM), a practice that has curbed pesticide use on U.S. crops by 50 percent while protecting normal yields. Today IPM is used on millions of farms around the world.

Curran Named To Fill Position At Md. Farm Bureau

The Maryland Farm Bureau recently announced that Richard "Dick" Curran has been hired as interim administrator to replace J. Hanson Hoffman, who retired last April after 23 years of service.

Curran retired last year from a 26-year career with the Baltimore County Extension office.

Advisers Urge Treaty Delay

Advisers to President Clinton are urging him to delay the deadline for U.S. cuts in greenhouse gas emissions, and warning him not to ask for Senate approval of the Global Climate Change Treaty until developing nations sign a separate pact to control their emissions.

As the proposal stands, only industrialized nations will be forced to make drastic reductions in emission levels.

Frank Roleff

Safe Employee of the Quarter

Frank Roleff, Keyser, has been named the Luke mill's Safe Employee of the Quarter for 3rd quarter 1997. A 20-year Luke mill employee, Frank currently works in the Product Development Department.

Frank has been active in safety promotion activities throughout the mill for over 10 years. He is currently the Chairman of the Millwide Safety Training and OSHA Compliance Corrective Action Team. This team developed the "Take Time for Safety" and "START" training programs, and is working on publishing a safety handbook for the mill.

In addition to conducting monthly Product Development Department safety meetings, Frank also coordinates and/or conducts all safety training for that department. All of his efforts have been on a volunteer basis.

Congratulations, Frank!

REQUEST FOR EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST
Architectural and/or Engineering Services
Bid # GCC -1

Garrett Community College invites Expressions of Interest from architectural firms for the design of a renovation project involving ADA compliance, safety issues and air-conditioning. The design will encompass all work, but the actual construction will be bid awarded in phases. The project has an estimated total value of approximately $1,000,000. The project will be located at the McHenry campus in Garrett County.

Proposals will be evaluated by a committee to establish a short list of finalists for interview by the President and/or designees. The College may award a design contract to a firm on the finalist list or initiate a new search.

Instructions and a list of required submittals will be available for pickup by interested firms beginning Thursday, Oct. 23, 1997.

Bloodmobile To Visit Kitzmiller

Kitzmiller area residents are reminded that the American Red Cross bloodmobile will be collecting blood at the Kitzmiller fire hall next Monday, Oct. 27, from noon to 6 p.m.

According to a spokesperson for the ARC, the blood inventory is "very low" right now, so all eligible donors are urged to attend this visit. Particularly needed are blood types O negative, O positive, and B negative.

The spokesperson said that each donated unit of blood can be used to save up to four persons' lives. The ARC Blood Services program supplies blood and blood products to area hospitals, including Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Blood donors must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health.

Keep Your Car in Shape for the Pressures of the Season

Simple Car-Care Checks Can Make Winter Driving a Breeze

Record-breaking winter temperatures can leave you with enough car repairs to break your bank account. That's why it's no time to let simple, preventive car-maintenance procedures fly south with the birds. Consider these tips for a smooth ride this winter:

•Shocks and struts - Alternate freezing and thawing can produce hazardous driving conditions, like potholes. Even the most precise drivers barely can escape an entire winter without a single damaged tire or broken spring, and the jolt from the one you couldn't dodge can be expensive. The loss of a muffler and sometimes the pipes that go with it can be prevented by regularly inspecting the undercarriage. If you survive a pothole, let an expert do an alignment check to assess any damage that may have occurred.

•Tires - When outside temperatures begin to drop, tires should be checked at least once a month, since cold weather reduces your tire's inflation pressure. Driving underinflated tires causes the tread to wear faster and unevenly, and it can reduce ride performance, affect vehicle handling and decrease your vehicle's fuel efficiency.

If your vehicle becomes stuck on ice, you should avoid spinning the tires, because the force created from this action literally can rip your tires apart.

•Brakes - Don't gamble with your brakes; they can save your life. Your braking system, probably the most critical safety system on your car, should be checked periodically this winter. It's like buying yourself peace of mind.

•Engines - A severe winter could mean millions of cars failing to start. Excessive exhaust emissions and a polluted atmosphere can dull a picturesque snowfall, and misfiring is never pretty. Before a "no-start" ruins your day, have your car tuned up.

•Belts and hoses - When one needs replacing, you're likely to find more in marginal condition. Rubber components under the hood exist in a hostile environment, surviving subzero temperatures in the winter.

Hoses circulate as much as 7,500 gallons of coolant per hour at up to 18 pounds of pressure - and warrant periodic attention. Failure to maintain your cooling system by flushing and refilling every 24 months with fresh antifreeze can cause freeze-up, overheating, and rust and corrosion buildup.

•Batteries - Batteries lose their charge over time, especially in cold weather, and cable connections can corrode. A certified technician can test the strength of your battery's charge.

Don't delay - fall's already here, and winter's on its way!

Put Safety First When You Are Jump-Starting a Car Battery

How much do you know about your car? Each year, thousands of Americans suffer serious eye injuries or blindness because they don't know the proper procedure for jump-starting a dead car battery. Take this test, courtesy of Prevent Blindness AmericaTM, and find out how much you know about auto-battery safety.

1. Most batteries in today's cars are called "maintenance-free," which means they don't require regular checkups.
   True
   False
2. Motorists should own a set of jumper cables tested and approved by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE).
   True
   False
3. All you need to jump-start a vehicle with a dead battery is a set of jumper cables.
   True
   False
4. Jump-starting a dead car battery is simple if you know the proper and safe procedures.
   True
   False
5. Never clamp the negative cable to the negative post of the dead battery.
   True
   False
6. If battery acid comes in contact with your eye, seek medical attention immediately.
   True
   False
7. In a vehicle-battery explosion, flying battery fragments can cause serious eye injuries or blindness.
   True
   False
8. Wearing sunglasses or a pair of regular eyeglasses is enough protection when jump-starting a disabled car.
   True
   False

ANSWERS

1. False - There is no such thing as a "maintenance-free" battery. Battery posts may still corrode, and battery cases may still crack, especially during the winter. Preventive maintenance is your best defense against vehicle failure. Prevent Blindness recommends that motorists check car batteries before winter sets in or, in the warmer climates, before the summer sizzles.

2. True - Jumper cables tested and approved by the SAE mean the cables meet the most stringent safety standards. Jumper cables that are not in good condition actually can be dangerous to the person jump-starting the car. Damaged cables may produce sparks, which can lead to battery explosion. Purchase cables that are at least 12 feet long and color-coded. Look for the SAE symbol on the label.

3. False - In addition to jumper cables, every car should have the following essentials for jump-starting: splashproof safety goggles for eye protection, flashlight and step-by-step guide for jump-starting a car.

4. True - The best way to ensure that you are following the proper procedures is to have the jump-start instructions handy in the car. Store the directions where you can find them easily, like under the hood, in your glove compartment or with the jumper cables.

5. True - This is a sure way to cause a spark, which can lead to battery explosion. All batteries produce hydrogen and oxygen gases. If the hydrogen gas comes into contact with a spark, the battery can explode, sending pieces of the battery and acid flying. You should clamp the last connection to a good ground in the disabled car, like the engine block, car frame or other unpainted metallic surface.

6. False - The injured motorist should flush the affected eye with the first drinkable liquid handy, like water, milk, soft drinks or juice. The longer you wait, the greater the chances of a serious eye injury. Flush the eye for at least 15 minutes before seeking emergency medical attention.

7. True - However, a battery also contains sulfuric acid, which can burn through clothing. In an explosion, the acid is as dangerous to the eyes as the battery pieces, because it can severely burn the delicate eye tissue.

8. False - Eyeglasses that are not made of polycarbonate (the most impact-resistant material available) can crack or break easily. Regular glasses also cannot protect your eyes from acid that can enter from the side. That's why Prevent Blindness recommends using splashproof safety goggles (designed for occupational use and marked with a Z87 logo) made with a polycarbonate lens when jump-starting.

AAA Launches Nationwide Teen Driver Campaign To Help Decrease Teen Crashes

AAA is launching a new nationwide campaign this month titled "License to Learn" to help increase awareness of the problems associated with young drivers, specifically those ages 15 to 20.

In 1996, more than 6,300 teens ages 16 to 20 lost their lives in automobile crashes. An estimated 595,000 teens were injured, with thousands of them permanently paralyzed and dependent on others for the remainder of their lives. More than half of those killed were drivers; the others were passengers.

In Maryland, persons ages 16 to 20 represented 12.4 percent of those killed in automobile crashes in 1995, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. However, this group only accounts for 4.2 percent of licensed drivers in the state. Nationwide, teens are three to four times more likely to be involved in a crash than the driving population at large - a statistic that has changed little in the past 15 years. Costs associated with these accidents also are astounding. In 1996, motor vehicle crashes cost Americans more than $150 billion - enough to fund annual college tuition for 5.5 million students.

•Young drivers are more likely to have passengers in the car with them. Twenty percent of passenger deaths in 1995 occurred when a teenager was driving. Two-thirds of the teen passengers killed were in a vehicle driven by another teen.

•Teen drivers also tend to be repeat offenders. Of the 15- to 20-year-old drivers involved in a fatal crash, 14 percent did not have a valid operator's license at the time of the crash. One-third of this group also had a previous license suspension or revocation on their record.

•In 1995, three percent of those ages 15 to 20 involved in crashes resulting in injury had been drinking; 20 percent of those involved in fatal crashes had been drinking. Teen drivers also are less likely to use restraints when they have been drinking. In 1995, 77 percent of young drivers involved in fatal crashes who had been drinking were unrestrained.

AAA's "License to Learn" campaign will focus on the following goals:

1.) Educate and raise awareness of the seriousness of the novice driver safety issues:

•Launching a comprehensive awareness campaign for teen-age drivers and their parents, opinion leaders, and policy makers.

2.) Improving the learning process by

•Mandating more: behind-the-wheel driving experience.

•Increasing the focus on risk-based training.

•Developing uniform standards for driver education course content.

3.) Improving the driver licensing process by working to:

•Implement a graduated licensing system in all 50 states by the year 2000.

•Eliminating deficiencies in the licensing process that allows new drivers to become fully licensed without assuring they are ready to drive.

See And Be Seen This Halloween

Ghosts, ghouls, goblins, and the early darkness come with the end of daylight saving time can combine to make Halloween a scary time for trick-or-treaters and motorists, AAA warns.

Trick-or-treaters are particularly at risk because they are usually out near dusk when visibility is lowest. The key to Halloween safety - for drivers and pedestrians - is to see and be seen.

Nearly half of all pedestrian fatalities involving children occur between 4 and 8 p.m.

For trick-or-treaters, the best advice is to make their rounds during daylight, AAA advises. If out after dark they should wear reflective clothing, carry a flashlight, travel in groups on well-lighted sidewalks and carefully check for traffic before crossing roads. It also is important that young trick-or-treaters be accompanied by a parent or older teen.

For motorists, AAA says being seen and seeing others means staying alert, driving slowly and using headlights beginning at least one hour before sunset.

On Halloween, drivers should watch for children darting into traffic from between parked cars. Seventy-eight percent of fatalities involving young pedestrians occur at non-intersection locations.

To help ensure maximum visibility, drivers should check that their vehicle's headlights, taillights, brake lights and turn signals are in proper working order. During inspections by AAA, 42 percent of vehicles were found to have burned out bulbs or other lighting system malfunctions. Cleaning headlights and windows also increases visibility.

Protect the Environment: Recycle Oil and Oil Filters

(MS) - Many do-it-yourself home mechanics often choose to change their car's oil and oil filter themselves, rather than leave the task to a professional. However, these DIYers can help protect the environment at the same time they are servicing their car.

In past years, most used oil filters were thrown in the trash. Today, oil and oil filters are recyclable. According to Filter Manufacturers Council (FMC), the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency requires used oil filters to be drained of all free-flowing oil before they are recycled.

In the interest of protecting the environment, home mechanics should collect and recycle used oil. It is best to store the oil in an empty steel or plastic container - not a container previously used to store chemicals - and take it to a service station or waste-recycling center that accepts used oil. People should never pour used oil down a drain, into a sanitary sewer or on the ground.

Oil filters should be recycled as well. These filters, which are made of steel, are recycled into new steel products, like steel cans, appliances and construction materials.

The following, courtesy of FMC and the Steel Recycling Institute, outline the steps to take to ensure proper recycling of motor oil and the oil filter.

Step 1 - Remove the filter from the engine to "hot drain" it while the engine is still warm. Hot draining refers to draining the oil filter at or near engine operating temperature but above 60 F. Be sure to use extreme caution when hot draining filters to avoid burns. Wear protective equipment, like safety glasses and gloves.

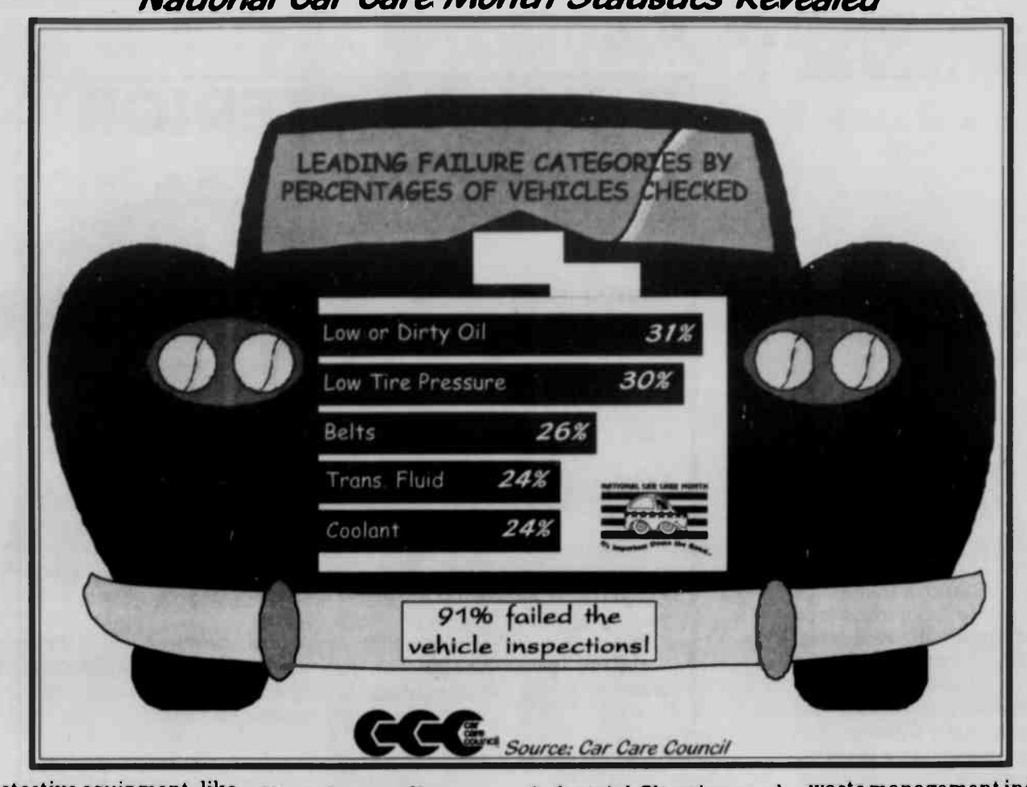
Step 2 - Using a tool, like a screwdriver, carefully puncture the dome end of the filter. Turn the filter upside down so it can drain completely into the container for used-oil recycling. Allow the filter to drain overnight (or a minimum of 12 hours) to remove all oil.

Step 3 - Recycle oil and drained oil filters at your local garage or special waste-recycling center. Check with the local service station or contact the city or county recycling official for information about collection centers. Some auto parts stores also accept used oil and drained filters for recycling.

Established in 1971, FMC represents manufacturers of vehicular and industrial filtration products.

The Steel Recycling Institute educates the solid-waste management industry, government, business and consumers about the benefits of steel recycling.

National Car Care Month Statistics Revealed



Important Facts You Should Know Before Hitting the Road

(MS) - These days, cars can do practically everything but drive themselves. Computerized maps show you the way when you are lost. Gauges tell you how many miles you can travel before running out of fuel. Headlights automatically turn on as the sky dims. And, keyless remotes even can start your engine and warm the car while you sit comfortably in the house.

However, no matter how advanced technology becomes, there is one area that always will be the responsibility of the driver - car maintenance. Just how much do you know about the basic maintenance of your car?

According to the experts at Kendall Motor Oil, there are some simple maintenance guidelines everyone on the road should know in terms of daily upkeep. In order to find out whether you are a full-fledged grease monkey, shade-tree mechanic or need to start reading your car manual for fun, take this simple quiz from Kendall. Give yourself one point for every correct answer.

Since mistakes can be considered learning experiences, take a look at the correct answers, and learn some general facts about car-care maintenance.

* Fuel filters - The main function of the fuel filter is to trap contaminants like dirt and rust and prevent them from affecting engine operation and fuel performance. A clogged filter can result in such problems as hard starting, lack of high-speed power and stalling. Typically, original equipment manufacturers suggest changing your fuel filter every 30,000 miles, although some mechanics recommend an annual replacement.

* Tire rotation - Tire rotation is recommended every 6,000 miles in order to ensure that tires wear evenly and to prolong the life of your tires. An easy way to remember this task is to have the tires rotated during every other oil change.

* Oil filters - The oil filter's job is to trap impurities like dirt, metal particles and carbon particles (soot), keeping them from contaminating the oil and decreasing its effectiveness. The oil filter should be changed every time you change the oil.

* Motor oil - According to the experts at Kendall Motor Oil, a car's oil should be changed every 3,000 miles, along with the filter. Turbocharged and diesel engines require more frequent oil changes because of the high temperatures that the turbocharger bearings endure.

Now that you know when and why, learn what to put in your vehicle. Whether you change your oil yourself or have the professionals do it for you, there are a few facts and terms you should know before choosing a motor oil.

* The letters and numbers - You've seen the strange configuration of letters and numbers before - 5W-30, 15W-40, 10W-30 - but what does it all mean? The coding found on the front of a motor oil bottle refers to the product's viscosity, or flow rate/thickness of the oil.

Checking your owner's manual usually will answer the question of what oil grade is best for your vehicle. Engine manufacturers highly recommend multigrade engine oils. These lubricants provide good flow at start-up, but still maintain thickness at high temperatures, allowing your car to adapt to a greater range of circumstances.

An all-purpose oil like Kendall's Superb 100 10W-30 is an example of a multigrade oil that is well-suited for most passenger vehicles.

* Synthetic vs. petroleum - Not all of the motor oil used today is made from the traditional crude oil taken from the ground. Synthetic oil is a type of man-made oil created from chemical reactions. Formerly used to handle the extreme temperatures of jet engines, synthetic motor oil was designed for car and truck owners whose vehicles needed engine protection from demanding conditions.

More expensive than the familiar petroleum-based oils, synthetic oil is definitely worth the price difference if you have a turbocharged or fuel-injected engine, drive at high speeds over long distances, or use your vehicle for towing. A quality synthetic oil, like Kendall EliteTM, can serve as an inexpensive insurance policy for those operating under extreme conditions, making the difference in price worth every penny.

As your car ages, it is even more important to check the oil with each gasoline fill-up and pay close attention to preventive maintenance. Short-trip driving and stop-and-go traffic, which most drivers today experience on a regular basis, take their toll on engines. The best way to counteract such severe wear and tear is a comprehensive maintenance program, regularly scheduled servicing and quality products like Kendall Motor Oil under the hood.

Imitation Collision Parts Could Damage Your Car's Resale Value!
Before your body shop installs imitation sheet metal on your GM car or light truck, here's a thought: Stop them! Many imitation body parts cut corners on corrosion protection. They're often made of non-galvanized steel with just a thin coat of primer. What's more, they may require extra drilling and cutting for mounting — further exposing bare metal to rust. And that could damage a car's resale value down the road!

For your vehicle's body work, replace the original with the original and specify genuine GM Collision Parts. GM sheet metal is galvanized on both sides for corrosion protection. It meets GM's strict standards for fit, finish and structural strength. And it's backed by a Limited Lifetime Warranty (see us for details).

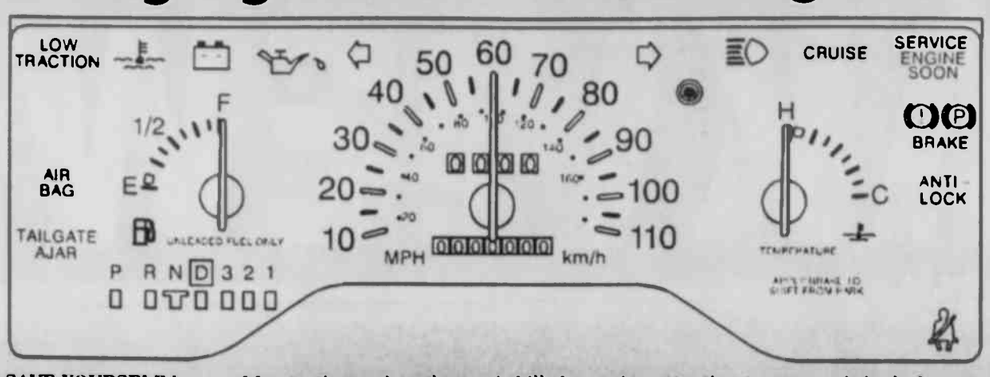
Don't Let Warning Lights Darken Your Engine's Performance



SAVE YOURSELF hours of frustration and costly repair bills by paying attention to your car's in-dash warning lights. They not only tell you how your vehicle is running, but they also alert you to potential problems.

(MS) - "This manual contains warnings against operating procedures which could result in an accident or bodily injury. It contains CAUTIONS against procedures which could result in damage to your vehicle. If you do not read this entire manual, you may miss important information. Observe all Warnings and Cautions."

This precautionary statement, typical to most vehicle owner's manuals, explains the importance of reading and heeding the advice for operating and maintaining your vehicle.

A section that should not be overlooked in these manuals is the explanation about your vehicle's warning lights. Warning lights tell you that something is wrong. Not obeying your vehicle's advice could leave you stranded and/or put a large dent in your wallet.

The following information, compiled by Gates Rubber Co. engineers, explains the meaning of various warning lights, what triggers each one to come on, what can happen if corrective action is prolonged and how to prevent each light from coming on.

If you haven't had the time or motivation to acquaint yourself with the details of your car's warning lights, this summary could save you hours of frustration and maybe a lot of money.

VOLTAGE LIGHT

This light monitors your car's electrical-system voltage. The light warns you that the battery is being discharged. If you continuously drive while this light is on, you could drain your battery and not be able to restart the car.

Battery discharge can be caused by a loose, missing or broken generator belt. Look under the hood, and visually check the belt. Do not continue driving if the belt is missing, broken or loose. (On many late-model vehicles, one belt - serpentine belt - will drive several accessories, including the generator.) If the belt is in good condition, but the light remains on, immediate service should be performed. If the belt is 4 years old, Gates recommends changing the belt before it fails.

ENGINE WARNING LIGHT

This light, or a temperature gauge, warns you of an overheated engine. If this light illuminates, move your vehicle safely off the road, put it in park, turn your air conditioning off, open all of the windows, adjust your heat level to maximum hot, and turn the fan to high. Then, open the hood; if steam or water is coming from the engine, stand clear to prevent getting burned. Visually check drive belts for damage or looseness, especially the water-pump belt. Also, check if the cooling fan is running. The radiator and radiator hoses should not leak coolant. Stop the engine immediately if coolant is leaking, the cooling fan is not turning, or the drive belt is missing or damaged.

Overheating can have a number of causes. It is often the result of coolant loss or low coolant level. Low coolant level may be due to leaks in hoses, the radiator or the engine itself.

Too much heat in your engine can cause serious long-term damage. Excessive heat causes valve stems to stick, pistons to scuff and seize, and cylinder heads to warp and crack. Serious damage can mean an expensive engine replacement.

To avoid overheating, constantly check the condition of the radiator and hoses. An easy and effective way to check hoses is to perform the "squeeze test." When the engine is cool, squeeze each hose near every clamp and connector. Use two fingers and a thumb to check for weaknesses and any limpness between the middle and ends of the hose. If the ends are soft and feel mushy, chances are electrochemical hose degradation (ECD) is occurring. To avoid breakdowns, hose replacement is recommended.

Gates recommends replacing all coolant hoses every four years, regardless of their appearance, for safe driving.

A routine inspection of the thermostat every six months will help prevent the possibility of overheating. To check, allow the engine to warm up for 10 minutes to 15 minutes, then feel the upper radiator hose. If the hose does not feel warm, the thermostat is malfunctioning and should be replaced.

BRAKE-FLUID WARNING LIGHT

Driving a vehicle with the brake-fluid light on is dangerous. This light signifies that the emergency brake is on or the brake fluid in the master cylinder has dropped below a specified level.

First, check to see if your emergency brake is applied. If it's not, then slow down, and pull off the road. Find a safe place to test your brakes by starting and stopping. If you judge your brakes are still operating adequately, drive to the nearest dealer or repair shop. If the brakes are not adequate, have your car towed in to be repaired.

There are only two reasons why brake fluid in your master cylinder should go down. The first is that the brake-fluid level recedes during normal brake-lining wear. The other, more dangerous reason is that fluid is leaking out of the brake system.

To prevent the brake-fluid light from coming on, and ultimately brake failure, inspect hose and hose couplings for leaks, surface cracking, scuffing or worn spots. If any of these conditions exist, replace the faulty part or parts immediately.

MALFUNCTION INDICATOR LIGHT

This light, also known as the "service engine soon" light, indicates that there is a problem somewhere in the fuel system, ignition system, automatic-transmission electrical system or emission system. Although most of the time your vehicle may be driveable, proceed immediately to a dealer or repair shop.

A variety of circumstances can cause a problem in any one of these systems. The problem can range from having no fuel left in the gas tank to having holes in the exhaust.

Continued operation of your vehicle with the malfunction indicator light on can lead to poor driveability, reduced fuel economy and possible long-term damage to your engine, warns Gates.

To prevent the engine malfunction light from appearing, routinely have your car serviced as recommended by your operator's manual.

Always remember to pay close attention to your car's in-dash warning lights. These lights not only tell you a lot about how your car is running, but they can alert you to potential problems.

If one of the warning lights appear, follow the above instructions to ensure your safety and protect the car.

By inspecting and replacing your vehicle's worn parts, you can successively prevent many headaches and high repair bills.

When It Comes to Getting a New Car, Decide What's Right for You

You've got school loans to pay off. You just bought a house. You have a little one at home and another on the way. You really need to start saving for retirement. To top it off, your car broke down again!

Being financially stable isn't easy today. Just when you think you're getting ahead, something happens to deplete your savings. How can you afford all of the things you need and still save money?

To help answer this and other financial questions, award-winning financial advisor and talk-show host Ric Edelman, CFS, RFC, CMFC, has written "The Truth About Money" (Georgetown University Press). In this comprehensive financial-planning book, he discusses getting out of debt, planning for retirement, buying and selling a home, and buying a new car vs. leasing one. He also reveals proven investment strategies. The book, featuring 138 charts and graphs, 60 cartoons, and dozens of humorous anecdotes, is easy to understand and can help you make important financial decisions, like getting a new car.

Once you realize that you can't keep your old car any longer, you need to make a choice: Should you buy a new car or lease one? What's the difference, and which option is best for you?

When you lease a car, your monthly payments can be hundreds of dollars less than if you were to buy the same car. In his book, Edelman explains why.

Economically speaking, cars consist of three parts: equity or ownership, depreciation and interest expense. If you finance the purchase of a car, you pay for all three parts, and you own the vehicle once you've finished paying. If you lease, you are paying only for the use of the vehicle. Therefore, you pay for the car's depreciation and interest, not the equity, and you return the car at the end of the lease term. This is why monthly lease payments are lower than purchase payments.

To determine if you should buy or lease, ask yourself these two questions:

1. How many miles do you drive each year? In most leases, you are allowed to drive only 15,000 miles per year, or 60,000 miles on a four-year lease. Anything more will cost you up to 25 cents a mile. Therefore, leasing works best for people who drive less than 15,000 miles a year.

2. How long do you generally keep your cars? Leasing is best for people who keep their cars for four years or less. Remember that when leasing, you never enjoy a payment-free month. At the end of the lease, you must turn in the car and get a new one with a new lease or purchase contract. Therefore, if you keep a car for seven or eight years, you'll find that, over the long run, leasing is much more expensive than buying.

If you decide to lease a new car, Edelman recommends that you keep these money-saving tips in mind:

*Gap insurance - Perhaps the single most important - and most overlooked - element of leasing is gap insurance. This covers the difference between the lease contract's stated residual value of the car and the car's actual value.

Say the contract states that the car's residual value at the end of the lease will be $15,200, but the actual value will be only $10,000. If you wreck the car three months before the lease expires, your insurance company will pay only $10,000. You will be responsible for the remaining $5,200.

So, make sure that your lease contract includes gap insurance - even if you have to pay extra for it.

*Optional equipment - Never buy optional equipment in a car that you're not buying. When leasing, keep in mind that you don't own the car. So, be careful when agreeing to options that the dealer offers, like floor mats, fancier hubcaps, a CD changer or a telephone. Don't pay for the full cost of owning these items when you're only renting them.

What you should do is incorporate the cost of the options into the overall price of the car and negotiate the lease price. Don't just have the dealer add the cost of the items to your monthly payment.

*Car warranty - Don't lease for a term beyond the car's warranty. If the car comes with a two-year bumper-to-bumper warranty, get a two-year lease. By opting for a three-year lease, you could be stuck with huge repair bills in the third year - on a car that you don't own.

Before you rush to get a new car, think about which option is best for you. The right decision can save you a lot of money in the long run.

Choose A Safe Vehicle For Teen's First Car, AAA Says

Helping young drivers choose their first car isn't easy. They often want sporty sedans, pickup trucks, or off-road vehicles. But, these are not the safest choices for inexperienced drivers, AAA cautions.

•Look for an automatic. An automatic transmission enables new drivers to concentrate on steering and braking, without the distraction of shifting gears. And, speedy starts from stoplights and stop signs are less enticing with an automatic.

•Bigger is safer. Small cars have more than twice as many occupant deaths each year as large cars, according to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. A basic sedan might not excite a teen, but it will provide satisfactory transportation and a sense of freedom.

•Choose the tamer model. Many sporty cars have safer models. If you are considering a sporty car, avoid the highest performance models. The more traditional vehicle will be less likely to invite dangerous driving, and it will cost less to insure.

Also, don't let insurance costs take you by surprise. Contact your insurance agent for a price estimate after you've narrowed the search to a couple of choices.

Campaign Urges Motorists to 'Brake and Steer'

(MS) - Record numbers of Americans drive cars equipped with anti-lock braking systems (ABS), and with the challenges of winter driving ranging from rain-slicked streets along the Gulf Coast to snowy highways in the Northeast, it's more important than ever for drivers to understand how to maximize the advantage of ABS.

In response to this need, the ABS Education Alliance sponsors the America Brakes for Safety campaign to help drivers better understand anti-lock braking systems and how to maintain control of their vehicles in emergency braking situations.

"Cars are made to steer; they shouldn't skid," says Rosemarie Kitchin of the ABS Education Alliance. "And, that's what ABS does - it lets the drivers steer their cars even in emergency situations under the worst of road conditions.

"Conventional braking systems require that drivers hit the brakes, remember to pump the brake pedal if the wheels start to lock and steer into the skid if they start to slide. That's a lot to remember in a few seconds," she continues. "But, with ABS, it's simple: Brake and steer. That's a big benefit in a panic situation."

Still, the alliance recognizes that anti-lock brakes can make a greater difference in enhancing safety on the road when even more drivers understand how they work and the way they should be used.

The idea behind anti-lock brakes is simple. ABS eliminates the need to pump the brakes, because it pumps automatically at a rate of up to 18 times per second anytime a sensor detects the start of wheel lock. Because the vehicle's wheels are kept from locking up on slippery roads, the driver can continue to steer.

There are two kinds of anti-lock brakes: four-wheel ABS, found on passenger cars and some newer light trucks, and rear-wheel (RWAL) ABS, found primarily on light trucks. The difference lies in the way drivers operate the brakes. With four-wheel-ABS-equipped cars, drivers must maintain firm pressure on the brake and steer.

RWAL-equipped vehicles are designed to maintain directional stability and prevent the back end from swinging out in emergency braking situations. RWAL systems modulate the braking pressure of the rear wheels only, which prevents wheel lock of the rear wheels and keeps the vehicle moving in a straight path.

To maintain steering control with a rear-wheel anti-lock vehicle, the driver must control front-wheel braking to prevent front-wheel lock. The driver should apply the brake pedal with just enough force to stop the vehicle without locking the front wheels. The driver then can maintain steering control while rear-wheel ABS prevents the vehicle from skidding sideways.

Once drivers learn to "brake and steer," they're halfway there. It is just as important for drivers to understand that ABS technology has limitations and cannot replace safe driving practices.

"Drivers sometimes think the new technology allows them to ignore dangerous driving conditions," says Kitchin. "There's no substitute for safe driving, especially in bad weather. Anti-lock brakes cannot compensate for driving faster or more aggressively, or for maintaining unsafe following distances, nor can they guarantee recovery from a spin or skid."

Industry members welcome the alliance's efforts to educate drivers. "There is no doubt anti-lock brakes can help save lives," says Phil Haseltine, president of the American Coalition for Traffic Safety, "but the driver is still responsible for safe and defensive driving."

Kitchin agrees: "The best drivers are those who stay alert, drive defensively and anticipate what might happen next."

For information and a brochure on how to "brake and steer," people can call 1-800-ABS-8958.

Did You Know ...

Whether you drive down the road or across the country, there are certain items that should be kept in your car in case of an emergency. Don't leave home without having the following items in your car; you never know when they'll come in handy.

*Spare tire
*Car jack
*Road flares
*Pack of matches
*Map of the United States, plus a map featuring streets in your neighborhood
*Package of bandages
*Flashlight with extra batteries
*Shovel
*Ice scraper
*Extra set of waterproof gloves
*Roll of paper towels and glass cleaner to clean dirty windshields
*Umbrella
*Pens, pencils and notepaper
*Extra change for unexpected tolls.

Look Both Ways Before Using Car Phones

Due to today's hectic lifestyles, cellular phones have become a popular accessory in many cars because of their ease of use and convenience. However, the Insurance Information Institute (I.I.I.) urges drivers to take precautions when using cellular phones.

A study by the Rochester Institute of Technology found that drivers with cellular phones are 34 percent more likely to be involved in traffic accidents than drivers without phones.

"Anything that distracts the driver's attention from the road, whether it's dialing a cellular phone or talking to the kids in the backseat, puts the driver at greater risk for an accident," says Jayna Neagle of the I.I.I.

According to the institute, car phones with hands-free microphones are the safest for drivers to utilize. If drivers do not have this type of phone, the I.I.I. advises the following:

* Keep the phone in an easily accessible location.
* Use a phone with pre-programmed dialing to minimize eye distraction.
* Pull over to the side of the road if you have to make a phone call.
* End conversations and let voice mail answer incoming calls if traffic becomes heavy.

Car phones tend to make people feel safe and secure, especially on the open road. However, don't let your guard down in light traffic, cautions Neagle. "You're not sitting in your kitchen chatting on the phone with a friend," she says. "You're on the road, where swift reflexes and crucial judgments are needed every minute."

Hot summer driving can lead to overheating problems this winter, warns The Gates Rubber Co. Check the condition of fluids and belts and, to avoid leaks, replace any coolant hoses that are more than 4 years old.

Prepare Your Cooling System for Winter To Avoid Overheating Problems

(MS) - Normal summer driving habits will accelerate the deterioration of a car's cooling system this winter, according to engineers at The Gates Rubber Co. When a cooling system fails, whether it is summer or winter, the engine overheats. When a car's engine is exposed to overheating for an extended period of time, metal engine parts can be seriously damaged and require expensive repair.

Overheating can be the result of low coolant level or a leak in the car's cooling system. Every car, even a new one, is a candidate for overheating. By completing an inspection of the following coolant-system problems, you can avoid the consequences of an overheated engine.

COOLANT LOSS

Low coolant level leads to overheating, because there isn't enough coolant in the system to absorb engine heat. Gates Rubber Co. engineers explain that the excess air due to a low coolant level is a poor heat conductor and won't do an effective job in transferring heat from the engine to be cooled by the radiator.

The coolant level in your radiator should be filled to its maximum specified height. If the coolant level continues to recede after repeated fillings, you probably have a leak in the system.

WATER-PUMP LEAKS

It is common to find a few drops of coolant under the water pump, but excessive leaking indicates a problem. Housing bolts on the water pump should be tight. If the bolts are tight and leaking still persists, the pump's inner seal is probably damaged, and the pump must be replaced.

COOLANT-HOSE LEAKS

Coolant hoses are structurally the weakest components of a car's cooling system and, therefore, the most likely source of leaks. Hoses are made of rubber compounds for flexibility, which unfortunately are less durable than metal.

Gate's engineers have determined that intense engine heat can harden and crack even the best rubber. Oil, electrochemical degradation and even time can break down hoses and cause leaks.

In many cases, hose leaks occur at faulty connections. Make sure the hose clamps are secure. If a leak still appears, change the hose.

When replacing a hose, it is also a good idea to change the clamps. Traditional worm-drive clamps will work.

However, Gates says that the new, thermoplastic PowerGripSB clamps should be used for a maintenance-free hose connection.

To extend the service life of a hose, keep it away from damaging external elements like hot manifolds, oil-leaking parts and sharp edges. To avoid internal hose damage, do not use soluble oils found in some coolants.

Because leaks are the No. 1 cause of coolant leaking problems, Gates recommends that hoses should be checked every six months for leaks and replaced every four years regardless of appearance.

HEATER LEAKS

Leaks can occur in the heater core or heater control valve. A liquid sealant can be used, but more often than not, the heating-system units will have to be replaced.

RADIATOR LEAKS

The most common causes of radiator leaks are loose petcocks or plugs. Simply tightening these will fix the problem.

An inadequate seal on the radiator cap also can cause a radiator to leak. Periodically check the seal for cracks and the metal cap for rust. A faulty radiator cap will not fully pressurize the remaining coolant.

White stains point to a more serious problem. These stains indicate coolant reacting with metal parts. Pouring liquid sealant may fix the problem, but usually, the radiator needs to be replaced or repaired.

ENGINE LEAKS

Leaks in the engine block occur where there is a bolted housing, like the thermostat or water-pump housing. You should inspect for leaks in the block's drain plugs and in the core plugs. These plugs are covered by metal discs, and if these discs corrode or loosen, coolant can leak from the block.

Gates advises that if leaking continues after you have inspected everything mentioned above, then the coolant leak is probably internal. This can be confirmed by looking for oil in the coolant, exhaust system or transmission fluid. A visual check of the coolant will reveal the presence of oil, but for exhaust and transmission, inspection must be performed using sophisticated equipment.

In each case, internal leaks can result in cracked heads or blocks, blown head gaskets, and loose or damaged head bolts, all of which usually require major engine repair.

Preparing your car this autumn for winter driving is a good investment. Easy-to-perform preventative maintenance, like checking your car's cooling system, can save you the cost and inconvenience of a breakdown.

Take Trip Down Memory Lane

With harsh weather on its way, you probably want to get your car in tiptop shape so you won't have to worry about getting stranded in the cold. Whether you take the car in for a tuneup, change the oil, or give it an interior and exterior wash, you will notice just how far your car has come from the days of the horse and buggy. Today's cars are a lot more advanced than ever before.

Do you remember a time when cars were not required to have automatic seat belts or air bags? How about when a new car cost less than $600?

Take a short break from your car-care chores to relive the days when cars had a two-piece curved windshield and tail fins. The following events, courtesy of "Chronicle of the 20th Century" (Dorling Kindersley), are some highlights of important events in the development of the modern car.

April 1908 - U.S. Steel begins producing all-metal automobile wheels.

June 1919 - New York inaugurates a written test for driver's license applicants.

November 1927 - The price for a new Ford automobile jumps almost $200 from $385 to $570.

February 1930 - Traffic lights are installed at Manhattan, N.Y., intersections to protect pedestrians and drivers.

January 1938 - General Motors Corp. begins mass production of diesel engines.

September 1948 - The Cadillac comes complete with a two-piece curved windshield, a wide rear window, tail fins inspired by Lockheed's P-38 fighter aircraft and a Hydramatic automatic transmission.

July 1952 - GM offers cars with an air cooling system.

March 1960 - In New York, a car is displayed with a battery recharged by solar cells.

December 1970 - President Nixon signs a bill to cut automobile fumes 90 percent by 1977.

March 1971 - Ford Motor Co. recalls Pintos due to an engine defect.

January 1974 - President Nixon signs a bill for a 55 mph ceiling on the speed limit.

January 1975 - Chrysler, GM and Ford - the Big Three American automobile makers - offer rebates to customers in an attempt to spur the sales of new cars.

September 1980 - The Chevy Chevette, Ford Escort and Lincoln Mercury Lynx are the first U.S. cars to record 30 miles per gallon.

July 1984 - United States announces air bags or automatic seat belts are required in cars by 1989.

July 1984 - New York institutes the nation's first mandatory seat-belt law.

Get ready for WINTER!
Before the onset of the cold weather, it's a good idea to check a few things on your car.
- Be sure that you replace your antifreeze, to insure that it'll be effective, once winter sets in.
- Look at your tires. They need to be changed if you spot any bald spots, or a loss of pressure.
- Make sure the battery is fully charged. It takes power to run the heat, and you don't want any surprises when the temperature takes a dip.
Let us give your car a thorough checkup, just to be sure nothing gets in your way.

Winter Can Be Tough On Your Vehicle's Paint Finish

Snow, rain, ice, road salt and gravel all contribute to the deterioration of even today's durable finishes. Yet, there are some simple things you can do to help protect your vehicle's paint this winter and throughout the year.

"Caring for your vehicle's paint is definitely a good investment," says Bill Wicklund of Wicklund's CARSTAR Collision. "A well-maintained finish will be a big plus when you sell or trade a vehicle. More importantly, the paint is designed to help protect the sheet-metal parts from rusting away, which could result in a safety problem."

According to Wicklund, one of the best ways to protect your vehicle's finish is to park it in a garage, out of the elements, whenever possible. If you do have to park outdoors in the winter, don't use an ice scraper on anything but the windows; you could damage the finish trying to scrape snow or ice off painted surfaces.

If you live in an area that uses road salt to melt ice or snow, Wicklund says it's a good idea to frequently clean and rinse areas of the vehicle where salt might collect. This includes the engine compartment and wheel wells, lower trim pieces, and inside door edges.

Clark Plucinski of BCP Autobody, College Park, Md., says gravel used to improve traction on slippery roads also can damage a vehicle's finish.

"You should slow down not only to avoid losing control of your vehicle, but also to reduce the amount of gravel you're kicking up onto your vehicle and the vehicles behind you," Plucinski recommends. "Stay far enough back from the vehicle in front of you that you're not driving into a spray of gravel."

Plucinski says road gravel and grime should be rinsed from the vehicle as often as possible. Other ways to protect your vehicle's finish throughout the year include:

*Avoid parking in direct sunlight, particularly in the summer. Parking in a garage or shady area is almost always better, but also try to avoid parking under trees that may drip sap onto your vehicle.

*Remove any tree sap, bird droppings, gasoline or other harsh materials from your vehicle's finish as quickly as possible.

*Wash the vehicle when it is cool and parked out of direct sunlight. Wet it down thoroughly, then wash using warm water, a clean, soft wash mitt or sponge, and a car-wash soap. Never wash any panel unless it is thoroughly wet. Start with the roof, and work your way down and around, rinsing each section as you finish. To rinse, take the nozzle off the hose, and just let the water flow freely over the entire car. Dry it with a clean chamois or soft towel.

*Wax your vehicle at least twice a year. Wax only when the vehicle is clean and cool. Having it in a garage or enclosed area will help prevent dirt and dust from blowing onto the finish while waxing. Use a high-quality car wax, apply it with a wax applicator, and remove it with a clean, soft cloth.

If part of your vehicle needs repainting because of vandalism or an accident, choose a repair business carefully. Poor paintwork may not affect the safety of your vehicle, but it is likely to have a big impact on its resale value.

In choosing a repair and painting business, look for evidence that the technicians have been properly trained in paint matching and application. Most paint manufacturers offer technician training in the proper use of their products. I-CAR\R\, the leading technical training organization in the collision repair industry, also offers refinishing and detailing courses.

I-CAR certificates at Wicklund's CARSTAR Collision and BCP Autobody are evidence that the technicians have received current training in collision repair and refinishing.

"These courses help us know how to tint paint for a good color match and also how to prepare the vehicle and apply the paint properly," Wicklund says. "We want to match not only the appearance of the original paint, but also its durability and corrosion protection."

Both businesses have earned the I-CAR Gold Class Professionals\R\ designation. It signifies that everyone on the business' staff who is directly involved in the collision repair process is I-CAR-trained. The organization established its Gold Class designation to help consumers identify businesses that have invested in proper training.

By requalifying for this designation every year, repair businesses and insurance claims offices demonstrate their commitment to the I-CAR philosophy of restoring vehicles to pre-accident condition. For the location of an I-CAR Gold Class business near you, call 1-800-55-AUTO2.

Rain, snow, slush and ice can make fall and winter driving quite a challenge. These hazards, along with mud, salt and road grime, can cloud your car's windshield and make it difficult to see the road clearly. So, no matter what climate you live in, you need dependable wiper blades. Before the bad weather hits - and regularly throughout the season - you should check the condition of your windshield wiper blades. They should be firm and smooth from end to end. If they are chipped, torn, cracked or split, replace them immediately. Blades that are in good condition should be cleaned with a damp rag to keep them free of dirt and salt buildup. You also should check that your windshield washer fluid reservoir is full. Ensuring that your windshield will be clear when you're on the road is a safety precaution you shouldn't ignore. Take an Active Role

(MS) - Taking an active part in the maintenance and safety of your vehicle doesn't have to be a major undertaking. Many car owners have never even looked under their own automobile's hood - it intimidates them. However, knowing how everything works is not necessary. All you really have to do is have someone who knows about cars show you where some key components are located.

Coolant - Sometimes called antifreeze, it circulates through the system to keep the engine cool. It also is a rust and corrosion inhibitor.

To check: No specific maintenance checks.

Fan - When the car is at idle or being driven in heavy traffic at lower speeds, the fan pulls cool air through the radiator.

To check: Look for wobbling, bent or loose fan blades. A good fan should not turn more than 11+2 turns if spun by hand when the engine is off and warm.

Heater core - Hot coolant warms up the core to heat the inside of the car.

To check: Visually inspect for leaks. If there is a puddle on the floorboard or the smell of antifreeze in the passenger compartment, heater-core failure is likely.

Blower motor - This motor blows air through the heater core.

To check: Noise with the component could indicate a problem. However, there are no specific maintenance checks.

Water pump - This mechanism circulates coolant through the engine block, radiator and heater core.

To check: Inspect around the pump for leaks. The first sign of failure is a small leak. Other signs include bearing noise, like rumbling or growling, loss of coolant and fan wobble.

Can we help you find money?

Who is holding the money now being advertised?
In most cases, the money has not yet been turned over to the state. But we can direct you to the companies holding your funds.

Where did the money come from?
These unclaimed funds are mostly insurance benefits and cash value that went unclaimed, or medical insurance benefits that did not reach the proper recipient.

What happens to the property if it remains unclaimed?
If the property remains unclaimed after the newspaper ads are run, it is turned over to the state. There is no time limit on claiming property that is rightfully yours. You can claim the funds any time, and legitimate heirs can claim the funds after the original owner's death.

How do I claim my funds?
You can claim your funds by following the instructions on the next page.

Are all accounts listed here?
No. These are the most recently reported accounts. We have records on a total of 277,000 accounts worth about $92 million.

NOTICE OF NAMES OF PERSONS APPEARING TO BE OWNERS OF ABANDONED PROPERTY (THIS NOTICE DOES NOT PERTAIN TO REAL PROPERTY)

The persons listed below appear to be the owners of unclaimed personal property. You may obtain information concerning the amount or description of the property and the name and address of the entity holding the property by writing the Comptroller of the Treasury, Unclaimed Property Section, 301 W. Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201-2385, or calling 410-767-1700. Property may be claimed directly from the holder within 86 days from the last day of advertising. If the owner has not claimed the property from the holder within that time, the property will be placed, within 85 days from the last day of advertising, in the custody of the Comptroller of the Treasury. All claims for property which is in the custody of the Comptroller must be directed to the Unclaimed Property Section at the address and telephone number set forth above. Owners of unclaimed property need not pay a fee to anyone to claim what is rightfully theirs.
